

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 109 Surprise

The driver of the Cooper Family sent Vivian home and carried some nutritional supplements upstairs. Only then did he say goodbye to her and leave.

Not long after the car of Cooper Family left, Vivian took a taxi with Lucas to the hospital. Because she was afraid of meeting someone she knew, this time, they purposely changed to another house.

Lucas was like a considerate husband the entire time. He supported Vivian up and down the stairs. They entered the examination room. While doing the ultrasonography, he followed her into the ultrasonography room. Not long after Vivian laid down, Lucas saw the image on the computer. Seeing his son move from time to time inside, he kept smiling happily.

"Doctor, how is my son?" Lucas looked at the silent doctor and asked with a smile. Because the previous check-up had always been good, he just casually asked.

When the doctor who had been silent heard his words, he frowned. He took the instrument and performed a few more rounds on Vivian's protruding stomach. Time passed minute by minute. Vivian and Lucas could not hold their breaths any longer.

"Doctor, the previous check-up was good. There should be no problem, right?" Seeing the doctor's increasingly serious expression, Vivian's heart clenched as she asked.

The doctor listened to her and was silent for a while. He slowly replied, "Wait a while. I'll check again!"

The two of them listened to the doctor and instantly stopped talking. They both stared at the doctor nervously.

After a few minutes, the doctor finally looked at the two of them and sighed. "This child. . . I advise you to abort him. . . "

"Why?" Lucas stood up from his chair in a flash. He was a little broken.

"Yes! Is there a problem with the equipment here? Last week, mother-in-law and I went to the hospital in the city center for a check-up!" Vivian also excitedly sat up.

The doctor looked at the two of them and sighed lightly. He also understood their feelings. "This child is congenital myocardial intravenous septal defect. If he is born, he might have to undergo a series of surgeries later on. Whether he will be born or not will still be up to you. . . "

"Impossible! We have been doing a very good check-up before this! Why is there a problem with you?!"

Lucas did not believe that his son was abnormal. He helped Vivian down from the bed and tidied her clothes. He originally did not want to take the ultrasound results, but after thinking for a while, he picked it up and walked out of the ultrasound room with her.

The two of them came out of the examination room on the second floor. They went down to the hall on the first floor and sat in the lounge chair in the corridor. Lucas looked at the results of the examination and his heart was in a mess. He looked at Vivian, who was beside him, and asked, "What should we do?"

Vivian looked at him. "What else can we do? I will ask the people of Cooper Family to find another hospital for me to check again. If the check is wrong, it will be fine. If it is true, then I can only abort it. I can't give birth to a sick child in this world! "

Lucas sighed heavily. Although he was somewhat unwilling, he heard Vivian's words and knew that there was no other way.

"Then this is the only way. . . "

...

Three months of time seemed to be a little long, but in the blink of an eye, it was also over.

The day before the end of their agreement.

Today was Benjamin's 80th birthday. Sarah specially went to the shopping mall at noon to buy a birthday present for the old man with the money she had saved in the past. Although she had not been happy during her time in the Cooper Family, Benjamin still treated her very well.

When she got off work, Sarah explained to Syrus that she was going back to the Cooper Family today. So there was no need to trouble him anymore.

"Can your husband come back today?" Syrus was somewhat worried about her when he heard that she was going back to Cooper Family.

"He won't come back today. He will be back tomorrow. . . ."

"Then you have to be careful when you return to the Cooper Family. . . ." He was worried that she would be harassed by Julian again. Although she was only his secretary, he preferred to see her as his friend.

"Yes, thank you, President! I will be careful!" Sarah looked at him gratefully and smiled.

Sarah came out of the Wilson Group and walked to the square in front of the company. She wanted to stop a taxi on the road in front of the company and return to the Cooper Family. But before she walked out of the square in front of the company, she saw David walking down from the familiar BMW with a smile.

"Sarah!" David smiled and called out to her.

"Mr. David, why are you here?" Sarah was a little surprised to see David in front of her.

David smiled. "Isn't tomorrow the day you go through the formalities with him? I couldn't help but run over here today. "

Ever since she said that last time, the two of them rarely met. Thinking about how Sarah and Christian would end their marriage tomorrow, David couldn't control his excitement and drove over.

"Mr. David. . ." Looking at his smiling face, she really did not know what to say. What Mrs. Brown said that day, she remembered it all in her heart.

