

I'm A Quadrillionaire

Chapter 2241

Chapter 2241

This day, Pebbles asked David for food the moment she woke.

"Davey, I'm hungry!"

David put her on the chair to sit properly. Then, he said to the little girl with a dissatisfied face, "Pebbles, Davey has something to tell you."

He was going to ask the little girl to see if she remembered the past.

It would be best if he could find Pebbles' family and send her home.

Although David was very fond of Pebbles, her family must be so worried about her disappearance.

Perhaps they were looking for her all over the world now!

After all, who would not worry about losing a child?

And over time, the little girl was eating more and more, so she was growing faster and faster.

It was not that David was reluctant to part with his treasures.

Those things were of no use to him.

The lavish points were the most important thing.

David was afraid that when the little girl grew up, he would be in trouble if she really wanted to marry him.

Moreover, this little girl had recently begun to repel Princess Evie and other Elf women from approaching David, which set alarms ringing in David's head.

Was she treating David as her private property and not allowing other women to come close to him?

She was already so possessive at such a young age, so what would happen when she grew up?

So David thought that he should just find Pebbles' family and send her home.

If the little girl never grew up and stayed this way, David would not mind keeping her around.

Now, it was evident that it was impossible.

As soon as she heard that David had something to say to herself, the little girl put away her dissatisfaction immediately.

"Davey, go ahead! I'm listening."

"Pebbles, I noticed recently that you've grown taller and heavier."

"Really? So I'm going to grow up soon?" The little girl asked happily.

"You can put it this way! At this rate of growth, you will grow up to be a young woman in a short time." David nodded.

"That's great! I can marry Davey when I grow up." The little girl looked excited.

"Well../"

David was speechless for a moment.

He did not know how to respond.

He indeed attracted what he feared.

Initially, he had a lot to say, but he was rendered speechless by the little girl.

Pebbles saw that David was silent with a troubled look on his face, so she asked anxiously, "Davey, what's wrong? Why are you not saying anything? Are you unhappy? Don't you want me to marry you? We have an agreement and you promised me that you will marry me when I grow up."

The series of questions confused David.

"Uh... Pebbles, let's not talk about this for now. Although you have grown taller recently, you are still too young to talk about marriage. That's something only grown-ups can do. I want to ask if you remember anything from the past since you have eaten so many treasures recently, and you have grown a lot taller?" David quickly changed the topic.

He genuinely could not bear to talk about adult affairs with a ten-year-old girl.

"But Davey, didn't you just say that I will grow up soon?" The little girl felt aggrieved.

"I did say that, but I meant in regards to your long life. In reality, it's still too early for you to grow into an adult," David explained.

"Oh, I see!"

"Pebbles, tell me, have you remembered anything from the past lately?"

"No!" The little girl shook her little head.

Immediately afterward, she seemed to think of something and continued, "However, in my sleep these days, I often dreamed of a beautiful lady beating bad guys."

"Beating bad guys? Which lady beating the bad guy?" David's eyes lit up.

This was an important clue.

The big sister Pebbles mentioned might be her family.