Chapter 991

Marcus said, "Thanks"

Sallie asked, "Do you like her?"

Marcus replied, "Yep."

Salle said, "Marcus, your blunt answer just shattered all my hopes"

Before, she had asked Marcus the same question, and his response was, "She's my wife"

Just because she was his wife, even if he didn't like her, he had to take responsibility for this role But this time was different, Marcus answered without hesitation that he liked her

And Sallie could tell, he was really sweet on Cornelia Whenever Cornelia was around, he only had eyes for her.

Sallie thought he had already spilled the sweetest words but then Marcus' voice echoed in her ears again

His voice itself was charming, and when he spoke about Cornelia, it was even more heartwarming "I really like Cornelia, not just because she's my wife, but because she is my love! I can't live without her."

If before this. Sallie still held a little fantasy about Marcus, his words now completely shattered it

Sallie chuckled. "She likes you too."

Upon hearing this, Marcus' eyes lit up instantly. "Why do you think so?"

Sallie replied, "Can't you tell?"

Marcus didn't say a word

Sallie continued, "Do you know why your wife just kissed you?"

Marcus said, "Of course I do"

He knew it was a parting kiss. After all, she was going to be away for several days, and they wouldn't be able to see each other during that time. She just took the initiative to do what he wanted to do.

Sallie said,

"She sees me as a rival, she's jealous. Her kissing you earlier was her way of marking her territory"

Marcus said, "I am hers."

Sallie said, "You know that, but others might not. She was making it clear to me and others, which proves she cares about you."

Hearing this, Marcus was overjoyed. He wanted to buy a plane ticket right away and catch up with Cornelia to Rosenberg.

Sallie said, "I gotta go. When I come back, you two owe me a meal."

Marcus' mind had already left with Cornelia. He barely heard what Sallie was saying and just replied absentmindedly, "Sure."

Cornelia and Tahlia had purchased first-class tickets. Due to late purchase and late check-in, the two of them didn't sit together, but were seated in different rows.

The seat next to Cornelia was empty, but she didn't care.

She hadn't slept well the night before, so as soon as she sat down, she leaned back in her seat, found a comfortable position, and fell asleep. She slept like a log. When she woke up, the plane was already steadily flying in the air.

Cornelia stretched and a flight attendant came over and asked, "Ma'am, would you like something to drink or eat? We have coffee, milk, and juice, as well as beef stew and pasta"

Cornelia had been sleeping when the meals were served, so the flight attendant didn't disturb her. As she had eaten before arriving at the airport, she didn't feel hungry now, just a bit thirsty, so she said, "I'll have a bottle of mineral water please."

Perhaps due to spending so much time with Marcus, Cornelia had gradually picked up some of his habits. She no longer liked juices and drinks as much, and now usually only drank coffee and mineral water.

The flight attendant immediately handed her a bottle of mineral water, saying, "If you need anything, please don't hesitate to call me"

Chapter 992

"Thanks!" Cornelia said

After the flight attendant left, Cornelia casually popped open a bottle of mineral water, took a sip, then pulled out a magazine to read Suddenly, the sleeping woman removed the hat shadowing her face and looked at Cornelia "Mrs. Hartley, what a coincidence! We meet again"

Cornelia asked, "Ms Sallie, you're on this flight too?"

That was so freakin' uncanny! Not only did they bump into each other at the airport, but they were also on the same flight to the same city!

Even their seats were together.

Sallie might have purposefully boarded the same flight, Cornelia couldn't help but think, maybe she wanted to say something to her

Cornelia was filled with doubts, while Sallie seemed quite chill, simply responding. "Yep"

Cornelia just acknowledged and didn't actively make conversation. If the other party approached her with a purpose, they would naturally speak to her again.

Sallie said, "Cornelia, you seem to be a bit hostile towards me. Have I offended you in some way?"

Cornelia fell silent

Such directness was a bit hard to handle. But since the other party had spoken so frankly, Cornelia didn't need to hide her feelings anymore.

Sallie continued. "I admit I once had a crush on your husband, even dreamed of marrying him, but I'm well aware he only sees me as a friend. He firmly rejected me long ago, and there was never any ambiguity between us. He didn't even give me a chance to fantasize. He's a good man, a man worth your love.."

Cornelia knew this better than anyone. "I know what kind of man he is."

Cornelia wasn't even sure why she had become so sensitive. She knew clearly what kind of person he was, but seeing other women approaching Marcus made her upset. She even had the scary thought of hiding Marcus, not allowing anyone to approach him.

She didn't know how she had become so terrifying!

