

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 40 His Bride was in Someone Else's Arms

Vivian heard Julian's words and became a little excited. "There is no door? I have already registered with you and gotten married, okay? Even if he did not want to admit it, I am still carrying the flesh and blood of Cooper family!"

Seeing her emotional state, Julian comforted her, "Don't get angry! Isn't my dad angry now? Think about it. My brother and Sarah haven't even had a wedding yet, and we already got marriage certificate. He definitely felt sorry for his good son. So...Let's not rush this matter first. After my Big Brother and Sarah finish the wedding, after everything calmed down, let's talk about marriage again.

Besides no matter how angry he is, he can't ignore the flesh and blood of Cooper family. This is his own grandson..."

Vivian heard his words and pouted, feeling wronged, “Alright, you can do whatever you want. If you don’t want to hold a wedding, I won’t marry you. Wait until I give birth to a son. I will secretly run away by myself. You won’t be able to find me for rest of your life!”

Julian saw Vivian’s expression and immediately hugged her and kissed her. “Silly girl, why would I do that kind of thing? Don’t worry. After they are done with the wedding, I will take to grandpa first. Even if my dad doesn’t agree, don’t I still have my mom? As long as my mom and grandpa stand on our side, dad won’t be able to stop as.”

“Yes, you said it! You are not allowed to go back on your words...” Vivian heard his promise and had a smile on her face.

“Of course! My words carry weight!”

“That’s great!”

In the next few days, Sarah was with Christian. After breakfast, she would run over to take a look.

Sometimes, she would help him wash his clothes.

Sometimes, she would help him buy groceries. There were a few times when she was alone with Jayson.

She really wanted to ask Jayson about the relationship between that girl called Gia and Christian.

But she remembered that she would only be with Christian for three months. After three months, they would go their separate ways. Why should she care so much?

With this in mind, she put this matter in her heart and didn’t continue to ask about everything related to Gia.

In the blink of an eye, it was the day of the wedding!

Because Kendall was worried that she would not be able to rush over the next day, she directly lived in Sarah's house before the wedding day. The two girls huddled on the bed and whispered in the middle of the night.

When they woke up the next morning, Sarah felt a little dizzy. Fortunately, her mother was there, so she did not wake up too late. She first ate some breakfast. Not long after, the makeup artist hired by Cooper family arrived. She was busy dressing Sarah up.

Although Sarah did not wear a wedding dress, she still bought a Chinese qipao and wore it. After the makeup artist's dressing, Sarah became a completely different person.

“Oh, Sarah, this qipao is really beautiful. It’s so sexy wearing it. It shows your figure to the fullest. If I were a man, I would definitely not let you off tonight!”

Kendall looked at her good friend who was wearing a red qipao and could not help but praise. In the past, when she always wore those loose-fitting uniforms, she really did not realize that her small figure was so sexy.

The words of Kendall made Sarah smile bitterly.

Tonight was their wedding night, what would he do? Did he have that kind of function?

After Sarah dress up, the doorbell rang. Samantha wanted to open the door but was stopped by Kendall.

“Auntie, you have to calm down at this time. I will open door.” Kendall said and walked to the door to open it.

What greeted her eyes was... It was a handsome man wearing a pink t-shirt with wavy stripes. His well-ironed pants made him look like a groom. Kendall seized him head to toe. She looked at him and said half-jokingly, "You are not here to pick up the bride for the groom, are you?"

David heard her words and smiled, "I am here to see Sarah off."

While the two of them were talking, Samantha walked over. When she saw David, she invited him warmly. "David is here? Quickly come in!"

After listening to Samantha's words, Kendall suddenly reacted and looked at the man. "Oh, so you are the Mr. David that Sarah kept talking about?"

David smiled and nodded, "Yes!"

Samantha immediately introduced the two of them.
“David, this is Sarah’s friend, Kendall. She is here to be Sarah’s bridesmaid.”

David nodded and extended his hand, “Hello!”

Kendall did not react in time. Seeing him reach out his hand, she immediately held his hand. “Hello! Hello!”

David retracted his hand and looked at Samantha.
“Auntie, where is Sarah?”

“She has finished dressing up. Go in and take a look at her!” After saying that, Samantha pointed at the direction on Sarah’s bedroom.

David smiled and walked in.

When the door opened, Sarah was wearing a gorgeous red cheongsam with beautiful bride makeup and was sitting upright on the bed. When she saw the person who walked in was David, she immediately stood up and looked at him with a smile. “Mr. David, why are you here?”

