The Ex-Husband's Revenge Chapter 170

Leon was very sad, but since he owed Benedict, he still recommended Graham to them.

After that, he bid his farewells and brought the necklace away.

"That brat doesn't know his place! I'm so angry!" Looking at Leon leave, Benedict slammed his hand on the desk. His eyes widened in anger. His good impressions on Leon completely disappeared.

"Benedict, don't be angry. That man might have just been trying to be nice. He might not have meant anything bad," Phoebe consoled with a smile.

"How could he be trying to be kind? He clearly has ill intentions!"

"I think that he must've thought that grandmother was paralyzed after seeing her in the wheelchair. That's why he deliberately made a fuss. He wanted to take the chance to get closer to our family!"

"He didn't know that she was just having joint pains, so he failed to trick us!" Cynthia sneered and said..

"Yes, that's possible," Harvey nodded, feeling like his sister might be right.

After all, they were one of the four big families of Springfield City. They had wealth and power. It was normal for a commoner like Leon to want to get closer to them.
