

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 2065

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2065-Just when the two were contemplating, David suddenly narrowed his eyes and asked aloud, "It turns out that the Iridescent Sect's forbidden area has such a secret, but we can't leave now even if we want to. How is your recovery? Can you leave by yourself?"

"No, I haven't recovered yet. I can't use my strength at all, so don't let go!" Lorraine quickly shook her head and replied.

At the same time, she put his arms around David tightly, grabbing his clothes.

She was afraid that David would put her down.

David was speechless for a while.

'Are you sure you can't use your strength?

'You might even strangle an ordinary person.'

However, now was not the time to split hairs, because the person hiding in the forbidden area had already made some moves.

Woosh!

The nine chains shot out from the forbidden area again.

Their targets were now David and Lorraine.

Their speed was so fast that they reached the two of them almost instantly.

When Lorraine detected the incoming danger, she buried her head in David's arms, clutching him tightly.

She would not let go even if they were going to die.

David had no choice but to blink away with Lorraine to avoid the attack of the chains.

However, the nine chains seemed to have eyes and as they chased after the two of them.

Some made a detour and started attacking David from other directions.

The nine chains had a clear division of labor, and they blocked David from all directions.

Even if David tried to enter the high-dimensional space, the chain could follow him and find his location accurately.

These chains were like a tentacle monster, constantly attacking David.

Therefore, David could only be forced to dodge.

He knew someone was manipulating the chains.

Seeing that he could not dodge, he simply stopped dodging and chose to confront the opponent head-on.

Ding! Ding! Ding!

The sounds of the Evil-Splitting Sword colliding with the chains kept ringing.

Each time David swung the Evil-Splitting Sword, one section of the chains would be cut in half.

Gradually, David frowned and realized that something was wrong.

The nine chains felt endless. No matter how he cut them, he would not be able to get to the end.

He did not know what material they were made of as they would grow back after being cut off.

If it were not for the Evil-Splitting Sword, it would have been very difficult to cut the chains.

Ding! Ding! Ding!

David stood in the air with his left arm around Lorraine, while his right hand blocked the attack of the nine chains with his sword.

No matter which direction the chain came from, be it up and down, front and back, or left and right, they were all stopped by David.

As the speed of the chains grew faster, they finally reached the point where they were difficult to distinguish with the naked eye.

At this time, a red oval barrier had formed outside David's body, tightly enveloping the two of them.

The sounds of collision sounded continuously.

Section after section of chains fell from the air, but this did not affect their assault at all.

Nova and the remaining seniors of the Iridescent Sect watched the scene in shock.

Whenever the shockwave of the collision spread over them, it would make them feel their insignificance. They were like a boat in the sea. They swayed left and right in the strong wind and waves and might capsize at any time.

Fortunately, they were far away enough.

Otherwise, it would be impossible for them to stand there safe and sound.

Overtime, David slowly grew impatient.

With his partial Pre-Deity strength, such a battle where he had to suppress his strength was undoubtedly a dimensionality reduction attack. No matter how much he attacked the chains, he could not break through their defense.

However, David did not want to waste any more time.

Now that the other party had just woken up and had not fully recovered, David wanted to force him out to see who he was.

Boom!

The energy in his body exploded, shaking all the nine chains into the air.

While holding the Evil-Splitting Sword, he mumbled in his heart, "Evil-Splitting Sword Technique!"

As he swung the sword at the source of the chain, a dazzling red light flashed.

Nova and the others all fell into temporary blindness.

With this wave of his sword, David used the combat power of a Sacred Saint.

Boom!

The sword light broke into the forbidden area, causing a huge explosion.

Recommended Novels