Rosalynn helplessly rolled her eyes, pinched his hand and said Tm not talking about that, Wayne be serious

Wayne chuckled his shoulders shaking

Rosalynn leaned back against his shoulder. To be honest, I saved a lot of gym fees, all thanks to President Silverman

Dear we're almost even Wayne laughed, whispering in Rosalynn's ear

Rosalynn

Although a little reluctant, Rosalynn admitted that she and Wayne shared a deep connection.

This connection was something that could not be found through other men, their bodies and souls had already given them the answer

They sat together like that for awhile.

Rosalynn played with Wayne's fingers, returning to the previous topic, "What I wanted to say, Wayne, is that... if you really owe Maddie anything, it should have been paid off with those repeated injuries and your protections"

Wayne looked down at Rosalynn.

Rosalynn looked back at him. "Don't blame yourself. Bring her back, have a proper funeral, find the person who killed her, take revenge, and then let it go, okay?" During her years with Wayne, Rosalynn had seen him deal with traitors and those who set him up without hesitation.

Even if they were the people who used to work for Old Mrs. Silverman, he showed no mercy.

And Wayne always treated Maddie with respect, even though he stripped her of all power in the Silverman Group.

It wasn't for his reputation, but because he couldn't let go of his mother

"Okay"

Wayne's eyes reddened, and his voice was a bit tense

Rosalynn comfortingly stroked his cheek and leaned in even closer

It was the flood season, and it took three days to retrieve the car from the water.

On the same day, Wayne took a private jet. When he arrived, the results of the vehicle inspection were just available.

“Mr. Silverman, after an examination, there are no issues with the car. The preliminary conclusion is that Mrs. Fuller made improper operation while driving, which led to the accident,” the staff reported to him.

Wayne expressionlessly flipped through the report. “When will the autopsy results be announced?” he handed the report to his assistant and asked coldly

The body has soaked in water for a long time, it will take some time. The results will probably come out tomorrow” The assistant answered.

“Make it quick,” Wayne instructed

“She is very beautiful I want to see if she is as beautiful as she is in the photos!”

And so they argued endlessly

Wayne arrived at the parking lot and was about to drive away when someone called out to him, “Wayne!”

Hearing the voice, Wayne hesitated for a moment and looked back, puzzled. Frowning, he looked at the person standing behind him, “Olivia, how come you’re here?” “arrived yesterday” Olivia walked over to him. “With all the things that happened, and you haven’t fully recovered, I wanted to come over and see if I could be of any help

This was the first time Olivia saw Wayne after the explosion, Wayne had lost some weight, but his stature was still as upright, his facial features and eyes even more profound, which made Olivia even more attracted to him.

The young man who couldn’t protect her back then had now turned into a big shot that everyone looked up to.

And she

She was already carrying the fruit of their love in her belly.

“Have you taken care of your mother’s affairs?” Wayne asked.

“Yes” Olivia nodded. “Actually, the reason I came here is not just for Mrs. Fuller. Some of our relatives have immigrated here, so I wanted to ask them if Jeffery ever came looking for them.”

Wayne immediately thought of the death of Jeffery’s girlfriend and the missing Jeffery.

“Have you asked them yet? Wayne asked.

“Not yet” Olivia shook her head. “Where are you going now? Could you give me a lift?”

In the past, Wayne might have agreed.

But now, his arrival had already caught the attention of the media, and he didn’t know how many people were waiting to take pictures.

“It’s not very convenient, Wayne said indifferently “I’ll arrange a car for you, and the driver will be at your service all day”

Olivia reluctantly maintained a smile on her face.

“I see. Well, thank you”

Wayne nodded slightly and left without saying anything else.

A moment later, one of Wayne’s bodyguard cars stopped next to Olivia. The driver got out and respectfully opened the door for her.

Olivia took a deep breath, and still maintaining Mrs Silverman’s poise, she got into the car.

Chapter 583

Rosalynn was almost fully recovered

After Wayne left, she was discharged from the hospital

Just as she got home, she received the vehicle inspection report from Wayne

“If this guy was slick enough, they probably wouldn’t be able to find out the cause of Maddie’s death, and it’d be concluded as an accident” Hilaria said, taking off her reading glasses

Rosalynn had the same thought. She guessed that the person had lived in the nobles circle in overseas for many years, so they must’ve seen plenty of dirty tricks, which that person might have learned already.

