

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 91 Winning The Favor Of Her Mother-in-law

“Thank you, Dad.” Sarah looked at Ethan with a grateful smile.

Julian kept silent and looked at Sarah. When he saw the expression on her face when she was going to work in a new company, he felt depressed in his heart. He always felt unhappy.

When he heard about Wilson group, he took the opportunity to talk to Sarah. “The three daughters of the chairman of the Wilson Group are very unique. Especially his second daughter, Jasmine Wilson, she took care of her younger brother very well. Since you’re applying for CEO’s secretary, it must be for her younger brother, Syrus. Even if you are succeed in the application, after you join today, you have to go through another test of Jasmine. So you should be mentally prepared.”

Vivian heard Julian's words and felt angry in her heart. She understood that he did not want Sarah to go to another company to work. She smiled and looked at Julian. "Sister-in-law will definitely do the best. Don't worry."

Sarah heard their conversation and blinked her eyes, but did not say anything. Christian looked at the two people in front of him indifferently.

Daphne saw that the atmosphere was very awkward and immediately smiled to smooth things over. "Vivian is right. Sarah will definitely not have any problem."

Daphne then looked at Sarah and smiled. "You must have a good breakfast. Although you are not working in our own company, you do not need to worry. I believe you can do your best."

When she heard that Sarah was going to work in another company, she was the happiest person in the family. Christian was soldier. So in the future, the Cooper family business would inevitably fall in her son, Julian's hands.

If Sarah continued to stay in the company, it would become an obstacle for her son.

"Thank you, Aunt Daphne." Sarah smiled at her.

Christian faintly looked at his stepmother opposite to him and lowered his head to continue eating. There was something he didn't want to say. But just because he didn't want to say, it didn't mean that he didn't understand.

After breakfast, Sarah and Christian left the villa. After that Ethan also left in his car.

Julian came downstairs and prepared to leave for work as well. Vivian followed him to the car.

“Aren’t you going to give me a goodbye kiss?” Vivian reached out and wrapped her arms around Julian’s waist and gave him a spoiled look.

Julian smiled and lowered his head to kiss her forehead. He then patted his face. “Go back. I’m going to work.”

Vivian was still hugging him and did not have a slightest intention of letting go. “Come back early after work. Don’t think about other things.”

Julian looked at her face. In his heart, he actually understood her little thought. After a long while, he smiled. “Don’t worry, other than you, I don’t have anyone in my heart.”

“That’s good!” Vivian tiptoed and kissed him again.

“Drive carefully on the road.”

Julian sat in the car and looked at Julian and smiled. He then drove out of the villa.

Vivian saw Julian’s car disappeared from the sight, then turned around and walked into the living room. Just a few steps away, she saw Daphne walking towards her.

“Mom.” Vivian immediately sweetly called out. In this house, other than Julian, Daphne was the only one who would stand by her side.

Daphne looked at Vivian and smiled as she walked over. “We just had a breakfast. Let’s go to the beach for a walk.”

“Yes.” The pair of daughter-in-law and mother-in-law intimately held hands together and walked out of the villa. They walked along the road.

“Vivian, you and Julian have been married for a week by now. I know during this period of time you must have been feeling wronged. If there is anything you are unhappy about, tell me. Don’t keep it in your stomach. Okay?”

“Mom...” Daphne’s words made Vivian somewhat agitated. She lowered her head and tears could not help but falling down. She turned to her head to the side. “Mom, I’m fine.”

Daphne didn’t expect her to cry so sadly. Seeing her tears falling uncontrollably, Daphne took out a tissue and handed to Vivian. “You can’t cry like this! This is not good for the child in your womb!”

When Vivian heard Daphne’s words, she cried even harder.

“Quickly stop crying. Vivian, I know you have felt wronged. That’s why I take to out to talk in secret. For the sake of my grandson, can you stop crying first?” Daphne’s heart ached for her grandson in Vivian’s stomach.

Vivian cried excitedly for a while and after that she stopped crying. She looked at Daphne and lowered her head. “Mom, I’m sorry...”

“What are you sorry for? It is not you who did something wrong! Our Julian has been spoiled by us since he is young. Sarah had followed him for nine years. Although the two of them were engaged, they were always like siblings. Others might not know, but as a mother, I know my son the best. He really had no feelings for Sarah. The reason why he still had some feeling towards her was because she married Christian. His heart is just unbalanced at this point. Can you understand?”

She had actually noticing her son’s behavior all this time. She was worried that Vivian would take it to heart and something would happen to her grandson. So she took the later for a walk, to tell her the truth.

“Mom, I know. I also understand. But you know I am only married to him for a week and I am also pregnant. You don’t know, the night we got married, the person he shouted for in the middle of the night was Sister-in-law! He said he is sorry for Sarah and can’t leave her! He also said that Big Brother and Sarah would definitely divorce. Now you tell me, on the wedding night, I hugged him but he shouted for another woman! How can I not take it to heart?”

At the end of her sentence, her eyes again filled with tears.

“Vivian, don’t blame him. After all, Sarah had been by his side for nine years. Think out it. Even if we raise a puppy or a kitten, after a long period of time, we develop some feelings towards them. That’s why he is just a little distracted. I can guaranty that after a long period of time, it will slowly become better. So don’t think about it very much. It will affect the child.”

Vivian nodded in understanding. “Mom, actually I understand what you say. It’s easy for you to say... We will spend rest of our lives with sister-in-law in the villa, even if Julian and I move out, Sarah is still his sister-in-law. We will never be able to chance this fact.”

Vivian’s face was full of disappointment as she looked at Daphne. “Mom, actually I have thought of something in these two day. I will tell you today.”

“What?”

“I want to move out with Julian.”

Daphne frowned as she heard these words and directly rejected. “No! You are almost six months pregnant now. It is more and more inconvenient for you to move around. If Julian leaves for the company, what will you do? If there’s a bump something big will definitely happen! Absolutely not!”

Vivian answered with disappointment. “But... now as long as I saw Sarah, I feel uncomfortable.”

As she spoke, she put her hand on her belly and said faintly. “I know I do not have any status in this family. I let Christian down and snatched Sarah’s fiancée. Dad never looked at me straight in the face...”

As she spoke she burst into tears. her body trembled with excitement.

“Child? Why are you crying again? Who told you that you do not have any status in the family? Now you are the most important person in the family!”

No matter how much Daphne did not like Sarah, even when she saw Vivian crying so sadly, she didn't dare to say that she wanted to chase Sarah out of the house.

Because in her heart, she knew very well that Sarah was in her husband's heart. That was Ethan's bottom line. Once it was touched, it was very likely that he would fall out with her at all costs.

Vivian cried for a while and then looked at Daphne in embarrassment, “Mom, I'm sorry...”

“Look at what is happening in our house. Vivian, actually you think too much. And your vision is too short and shallow!”

Vivian looked at Daphne in puzzlement. “Mom?”

“Actually think about it, Cooper family only has two children. One is Christian, and the other is Julian. Christian is a soldier. He had never interfered in such a big business of Cooper family, because he was not interested in doing business. Let me tell you something, you are carrying a boy in your belly. As long as you endure everything now, and gave birth to the child, you can live a good life with Julian.”

“The properties of Cooper family are definitely mine! You also know that Christian is not my son. It is not easy to be a stepmother. You can also see that Christian has always been prejudiced against me. So deep in my heart, I only see you as my daughter-in-law. So Vivian, what I say, do you understand?”

There were some things that she couldn't say too clearly, but she understood her own identity.

“Mom, I understand!”

Vivian's mood immediately became half better when she heard Daphne's words. She looked at Daphne and squeezed out a smile. “Mom, I will listen to you from now on!”

Daphne laughed when she heard this. “This is a good child.”

Vivian looked at Daphne and also smiled. A crafty light flashed across her eyes.

If you find any errors (broken links, non-standard content, etc..), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 92 Sarah'S First Day At Work

Next Chapter

As soon as the car drove out of the Villa, Christian reached out his hand and grabbed Sarah's hand. He looked at her and said slowly, "There are some things that you don't need to care about what others say. The person who is going to work now is you. Actually, when you're ready to do something, hard work is the most important, understand?"

Sarah looked at him and smiled. "I understand. Don't worry, I will not let you down."

"What time do you get off work at noon?"

“12 o’ clock.”

“Then I’ll wait for you in front of the company.”

“No need! I am not a child.”

Christian looked at her differently. Just as he was about to speak, he heard Sarah directly interrupt his words. “Alright! If you don’t find it troublesome, then you can wait.”

She was afraid that Christian would say something that she would dislike him again.

Christian smiled faintly, and his thumb gently scratched her palm. “We seem to have become more and more in sync with each other.”

Sarah looked at him and felt that her hand was a little itchy from being scratched by him. She wanted to pull her hand back with force, but in the end, she brought his hand back to her legs. “Christian.”

“What’s the matter?”

“What do you think is wrong with you?” Sarah asked and looked down at the two’s tightly clenched hands and indicated to him.

“Oh.” Christian nodded in understanding and pulled his hand back. He then looked at her indifferently.

The car soon arrived at the Wilson Group. Sarah took her bag and opened the door to get out of the car.

Christian reached out his hand and grabbed her hand. “Wife, you can do it.”

Sarah heard him call her wife again and could not help but smile at him. “Don’t worry!”

After saying that, she got out of the car and waved to Christian, then closed the door and walked towards the lobby of the Wilson Group.

Seeing the cute figure getting further and further away from him, Christian leaned back into the chair and ordered. “Drive.”

“Yes.”

There was about thirty to forty meters from the place where they got off the car to the entrance of the hall. Sarah walked as she looked up at the Wilson Group building in front of her, which was shining with golden light under the sun.

When she thought that she would have to work here from today onwards, she could not help but feel excited.

She quickly went to the entrance. Just as she stepped onto the platform, she saw a blue sports car speeding over from the slope.

It stepped in front of Sarah with a squeak!

Along with the ear-piercing sound of breaks, Sarah's heart jumped out of her chest. She was too scared. Looking at the blue sports car just fist away from her, she could not help but feel angry.

If she had been a second slow, she would have been crushed into a bag of meat by now, right?

