

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 341 Feeling Of Being Reborn

Time slipped by a little, about 9: 30 at night, Julian handed Simona over to Maternity Matron and went upstairs with Ruby.

What happened tonight was too shocking to the people of Cooper Family. Everyone was furious, but from beginning to end, Ruby remained silent.

It wasn't that she didn't have a sense of right or wrong, but it was because of the person the Cooper Family was punishing, it was her cousin!

This was a place that made her feel ashamed. She even felt that she was too ashamed to face the people of the Cooper Family!

When the two of them entered the bedroom, Julian had already noticed that there was something strange with her expression. But he also knew that she definitely did not feel good in her heart.

Once he walked into the bedroom, he held Ruby's hand and walked to the bedside to sit down. He reached out and pulled her into his arms. He looked at her and said slowly, "Ruby, why didn't you say a word tonight? Do you feel that what we said about Vivian was too much?"

No matter how bad that woman was, she was still Ruby's cousin!

Ruby shook her head. "She did that kind of thing, and it was impossible to get forgiveness! I just saw sister-in-law crying and I could not describe the discomfort. I feel a little sorry for her. . . "

Ruby said as she lowered her head.

"The person who let her down was not you. You don't need be sorry for Sister-in-law! It was just that today's matter was too shocking. It also allowed me to see clearly what kind of woman Vivian is!"

"In the past, Lucas bribed someone to hit sister-in-law's car. At that time, we all felt that this matter was too absurd as Lucas didn't have any grudges against Sister-in-law. But now I think about it, it must be Vivian who planned to do all this. She actually wanted to kill Sister-in-law!"

"And now it seems that my father's illness is also related to her. This woman is really too hateful! If I didn't bring such a woman into the Cooper Family, our family wouldn't have become like this!" When Julian heard Ruby's words, he felt a little ashamed.

"I hope this matter can be resolved quickly. I hope Big Brother, sister-in-law, and Stephen won't be affected by this matter again. . ."

Julian lowered his head and kissed her. "Don't worry! Everything will be fine!"

Tonight was a special day for Christian and Sarah, just like the day Stephen had just arrived in this world. The two of them felt an unspeakable guilt towards their lost son. However, the one who felt it most was Christian.

Christian did not let his son go to the baby room tonight. Instead, he directly carried him back to his bedroom. He placed his son on the bed and laid down beside his son. Christian brought over the toy the little guy liked and played with it with him.

Sarah did not do anything tonight. She just sat by the bed and watched the father and son play happily. She couldn't help but laugh.

When Christian was having fun with his son, he simply reached out and picked him up from the bed. His arm suddenly lifted Stephen up into the air, and then his arm fell limply to the ground.

Stephen was amused by his father's action of falling down together with him. He kept giggling with his mouth wide open. He looked extremely happy.

Sarah looked at the scene in front of her and her eyes lit up. She took out the camera from the drawer under the bedside table. After adjusting the camera, she took a picture of the father and son.

Seeing Sarah taking pictures, Christian hugged his son and gave him a fierce kiss. He even raised his son's little hand and waved it in an exaggerated manner. Sarah could not help but laugh.

They didn't know if it was because he had finally returned to his parents' embrace, but tonight the little guy was also very excited. In the past, his father rarely played with him like this, but tonight he treated him so well. The little guy was very happy, and his little mouth kept grinning. The whole room was filled with Stephen's naive and happy laughter. It sounded so good.

Sarah looked at Stephen and Christian. Her heart was as sweet as honey.

Knowing that Christian was happy, Sarah let him play with Stephen until eleven o'clock. She then coaxed her son to sleep.

Christian took this opportunity to take a shower in the bathroom. When he came out, the little guy had already fallen asleep in Sarah's arms.

Christian ran to Sarah's side and sat down. He looked at his son who had fallen asleep and said with a smile, "Wife, do you think he knows that he has returned to his parents' side? That's why he's so happy tonight? "

Sarah nodded her head. "Although he is young, this is your first time playing with him like this. I think he understood it!"

Christian put his arm around Sarah's shoulder. "Wife, I still think our son is amazing!"

Sarah blinked and looked at him. "What do you mean? Why is he so amazing?"

"Look! Although he is only a few months old, he was substituted by Vivian the moment he was born. You see, he doesn't know anything and can't say anything. But he knows you and only likes the smell on your body. If it wasn't for the fight between Stephen and Vivian at the beginning, how could he have eaten his mother's milk? Maybe he had already drank milk powder now, don't you think?"

Sarah nodded, "Yes! Although he doesn't know anything, if he doesn't like it means he doesn't like it. I think when a child is very young, even if it's just a random maternity nurse, he might still eat her milk. It's just that Vivian might have the smell of makeup water on her body at that time! I remember that when she was pregnant, she would still put on some makeup. Stephen couldn't stand the smell. That's why he kept crying!"

