Chapter 1211

“What?!”

The Shears were shocked.

“Cynthia, the Fields are monsters. How can you agree to it? I won’t agree to this!” Brad said in frustration.

“Yeah! Cynthia, don’t agree with it! You are ruining your own life!” Harvey roared as he glared daggers at the Fields and Sean.

“Dad, Harvey, it’s fine. As one of the descendants of the Shears, I can’t just stand by and watch as they destroy us. If sacrificing my happiness can keep you safe, it’s all worth it,” Cynthia bit down on her lip. Tears welled in her eyes, but she kept them in before her enemies.

“But-”

“Benedict, now that we are on the same page, let’s have their wedding tomorrow!” Walter stood forward.

“What?! Tomorrow?! No way!” Cynthia was shocked, as she thought that she would be engaged to Theodore first, and did not expect the Fields to request that they get married right away.

“Why not? Cynthia, I’ve already agreed to spare Leon. Don’t ask for too much!” Theodore said in displeasure.

He only pretended to accept Cynthia's terms and he had to marry her before Leon returned to Springfield. By then, he would have already made Cynthia his, and Cynthia would not be able to disobey him.

"Okay," Cynthia agreed reluctantly.

Chapter 1214

In the Fields Mansion, the outdoor plaza in front of the mansion was decorated most extravagantly for Theodore's wedding day.

There were ribbons and balloons of all different colors, laced with red curtains, forming a beautiful roof over the plaza.

The Fields covered the entire ground with red velvet carpet and glittered it with flower petals, before decorating the sides with lights to form a path toward the plaza.

At the end of the red carpets, there was a gigantic stage that was built overnight with patterns formed with pearls and flower petals and handrails made with gold.

On the sides of the stage was an endless grass field filled with chairs that could house thousands of guests.

The beautiful venue, wonderful music, and extravagant decoration were all so breathtaking that they rivaled the engagement party between Cynthia and Leon.

“She’s so beautiful!”

“As expected of the second most beautiful woman in the city. It’s as if an angel fell from Heaven!”

“God knows how Theodore Fields gets so lucky to marry her!”

All the young men in the audience gasped when they saw Cynthia and turned to look at Theodore enviously.

Cynthia was one of the Four Beauties and if Theodore was perfectly healthy and well, he could be considered a man worthy of Cynthia’s hand in marriage; however, with his legs destroyed, everyone simply felt sorry for Cynthia.

Just then, Benedict and the Shears stepped out of the cars at the back of the convoy and like Cynthia, there was a dark expression on every one of them.

Theodore belonged to a family that was the enemy of both Leon and the Shears, so Leon could not understand why the Shears would agree to this and refused to leave before learning the truth.

Just then, Walter, Lilith, and the other Fields strode out from behind the audience stance.

“Theodore’s right! Cynthia, you are getting married to him today and Leon’s going to die!” Walter sneered and with his signal, the Fields surrounded the Shears within a blink of an eye.

It was an unspoken threat directed at Cynthia, telling her that the Fields would attack the Shears if Cynthia dared to run away.

“Why you!” Cynthia’s face flushed with rage. Despite how livid she was, she had no choice but to give up to protect her family from the Lapwoods.

“Leon, just leave before they do anything to you,” She lowered her voice. Knowing what Leon was capable of, he would survive as long as he ran immediately and so long as she agreed to the marriage, the Fields would not harm her or her family.