Now, she was just lacking some crucial clues, otherwise, if she went directly to Wayne to say she suspected that person, she was afraid that

“Mommy!”

As they were talking, Ivy came bouncing over

The two adults quickly changed their expressions.

“What’s up, sweetie? Rosalynn tried to pick up Ivy

Ivy dodged out of the way. Her brother had just told her this morning that Mommy had accidentally hurt her knee recently and couldn’t pick her up

“Mommy! I saw mister on TV Ivy’s little face was red with anxiety. “The host said that his mom got drowned! What do we do? Mister’s mom died!”

Rosalynn frowned, and quickly went to the living room.

The TV had been turned off, but Jaime was standing there, looking guilty: "I was just watching the news. I didn't know the international news channel would broadcast this kind of news..."

Jaime pondered

How unlucky could he be?

Ivy ran out after him.

Jaime quickly picked her up and tried to comfort her. "Baby, Uncle's mom was a bad person, she wasn't nice to Uncle, so there's nothing to be sad about. Don't cry.

take you for ice cream, okay?"

*Jaime Rosalynn couldn't hold it in anymore.

"What now?" Jaime looked clueless

Rosalynn didn't know what to do either. Although Jaime didn't lie, it wasn't something they should tell Ivy.

"You're lying" Before Rosalynn had time to explain, Ivy cried and pushed Jaime's face away, struggling not to let him hold her.

"Baby, I'm not lying. If you don't believe me, ask Mommy!"

"Liar! There's no such thing as moms who don't love their babies in this world-you're lying!" Ivy cried even harder.

Rosalynn walked over

She took Ivy in her arms, signaling for Jaime to leave quickly

Jaime left, feeling defeated.

Rosalynn comforted Ivy for a while, and she finally stopped crying

Ivy asked her mom to wipe her tears and then choked out her request to call Handsome Mister.

Rosalynn estimated the time and knew that Wayne should be free now, so she said, "Would you like to wait a bit longer? He might be busy at the moment."

Ivy sobbed and nodded.

Then she hugged Rosalynn's neck tightly, crying again.

In her eyes, there was nothing sadder than losing a mother. If she lost her mom, she would be incredibly miserable! For Ivy, her mom was more important than life itself.

When evening came, Rosalynn knew Wayne was free, so she let Ivy call him.

When the call went through, Ivy started with a sweet voice, "Mister, good evening, have you had dinner?"

Wayne immediately laughed on the other end: "Hey, little one, good evening! I have eaten, what about you?"

After a slightly formal greeting, the father and daughter talked happily

Under normal circumstances, Cory would either be in the living room reading or playing

She quietly closed the door and went to the children's room.

On Cory's bed she saw the fluffy little head

"Did you stay up late again last night?"

Rosalynn murmured a few words

At first she wanted to leave, but after thinking about it, she went back and kissed his forehead

After the kiss, the smile on Rosalynn's face gradually disappeared.

She frowned and touched Cory's forehead again

His forehead was burning hot

"Cory" Rosalynn humbly lifted the blanket held him up, and called him

Cory woke up

He lay on Rosalynn's shoulder looking pale "Mom, when did you come back?"

Why, or he should be in the study

Honey you get a fever Rosalynn stroked his back in distress. When did you start feeling unwell? Why didn't you tell anyone at home?"

Cory closed his eyes. "I felt a little sleepy after breakfast, but I didn't feel sick

Rosalynn carried Cory downstairs.

Jaime heard Rosalynn's voice and hurried downstairs.

"What happened?"

“Cory has a fever” Rosalynn said seriously

Jaime humed over, “Give him to me, your knee hasn’t recovered yet

However, Rosalynn refused to let go

When they got to the living room, Hilaria Jared and the others hurried over

Jaime quickly brought a thermometer, tested, and it showed that Cory had a high fever

Rosalynn’s face turned pale

“Don’t worry, I’ll take you to the hospital night away” She came towards Cory towards the elevator

Chapter 585

Without a word, Noah took Cory out of Roslyn’s arms “Your knee hasn’t fully

Tears glistening in her eyes, her gaze remained fixed on Cory

Soon they arrived at a nearby hospital

Two hours later Cory’s fever subsided

Rosalynn thought he probably had a cold

However, the doctor soon asked Noah to come over

When Noah returned after a while. Rosalynn asked, “What’s wrong?”