Christian nodded and took his son from Sarah's arms. "You go wash up."

After saying that, he carried his son to the bedside of the baby. He carefully placed his son on the baby bed and pulled over the small quilt to cover him.

Seeing that the little guy was still sleeping very soundly, Christian couldn't help but squat down beside the baby bed and look at his sleeping son pouting. His little nose moved and his two little hands clenched tightly. No matter how one looked at it, he would like that little look. He couldn't help but go over and kiss his son.

When Sarah came out of the bathroom, Christian had already returned to the bed. He was sitting by the bed and deep in thought.

She didn't need to think to know that he was definitely thinking about Greta and Hannah.

Sarah walked to the side of the bed and sat down.

She leaned into Christian's arms and reached out to wrap around his waist. She put her face on his chest and closed her eyes slightly.

"When are you going to the army?" He had been back for a few days. It was impossible for him to stay at home all the time.

"It's Friday today. I'll go next Monday."

"Will you come back every week?"

"Yes, as long as there's nothing important, I will come back."

"That's great!"

Christian looked down at his wife and laid down on the bed with her in his arms. He reached out and pulled her into his arms, looking at her. "It has been hard on you during this period of time."

Sarah smiled and looked at him. "Today, Stephen finally returned to our side. It is not hard at all! Hubby, did you know? I am actually very happy today! This feeling is similar to when I just became a mother. I just feel like I became a mother again from today onwards. Thinking back to when Stephen was born until now, although he ate my milk and grew up beside me, there was always a net between us. Now that the net has been released, I even have a feeling of being reborn."

Christian held her tightly in his arms and said emotionally, "How can I not feel the same? It's just like being a real father now. I have an indescribable sense of security in my heart."

To Christian and Sarah, this night made them excited but also gratified. Their son's identity had finally been confirmed. The two of them were indescribably happy in their hearts. For the whole night, Sarah slept very well.

Not long after David sold the new hotel, he had gone through many tests. In the end, he booked the hotel in Q City and searched for it for a month. Finally, he decided on the hotel's location.

This was because the renovation of the new hotel, the management, and the chef required a lot of energy. Furthermore, the location was elsewhere, so he rarely called Jasmine during this period of time.

He originally thought that the relationship between the two of them had already settled down, but what Christian said when he came to find him. . . Only now did he know that Jasmine was angry with him.

That was why the afternoon that Christian came to find him, he drove to the Wilson Group. Before he drove to the square in front of the Wilson Group, he saw Jasmine's car from afar. It was parked not far from the company.

David parked the car and took out his phone to call Jasmine. He took it out and thought about it. He put the phone back and opened the door to get out of the car. He walked towards the entrance of the Wilson Group.

The employees of the Wilson Group came out of the company very quickly. One after another, they got off work and returned home. After nearly an hour, David actually did not see Jasmine's shadow. Standing at the entrance of the lobby, he took out his phone and finally called Jasmine.

At this time, Jasmine was in the office packing her things and preparing to get off work when she suddenly received a call from David. She looked at it for a while and then put it beside her ear, but did not say anything!

"Jasmine, it's me! Are you still at the company?"

Jasmine did not answer his question. She just looked at the front indifferently and asked slowly, "Is something the matter?"

He did not call her for almost half a month. She even felt that he had already forgotten about her.

"I'm at the entrance of your company. Come down. I'll treat you to dinner tonight." David heard that she was not in high spirits. He knew that she must still be brooding over what Christian had said. It seemed that he had to explain everything to her tonight!

"I'm going back to the villa in my father's car. I can't do it today! We'll talk about it another day." Jasmine declined his invitation.

"Oh. . . Okay. Then I will come and pick you up tomorrow!" David nodded in disappointment after hearing her words. He lifted his foot and walked out of the company's lobby. He walked towards his own car.

"Then I'll hang up first. Bye bye!" Jasmine heard him and hung up first.

"Jasmine. . ." David still wanted to say something but he heard a blind sound from the other end of the phone. He walked to his BMW X5 and looked up unwillingly. Finally, he got into the car and drove away from the square in front of Wilson Group.

David thought he would see Jasmine the next day, but when he appeared in front of the lobby of the Wilson Group again in the afternoon. . . He got the news that Jasmine had gone on a business trip. She would only come back after a month.

David, who did not believe it, called Jasmine again. The call was quickly picked up. Jasmine's voice came from inside, "Is something the matter?"

Her voice was still as cold as the last time. It did not sound like she had any feelings at all.

If you find any errors (broken links, non-standard content, etc..), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.

THE CONTRACT MARRIAGE

Chapter 342 I Don't Want Them To Look At You Like That

"Didn't we agree to have dinner tonight? Where are you now?"