David could not suppress the happiness in his heart. He stretched his hand in front of Sarah and then took out his household register like a magic trick. He smiled and waved it in front of her eyes. "Take a look! I am now carrying my household register with me at all times. I will wait for you to divorce him tomorrow and we will immediately register for marriage! "

At this moment, a tall figure walked over and instantly shrouded Sarah in a shadow.

"You want to marry my wife so badly? Isn't Mr. Brown too anxious?"

Then, Christian's familiar voice sounded beside the two of them.

Sarah turned around in surprise when she heard Christian's voice. Maybe it was because she was used to it, she thought he was sitting in a wheelchair. But when she looked over, she only saw his legs.

Her eyes followed his body and looked at the man in front of her in disbelief.

She instantly froze on the spot.

She never would have thought that during the three months of marriage, the man who had been sitting in a wheelchair and holding the crutches would appear once again and miraculously stand in front of her!

"Christian! You, you, you stood up?"

Sarah looked at the man in front of her excitedly. She felt like she was dreaming.

Christian looked at his excited wife and nodded with a smile. He then reached out his hands to her. "Yes! Shouldn't you give me a hug?"

When she heard his words, she did not even think about it. She rushed over and hugged Christian tightly. Tears of joy also flowed out.

"Christian! Great! You finally stood up! Great. You really stood up! Is this true? Christian. . . "

She was really too happy. The moment she saw him, all the grievances she had suffered in the past three months flowed out along with his tears.

That was great! That was truly great! He really stood up!

Sarah hugged him tightly. She was really happy and excited in her heart. After a while, she felt whether it was true or not. She pushed Christian away and looked down at his legs. She looked up again and saw him smiling.

She foolishly smiled with tears in her eyes. "You really stood up. . . Christian, is this true?"

Is this really true?

She looked at him, crying and laughing. She was so excited that she did not know what to do!

No words could describe her feelings at this moment.

Christian had also imagined what kind of surprise she would be when he appeared in front of her. With her kindness, he knew that she would definitely be happy and pleasantly surprised. But he didn't expect that she would be so excited.

Seeing how she was so happy for him with tears streaming down her face, he gently hugged her in his arms. He lowered his head and kissed her forehead. He looked at her with a smile. "Wife, shall we go home?"

Sarah immediately nodded without thinking. "Yes, yes. . . "

Christian let go of her and reached out to hold her hand to take her to the side of the car. Sarah still looked down at his legs in disbelief as she walked. At a glance, she felt that it was really a miracle. Then she couldn't help but laugh.

Christian's car was parked at the side of the road. He wanted to give her a surprise. That was why he parked the car here. She followed his footsteps and left the parking lot.

"Sarah. . ." David had been looking at the two of them in silence from the beginning to the end. His heart sank bit by bit.

Looking at the excitement and happiness on Sarah's face, a deep sense of loss surged into his heart. No matter how foolish he was, he could still tell what was going on.

If she had not put Christian in his heart, she would not have been so excited and happy. That feeling came from the bottom of her heart. It was completely absent when she was with him.

But even so, he was still somewhat unwilling to stop her.

When David's voice came from behind, Sarah just remembered that there was still Mr. David here. She immediately turned around apologetically and looked at him. "Mr. David, sorry about today, I will go back first. . . "

"Okay. . . " David's lips moved. There were still many things he wanted to say, but looking at the two people in front of him, and looking at their hands that were tightly held together, he swallowed all the words back.

Sarah listened to him and looked at him apologetically. She turned around and followed Christian to the off-road vehicle by the road.

Christian took her to the front passenger seat and opened the door for her. "Wife, get in the car."

Sarah looked at him happily and could not help but get excited. This was the three months since they got married. It was the first time he had opened the door for her. She smiled happily. Then, she lifted her foot and sat in the car.

Christian looked at her and smiled. He closed the car door and went around to the other side of the car to sit in the driver's seat. When he started the car his eyes swept across David who was in the parking lot. He then looked at the excited little wife beside him and stepped on the accelerator. The car sped in the direction of the Cooper villa.

Sarah sat beside him. She looked at the road in front of her and then looked at the man who was beside her. She saw him sitting by the side and driving. There was an indescribable joy and excitement in her heart.

Christian looked at her and stretched out his hand to gently hold her hand. He smiled. "Are you that happy?"

If you find any errors ( broken links, non-standard content, etc.. ), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.