Noah squatted down in front of her and grasped her hand. “Lynn, don’t panic. Right now, it’s just a suspicion. I’ve already called our family’s hospital. We’ll take Cory there in a bit for a more detailed checkup”

“What is it? Rosalynn’s tone turned serious.

“Suspected leukemia”

Rosalynn was utterly shocked

It reminded her of the nosebleed Cory had a few days ago.

“It’s only a suspicion right now, so don’t freak out,” Noah’s voice seemed to come from far away.

It felt like Rosalynn’s heart was being slashed by millions of knives.

She returned to the small infusion room.

Cory had regained some energy and was watching a video about physics.

Seeing Rosalynn come back, he looked up straight away. “Mom, can we go home now? My sister called asking when I’ll be back.”

Rosalynn tried her best to hold back her complex emotions.

She walked up to Cory, squatted down, and gently caressed his face, “Boy, we need to go to another hospital for a checkup. We won’t be going home today; talk to your sister in a bit.”

Cory was such a bright child.

He kept staring at Rosalynn, blinking his beautiful eyes.

Without saying or asking anything, he obediently nodded and agreed, “Alright.”

On the way to the Jared Group’s hospital, Rosalynn held Cory the entire time

In her heart, she constantly prayed, “Please, any god that can hear me, protect my child. If something has to happen, let it happen to me instead

Upon arrival, Cory was taken for a checkup right away

Hilaria, who was back home putting Ivy to sleep, also rushed over urgently

“What’s going on? Wasn’t it just a cold?” She looked at Noah and asked calmly, “How did leukemia come up? Cory gets a checkup every six months; how could he possibly have leukemia?”

Rosalynn sat there without moving.

On the way, she suddenly recalled some distant memories

When she was young, she found out from her grandparents and mom's conversation that she had an older sister

She had passed away just a bit over 3 years old

The cause of death seemed to be leukemia

Her mom burst into tears upon hearing it and locked her in her room while she talked to her grandparents separately

The next day, her grandpa took her to the hospital for a checkup she didn't know much about

"Granny, Rosalynn looked at Hilaria "Can you check my mother's medical records from when she was young?"

Hilaria paused slightly before nodding. I should be able to

"Then please find them."

Not long after...

Adeline Commans medical records were brought over

Not long after...

Adeline Commans medical records were brought over

Chapter 586

Rosalynn didn’t take long to look at them before her guess was confirmed

Adeline had leukemia too Rosalynn looked at the records showing Adeline was diagnosed at the age of five she felt panic gripping her, her hands shaking

These medical reports also stated that the leukemia was highly suspected to have been caused by a genetic defect

“How is that possible? Haldrick Gorman has never mentioned this Hilaria name in a low voice “Such an important thing he has no reason to hide it from us

What if it because he discovered back then that Adeline wasn’t his daughter? Rosalynn looked at Hilaria

Hilana was suddenly stunned

“Back then, Baldrick’s wife had already passed away. What if he didn’t think they got the wrong child, but suspected his deeply loved wife of being unfaithful? In order to preserve both his father-daughter relationship and his wife’s reputation, he couldn’t let anyone know.

Hilana and Baldrick grew up together, so she knew his character. So, it was completely possible that Rosalynn’s reasoning was correct.

“Genetic defect.

Rosalynn’s hands covered her face, feeling an unprecedented sense of absurdity and helplessness, tears engulfing her like a tidal wave.

“The test results aren’t out yet, and besides, so what if he’s sick? If he’s sick, we’ll treat it, and it’s not like we can’t afford the cost of a bone marrow transplant.” Hilana spoke firmly.

Rosalynn didn’t say a word.

The test wasn’t difficult.

It wasn’t long before the results were in Rosalynn’s hands.

“Ms. Jared, we’re very sorry, but rest assured, we’ll immediately discuss and provide the best treatment plan,” the Dean promised.

“Thank you, everyone.” Rosalynn nodded,

The medical staff soon left.