The car door opened and a man wearing a supercool sunglasses walked out. Looking at the angry Sarah, he revealed a charming smile. He raised his hand to take of the sunglasses.

Looking at his face, Sarah was instantly stunned.

So it was him!

The man she met at the elevator when she applied for the job.

“Hello.” He greeted with a smile.

“How can you drive like this? Can’t you see people walking here?” Sarah angrily stared at him and completely ignored his greeting.

Listening to her, he smiled like a hooligan. “Sorry, I really did not see anyone here.”

“You...” Sarah was so angry that she wanted to scold him. But she couldn’t make trouble on the first day of her work. So she turned around and walked into the lobby.

The man put his sunglasses again and followed her with a smile. “Why are you walking so fast? Are you angry?”

Sarah continued to walk forward in silence.

It was almost time for work, so Sarah walked towards the elevator. There were already many people waiting. She stood there and waited with everyone.

That person also followed her to the elevator and stood beside her. He ignored the strange lights of the beauties beside him and only looked at Sarah.

“Actually I really did not see anyone just now. I only saw a beauty.”

As soon as the man finished speaking, the people beside looked at the two of them.

Sarah did not want to become a center of attention on the first day of her work. So as soon as he finished speaking, she took two steps away from him.

That person saw her actions and smiled, but didn't say anything.

Fortunately, the elevator came quickly. Sarah followed the flow of people and squeezed into the side. When she turned around, she found that that man also squeezed into the crowd and stood beside her.

Sarah immediately turned her head to the side. She suppressed her urge to slap this man on his face. She had met such an annoying person on the first day of her work. Just thinking about this made her angry.

“Are you really angry? I was joking just now. I came here to play with your CEO today. I'll sign a contract with him at the same time." The man did not care about the people around him and continued to chat with Sarah.

Sarah immediately gave him a angry look. "Didn't you say that you came to apply last time?"

Last time, he told her that he came to apply for the job. Today, he was saying that he came to play with the CEO. This man must be a professional liar!

When the man heard this, he smiled and lowered his head slightly to whisper into her ear. "I thought you had completely forgotten about me."

Sarah speechlessly turned her head to the side again, not wanted to pay attention to him.

The elevator stopped layer by layer and there were fewer and fewer people in the elevator. At the end only Sarah and the man left in the elevator.

The man put his hand on his pocket and looked at Sarah with a smile. “You are still angry? I’m just joking with you.”

“Are you kidding me?”

The elevator stopped with a ding and Sarah walked out before him. She walked along the corridor towards the President Office.

Sarah had just took a few steps when she saw a sexy and beautiful woman standing at the entrance of the office. She had long wavy hair, an oval face and big eyes. Her skin was very fair. She wore a pure white suit with a floral white shirt inside. Her collar adorned with a black decorative tie and she wore a short yellow skirt. She looked both beautiful and intellectual.

However, the closer Sarah got to the woman, the colder her body felt. Because it did not match her attire at all. The woman was holding a baseball bat in her hand.

She put one hand on her waist and looked at Sarah's direction in a angry expression.

Just as Sarah reached at the entrance of the President Office, she heard the woman shout at her. "You, get over here!"

Sarah was shocked by the shout and thought she was called her. She nervously stopped at her place and looked at her. Before she could open her mouth, she saw the woman carrying the baseball bat rushing towards her!

Sarah was so scared that her body trembled. In the next second, she heard the woman shout, “Stinking brat! Didn’t I tell you come early?”

As soon as she finished speaking, Sarah saw the woman rushed behind with the baseball bat raised.

“Sister, didn’t I come here? Sister, I was wrong. Don’t hit me. I will die. Help!” Sarah looked back and saw that, the man who had been chasing after her in the elevator was now running from the woman.

After a while the man came back and saw Sarah was still standing there. He immediately grabbed her shoulder and blocked Sarah in front of him.

“Come out! You are late by half an hour and you still dare to say you are here!” The woman raised her baseball bat and was about to hit the man again.

When she saw him hiding behind Sarah, she stopped and panted heavily. She pointed at Sarah and waved,

“You, get out of my way!”

Sarah immediately dodged to the side. But the man also followed her and dodged as well.

The woman chased for a long time but still could not touch the man. She glared hatefully and carried the baseball bat into the office. “You two. Come with me.”

Sarah saw that the woman walked into the president office so arrogantly and understood that she must not be an ordinary person. She immediately followed the woman obediently. The man also followed behind her with a smile on his face.

The woman walked to the sofa in her high heels and sat down. She elegantly crossed her arms in front of her chest and looked at Sarah. “What do you do?”

“I am the CEO’s new secretary. Today is my first day of work.” Sarah said respectfully. Actually she was a little afraid of her.

“What time the Human Resources Department tell you to go to work?” The woman lifted her wrist and looked at the watch as she spoke.

“08.30!”

When the woman heard Sarah’s words, she raised her baseball bat and pointed at her younger brother, “What about you? What time did I tell you yesterday?”

The man immediately replied with a smile. “Sis, my secretary works for the first day. Can you respect me?”

Hearing this, Sarah immediately turned around to look at him. She was a little surprised. If she didn’t hear wrongly, this man who was chased by his sister everywhere was actually her superior, Syrus Wilson!

If that was really the case, then this woman in front of her... It was most likely the second sister of Syrus that Julian mentioned before.

“Do you have the right to make me respect you? You are the only son of Wilson Family. If you don’t grow up well, how can you take over such a big company in the future?” The woman pointed at her brother and shouted.

Syrus coughed dryly. Just as he was about to speak, he saw the office door being pushed open and another woman walked in.

Syrus immediately ran over as if he had seen his savior. He hugged the woman’s arm and said, “Sister, please save me! Second sister is going to kill me!”

When Syrus ran over, Sarah also looked over. She saw Syrus's eldest sister walking gracefully. She looked somewhat similar to Syrus's second sister. It was just that there were less fierceness in her eyes, but more tenderness.

Syrus' eldest sister smiled and looked at her sister on the sofa. "It's Sy's first day at work. Dad knew that you would come and cause trouble for him, so he asked me to come to take a look. I didn't expect you to really be here. Syrus is no longer a child. Let him handle some things himself. Follow me upstairs."

If you find any errors (broken links, non-standard content, etc..), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 93 | Am Her Husband

Next Chapter

Jasmine heard her sister's words and stood up from the sofa, still holding her baseball bat. When she walked to Sarah's side, she stopped and looked at her with slightly narrowed eyes. "What is your name?"

"Sarah Wilson."

"You're also surnames Wilson?" Jasmine was somewhat surprised.

Margaret looked at her little sister and smiled. "What's so strange about having the surname Wilson? Hurry up and come. Dad is waiting."

Jasmine listened to her sister's words and looked at Sarah again before carrying the baseball bat and leaving with her sister.

The moment both the sisters walked out, Syrus immediately let out a long breath. He patted his chest and said, "I was scared to death!"

Sarah looked at the appearance of her superior and finally could not help but burst into laughing.

Syrus looked at his secretary. "You are too heartless. Didn't I you see that I was almost beaten to death?"

"Shouldn't it not happen?" Sarah held back her laughter and replied.

"You must still hold a grudge against what I just did, right? This is good, my Sister has avenged you!"

Syrus walked to his boss's table and sat down. He narrowed his eyes and looked at Sarah, who was walking over.

"I am not as petty as you think." Sarah refuted. After the disturbance just now, she had more sympathy for her boss.

Syrus raised his hand and tidied up the dark shirt on his body and looked at Sarah. “Alright. I was just joking with you downstairs. You should know who I am, right?”

After that, Syrus pressed the inline on the table and called for the secretary he had brought back from England.

“Yes, I know.”

The office door was pushed open and a girl in a hot short skirt with neat short hair walked in. “President!”

“Lisa, this is the new secretary, Sarah. Take her to familiarize herself with her work today.”

“Yes.” Lisa nodded and looked at Sarah, “Please follow me.”

Sarah looked at Syrus and nodded slightly then followed Lisa out of the Office.

Although she had experienced such a soul-stirring scene in the morning, Sarah still had a fulfilling morning. She also learned some things about Syrus from Lisa.

When it was almost noon, Syrus pressed the internal line and called Sarah into the office. When Sarah walked in, she saw that Syrus had already stood up and wore his sunglasses very coolly.

He looked at Sarah and smiled charmingly. “Today is your first day at work, and I gave you a scare. So I’ll treat you to lunch today. Let’s go.”

After saying that, he walked past Sarah and was about to leave.

“CEO!” Sarah stopped him.

“What’s wrong?” Syrus stopped in his tracks and looked at her.

“I’m sorry. I have an appointment at noon.” Christian had said that he would wait for her in the noon. Sarah kept this in mind.

Syrus raised his eyebrows in understanding and then smiled. “It’s okay. Then next time.”

After saying that, he turned around and walked out of the office in a cool manner.

Once Syrus left, Sarah immediately went to her bag for her bag, then walked towards the elevator. Before she even reached, she saw Syrus standing in front of the elevator looking at her.

“Let’s go together. The elevator at noon is a little crowded.” Syrus smiled. He then walked into the elevator. Sarah hesitated for moment before following him.

The elevator door slowly closed. Syrus looked at Sarah who was beside him. “Who are you going to meet?”

“Friend.” Sarah’s answer was a little lacking in confidence.

“Boyfriend?”

“Yes, sir.”

“You have a boyfriend?”

“Yes.”

Syrus looked at her silently. “What does he do?”

Sarah looked at him. “President, do I have to answer?”

Hearing this, Syrus laughed out loud. After a while, he looked at Sarah. “It seems that your boyfriend does not want to be exposed, right?”

Sarah glared at him angrily. “You are the one who is not allowed to see the light!”

Although Christian’s legs were not good, he was a straightforward person. How could he say that Christian could not see the light?

Syrus heard her words and smiled again, but didn’t say anything else.

The elevator quickly reached the first floor. Syrus's car had already stopped in front of the lobby. Seeing him drive away, Sarah walked down the stairs in front of the lobby and walked towards the parking lot.

She saw Christian's car at the first glance. She originally thought that he only said this casually. She did not expect him to really come.