"I'm on a business trip. Let's talk about dinner after I get back."

"Jasmine, are you angry with me?"

"Why would I be angry with you?"

"Last time when you went to the new hotel to find me. . . "

"You misunderstood, I'm not angry with you! Sorry, there's a problem with the branch company here. I have an important meeting to attend later. If there's nothing else, I'll hang up first!"

"Then. . . Alright!" He heard a blind sound coming from the phone. He frowned slightly and put away the phone. He turned around to look at the lobby. He lifted his foot and left the Wilson Group in disappointment.

Just as he walked down the stairs in front of the lobby, he saw Syrus driving over like the wind.

Syrus drove up to the platform in front of the company and stopped with a squeak. Then he opened the car door and got out of the car. When he saw David, who was at the bottom of the stairs, he smiled and took off his sunglasses.

David saw that it was Syrus and immediately walked back. "Syrus, let's have dinner tonight."

Syrus raised an eyebrow when he heard him.

"Shouldn't you invite my sister? Why are you treating me to a meal?"

"Isn't your sister on a business trip? Do you have anything else to do now? If you don't have anything to do, we can leave now." David wanted to inquire about Jasmine's recent situation from his mouth.

Syrus stood there silently for a moment, then nodded happily. "Okay! It was rare for my future brother-in-law to treat me to a meal. Then I'll gladly accept it! It's not a big deal anyway, let's go!"

After saying that, he sat back into his sports car.

David heard his words and immediately walked towards his car. After a moment, he started the engine and drove out of the square first. Syrus's car immediately followed behind him.

David originally wanted to bring Syrus to a western restaurant to eat, but when the car wanted to stop in front of the hotel, Syrus called him directly, saying that he must go to his hotel Savid Tower today. He said that he wanted to have a taste of the hotel's signature dishes.

When David heard his words, he did not refuse anymore and turned around to return to his hotel.

The car quickly stopped in front of the hotel. David got out of the car and brought Syrus to the luxury room on the third floor.

Once they walked in, David smiled and said, "The chefs here can't be compared with the chefs of the Wilson Group. Just eat it!"

Syrus smiled and sat down. "You should be humble! Every hotel has its own signboard. Don't look at how small your restaurant is, a big hotel doesn't necessarily have your taste!"

David smiled and sat across from him. The waiter immediately walked in and ordered. Syrus ordered all the signature dishes of his restaurant. After ordering, David let the waiter leave first.

"Syrus, tell me quickly, where did your sister go on a business trip?" One month was too long. He could not wait that long.

Syrus smiled and leaned back into the chair. He looked at David with a lustful smile. "Who told you my sister went on a business trip?"

David was stunned for a moment and then asked, "I accidentally asked the security guard at the entrance of the lobby. He told me! So you mean. . . She didn't go on a business trip?"

"Of course not!"

"Then why did she lie to me?"

"Yeah! Why did she lie to you? Tell me, what did you do to my sister in the past few months? No matter how I coax her, she doesn't listen at all!"

During this period of time, Syrus was also somewhat dissatisfied with this future brother-in-law.

"I'm sorry. I have been in Q-City all this time and often have no time to come back. Sometimes, I am so busy that I forget to call your sister. It's all my fault!"

"Do you think my sister will believe you when you say this? If you're so busy in a small hotel, will the people from the Wilson Group still be alive? You can't be busy for two to three months!"

"Yes! It's all my fault! Can you tell me where your sister is now?" David didn't want to explain too much, so he looked at Syrus and asked.

"She did not come to work today. She has been staying at home. She said she was in a bad mood. You don't need to think to know that you provoked her."

"Then you can eat here. I'll go find her first!" After saying that, David wanted to stand up and leave.

"I just realized that you also have a time to be anxious. Sit down first! Even if you go now, she won't see you!"

"Why?"

"You are asking me why? Don't you know she's angry. To be honest, my sister also had a boyfriend before. But there has never been a person like you who doesn't take her seriously! If you don't call her for a month or two, even if you call her once, it will still be half a month. In this period of time, she has continuously asked me if you have already completely forgotten about her? If it wasn't for my sister really liking you, I think the relationship between you and her would have ended long ago!"

"Does she really not want to see me now?" After listening to Syrus's words, David slowly understood that Jasmine was not only angry with him, but also disappointed.

"She was just saying it out loud. Of course, if you really wait for a month before contacting her, then you don't need to contact her!"

"Then can you do me a favor?"

"What favor?"

"Ask her to come to the company tomorrow."

"There's no problem at work. Why should I ask her to come? Oh wait. Did you go to the company to look for her?"

"Yes. But they told me Jasmine went to a business trip."