Cory needed to be hospitalized, and Rosalynn took care of the paperwork right away.

By the time she laid down, it was already past midnight.

Rosalynn laid on her side next to Cory, who was so exhausted they had fallen asleep.

Finally alone, Rosalynn’s tears rolled out ceaselessly.

Lying down for a while, Jaime called.

Rosalynn got up and went out.

Jaime stood at the door, red-eyed, and hair messy.

“What are you doing here so late?” Rosalynn asked wearily.

Choking back tears, Jaime said, "the results on that frozen transfer account Cory was working on just came out."

Rosalynn's heart ached even more.

During that time, Cory's health was already deteriorating, but he locked himself away day and night, tapping away at codes to find out who tried to kill her.

Perhaps the strain of those days caused his condition.

"Who is it?" Rosalynn's eyes were filled with ferocity

Jaime pulled out his phone and handed the restored account information to Rosalynn
"Olivia Whaley!"

Rosalynn clenched her fist

"Tell Calvin, as soon as Olivia returns, arrest her" Rosalynn said through gritted teeth.

"Calvin's already given the order. You suspected her all along, didn't you? Otherwise, you wouldn't have had someone keep an eye on her even after she went abroad Jaime asked

Back then, Olivia thought her trip was very secretive, but Rosalynn knew about it the moment she bought the plane ticket.

She didn't stop Olivia from leaving because Rosalynn firmly believed Olivia would come back.

She also hoped that Olivia would reveal her true self when traveling, allowing her to find some evidence.

"Are you stupid? You knew Wayne was going to that country, too. What if he comes back with Olivia and won't let her get arrested, covering up and protecting her?"

Chapter 587

Jaime had heard about Wayne Rosalynn's first love, way before

He had been rational and now thought that the first love should bear any responsibility. The thought he couldn't forget his first love and still pestered his estr

But he never imagined that Wayne's first love would be such a cold bonded and ruthless person

She actually hired a killer to kill his enemy

Now, Jaime finally understood why people said. "Birds of a feather flock together, and people of a kind gather

If he dares to cover it up then he's as guilty as Olivia Rosalynn said without hesitation

Not only did Obven want to kill her, but he indirectly hurt her son. She must make Olivia pay the price!

who deserved punishment was that bad man who

"I'm not worried anymore since you think like that!" Jaime nodded excitedly. "Don't worry, sit, I'll get the matching done tomorrow Cory will definitely pull through"

Rosalynn looked at Jaime, her eyes brimming with tears. Then she ratted Jaime's arm, "You should go back and rest, take good care of yourself"

Jaime humbly wiped his eyes with his arm, "Yeah, I should really go rest. My eyes are so red and swollen. You should sleep early too, I'll be here tomorrow?"

"Okay" Rosalynn nodded

Jaime turned and left

Unlike before he didn't look back and left directly

He clenched his fists, his shoulders shook slightly, and he didn't look back even once.

When he reached the elevator, the door opened, and Jaime's tear-filled face looked up to see Noah.

Jaime knew that Noah was a good person.

But his principle was that as long as someone was his brother-in-law, even if he was just a potential option for his sister, he could find a bunch of flaws.

Noah was no exception.

He just lacked courage. If he had any, Wayne wouldn't have had a chance!

Suddenly meeting Noah, Jaime was both sad and embarrassed.

"What are you doing here in the middle of the night?" Jaime sobbed and turned his head away.

Noah raised his arm, "Lynn didn't eat anything tonight, so I bought some food."

"Oh, go ahead, I'm going home to sleep"

Jaime finished speaking and lowered his head to enter the elevator.

Noah was about to leave when Jaime suddenly grabbed his sleeve. When Noah looked at him, Jaime couldn't pretend to be strong anymore, crying and asking. "Leukemia can be cured, right? It can definitely be cured, right?"

"Yes," Noah nodded.

Jaime burst into laughter and kept nodding like he was talking to himself, and also as if he was talking to Noah, "As long as it can be cured, it's not a big problem, it's totally fine!"

Noah had to accompany Jaime to the first floor and then go back up again.

When he found Rosalynn, she was on the phone.

"After the cremation is done, you'll come straight back?" she asked.