Seeing Christian roll down the window and wave at her, Sarah immediately ran over with a smile and sat beside him.

Christian grabbed her hand and slowly asked, "Are you hungry?"

Sarah smiled then asked him in puzzlement. "Why didn't you ask how I was this morning?"

Christian looked at her with a faint smile. “My wife will definitely be fine.”

Sarah could not help but smile again when she heard his words.

The car started up and drove away from the square in front of Wilson Group.

“Where are we going to eat today? Are we going back to the apartment?” Sarah looked at the road in front and asked.

“I heard from my dad that there is a five-star hotel in Wilson Group that is very well made. Since you are going to work there in the future, you should know more about Wilson Group. Today, we are going to eat in their hotel.”

Hearing Christian’s words, Sarah’s heart inexplicably warmed.

This man looked cold and strong. Actually, he was very considerate towards Sarah most of the time.

“Okay.” She smiled and nodded. When she looked at Christian, she felt that he was really becoming more and more handsome.

Because the hotel was not far away, they reached very quickly. Sarah first got out of the car then helped Christian walk down and let him hold onto his walking stick. Then they entered the hotel together.

Sarah originally thought that Christian would want a single room. But Christian insisted on the lobby manager to bring the two to the restaurant on the second floor.

Christian’s legs were not convenient, so it was easy for him to become the center of attention. When Sarah helped him out of the elevator, many people threw strange looks at them. Sarah ignored these gazes and helped Christian to a seat near the window.

After they ordered some dishes, Christian looked at Sarah opposite him.

“How do you feel at work?” Christian asked Sarah with a smile.

“Pretty good. I was a little nervous but most of it was excitement. This is a feeling I’ve never felt before in the Cooper Group.”

“Is that so? That’s good. How’s your boss? What kind of person is he?”

“Not bad. Do you know? When I entered the company this morning, our CEO's second sister chased after him with a baseball bat because he was half an hour late for work." Sarah could not help but laugh when she thought of what happened this morning.

Christian also smiled when he heard Sarah's words. "It seems that your superior is not bad."

"He looks alright."

"Compared to Julian?" Christian asked.

Sarah was a little surprised when she heard what Christian said. She thought about it and was about to answer the question when she heard a familiar voice behind her.

"Isn't this Sarah? You guys are eating here too?"

When Sarah looked up, she saw Syrus walking to their table with a smile on his face. He looked down at Sarah and then looked at Christian. He subconsciously looked at the crutches beside Christian.

When Sarah saw Syrus, she immediately stood up. “President, you are also here to eat?”

Syrus smiled and nodded. He looked at Christian. “You are Sarah’s boyfriend, right? Sarah said she had an appointment with her friend for lunch. I didn’t expect it to be such a coincidence. Hello.”

After saying that, Syrus stretched out his hand towards Christian.

Christian first looked at Sarah then at Syrus. He stretched out his hand and shook Syrus’s hand with force. He looked at the later and corrected him in a light voice. “You misunderstood. I am not her boyfriend.”

Syrus smiled when he heard him. “Really? I thought you were her boyfriend.”

“I am her Husband!”

Sarah did not expect Christian to introduce their relationship so directly. Her face instantly turned red.

Syrus was slightly stunned, but he still smiled very quickly. “I thought Sarah was not married yet. It turns out that she even has a husband. You guys enjoy. I will go.”

After saying that, Syrus left with a smile. He went to the seat behind Christian and sat down facing Sarah.

Because Syrus was here, Sarah did not say anything.

The lunch was a little awkward because Sarah only needed to lift her head slightly to see Syrus, who was not far away from her, looking at her. She immediately looked away.

Luckily, Syrus ate quickly and left not long after. When he left, he greeted Sarah and Christian, then put on his sunglasses and put his hands in his pocket and left the hotel in a carefree manner.

Seeing him left, Sarah's heart immediately relaxed.

"Did I make a fool of you?" Christian looked at Sarah.

"No! I didn't say that!" Sarah immediately denied it.

Christian looked at her indifferently and did not continue to say anything.

They had a quick lunch, then Christian sent her to the company. Seeing her enter into the company, Christian told the driver to drive away.

When Sarah entered the company, Lisa looked at her and said, “The CEO asked you to come back to his office.”

“Okay!” Sarah nodded and turned around to go to office of president.

When she walked in, she saw Syrus reading the documents seriously. Sarah walked over. “President, you are looking for me?”

Syrus put down the document and looked at Sarah with a smile.

“Let me gossip. Is the person who ate with you really your husband?”

If you find any errors (broken links, non-standard content, etc..), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 94 Broke Into Her Room In The Middle Of The Nigh

Next Chapter

Sarah blushed, but she could not avoid this question. She could only nod. “Yes...”

“You are already married?”

Sarah nodded silently again.

Syrus raised his eyebrows, and there was a hint of disappointment in his eyes. There were some things that he knew he shouldn't have asked, but he still couldn't help but open his mouth. "Can I ask what he does?"

"He is a soldier. He is a very good person!"

Syrus immediately understood and nodded. "His leg was injured during work?"

"Yes..."

Seeing Sarah's embarrassed expression, Syrus smiled. "I don't have any other intentions. I'm just a little curious. Alright, now my curiosity is satisfied. Go out and work!"

"Yes, CEO!" Sarah nodded and turned around to walk out of Office of President.

Syrus looked at her back and let out a breath. He leaned against the chair. A complicated look flashed in his eyes.

Because Christian had given a half a year off, Sarah was with him almost every day. Even if she went to work, Christian would drop her and pick her up from work. He did not miss any opportunity at all.

During this period of time, as he interacted with Christian more and more, the relationship between the two of them also became more and more relaxed.

Sarah did not even realize that every day when she got off work, once she walked out of the company, she subconsciously looked at the parking lot in front of the company.

There were a few times when Christian did not come in time because of something, she even felt an indescribable sense of loss in her heart.

Three months, in the blink of an eye, was about to end!

The last two weeks of the three month agreements.

Christian received a call from the army asking him to return. Due to the urgency of the matter, Christian left the second day after he received the call.

Once Christian left, Sarah took her bag and prepared to leave. But when she walked out of the villa, she realized that there was no car to send her. Villa was about half an hour away from the city. Moreover, everyone living nearby had a car. That was why almost no taxi came to this kind of place.

She could have taken Ethan's car, but he had gone to the company early in the morning. Sarah stood at the door and hesitated for a moment. Then she turned around and walked back to look for Benjamin.

But she had just taken two steps. She saw Julian rushing down the stairs and walking straight to her side.

“Let’s go. Dad told me this morning to send you to work today. Do you need anything else?” Julian asked as he tidied up his shirt.

“I think I should go by myself...”

Julian could not help laughing when he heard her.

“What? It has been so long, and you are still so afraid of me? Let’s go, sister-in-law.”

“Forget it, you can leave first.” Sarah shook him off and did not want to have too much contact with him.

While the two of them were talking, she saw Daphne walk out of the kitchen. She looked at Sarah and said, “Today Ethan said to let Julian take you there. There are no other cars at home now. In a while, I also want to take Vivian to the hospital for an examination.”

Now Sarah could only nod her head. “Yes.”

Julian walked to the side of his car and sat in the car. Sarah walked to the side of the car and thought for a while before sitting in the back seat.

Julian did not say anything along the way.

Occasionally, he would look up at Sarah through the rearview mirror and then look at the car in front of him, focusing on driving his car.

Sarah thought that he would find trouble with her again. But she did not expect him to be so honest this time. This made the heart that she had been holding on to fall slightly to the ground.

When the car stopped at Wilson Group, Julian turned around and looked at her. “Wait here at night when you get off work. I will bring you home at that time.”

“No need! I’ll just take a taxi back!”

Julian looked at her indifferently. “Do whatever you want.”

Then he started the car and left.

Sarah looked at the back of the car and felt more or less comforted in her heart. As long as he didn’t find trouble with her, even if Christian wasn’t in Cooper family, she could still hold on for two weeks.

Sarah went back to villa by a taxi at night. During dinner, Ethan said that he would let Sarah take his car and leave tomorrow morning, which made Sarah feel a little better.

After dinner, Sarah returned to her and Christian's bedroom in a short while. After washing up, she quickly laid down on the bed. But she subconsciously looked at the place beside her, which was empty right now.

He left for a whole day!

Did he eat or not? How was his health today? How were his legs? He didn't work too hard and tired himself, right? And if he needed something, was there anyone with him right now?

She was lost in Christian's thoughts and picked up her phone to make him a phone call. But thinking about how she would part away with him two weeks later... Was she too concerned about him?

Even though she was thinking about this, she still could not calm her heart down. After hesitating for a while, she put her phone back.

She laid down on the bed and covered herself with a thin blanket. But after lying down for a while, her gaze fell on her phone again.

He had been gone for an entire day, yet he didn't even call her. She was somewhat depressed in her heart.

She laid on the bed for a while more, but couldn't hold any longer. She took her phone and opened the phone book to call Christian. At this time, her phone suddenly rang, giving her a scare.

She took a closer look and found that it was actually Christian. Her face instantly lit up. Without thinking, she pressed the answer button.

“Do you miss me?” Christian asked her with a smile as soon as he opened his mouth.

“What do I miss you for? Don’t you remember me at all? Don’t you know to call me when you arrived at the army?” Sarah asked me without thinking.

“My phone ran out of the battery on the way here. I was called to work by the leader when I got there. I was busy until now.”

When she heard his say this, her heart instantly softened. She quickly asked him, “Then have you eaten?”

“I just finished my dinner. How about you?”

“Why don’t you look at the time when you say this? I would have finished eating a long ago. If I hadn’t waited for your call... Maybe I fell asleep right now...”

“You have been waiting for my call?”

“Yeah! You didn’t call me, how would I know if something happened to you on the way? Or did you arrive at the army? Besides, even if your phone ran out of battery, Jayson still has a phone, right? Can’t you just call me with his phone?”

Since he left, she could not help but worry. She counted the time and knew he should have arrived a long ago. But he didn’t call at all. From the afternoon since now, no matter what she did, she was a little absent-minded. Hearing his voice now, her hanging heart also fell onto the ground.