Sallie said, "Honestly, I'm really envious of you. I envy you for marrying him, getting his love... I once thought, if you weren't there, or if you disappeared from this world, whether I would have a chance"

Cornelia fell silent.

Sallie continued, "When I met him, got to know him, became his friend, I didn't know where you were. He didn't have you by his side, and he didn't fall for me, so my hypothesis naturally doesn't stand"

Listening to Sallie's words, Cornelia felt increasingly sure that Sallie was an honest girl, who would love generously when she loved someone, and would accept rejection without harboring resentment, "Surely somebody as good as you are going to meet somebody who likes you"

Sallie said, "There are actually a lot of men who like me"

Cornelia chuckled, "I can tell."

Sallie asked, "Can we exchange WhatsApp? I'd like to be friends with you."

Comelia replied, "We can exchange after we get off the plane."

Sallie said, "Cornelia..."

Cornelia replied, "What?"

Sallie asked again, "How much do you love Marcus?"

"1" Cornelia turned her head, looking out through the small window. Outside the plane was a vast sea of clouds, beautiful and majestic, but it couldn't capture her attention. In her eyes, there was only Marcus' incredibly handsome face, "I don't know how much I love him..."

Sallie, "You don't know? How could you not know?"

Cornelia replied, "I don't know how much I love him. I just know I can't imagine what it would be like if I lost him..."

"If you didn't really like him, you wouldn't care about losing him" Sallie chuckled at Cornelia, "Your husband is such a great guy, and you're with him day in and day out. How could you possibly not like him?"

Cornelia didn't reply just quietly looking out at the sea of clouds Sallie was right. If she didn't like him, she wouldn't care if Marcus left her

The reason she was scared was that she cared about him. She was scared of not being able to spend the rest of her life with him

Sallie went on, "Cornelia, there's something I want to tell you. Want to hear it?"

Cornelia asked. "What is it?"

Sallie asked. "Do you remember when Marc took you to my studio to buy a dress?"

Cornelia nodded. I remember.”

Sallie said. “I asked him then if he liked you Guess what he said?”

Cornelia turned to ask, “What did he say?”

Sallie said. “All he said was that you were his wife. I knew then that his feelings for you weren’t love, but a sense of responsibility But today, I asked him the same question and he gave me an unequivocal and serious answer. He said he liked you”

Cornelia knew that Marcus was never stingy about expressing his liking for her, and she understood what Sallie was saying. So she said, “But how long can this liking last?”

Sallie asked. “Don’t you trust him?”

Cornelia said, “It’s not that I don’t trust him. It’s just that the human heart is the most unpredictable thing in the world.”

Sallie said, ‘Im not sure about other men, but I trust Marc. I’ve known him for over a decade, longer than you have, and I should know him better. I’ve never seen him. intimately involved with any other women, except you”

Cornelia smiled and looked back out at the clouds It wasn’t that she was worried that Marcus would change his heart; she was worried that she would change. Not only did her father’s blood run through her veins, but Clair’s as well.

If one day, she too became like Clair, abandoning her husband and children for the pursuit of excitement, or whatever... Even the thought was detestable to her!

Feeling that Cornelia didn’t want to discuss this topic any further, Sallie switched the subject,

‘What brings you to Rosenberg this time? Why didn’t Marc come with you?’

Cornelia said, “I’m from Rosenberg.”

Sallie said, “I see. Did you hear about what happened in Rosenberg a few days ago?”

Cornelia asked, “You mean the video?”

Sallie said, "Yes. A few days ago, a girl was drugged and taken home by a man, only to be misunderstood as a mistress. The video had a big impact. Even the popular actress Hannah spoke out for the girl, attracting widespread attention in society.

"Because the incident happened in Rosenberg, the Rosenberg government planned to hold a charity event, and I was invited as a guest. If you're interested, you can come and see We'll try to speak out for more women"

Cornelia was overjoyed to hear the news, which justified her decision to go public with the video.

If more and more attention can be paid to this victimized group, and if everyone pays enough attention, then there would be fewer incidents in the future

Cornelia asked. "Have you considered contacting the girl in the video, to have her speak out with you?"

Sallie replied, "Someone suggested it, but most people were against it. Though the girl is not at fault, you know how harsh society can be on women. If we release her current photo, it would definitely affect her normal life, which is not what people who truly want to speak out for her would want to see.

Cornelia followed up. "What if she's willing to do it herself?"

Comelia. The girl in the video is melt

The girl in the video did share some similarities with Cornelia in terms of voice and figure, but Sallie didn't suspect it was Comelia at all, and was very surprised to hear that, "The girl on the video is you?"