The person on the other end of the phone must have said something, and she added, "Okay, I'll wait for you to come back. Yeah, you need to rest. Remember to take your meds before bed"

Noah stood there, his wrist starting to hurt again.

At this moment, Rosalynn hung up the phone.

Noah immediately snapped out of the pain, "Lynn?"

"Noah thank you" Rosalynn felt very grateful as she had been completely relying on him to handle all the details today

Well I am Cory's uncle, Noah replied "By the way, haven't you told Wayne about this yet?"

Rosalynn shook her head. There's still one more thing to deal with

"After you tell him, let him come over for a compatibility test. The chances of a successful match are higher between relatives, Noah said

As Rosalynn glanced around, she suddenly frowned: "Is that blood on your wrist?"

"This" Noah swept a glance, pulled down his sleeve to cover the wound, "I got scratched by a stray cat while feeding it. Don't worry, I've had the vaccine"

"You like cats, so why not adopt one? It's not fair to not have any pets because of Cory" Rosalynn said helplessly

It's not entirely because of him. I travel all the time for work, and it's irresponsible for me to leave a cat to be home alone." Noah said and urged her to eat, "Go ahead and eat it won't be as tasty when it gets cold"

Rosalynn nodded and took a couple bites of the seafood soup.

Afterward, they didn't say anything more.

Noah stayed with Rosalynn until she finished her food and took out the trash, "get some rest, I'll take off now."

"Drive carefully"

Noah responded and left with the trash

After eating. Rosalynn felt much better.

She finished washing up and quietly went back to the ward. As soon as she lay down beside Cory, he woke up.

"Does it hurt anywhere?" Rosalynn asked anxiously

Cory shook his head, pulled Rosalynn down to lie with him, and they looked at each other quietly

Cory asked, "Mom, is my illness very serious?"

Rosalynn's tears welled up, she moved closer to Cory and kissed his forehead, "It's not too serious. It's just going to be a little hard for you afterward, but the doctors will definitely make you better, okay? Don't be scared

"I'm not scared, Cory shook his head, "You don't have to worry about me, and don't let my sister know. She'll be scared."

Cory had always been very sensible.

But now, in this situation, his sensibility made Rosalynn even more heartbroken.

She hugged Cory and said, "Baby, I'm so sorry... I haven't been taking good care of you lately, and you still have to worry so much about me. I'm really sorry... Can you forgive me? It never be like this again"

Cory gently patted Rosalynn's back, "I don't blame you, you've already given me so much love. Getting sick... it's my own fault..."

"No, you're not at fault. How could you be?" Rosalynn released Cory, and looking at his reddened eyes, she hurriedly explained, "This illness is due to a genetic defect, not your fault. It's mine..."

Cory saw that his mom was crying, and he felt very sad. He raised his little hand and gently wiped away her tears.

But his mom seemed to be getting sadder and sadder.

Her tears were endless

That might eened incredibly long

Before falling asley Rosalynn kept thinking, hoping it was just a dream and when she woke up Cory would still be healthy and happy

Maddie Fubers autopsy results came out Just as Hilana expected, no drugs were detected and there were no suspicious injuries

However it couldn't be ruled out that because the body had been immersed in water for too long and deformed, some subtle traces we destroyed

This case eventually closed as an accident

After the results came out, Wayne had Maddie cremated

While waiting for the cremation, Wayne's father finally arrived.

Maddie was nagging him about the distribution of Natalie Stein's estate, so after leaving the church that day, he didn't say anything to anyone and took a plane to his vacation villa to escape his troubles

To avoid being disturbed, he turned off his cell phone until yesterday when Wayne's men found his villa

Only then did the man learn that his wife had died in an accident.

He rushed over

"Do you want to see her?" Wayne asked.

The man thought for a moment, then shook his head: "Didn't they say she's all deformed? I won't see her. She loved to look beautiful, she wouldn't want anyone to see her like that"

Wayne stared at him coldly

Compared to Maddie, his father in front of him was the one who really didn't participate in Wayne's growth.

"Wayne, there are a lot of rumors outside. I want to know if your mom's death has anything to do with you..."

Wayne looked away. "What do you think?"

The man looked deeply at Wayne and didn't continue speaking

What good would it do to talk about it now?