“Sorry. I forgot...” Hearing her complaints, a smile appeared on his lips.

“Forget it. Since you are there, I’m relieved. When are you coming back?” She didn’t say the rest of her words. It wasn’t long before the day they divorce.

“Are you worried that I won’t go back?” Christian asked with a faint smile. No matter how hard he tried to escape, that they was not something they could escape from.

“That’s right! When will you come back?” Sarah could not help but smile when she heard him.

“Don’t worry. I’ll go back. It’s Friday after a half a month. I’ll there on Thursday. I’ll not delay the divorce. Are you afraid that I will not let you go?” Christian asked half-jokingly.

“No! You are a man, you must keep your word!”

“There are some times when men don’t keep their words...”

“Do you?”

“I don’t know.”

Sarah heard his words and smiled. She didn’t take it to heart. “Alright, it’s getting late. You should rest. I’m going to sleep. Good night.”

“Good night.”

Sarah hung up the phone. She thought about what he said and could not help but smiled faintly. She put down the phone and slowly closed her eyes.

Maybe it was because she received a call from Christian, the moment she closed her eyes, she fell asleep. That night, she had a beautiful dream. She dreamt after divorcing Christian, she married to Mr. David.

Her long wedding dress was ten meter away from the ground. She gently held Mr. David's hand and looked at each other as they walked towards the stage. On the both sides of red carpets family members keep blessing them. Flowers kept falling from the top. At this moment Sarah felt she was extremely happy...

She finally reached on the stage and held onto David's hand as she turned around. However, the moment she turned around she found that the person standing in front of her was not David but... Christian. And the surprising thing was the man who had been sitting in the wheelchair on the time, had stood up completely.

Christian wore a sliver-gray suit. It perfectly complimented his figure. His hair was neatly cut and he had a white rose on his pocket. He looked so handsome that even the stars on the sky would be shy looking him.

Sarah's eyes lit up as she looked at him. For the first time she realized that... this man was so brilliant!

The emcee began proceed the wedding and they took the wedding vows, after that Christian's lips fell on her lips.

Finally, when everything was over... He directly carried her into their new room. Without waiting to take off her wedding dress, he directly pounced on her and kissed her...

She was being pressed down by him until she was unable to breathe. The feeling of being kissed grew stronger and stronger. Sarah reached out and wanted to push him away, but just as her hand reached out, it was grabbed by someone. The clear touch made Sarah wake up from her sleep.

Something was not right!

There was someone who was pressing down right now!

She tried her best to struggle with all her might. Christian was outside. She didn't need to think who was pressing her right now.

She opened her mouth and bit Julian hard. The smell of blood instantly filled up her mouth. Julian raised his body in pain.

“Julian! You bastard! Get lost!” Sarah used all her strength to flip off his body and pushed him hard. She then reach out and turned on the bedside lamp.

She saw the man in front of her was indeed the man she liked for nine years!

Her heart immediately fell into the bottom of the valley.

Seeing her panicked look, Julian simply sat up from bed. He looked at her and said frankly, “Sarah, I miss you. I miss you every day during this period of time. I can’t sleep at night. Sarah, I didn’t know about my feelings in past. I thought I didn’t like you. But after this period of time, I realized the person I truly liked is you. Sarah...”

If you find any errors (broken links, non-standard content, etc..), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 95 | Miss You Christian

Next Chapter

“Get out! Get out of here right now!” Sarah shouted hysterically.

Julian did not expect her to shout so loudly. He got up in panic and threw himself at her. He covered her mouth in panic. “Lower your voice! You want everyone in the house, right?”

Julian was too strong. Sarah was not his match at all. After struggling for a long time, she stared at him with her eyes wide open. Her eyes were full of anger. She wished she could burn him to death.

“Sarah, promise me not to shout. I will let go of you, okay?” Julian did not want everyone to know. He looked at Sarah and asked.

Sarah immediately nodded vigorously. Her big eyes were still glaring at him hatefully. She was about to spurt out fire.

Seeing that she had agreed, Julian let go of her. Seeing that she had been looking at him angrily, he sat back down in shame. “Sarah, I’m sorry. I just missed you too much, so I couldn’t control myself. Sarah, I really like you. Can you give me another chance?”

Sarah panted and glared at him. “I don’t want to see you anymore. Get out of here right now.”

“Sarah.” Julian was still a little unwilling.

“Get lost! Otherwise, I will scream for help! Get out immediately!” Sarah looked at him in despair.

“Okay. Don’t be angry. I will leave.” Seeing her expression, Julian awkwardly got off from the bed and went out of the door.

Seeing the door close, Sarah immediately jumped off the bed, ran to the door and fiercely pressed the lock. She still couldn't feel relieved. So she ran back to get a chair and fiercely pressed the lock.

She curled her body into a ball and nervously looked at the door of the room. When she saw the phone beside the bedside, without thinking, she called Christian.

It was past three o' clock in the morning. Christian was a little surprised when he suddenly received a call from his wife. "What's wrong? What happened?"

"Christian, I miss you."

The moment she opened her mouth, Sarah could not stop her tears from falling. She had never needed of him as much as she did now. She wished that he would appear immediately in front her. She would definitely throw herself into his arms. As long as he was there, her world would be safe.

She really missed him!

When he suddenly heard her confess so directly, he was stunned for a moment before realizing something must have happened. He asked hurriedly, "Sarah, tell me quickly. What happened?"

"Nothing." She choked up and shook her head. He was far away from her. No matter how much she missed him, no matter she was scared, she could not tell him what happened tonight. No man could tolerate his wife being humiliated by other man.

"Then why are you crying? Sarah, can you tell me where you are right now?" Christian tried his best to lower your tone, but his heart filled with anxiety.

“I had a nightmare just now. I dreamt you left me.”
Sarah cried hard and lied.

“Really?” Christian still could not believe it.

“Yes, after I woke up from the shock, I didn’t see you.”

After hearing this, Christian smiled faintly. “This nightmare of yours is really scary. I am also shocked. How is it now?”

“Much better.” His voice was so gentle and warm like a warm current flowing into her heart. Her emotions slowly calmed down. She was no longer as afraid as before.

“That’s good. Just now, your husband really wished if he could build a rocket. That way, I could take the rocket to find you.” Christian heard her calm tone and tried to joke with her.

Sarah heard his words and could not help but laugh. She felt a lot more relaxed. “The rocket is so fast. Even if you sit on it, can you find me?”

“That’s true. That thing is too fast. It seems that I have to put the brakes on it when I build it.” Christian replied with a smile.

Sarah was completely amused by his words.

“Can you tell me what you thought of me just now?” After getting married for nearly three months, he didn’t expect his little wife finally started to think about him. This kind of news made his more and less excited.

“Who said I miss you? I didn’t think of you at all.” When she heard what Christian said, only then she realized that she actually confessed him just now. It made her embarrassed.

“Wife, did you wake me up middle of the night to let me ride a roller coaster?” He knew this little girl still had some conflict with him in her heart. So he didn’t take her words to heart.

“Who is your wife?” She retorted with a smile. Previously, she had heard him call her this many times. Originally she should have been very disgusted by this. But tonight when she heard him call her so intimately, she actually felt some warmth in her heart.

“I am now a married a person. Since you are also, then tell me, who I am?” He was too far from her. So he could only chat with her to ease her fear.

“I don’t know.” Sarah did not know how to answer this question.

Christian smiled. “Did you really have a nightmare just now?”

Sarah tightly pursed her lips and answered insincerely, “Yes, I really did have a nightmare.”

“Anyway, I am not at home. Tell Dad tomorrow and you can go back to your mother’s house. I will pick you up when I come back.” Although he heard her say this, he still could not help but worry.

“Will that work?” His words made her feel some comfort in her heart. If she returned her home, she would be able to get rid of Julian’s entanglement with her. She would no longer have to live in such fear.

“Just do as I say. Nothing is impossible, okay?”

“Yes, I understand.”

“Don’t you have two pillows on the bed?”

“Yes.”

“You can treat one of the pillows as hugging me.”

“Okay.” Sarah could not help but laugh. While she agreed, she really hugged the pillow in her arms.

“Now just don’t think about those nightmares anymore, just think about me being at your side, okay?”

“Okay.”

“Now just close your eyes and have a good sleep. Don’t think about anything else.”

“Okay.”

“When you count to a hundred with your eyes closed,

I will hang up. You can start counting now.”

“Alright.” Sarah obediently closed her eyes and hugged the pillow tightly as she muttered in her heart: One, two, three.

She didn't know if Christian's words had an comforting effect on her, not long after she closed her eyes, she fell asleep.

...

Although that kind of thing happened last night, she still woke up on time next morning. After washing up, when she was about to go out of the room she heard the phone rang.

Looking at the familiar name and remembering the comforting words he said last night, her heart warmed. She smiled as she answered the phone call.

“Wife, are you up?” Christian’s voice was gentle and it sounded very comfortable.

“You are not allowed to call me that.” No matter what, calling her that was too sweet. Sarah was not used to it and her face unconsciously turned red.

“Aren’t you my wife now?” Christian asked with a smile.

Sarah was speechless. He was getting better and better to her. She didn’t have the heart to say depressing things to him.

She hesitated for a while but still remained him. “It will not be like this after a period of time.”

“That will also be a matter of future. Anyway, you are still my wife today, right?” Christian did not mind her words and asked patiently.

“Alright.” Sarah reluctantly admitted.

“Wife, have you woken up?” Hearing her agree, he continued to strike while the iron was hot.

“Yes, how about you?” Knowing that her reminder didn’t have any effect, she let him speak freely.

“I have already woken up. Did you have nightmares again last night?”

“I didn’t have any more nightmares. Thanks to you.”

“Didn’t I say that? If you don’t say thank you to me, I will be even happier.”

“Okay.”

“After breakfast, don’t forget to tell Dad, okay?”

“Got it.”

“It’s Saturday today. Are you still going to work?”

“I’m not going. I’ll rest in this weekend.”

“Is that so? Then go back to your mother’s place after breakfast. Call me when you get home, okay?”

“Okay.”

“Alright. I am going out. Remember to miss me.”