Syrus sat on the chair and thought for a while. He then looked at David and said, "How about this? I'll let her go to office tomorrow. But don't go during the day. When it's almost time to get off work, I'll call you. You wait at the entrance of the company like today. I can only help you bring her out. But the rest is up to you. . ."

"Alright!"

As Syrus said, Jasmine did not really go on a business trip. When David called her, she was just angry for a moment and said it casually.

David followed the time Syrus told him and appeared at the entrance of the company when Wilson Group was about to get off work. After a while, he saw Jasmine's red sports car being driven over by the security guards and parked at the entrance of the lobby.

David looked at the car in front of him and knew that Jasmine was going downstairs in a while. He looked at the elevator in the lobby of the company and waited.

After about five minutes, the CEO's elevator door finally opened. Jasmine walked out in a fruity dress. The dress showed her exquisite curves very well. The dress was not very long, revealing her sexy and fair thighs. She was holding a handbag and wearing high heels.

Lightly raising her chin, she walked towards her sports car in a cool and elegant manner.

Recently, she had been in a bad mood. Whether it was at home or at the company, she was a little lazy to talk. Everything. . . It was all because of that David!

Jasmine quickly walked out of the hall and went towards her car, when her arm was suddenly grabbed by someone.

Jasmine frowned and wanted to turn around to get angry, but what she saw was David's face!

"Let me go!" She stood where she was and shook her arm hard. Her arm was tightly clenched by him. Without any words, David took her to his BMW.

"Jasmine, I have something to tell you!" David grabbed her arm and took her to his car.

"I have nothing to say to you! Let go of me! I want to go home! " Jasmine retorted angrily.

"If you want to go home, go back after you have dinner with me!"

"Why should I eat with you?"

"Because you are my girlfriend!"

"A person who doesn't call for a month, do you still think I am your girlfriend?"

David stopped when he heard her. He turned around and looked at her sincerely. "I not only think you are my girlfriend, but also think that you are the one I want to marry. I thought that you already have 100% trust in me. Jasmine, I admit that I have neglected you during this period of time. It's all my fault! Even if you want to convict me, shouldn't you give me a chance to appeal?"

Jasmine listened to his words and looked at him in silence for a while before nodding her head. "Okay! Then I will give you a chance to appeal tonight!"

David heard what she said and smiled. He held her hand in his hand and took her to his car. He opened the door for her and watched her get in. Then he closed the door and went into the driver's seat.

David turned his head and looked at Jasmine, who had a cold expression on her face. He smiled and started the car to drive back to his apartment.

The two of them did not speak along the way until they walked into David's apartment. David saw Jasmine change into slippers and walk to the sofa to sit down. He smiled and walked to the seat beside her to sit down.

"Don't you have something to say? Hurry up and say it! I still have something to do tonight!" Jasmine's attitude was still somewhat cold. She did not even look at him.

During this period of time, she endured it again and again. Now, she really could not tolerate it anymore.

Knowing that she was deliberately rejecting him, David did not mind. Instead, he grabbed her hand and held it in his palm. He looked at her and said directly, "Jasmine. I have been busy with the hotel all this time, and I have indeed neglected you. I apologize to you! I'm sorry! Don't get angry with me again, okay?"

Jasmine struggled a few times and then let him hold her. She looked at him and said coldly, "I'm not angry with you! Can't I be angry with myself? David, do you know what it means to not call for a month? You have never put me in your heart. This is not about whether you apologize or not. It's about you not treating me as your girlfriend from the bottom of your heart! I, Jasmine Wilson, have always been good at love! I have no interest in this kind of charity love! If you have nothing else to do, then. . . I'll be leaving first! "

Jasmine was about to get up when David held her down.

"Do you know why I want to open a hotel in a foreign place? Your family has a big business and you can have whatever you want. Even if I want to open a five-star hotel, as long as you want to help me, I might open a hotel! But I don't want to do that! Because I still remember the time you celebrated your birthday. The way your classmates looked at me, it's was really pathetic."

“I'm a man, I don't care! Because I know not everyone will like me when they see me. But I don't want them to look at you like that! I set the hotel somewhere else because I want to rely on my own strength to stand up. And I also have the confidence now.”

“Last month, I didn't call you because the entire hotel, from the menu to the renovation to hiring managers, every detail was involved. Of course, if I wanted to relax a little, it's very simple. As long as I find someone and give him a high salary, he might be fully responsible. But I don't want to do that! Because I firmly believe that no matter what you do, as long as you do it with your heart, your efforts will definitely be proportionate to your gains.”

“I just want you to not be so aggrieved when you marry me. If I don't care about you, I don't need to do that at all! I just want to prove it to others that the person you marry isn't any worse than them. Do you understand?"

If you find any errors (broken links, non-standard content, etc..), Please let us know < report chapter > so we can fix it as soon as possible.