In the end, he let out a sigh: "She almost caused your death back then. Even if you did something, I think it's just revenge."

Wayne sneered, "From the way you put it, it's like you had no idea about that incident."

“The man was startled and wanted to explain.

Wayne coldly interrupted: “She died suddenly and didn’t leave a will. What do you plan to do with her property?”

Wayne pointed out the man’s main purpose

“How about we each get half?”

Wayne looked at him again, I mean, to donate all her belongings to charity and do good deeds for her.”

“How is that possible? Do you know how many businesses she owns? Just the real estate around the world is worth billions!”

“So what? What does it have to do with you?”

“According to the law.

He became more and more agitated, but seeing Wayne’s eyes, his words got stuck in his throat.

“Most of the wealth you’ve had in your life comes from her. You knew from the beginning how I was born, and thanks to you and grandma, she can never have her own children. You two will always owe her. She hates you and the Silverman family to the core. Why would I give her stuff to you?”

Wayne’s voice had no emotion.

The man felt a chill when he heard it.

Chapter 590

To be honest, you’re my brother’s kid, so we are a family. If she hates me without the hate your front the warts you dead what sea you even doing this forte

Father Wayne coldly called out.

The man offered

Thaven’t fully recovered. My wife told me not to waste my energy I don’t want to talk about Maddie’s inheritance any more if you’re not satisfied I can take the evidence of your illegal activities over the years and send you to jail first

“Wayne” The man exclaimed angrily

The surrounding staff looked over in confusion

Fine! Well done! You're ruthless! The man finished speaking and tried to leave.

But he was stopped by Wayne's bodyguard

He turned back "What do you want?"

"You have to come back with me. As her husband, you need to show your deep sorrow at the funeral" Wayne spoke slowly

"You"

Wayne ignored him

On the screen, Maddie's body was being pushed into the cremation furnace.

Wayne stood straight, like a lonely pine tree on a cliff, enduring the cold wind.

After a while

He looked down and lit up the phone screen.

He longed to go home, to the house he and she shared.

The cremation was over

The once arrogant and domineering Maddie had been packed into a square box. Wayne didn't touch the urn.

Father, I'll leave this to you."

He glanced at the enraged but helpless man and walked straight out.

As he went outside, Wayne saw Olivia waiting on a bench.

"Is it over?" Olivia asked

"Yeah." Wayne nodded.

Olivia was wearing a solemn black outfit with a small white flower on her chest.

"I'm sorry, Wayne" Olivia whispered softly.

"I'm going back to the country. You can continue using the car and the driver. If you need anything, just tell the driver." Wayne finished speaking and prepared to leave

I've asked my relatives, and they all said that Jeffery hadn't contacted them. So, I'm going to go back too." Olivia quickly said, "Can I go with you?"

“Olivia, now is a special time, and a lot of people are watching me every day” Wayne looked at Olivia, his deep eyes showing no emotion “Yesterday, someone took a photo of us meeting at the police station. If it wasn’t discovered in time, there would have already been gossip about us spreading everywhere. My wife hasn’t fully recovered, she needs rest, and I don’t want any messy situations disturbing her. I hope you understand

“Aren’t we friends? Can’t we meet normally?” Olivia asked sadly

“Sorry” Wayne was unwavering.

Olivia never expected it to be like this.

Wayne wasn’t like this before. As long as she showed a pitiful look, he would come to her side no matter how hard it was

“I don’t need to take the same plane with you. I can afford a plane ticket. Wayne, do you know that Gabriella has been sending people to stalk me?” Olivia looked at Wayne with tears in her eyes, looking pitiful.

“Firstly, it’s not stalking, secondly, I sent those people there because your brother is missing and your mother’s cause of death is unclear. She and I are both worried about your safety, Wayne replied

“Did your people follow me to this country too?” Olivia asked with a forced smile.

Wayne frowned slightly.

“Forget it, no matter what happens, even if Ms. Jared wants to kill me, you’ll find a reason to help her Olivia said bitterly. “I thought that when you said you would always protect me, you meant it, but now it seems I got it wrong. Sorry, goodbye!”

After Olivia finished speaking, she turned and walked away

The farther she got from Wayne the trader she felt more resentful (tivat