Sarah could not help but laugh. She felt that he was completely different from the last night until now. She could not help but say, “I just realized now that Regimental Commander Cooper is also very funny.”

“Haha!” Christian laughed heartily, “Do you know why you found out just now?”

“Why?”

“Because you are too far away from me.”

“Weren’t we very close a few days ago?”

“Idiot. Staying close doesn’t mean me standing in front of you. Alright, I won’t say anymore. I am going out.”

The distance was close, but the distance between their hearts was very far. That was the distance between them, right? When the words reached his mouth, he swallowed them back.

“Mm, bye bye.” She hung up the phone but his words kept lingering in her mind. The distance between us is not me standing in front of you. She was not stupid. In an instant, she understood the meaning behind his words. But there was only a contract between them. They couldn't be so close to each other.

However, remembering the words he said just now, she couldn't help but laugh.

After changing her clothes, she went to the living room. After greeting the elders she sat on the sofa.

The moment Sarah came out, Julian intentionally and unintentionally looked at her. He was afraid she would say something about last night.

Vivian who was sitting beside him noticed his gaze. She was originally a woman who was good at observing. Julian and Sarah's relationship was very sensitive so she noticed Julian's gaze at a sight.

Last night when she accidentally woke up, she found that Julian was not in the room. She checked the washroom, he was not there either. She felt something was wrong.

She thought Julian must have gone to find Sarah. So she lifted her foot and was about to go downstairs when she saw Julian coming from outside.

When she asked him where he had gone, he told her that he went downstairs to look for food. From the moment she began to suspicious about this matter.

“Julian, where did you go last night?” She looked at him and deliberately asked.

If you find any errors (broken links, non-standard content, etc..), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 96 Her Mother Is Sick

Next Chapter

The reason Vivian asked Julian was to see what kind of reaction Sarah would have. She also wanted to warm Julian that she wasn't a fool who didn't know anything.

As soon as Vivian finished speaking, everyone looked at Julian.

Sarah's heart twitched and her hands silently clenched together.

Julian's eyes panicked and he became impatient. "I told you last night that I went to the kitchen to look for food, right? Where else can I go in the middle of the night?"

“Didn’t you eat a lot last night? Even I didn’t get hungry, but you were hungry?”

At this time Daphne’s eyes fell on her son. “Julian, what happened to your mouth? Did you get hurt? Why are you bleeding?”

Julian’s face twitched unnaturally, “I didn’t turn on the night when I went to kitchen last night. I accidentally bumped into the door.”

“Why didn’t you turn on the light when you went to look for food? You are not allowed to do it in future. What if you were heavily injured?” Daphne’s heart ached for her only son.

“I know, Mom.” Julian nodded immediately.

Vivian still didn’t want to let go of this problem. “You ate a lot during dinner, still went to find food last night and you even accidentally broke your lips. If the people outside saw it, they would think you were bitten.”

Vivian finally laid her eyes on Sarah. When she saw Sarah’s face, she could not help but blush. In her heart, she roughly understood what had happened last night.

Sarah did not want continue to listen to this topic, so she looked at Ethan. “Dad, Christian is not at home. I want to go to my mother’s house and stay there for a few days.”

When Julian heard her words, he immediately looked at her. His eyes were filled with unwillingness.

Now that Christian was not around, it was the best opportunity for him! He didn’t want to waste it no matter what.

Ethan had never refused her request. “Okay. Your mother is lonely at home. You should go and accompany her.”

“Yeah! Your mother is at home alone. Christian won’t be back for this period of time. You can stay at your mother’s house for a few more days. It’s alright.”

Daphne immediately echoed.

Sarah smiled faintly and nodded her head but didn’t say anything.

“Oh right, Sarah, how is your driving license test?”
Ethan did not forget about getting Sarah a new car.

“Two more days...”

“Don’t be nervous. When the time comes, you will definitely pass the test.” Ethan encouraged her like a father.

“Thank you, Dad.” In this family, besides Christian, the one who treated her the best was Ethan. Every time she heard what he said to her, her heart would always be filled with warmth.

After they had breakfast, Ethan had the driver send Sarah back to her mother’s home. He also let Sarah bring some specialties from the family. Only then did he let her sit in the car and return to her mother’s home.

Once Sarah left, Julian went upstairs somewhat gloomily. He wanted to call Sarah.

Seeing Julian go upstairs, Vivian also got up and went back to her room after a while. When she walked in, she saw Julian holding the phone and was about to dial.

Vivian silently walked over and took the phone from him. She looked at the number on the phone and saw the name 'Sarah'. She instantly became angry.

“Julian! Aren't you going too far? You just married a few days ago, and you're already thinking about your former lover?”

Julian heard her words and immediately went to the door to close. Only then did he walk to his wife's side.

“What nonsense are you talking about? I just want to ask sister-in-law something. Don't speak nonsense. It would be fine if others heard it, but if Big Brother hears it, there will be a lot of quarrels in the family in the future.”

Although his father had a bad temper, but Julian's biggest taboo is still his cold-faced Big Brother.

“Didn’t you say you wanted to ask sister-in-law about something? Then what are you afraid of?” Vivian looked at him and shouted.

“Can you lower your voice? We just got married and Dad is not satisfied with the two of us. Don’t make him angry and kick you out! Don’t you say that I didn’t warn you when the time comes!” Julian said as he walked to the side of the bed and sat down.

Vivian pursed her lips. “He has been dissatisfied since a long time ago. Anyway, no matter what I do, he will not be satisfied! Besides, I did not think about finding that Big Brother of yours. Now, you are thinking about that sister-in-law of yours every day. Do I still have to care about it?”

“Who said I miss her?” Julian was already depressed. Now that he heard Vivian’s words, the anger in his heart increased. When he spoke, he could not help but raise his voice a little.

“Julian! Don’t think that I don’t know anything. Where did you go last night? You didn’t go into the kitchen, you went into your sister-in-law’s room, right? Your mouth must have been bitten by her too, right?” When Vivian saw Julian’s attitude towards her, she also became anxious.

“What nonsense are you talking about?” Julian frowned at her. His eyes turned red and his fists were tightly clenched.

Looking him like this, Vivian was afraid that he would punch her. She snorted coldly and walked to the bedside and sat down. “Anyway, you know what you have done!”

After saying that, she placed her hand on her stomach. She shed tears of grievance, “If I had known this would happen, I would have aborted the child from the very beginning. I would have prevented you from abandoning us after the child was born.”

When Julian saw Vivian like this, no matter how angry he was, he wouldn't be able to vent his anger. He stood where he was to ease his emotions. After a while, he walked to Vivian's side and sat down.

“Vivi, I'm sorry. I shouldn't have gotten angry with you just now. Look, we just got married and our family members are not optimistic about the two of us. Now we even started to suspect each other in a few days. Don't you think it will be a joke? I really went to the kitchen to look for food last night. You have to believe me!”

“Really?” Vivian looked at him and had a look of compromise on her face.

“Of course it’s true. Don’t think about it anymore. You have our child in your womb right now, so you can’t just get angry. Otherwise, what will we do if the child is abnormal?”

“Don’t scare me! What abnormal condition? Can’t you say something nice?” Vivian angrily glared at him.

“Of course our child the smartest. As long as you keep your mood good from now on, the child will definitely be fine. But if you get angry every day, do you think he will be fine?”

“Hubby, I’ll listen to you.” Vivian nodded obediently and leaned into Julian’s arms.

Julian listened to her and lowered his head to kiss her. After he comforted her, he said, “I might be busy in the company these days. I probably came back a little late. Don’t think about anything. Hubby loves you the most, you know?”

“Me too!” Vivian smiled and wrapped her arms around Julian’s neck and kissed him passionately.

...

Cooper Family’s car sent Sarah downstairs. When the car stopped, Sarah saw David’s familiar BMW X5. She thought that David was upstairs and her mood suddenly became much better.

The driver took out the gifts and wanted to help Sarah send them upstairs. But Sarah rejected his good intentions.

She quickly went upstairs quickly and knocked on the door.

The door only opened after a while. David stood at the door and was surprised to see Sarah.

“Sarah?” David came back to his senses and took all the gifts from her hands.

Sarah walked around but she didn't see her mother. She looked at David and asked, “Mr. David, where is my mother?”

“Auntie is sick. She is in the bedroom.” David pointed at the bedroom as he spoke.

Sarah rushed into her mother's bedroom and saw her lying on the bed. Samantha looked very haggard.

“Mom, what happened to you?” When nervously held her mother's hand. She felt a little hot.

When Samantha saw Sarah, she immediately became much better. She smiled weakly, “I am fine. I just had a heatstroke yesterday. I am much better now.”

“Did you take your medicine? Do you have a fever? Have you eaten breakfast?” Sarah asked a series of questions. She was very nervous.

David, who followed her, smiled and comforted her.

“Sarah, don’t worry. Auntie just had a little heatstroke. She’s fine. You don’t have to worry too much.”

Sarah felt a little relieved when she heard David’s words. But she still looked at Samantha worriedly, “Mom, I feel that you have a fever. Let’s go to the hospital.”

Samantha shook her head. “No need. Last night David took me to the hospital for examination. We can go in the afternoon.”

Sarah looked at David. “Really?”

David smiled. “Yes. Auntie had a really bad fever last night. I happened to come to see her. So I directly sent her to the hospital.”

“Then why didn’t you call me?” Her own mother’s illness was being taken care of by someone else. No matter what, she didn’t feel good.

“I can solve this problem myself. You would worry if I called you.” David looked at her and smiled.

Sarah looked back at Samantha. “Mom, if something like this happens again in the future, you must call me first. Do you know that? If I don’t come back today, I won’t even know that you are sick!”

Samantha heard her words and nodded. “Okay.”

“Mom, did you have breakfast today?” Sarah looked at her mother and asked softly.

“I ate. It was David who made it at home.”

Samantha’s voice was still very weak as she spoke.

If you find any errors (broken links, non-standard content, etc..), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 97 Did He Do Anything Out Of Line?

Next Chapter

“Are you thirsty? Do you want some water?” Sarah looked at the empty cup and didn’t wait Samantha to answer. She ran to the kitchen to pour some water.