Originally, she did not invite him because she did not want him to feel sad when he saw her getting married.

She did not expect that he would come today.

David walked over and seized her up to down before looking at her with a sigh. “Sarah, you are so beautiful today!”

Sarah smiled at him and suppressed the bitterness in her heart. “Actually, you do not need to come!”

Seeing the scene of her getting married, only she knew how much pain he would feel in his heart.

If he couldn't see this scene, perhaps he would feel a little better in his heart...

Seeing her sad look, he gently held her shoulders and locked his gaze on her cheeks. "Today you are getting married, how can I not come?"

His heart clearly ached, but he still could not help but want to see her. Watching her become a happy bride was a dream he had for a long time. But today, the person who helped him realize this dream was another man!

Looking at Sarah in front of him, with a smile on her face looking at him, there was a faint trace of tears in the depths of her eyes. He could not help but raise his hand to caress her cheek.

"Sarah, can I... Can I hug you?"

Sarah did not speak but her throat was choking. She reached out her hand to give him a hug first!

David was stunned for a moment and then reached out and gently hugged her. His eyes also turned slightly red. “Sarah, you are so beautiful. I can’t bear to let you marry him...”

Sarah forcefully pulled out a smile and wanted to say something but swallowed her words when it reached her lips. No matter how much she said there was no meaning.

Today, she was going to get married.

Mr. David, if we are really fated, I hope that when I turn around in three months, you can still wait for me here...

“Sarah, you must be happy... right?”

Tears could not stop flowing out her eyes. She could not say a word and could only lean on his shoulder and nod heavily.

Happiness? A week ago, she was still longing for this word. She imagined the moment when she was proposed and put on the wedding dress. She imagined that she would definitely be the happiest bride in the world. But who would have thought...

The world was hard to predict. Her happiness collapsed in an instant.

The word happiness was already too far away from her life!

David gently pushed her body away and looked at the tears in her eyes. His Adam's apple moved violently a few times. After a long while, he took out a tissue and carefully wiped it off for her. Then he looked at her and smiled. “I have been reading a book these two days. There is a saying on it that when you put on the wedding dress of love, I also out on the monk’s kasaya...”

Sarah’s eyes turned red again as she looked at him. Her tears could not stop flowing out.

He once again raised his hand to wipe her tears off and looked at her with a comforting smile. “Luckily you are wearing a qipao today. Does that mean... I still have a chance?”

Sarah could not say anything. She just looked at him and kept crying.

His eyes looked at her passionately, “Sarah, I’m sorry. I shouldn’t have said those words to you just now. But I can’t control myself. Sarah, I still say the same thing... No matter when, as long as you turn around...

I will definitely wait for you!”

Sarah could not control herself and reached out to hug him. She leaned into his embrace and allowed her tears to continuously fall.

Mr. David, I'm sorry!

The door was suddenly pushed open at this moment. Kendall smiled as she pushed the door and shouted, “Sarah, the groom came...”

She did not continue speaking. Seeing the scene in front of her, she was stunned for a moment. Just as she wanted to close the door, Christian's wheelchair was already by the door!

Kendall reacted quickly. She slammed the door shut.

Christian had already seen the scene in the room. There was a hint of coldness on his rigid face.

His bride was currently in another man's arms!

“Open the door!” He looked coldly at Kendall. His sharp eyes poked at Kendall, making her cautious to the point of trembling.

But thinking that this was a marriage and he was here to pick up the bride, he was actually so arrogant and bossy. She raised her chin and extended her hand towards him. “Give me a red packet!”

Christian silently looked at her. Then he coldly ordered Jayson behind him, “Jayson!”

“Yes, sir!” Jayson immediately took out the red packet that he had prepared and handed it to Kendall.

Because the man she was going to marry was not the man she liked, Sarah basically did not invite any good friends. She only called her best friend, Kendall over. Kendall knew that Sarah's wedding was not something she liked. So she did not expect to get a red packet. It was just that this matter forced her to this point, and only then did she remember to ask for a red packet.

Kendall received the red packer and knew that it was impossible to not open the door. She smiled unnaturally at Christian and reached out to push open the door!

In fact, the moment Kendall pushed the door and shouted, Sarah quickly let go of David. She used a tissue to wipe her tears and then looked David anxiously. "Mr. David, you go out first!"

David looked at her reluctantly and then slowly walked to the door.

The door was gently pushed open by Kendall. The person standing in front of her was David.

Christian's cold eyes fell on David, and the two men's eyes instantly collided!
