Married at First Sight Chapter 2146-Liberty: "Not yet."

Serenity: "Let's go to dinner together later, I'll treat you."

Liberty smiled, "Okay."

Jasmine walked over and said with a smile: "Sister Liberty, you can count yourself back. If you want to talk about it, Serenity and I have callused ears when we hear him talking about it."

Sonny said naturally: "I just miss my mother."

Couldn't missing Mom be talking about her coming back?

Jasmine smiled and pinched his face lightly.

The store was still busy, and the three of them didn't chat much. After the students had their own study in the evening, the school gate returned to calm.

Serenity poured her sister a glass of warm water, and asked, "Auntie is home?"

Liberty: "Well, Auntie asked me to have dinner with her. I missed Sonny, so I didn't go."

Serenity wanted to say something, but she couldn't help but yawned.

Seeing that his aunt was yawning again, Sonny said to her mother, "Auntie is very fast. I fall asleep every night, and my auntie is still awake, and then she often yawns."

Liberty said with concern: "Serenity, you have to pay attention to your body. Good health is the most important thing."

"Sister, I will pay attention to it, but the quality of sleep is not very good recently, and I always want to doze off during the day, and I dare not take a lunch break at noon. When I lie down, I want to sleep forever "

Jasmine took the words, "I've said it all, I'm watching the bookstore, you don't need to be distracted, and you're afraid that I'll be tired, how can I be so delicate? I'm treated as a national treasure by Josh and Bucham family at home, and he won't let anything to do it. If I pour a glass of water for myself, they are still afraid that I will burn. I can only catch my breath when I come to the store, and Josh also arranged for someone to help me."

"I just come to see it occasionally, you are pregnant, I am also worried." Serenity was cared about, and she also cared about her friends.

Liberty looked at Jasmine's stomach and said with a smile, "Now I can see that you are a pregnant woman."

Jasmine also looked down at her stomach, "Can you see it? I haven't felt it myself, so I feel a little rounder."

"Experienced people can tell at a glance that you are pregnant. After two months, your belly will swell. After a while, your stomach will look like a watermelon."

Jasmine smiled, "Okay. I want my baby to grow up quickly, unload the cargo earlier, and get pregnant. This is not allowed, and that is not allowed. I feel no freedom."

Liberty: "When you unload the cargo, you want to stuff him back into your stomach. Bringing a baby is even harder, especially in the first three months, I couldn't sleep well."

Serenity, who had taken care of her sister during confinement, had a deep understanding of this.

When talking about children, both Liberty and Jasmine were tactful and didn't ask if Serenity was moving.

They were Serenity's most trusted and closest people.

If there was any movement from Serenity, they would definitely be the first to tell them.

They waited slowly.

When her sister came back, Serenity called her husband, and they all went to Wiltspoon Hotel for dinner.

After dinner, Sonny went home with his mother, while Serenity and Zachary went back to Wildridge Manor.

After driving for less than ten minutes, Zachary couldn't get any response from his wife while he was talking. He turned his head to look at his beautiful wife and found that she was asleep leaning against the back of the car seat.

Zachary: "...So sleepy? It hasn't been ten minutes since she got in the car. One minute she was talking to me, and the next minute she is asleep."

He asked Jim, who was sitting in the passenger seat: "Eldest young mistress has been busy all day long? No rest?"

Jim hurriedly replied: "Eldest young mistress has been busy all day, but whenever she has free time, eldest young mistress is taking a nap."

Zachery frowned, thinking that his beloved wife is exhausted.

She couldn't be made to work so hard, like a desperate third mother. His wife, Zachery, didn't need to work so hard to make money. The money he earns couldn't be spent in a few lifetimes.

He took off his suit jacket and put it over Serenity's body.