Samantha looked at her powerlessly. “Sarah, accompany David to chat. I want to sleep sometime.”

“Okay, Okay.” Sarah nodded and tugged her into the blanket. Seeing her mother close her eyes, she left the room with David and gently closed the door.

Before Sarah’s hand could even remove from the door handle, David grabbed her and let her into her bedroom. He then quickly closed the door and held her in his arms.

Hearing his straightforward confession, Sarah couldn’t help but smile. She reached out and wrapped her hands around his waist. “Mr. David, I miss you too...”

The date of the agreement with Christian was getting closer and closer. She was already looking forward to the day when she divorced Christian and left the Cooper family. With such a good partner as Mr. David by her side, her future life would definitely be happier and happier.

“In these few days, I dreamt of you every night. Sarah I can’t wait anymore.”

Sarah’s reply made David a little excited. He reached out and tugged her hair behind her ear and gently caressed her face. There was endless tenderness in his eyes.

Sarah’s heart warmed hearing his words. She looked at him and comforted gently. “Hold on a little longer. My marriage with him will be over after half a month.”

When David heard this, his eyes flashed intensely. He lowered his head and smooth her forehead. “Sarah, do you know, right now every time and second is torture to me. I really want today to be the day you are free.”

When he found out that Sarah and Christian's marriage was an agreement, he was really excited. These three months had been more difficult than the past nine years. And now, there was only less than half a month left. His longing for her grew stronger and stronger day by day.

Sarah smiled again and understood his feelings. She looked at him and gently comforted. "Christian went to the army. He will only come back after half a month. I will not go back during this time. When he comes back, I will go with him to settle the divorce procedures!"

David's eyes were full of surprise. "Really? Is what you said true?"

Sarah nodded and looking at his excited look she could not help but laugh.

“Great!” David’s mood instantly became great. He excitedly reached out and held her tightly.

Looking at him like this, Sarah asked, “Are you that happy?”

David nodded vigorously, “I am even happier than you think.”

Then he grabbed her hand and put it on his chest. He looked at her with burning eyes. “Touch this place. My heart is so happy that it wants to jump out...”

Sarah’s hand touched David’s heart. She could clearly feel his strong and powerful heartbeat intensely beating. She looked up and smiled sweetly.

“Sarah...” David looked at her face. His gaze slid down from her forehead and landed on her full red lips.

Sarah's face turned red and she lowered her head to avoid his gaze.

David pinched her chin and letting her look directly at him. "Look at me..."

Sarah bit her lower lips lightly and the tip of her tongue involuntarily licked her lower lip. But such subtle movements were a fatal temptation to David. Without waiting for Sarah to look at him, he lowered his head to kiss her without explanation.

He really liked her too much. He had dreamed countless times about how excited her would be when kissed her. He really didn't want to endure it anymore.

This happened so suddenly. Looking at the enlarged facial features in front of her eyes, Sarah's mind suddenly flashed with Christian's familiar face.

Christian seemed to be angry.

With a bang, before David's lips could fall on her, she reached out and pushed him away.

"Sarah..." David looked at her with a little disappointment. He did not expect her to have such a big reaction to his kiss.

Sarah lightly pursed her lower lip. She knew that doing this would hurt his heart but she could not continue pretending. She looked at his disappointed face. "Mr. David, can you give me some time? I am not used to it yet..."

She did not continue to say the rest of the words. She was really afraid of hurting him, because he was not someone else but Mr. David, who had been secretly in love with her for nine years.

David smiled and said. “Sorry, I was too anxious. Sarah, don’t blame me, okay?”

He reached out and gently pulled her to the side of the bed and sat down. His big hand took her small hand and gently rubbed it in his palm. He said with emotion. “I really missed you too much these years. Even since I found out that your marriage with Christian was an agreement, every time I see you, I want to take you away from him. Anyway, I have endured nine years, I don’t care if I wait for another half a month. Now, you can reject me. But after half a month, we’ll be husband and wife. When that time comes, you can’t reject me anymore, okay?”

Sarah looked at him apologetically, “Mr. David, I’m sorry...”

In fact, deep in her heart, she did not reject David, because he was the one who really treated her well during this period of time. The marriage between her and Christian was originally just an agreement.

However, for some reason, when David wanted to kiss her, Christian's face actually flashed across her heart. Even now, she felt a little sorry for Christian.

After all, they were still husband and wife now, right?

It must be like this...

David fondly rubbed her hair and looked at her with a gentle smile. "Silly, girl, if you feel sorry for me, then I'll kiss you."

After David said that, he moved closer to kiss her. Sarah was so scared that she immediately dodged.

"You look very scared. I was joking with you."

"Annoying." Sarah looked at him reproachfully.

David looked at Sarah's delicate face and really wanted to pull her into his arms and kiss her. But he was really afraid of scaring her, so he could only swallow his feelings difficultly.

He looked at Sarah and asked, "Sarah, during the time you were with Christian, has he ever kissed you?"

Sarah's heart suddenly jumped. David's eyes were too hot. She guiltily looked away and said in a low voice with a red face. "No..."

"Really?" Sarah's face was red. David did not know if it was because of the kiss just now or because the question was too embarrassing.

"Yes..." Sarah nodded again.

“Sarah, I went to ask a question...” He knew he should not ask, but he still could not help but ask.

“Yes, you can ask...”

“After you guys got married, did you always sleep with him on the same bed?”

Sarah’s face turned again as she lowered her head,
“Yes...”

“Sarah, he didn’t do anything out of line with you, did he?”

Sarah shook her head. She did not like David asking her this kind of question, but she was too embarrassed to say it.

Looking at her expression, David looked at her apologetically. “Sarah, I’m sorry. I just want to know...”

Sarah looked up at him and smiled. “I’m fine. Nothing really happened between us...”

“Yes, I believe you!” David smiled and nodded. His hand caressed her cheek. His eyes filled with tenderness.

“Sarah, what should I do? I really want to shrink you now and put you in my pocket. This way, I can see you at any time.”

Sarah smiled with a red face, “I don’t need to go back to Cooper family during this period of time. As long as you come to my house, you can basically see me...”

“I will wait for you in the registration office that day. As long as you guys finish the formalities, we’ll go register for our marriage, alright?” The more the time of the agreement getting closer, the more excited he became.

Sarah silently nodded and looked at him with a smile. “Sometimes I feel like it’s not real. Mr. David, thank you.”

She was really grateful for everything David had done for her. Even though he knew she was married, he was still so persistent until now. She could not even describe the gratitude she felt towards him with words. Hence, she would do whatever David said.

“Silly girl, I didn’t do anything. Why are you thanking me?” David looked at her with amusement.

“Thank you for taking care of my mom. If it wasn’t for you...” Before she could finish, David stopped her.

He looked at her lovingly. “I should do all of this. You don't need to thank me, do you understand?"

Thinking that she did not even know that her mother was sick, she still felt guilty. "Do you think I am too unfilial? I actually did not know that my mother was sick at all."

"Auntie didn't tell you because she was afraid that you would be distracted in Cooper family. Besides, it wasn't a serious illness. I will take good care of her. You said, you didn't need to return to Cooper family, right? So from today onwards, I will take care of Auntie with you. If you are worried about her... After we get married, we'll bring your mom over to live with us."

Sarah heard his words and could not help but laugh, "You are also the only child of your family. If you move into our house, your mom will definitely hate me to death."

David smiled. “They are not willing to be angry with such a good daughter-in-law.”

Sarah smiled again with a red face.

If you find any errors (broken links, non-standard content, etc..), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 98 David’S Blind Date

Next Chapter

As the two of them speaking, David’s phone rang. Sarah looked at him and said, “I’ll go out and see my mom first. You can answer.”

“Okay.” David nodded and took out his phone. After Sarah left the room, he pressed the answer button.

“Mom, what is it?” The call was from David’s mother.

“David, I am in the lobby of the hotel. Where are you?”

David immediately stood up. “Are you in Savid Tower?”

“Yes. Where did you go? I have something to talk to you about.”

“I’m outside. Mom, what can I do for you?”

“It is inconvenient on the phone, so you should come back. I’ll wait for you.” Mrs. Brown hung up the phone without waiting for David’s reply.

David hesitated for a moment before putting the phone down and walked outside the room. He saw Sarah walking out her mother's room and walked over.

“Sarah, I have to go back to the hotel.”

“Okay, you can go. Don't worry about me.”

“Call me if you need anything.” David walked in front of her and raised his hand to rub her hair.

“Yes, I will.”

After getting Sarah's affirmative answer, David reluctantly left her home. When he arrived downstairs, he subconsciously looked upstairs and saw Sarah standing by the window. He immediately smiled and waved at her. He then opened the car door, sat inside and drove away.

It was at most half an hour later when he reached at Savid's Tower. David parked the car in the parking lot and entered the hotel.

as soon as he entered he saw his mother was happily chatting with a mother and daughter. He walked over there.

“Mom, I'm back. Why are you looking for me?”

Mrs. Brown saw him back and smiled as she pointed to the chair beside her to sit down. She then pointed to the mother and daughter opposite her and passionately introduced them to her son. “David, this is your aunt Abbett and this is Mila.”

After Mrs. Brown finished speaking, David's gaze landed on the mother and daughter pair. He politely greeted them then looked at his mother. “Mom, what exactly is the matter? I have some urgent matters to attend outside.”

Ever since he returned to the city, his mother had been trying to find a way to introduce him to a girlfriend. Looking at the situation today, he immediately understood what was going on.

Mrs. Brown glared at him. “The matter that I am looking for you today is a big matter! You cannot leave!”

After she finished speaking, she immediately smiled and looked at Mrs. Abbett opposite her. “This is my son. He just came back from another place while ago and moved the hotel’s headquarters back here. He said that he will develop his career here in the future.”

Mrs. Abbett smiled and kept looking at David. He was very handsome and had a good figure and appearance. She was very satisfied with David. But she still maintained a little pride.

“Coming back to develop your career is pretty good. Mila’s father knows a lot of people. In the future, if they really going to get married, Mila’s father will definitely help his career rise to a higher level.”

