Married at First Sight Chapter 2237-Chelsea complained to her husband, and wanted to take out $3,000 from the red envelope, but only gave Liberty $2,000, but her husband criticized her, saying that she was too small and didn't know how to take the opportunity to repair the relationship with the Hunt family sisters. She actually wanted to swallow the red envelope money that her parents-in-law gave Liberty.

She was not that fleshy.

Chelsea handed over the big red envelope stuffed with $5,000 to Liberty with great pain.

"Liberty, this is the red envelope that my parents asked me to bring to you. My parents and Hank wish you a great success."

After Chelsea handed out the red envelope, she hoped that Liberty would not accept it, and she could go back and tell her parents, Said that Liberty accepted the red envelope, and $5,000 would belong to her.

After Liberty took the red envelope from Chelsea, she said, "Uncle and Auntie are too polite."

Seeing that Liberty actually accepted the red envelope, Chelsea smiled reluctantly.

"Sister Brown, please find a seat and sit down. Drink tea and eat something first. I have to entertain other guests." Liberty called Chelsea and George to sit down, said a few polite words, and then hurried away.

Chelsea looked around and found that the congratulatory people were all men in suits and leather shoes, and the women were also wearing famous brands and jewels. It was obvious at a glance that these people were all dignified and distinguished.

No matter how thick-skinned she and her husband were, no matter how courageous they were, they dared not move forward.

The ones she knew were Zachary, Serenity and Duncan.

Chelsea really wanted to say hello to Serenity, but thinking of Serenity's sharp mouth and her fear of Zachary, she didn't dare to say hello in the end.

Seeing Duncan entertaining guests with Liberty like a master, Chelsea whispered to her husband jealously: "Liberty is so rich, and he still accepts our red envelopes. My parents are already old, and I guess it's a lot of money, and Liberty has the nerve to accept it."

George said: "It's a red envelope from your parents, and it's not from the two of us, so we didn't take out any money. You have to be mentally prepared, the red envelope will be accepted by her."

Chelsea: "$5000! When our building materials store opened, those relatives and friends came to congratulate us. The red envelopes they gave us were only a few hundred dollars, and the most was only 888 dollars. My parents gave Liberty $5000, more than the sum we received at the beginning."

George: "Compared to other people, $5000 is probably a very small red envelope, and your parents also took into account that Liberty is different now, so they will sell it. Such generosity, besides, whose money is Liberty's? It will be left to your nephew Sonny."

Chelsea curled her lips and said: "Other aunts and nephews are very close, and Sonny treats me as the only one, Aunts are not very close, and even if Liberty's money will be Sonny in the future, I'm afraid I won't benefit from being an aunt because that child is very smart. So, we need to change our attitude and do everything we can to teach Sonny to be courteous, and let his cousins cultivate some brotherhood, because Sonny's future is limitless."

George analyzed with his wife in a low voice, "Do you think about who is Sonny's aunt? What kind of kindergarten did our little treasure go to? Sonny has already won at the starting line. Don't let Lucas bully Sonny like before. As long as the two of us can play together, every child's family will be happy. We can slowly pull his heart towards your Brown family, are you afraid that your Brown family will not benefit? Anyway, Hank is Sonny's biological father, and Hank paid the child support. When Hank gets old, Sonny will have the responsibility to support the elderly."

Chelsea said in a low voice, "I know, but Lucas is used to domineering; he used to bully Sonny all the time, but now he can't change it. Sonny seems to hold grudges, occasionally when the two children met, they didn't play much anymore."

It was Sonny who didn't want to play with Lucas.

George didn't know what to say for a while. His youngest son was indeed spoiled.

What Chelsea and George talked about, Liberty didn't pay attention to it, and didn't care.

She didn't invite the Brown family, but when they came, they were guests, so she couldn't drive them out.