When Mrs. Brown heard this, she immediately bloomed with a smile. “Oh my, that would be great. David had been gone for too long. He didn’t know many people here.”

David understood what was going on. He immediately looked at his mother. “Mom, I really have something to do today!”

He didn’t want to waste time in blind dates.

Mrs. Brown somewhat angrily glared at her son, then looked at Mrs. Abbett and smiled. “Mrs. Abbett I have nothing to do today. Why don't we go shopping together? Let the two of them chat a little more. How about it?"

Mrs. Abbett nodded with a smile. He looked at her daughter. "You guys can chat. Auntie and I will be leaving first."

"You guys have a good chat." Mrs. Brown did not wait for her son's reaction and directly left with the other woman.

In an instant, there were only two people left in the hall. It was not time for lunch yet, so other than David and Mila, the rest were the waiters. David looked at his leaving mother and was somewhat helpless.

"Mr. Brown, you don't like me?" Mila was a very straightforward girl. Seeing David's eyes and the way he wanted to leave in a hurry, she knew he might not be interested in her.

David retracted his gaze and looked at her with an apologetic smile. "I'm sorry. I did not know that my mother made such an arrangement today. Although I'm sorry, I still have to tell you that I have a girlfriend."

Mila raised her head and blinked a few times. She silently picked up the coffee cup and took a sip. Finally, she looked at David and smiled, "Is that so? That's great. I also have a boyfriend."

Mila's answer surprised David. "That's great. I still have things to do, so I have to leave first."

After saying that, he got up and was about to leave. To him, every minute and second here was a waste of his precious time.

Mila quickly grabbed his arm and looked up at him,

“Aren’t you walking too fast? Our problem hasn’t been resolved yet. Sit down first.”

Mila was a forthright girl and her words carried a commanding tone.

David looked at his arm that was held by her and gently pushed her away. He looked at her in confusion. “You have a boyfriend. I have a girlfriend. What else can we do?”

“If I’m not wrong, your mom definitely doesn’t like your girlfriend, right? Even if we don’t succeed in our blind date this time, do you think your mom will stop here?” Mila asked him.

David felt she was somewhat right. After thinking for a moment, he sat down and asked, “Then what do you mean?”

Mila looked at him and smiled. “It’s very simple. I am the same as you. My parents don’t like my boyfriend either. Do you think our situation is the same?”

David nodded. “It’s the same. Then what do you have in mind?”

“The solution is very simple. We will pretend to be successful in our blind date. I’ll your girlfriend and you’ll be my boyfriend. Then we will not disturb each other. What do you think of this method?” Mila supported her chin and blinked.

David finally understood what she meant. He stood up and smiled apologetically, “I thought you had a good idea. Now it looks like it’s a waste of time. Sorry, I don’t want my girlfriend to misunderstand. I can’t stay with you anymore. Goodbye!”

After saying that, he strode out without looking back.

He run to his car and drove away.

Sarah and Christian's agreement only had less than half a month's time. After waiting for nine years, he did not want any accidents to happen in such a short period of time. So even if Mila's method was feasible, he firmly refused.

He didn't want Sarah to have any misunderstand about him.

When David left, Mila looked at his tall back and narrowed her eyes. She watched him walk out and slowly walked to the window. She crossed her arms and smiled as she watched David drove away.

“David, we will meet again.”

Mila smiled, took out her phone and quickly called her mother.

...

After that Sarah would worry about him, David drove his car to a distance then dialed Sarah's number. He had liked her for so many years, and he finally got along with her like a couple. He wished that she appear in front of him all the time.

He really liked her.

He liked her cute face, her big eyes. He liked her kind heart. He liked the smile when she saw him.

He liked everything about her.

"Mr. David!" As soon as the call connected, Sarah's sweet voice sounded. David's heart instantly melted.

"Sarah, I have settled my matters. What do you want to eat for lunch? I will go to the supermarket to buy some vegetables.”

“No need. There are still vegetables at home.”

“Alright, then I’ll just buy as I like.” David hung up the phone after saying that.

Sarah heard him hang up and shook her head with a smile.

After David hung up the phone, he drove to a nearby supermarket. He pushed the cart around the supermarket and after a while, the things in the cart were piled up like a small hill. He bought everything he could.

He then put the things in his car and drove to Sarah’s house.

Sarah did not expect him to buy so many things. After a while, a small hill appeared on the floor of the living room. Sarah looked at him speechlessly. “There is a market around. I can buy fresh vegetables every day. Why did you buy so many things?”

David smiled. He pointed to the beads of sweat on his face and said, “Give a towel.”

Sarah went to the bathroom and a moment later, walked with a clean towel. She extended the towel to him.

When she wanted to take her away, David held her hand tightly. He reached out and pulled her into his arms. He looked at Samantha’s room and then looked at her.

“Sarah, I really want to buy the whole world for you. As long as you have something you want, I want to buy it for you. I want to give you everything.”

If you find any errors (broken links, non-standard content, etc..), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 99 Don'T Tell Me That Sarah Is Your Girlfriend

Next Chapter

Sarah’s heart warmed with his words. She was completely moved. But now she was at her home. Being hugged by him like this made her uncomfortable.

She reached out and pushed him away, “My mother is still in the room.”

David let go of her and smiled. “How is Auntie?”

“Much better.”

“I will take her to the hospital with you in the afternoon to get an IV drop. I will make delicious food for you this afternoon.”

David picked up the stuff he brought and walked into the kitchen as he spoke. Sarah followed him in.

The expression on his face looked like the male owner of this house. Her heart was filled with an indescribable feeling.

David ran a restaurant so it was very easy for him to make a sumptuous lunch. In less than an hour, he made a table full of dishes and placed it on the table.

Samantha wasn't feeling well. But she insisted on eating some. When they were eating lunch, Samantha saw David continuously picking food for Sarah. She could more or less feel the unusual atmosphere between the two of them, but she didn't say anything.

After lunch, Samantha returned to her room. When she went in, she called Sarah in.

Once the mother and daughter entered the room, Samantha motioned to close the door before walking to the bedside and lying down.

Sarah closed the door and sat beside her mother. She gently held her mother's hand and asked, "Mom, what do you want to say?"

Samantha looked at her and asked, "Sarah, what do you think about David?"

"He's quite good. He is handsome and has a good temper. Furthermore, he has a successful career now.”

Samantha nodded. “Yes, David is a rare good person. Ever since you have been away, he often came to see me. Every time he came, he would take some things. Sometimes I think... If I had such a son, how happy would I be?”

Samantha had a very good person of David.

“He is indeed a good person. But why are you suddenly talking about this?”

Samantha looked at her thoughtfully and slowly said, “David is a good young man. But we can’t order him around like this. After all, you are married and you have a husband. David is still single. If he comes here often, it will make gossip. When it happens, what will I answer to Christian and his family? So in the future, you try to keep some distance from him.”

Samantha’s words made her feel uncomfortable, but she also understood that her mother’s words made sense. When she thought of she and Christian would be break up in half a month’s time, she nodded.

“Mom, I’ll listen to you.”

As long as she persisted for half a month, all of her problems would be solved.

David was not an outsider. He was someone who had liked her for nine years.

But these words could not be said now.

Samantha nodded and looked at her, “How have you been in Cooper family during this period of time? Have you been well?”

Sarah smiled when she heard this, “Mom, I am pretty good. Christian’s family is very considerate of me.”

“Yes, with Ethan around, I know others will not treat you badly. Where is Christian? How is he?”

“He treats me very well.”

“Then why didn’t he come back with you? Didn’t he take half a year break?” Samantha looked at Sarah in puzzlement.

“He received a call from army and went back. He said he had something important to do and would come back in half a month’s time. So I will stay here in this period of time. When he comes back, I will go with him.” Sarah dodged Samantha’s gaze as she spoke.

“That’s good. How is Christian’s leg?”

“It’s pretty good. Mom, you don’t know. Christian can now walk with crutches. When the people of Cooper family saw him that night, they were very happy. He would be able to walk like a normal person in a short period of time.”

“Really? That’s great. I always thought Christian’s legs wouldn’t be able to stand up for the rest of his life.”

When Samantha heard this news, she instantly became excited. From the day Sarah married Christian, she had always felt guilty towards her daughter. She did not expect that it had only been a short period of time, Christian’s leg would be healed. How can she not be excited?

She held her daughter’s hand tightly, as tears flowed out. “Sarah, I am really too happy. In the future, you have to treat Christian well.” Samantha’s tears flowed as she said with great emotion. “You dad in heaven will be very happy seeing you and Christian happy together.”

Sarah helped her mother wipe her tears and patted her hand. But her heart was filled with mixed feelings.

“Let David go back first. He has such a big hotel and he is very busy. You have to thank him when he leaves.” Samantha reminded again.

“Okay, Mom you can rest first. I’m going out.” Sarah stood up obediently.

“I’m fine. Go quickly.”

Sarah nodded, got up and walked out. She saw that David had already cleaned up all the food in the kitchen and even the dining table. She immediately walked over.

“Mr. David.”

David walked in front and smiled. “Is your mother fine?”

“She’s fine. She is just felt that she is always troubling you. She felt a little apologetic in her heart.”

“She’s too polite.” David smiled.

“You have been busy for so long today. Go back and rest for a while.” Sarah really could not say some words.

“Okay. Then you should also have a good sleep. I will come over to pick you up at around five o’ clock to bring Auntie to the hospital.”

Sarah nodded and didn’t say anything.

...

David left Sarah's house and drove back to the hotel. The moment he opened the door, he saw his mother sitting on the sofa and drinking water. David walked over with a smile.

"Mom, why are you here?" David walked over as he spoke.

Hearing this, Mrs. Brown instantly became furious. She smashed the cup to the ground.

"Such a good girl, why don't you like her? Do you know what Mila's father does? He is from the city government. Her mother is a university professor. Why don't you even talk to her? I'm so angry!"

The more Mrs. Brown spoke, the angrier she became.

“Mom, I’m already so old. I have my own aesthetic sense. No matter how beautiful Mila is, that has nothing to do with me. I have a girlfriend. It’s not convenient to bring her to you now. Give me some time. I’ll definitely give you a satisfactory daughter-in-law.” There were some things that he could not say right now.

“You have your own girlfriend? David, you won’t tell me that your girlfriend is Sarah, right? If it is her, I won’t agree to anything no matter what! You better give up in this idea!”

“Mom, what’s wrong with Sarah? Didn’t you always like her?” David asked his mother.

“What’s wrong with me saying this? Isn’t it obvious now? She is already married. And she is married to a cripple. Her mother is really... How can she bear to marry her only daughter to a cripple just for money?

Can't you see it?"

Ever since Mrs. Brown found out Sarah was marrying Christian, she could not understand Samantha.

"Mom, Auntie has her own difficulties. Don't talk about her like that!"

"Okay. Even if your Auntie has her difficulties, it doesn't change the fact that Sarah is already married! You are a bachelor and run to her house every day. Aren't you afraid of others gossiping about you?"

"Mom, didn't I often eat at Auntie's house when I was young? At that time, we had a very good relationship with her family. What happened to you now?" Hearing his mother talk about Sarah like this, David was a little unhappy in his heart.

“Don’t think that no one knows that you went to Sarah’s house. The neighborhood they live in is not far from us. I know some of the people inside. Many of them are saying that, your relationship with Sarah is not simple. You go to her house every day like this, my face has already been thrown away by you.”

“I know. In the future, I will try my best to keep a distance with her. But regarding the blind date, you don’t have to worry about me anymore.”

He could not reveal the agreement between Christian and Sarah. Anyway, their marriage was only for a few days. At most, he would insist.

“No! You must go on a blind date! Don’t you know how old you are?” Mrs. Brown immediately retorted when she heard his words. During this period of time, she was constantly hearing the rumors about her son and Sarah. She really could not hold back anymore.

“Mom, I know my own matters!”

“When we go back today, I will call Mila’s mother again. You should prepare yourself mentally!”

“Mom, I don’t like her at all. Can you stop meddling in my matters?” David looked at his mother helplessly.

“I’m your mother. I gave birth to you because I hope you can live a good life. Sarah is a good girl, but she is already married. I do not want you to ruin other people’s marriage.”

If you find any errors (broken links, non-standard content, etc..), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Mrs. Brown stood up as she spoke. She looked at David and said ruthlessly, "David, I don't have any other thoughts. I just hope that you can find a good girl to marry and have children. If you continue to be entangled with Sarah, don't blame me for finding trouble with Sarah!"

Mrs. Brown stood up and said as she opened the door and walked out.

David looked at her stubborn back and frowned slightly.

Although Mrs. Brown repeatedly reminded him, at five o'clock in the afternoon, David still punctually appeared at Sarah's home and brought Samantha to the hospital for an intravenous drip with Sarah.

The hospital was not very far away. It did not take long for them to arrive. David and Sarah helped Samantha into the infusion hall. David let Sarah help Samantha sit down while he went to line up with the previous medication. After about half an hour, the nurse started infusion Samantha.

Samantha looked at David who was beside her.
"David, if you are busy, go back first. Sarah will take good care of me."

"Auntie, I have nothing to do. Don't worry about me."
David smiled and stubbornly stayed.

Samantha listened to him and did not insist. She sat on the chair and closed her eyes slightly. The drip ended after about an hour. David and Sarah helped Samantha out of the hospital and sat in his BMW X5. He sent them home.

Although Samantha kept urging David to leave, he still stubbornly made dinner for them before he left.

Because Samantha was not feeling well, after dinner, Sarah helped her back to the bedroom to rest and covered her with a blanket, then walked out of the bedroom without worry. She gently closed the door of the room.

She went to the kitchen to clean up the bowls and chopsticks. After cleaning up the kitchen, Sarah returned to her bedroom to rest. As soon as she walked in, she heard her phone ring non-stop. She picked up her phone and saw that it was David who was calling her. Her heart instantly warmed and she put it beside her ear.

"Mr. David!" At this moment, whenever she thought of David's sunny face, her mood would be indescribably comfortable.

"Sarah, is your mother asleep?" Hearing her call his name, a happy smile surfaced on David's face.

"She went to sleep after dinner."

"Then what are you doing?"

"I just finished cleaning up the kitchen and when I walked into the bedroom, I heard the phone ring. . ."

Sarah replied with a smile.

"Sarah, I miss you so much." David sat in his car and looked up at the bedroom on the fourth floor. "Go to the window. I'm downstairs."

"Really?" Sarah heard what he said and walked to the window in surprise. She opened the curtains and looked downstairs.

Under the light of the street lights, she saw David's BMW. Her heart warmed again. "Why did you come back? Have you had dinner?"

"I have already eaten. Sarah, can you come down now?" Although they had only separated for a while, he still could not help but miss her. So he came back again.

Sarah looked at the car outside the window and hesitated for a moment. She understood that he liked her and still nodded. "Okay, then wait for me for a while."

Sarah first went to Samantha's room to take a look. Seeing that her mother had fallen asleep, she went downstairs. As soon as she walked out of the unit door, she saw David's car parked not far away. She immediately ran over with a smile, opened the car door, and sat in the passenger seat.

“Sarah. . .” As soon as Sarah sat in the car, David called her out.

Sarah blushed and looked at him to ask, "Didn't you say you won't come back? Why did you come back again?"

His big hand caressed her face and looked at her lovingly. "What do you think. . ."

Sarah smiled again. She understood his heart.

He held her small hand in his palm. "Sarah, I really want to stay by your side every minute and every second now and make up for the nine years I have wasted in the past."

“The fate between people is very wonderful. If you did not stay by Julian's side for those nine years, perhaps we would not have fallen in love.”

"No! If we had fallen in love nine years ago, I would still like you now! " David looked at her as he spoke.

"Sarah. . ." He called her name softly, and that handsome face slowly enlarged in front of Sarah's eyes.

A familiar phone ringtone broke the ambiguous atmosphere in the car.

When he lowered his head, Sarah's heart nervously rose to her throat. The sudden ringtone made her feel a sense of relief. When his lips were about to fall, she urgently shouted, "Someone is calling me!"

After saying that, she turned around and looked for her phone.

No matter what, her reaction was too obvious. This made David feel a sense of loss again in his heart.

Sarah picked up her phone and saw that it was Christian calling. She bit her lower lip. She turned her head and looked at David. "Mr. David, can I get off the car and answer the phone?"

She did not want him to hear her conversation with Christian. It would definitely be torture for him.

David opened the car door and got out of the car. "You can just call in the car. I'll go over there and smoke a cigarette!"

After saying that, he closed the car door and walked not far away.

Seeing David leave, Sarah immediately pressed the answer button.

"What were you doing just now? Why did you only answer the phone now?" Christian's voice was deep and powerful.

"I was taking a shower. . . " Sarah lied with a red face and her heart was a little nervous. Although he did not appear in front of her, she had a feeling that he had done something bad.

"Why is your voice shaking?" Christian could notice even a slight change in her behavior.

"I..." Sarah's heart was beating so fast that she felt it would come out of her mouth. "Nothing... I just caught a little cold."

She hoped that Christian would believe her.

"Really? How are you today?" Christian did not think much about it. He leaned against the bed and asked her slowly. A faint smile appeared on his face.

Perhaps it was because he had been with her all this time, he missed her so much after leaving for only two days.

"I'm fine. What about you? Are your legs better?"

Sarah nodded and asked him with a smile. She did not know if it was because she was familiar with him, but the moment she heard his voice, she felt relaxed.

"My leg has been recovering. I just miss you a little. . . ."

"Is that so?" Sarah smiled silently. She felt that Regimental Commander Cooper's sudden words of love did not match his image.

"What about you? Did you miss me?"

Sarah hesitated for a moment. This question was not easy to answer. In fact, in these two days, the person she missed the most was Christian.

"Why aren't you saying anything? Have you forgotten about me so quickly?" Christian heard her silence and asked with a faint smile.

"No. . ."

"Then do you miss me?" Christian continued to ask this question. In fact, he knew the answer in his heart. She did not have a deep relationship with him, but he still wanted to know if he had any position in her heart.

"I'm not a blockhead. Of course I missed you!"

"Say it again to make me happy!"

Sarah heard his words and could not help but laugh again. But after thinking for a while, she still answered truthfully, "It is just that I miss you a little when I sleep at night. It will take a long time before I can fall asleep. . . ."

Ever since she married Christian, she was used to being hugged by him every day. The current her. . . . At night, she couldn't help but think about his broad chest and the smell of his body. In the two days that he wasn't by her side, she could only hug her pillow and sleep.

"Really?" This was definitely a surprise for Regimental Commander Cooper. After two months of hard work, she began to miss him.

"Believe it or not!" Sarah replied in a spoiled manner.

"Of course I believe you! It is just a little regret. . . ."

"What regret?" Sarah blinked her big eyes and asked.

"I want to hear you say you miss me in person. . ."

Regimental Commander Cooper answered a little cheekily.

"I won't say it in front of you!" Sarah deliberately hit him hard and did not pay attention to the tone she used to speak to him.

"Why?"

"Doesn't that mean you came back?" Sarah couldn't help but laugh as she spoke.

Christian could not help but laugh when he heard her words. After a long silence, he asked her slowly,
"Sarah. . . "

"If I can stand up, we can just live like this, okay?"

"Your legs are healed?" Hearing his words, she immediately asked impatiently.

"Not yet!"

"I thought your leg had recovered. . . "

"Can you think about what I said? You don't have to rush to answer me. We still have half a month's time. Don't reject me now, okay?" Regimental Commander Cooper's voice had never been so gentle before. It didn't even sound like it came from his mouth.

Sarah originally wanted to reject him directly, but after listening to his words, her heart softened all of a sudden. Although from the beginning, she had held the idea of only being with him for three months and married him, during this period of time, when she had been with him, her thoughts were also changing.

Actually, many times, she had also thought that. . . If Christian was still sitting in the wheelchair at that time, she didn't know if she could really make up her mind to leave him.

She bit her lower lip. After a long silence, she nodded and agreed. "I understand. I will think about it carefully!"

Perhaps she really should reject him, but hearing his words, she really did not want to hurt him.

If you find any errors (broken links, non-standard content, etc..), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.