Comelia nodded. "Yes, I am that girl. Since you guys are about to do a charity event, I want to speak out as a victim and tell all the girls who have been violated to bravely use the law to protect themselves"

Salise, Does Marc know about this

Comelia. The video was released after discussing it with Marcus."

Sallie. You're really brave

Comelia used to be scarest, reticent and evasive, thinking it was shameful that this happened to me and didn't dare to speak up. But as I got older, I realized it wasn't my fault, and shame shouldn't fall on us. With my husband's full support, I finally had the courage to bring this issue to light..."

Sallie reached out to hold Cornelia's hand, "Alright, I'll ask around to see what everyone thinks. If they all agree, I'll get in touch with you."

Comelia, "Okay"

Sallie "Our flight has landed. Let's add each other on WhatsApp for easier communication"

Comelia immediately turned off airplane mode on her phone. As soon as she connected to the network, her phone buzzed twice

It was a message from Marcus, Dylan will pick you up. The car's license plate number is 9909]

Comelia replied immediately. JOkay, my flight just landed Ill call you when I get home

After sending the message. Cornelia and Sallie added each other on WhatsApp

Sallie. Do you have someone picking you up? Do you want me to have my driver drop you off at home first?"

Comelia. "No need Marc has already arranged it."

Sallie. "I suddenly understand why Mare is into you"

Cornelia, "Why?"

Sallie. "You're beautiful, brave, and cool headed. With so many good qualities and being around him every day as his wife, it would be a sign of blindness if he didn't like you" Comelia. You just said the same about him"

Sallie chuckled. "You two indeed make a perfect couple I need to go now Let's grab a meal together when I get back to Riverton"

Comelia, "Sure."

Comelia and Tahlia didn't have any checked luggage and left the airport directly getting into Dylan's car. Just as she settled in, a call from Marcus came in, "Are you in the car yet?"

Comelia I just got in, how is your timing always so on point?"

Marcus. I miss you...

It took a while for Marcus voice to get back, "Are you sure about this?"

Cornelia nodded. "Yes"

He didn't question her further just reassured her. This touched Cornelia deeply. "You have nothing else to say? You're not considering stopping me?"

Marcus replied, "It's a good thing and it's your call. Why would I stop you?"

Cornelia asked. 'Aren't you worried that once our relationship is out in the open, this could affect the Hartley Group's image?

Marcus sternly said, 'Cornelia, remember what I told you, the Hartley Group will always be your rock, not an obstacle in your path. If it ever faces any problem, it's due to my mismanagement, not you.'

He'd never worried about her affairs affecting The Hartley Group, he'd only worried about her pictures coming out, that people would look at her differently, and that she would get hurt

Comelia was touched but found herself at a loss for words.

Marcus asked, "Cornelia, why so quiet all of a sudden?"

"I've got things to handle I'll call you later" With that, she hung up

There were others in the car. She didn't want to cry in front of them.

Tahlia leaned in, "What did he say to you? Why are your eyes so red?"

Cornelia replied, "It's nothing"

Tahlia asked, "Did something happen? Does it involve me?"

Comelia said, "Don't overthink. Our issues have nothing to do with you."

Tahlia asked, "Cornelia"

Cornelia interrupted, "Really, it doesn't concern you. Just focus on healing and finding a job, keep yourself busy, find your worth"

Tahlia said. "I've talked with Briana. Once I get back to Riverton, I'll work with her")

Cornelia raised her hand and rubbed Tahlia's head, "You're still young and have plenty of opportunities to try anything you want."

"Okay" After a moment, Tahlia asked, "When I turned 18, the Reese family gifted me a house. I don't dare to live there now should I return it?"

Cornelia responded, "Why would you return it? They bullied you for years. What's wrong with taking a house from them? If you're scared, we sell it and you can buy another one elsewhere"

Tahlia said, "They probably won't agree to me selling the house."

Cornelia asked, "Isn't the house yours?"

Tahlia explained, "Yes, it's mine. But the Reese family has always managed it. They bought several houses in the same neighborhood and mine is just one of them. Now that I've left the Reese family and even changed my name, they haven't dared to bother me because of Mr. Hartley, but I guess they might try to get the house back"

Cornelia assured, "The house is yours, and they can't take it back without your consent. Don't worry, the Reese family is in a tough spot, they don't have time to scheme how to reclaim your house."

Chapter 996

While they were talking, Cornelia’s phone started to buzz. The caller ID showed an unknown number

Since it was her work phone, getting calls from unknown numbers was a common thing. Thinking it was a client, she picked up the call and politely said, “Hello”

The voice on the other end was Clair’s, “Nelly, it’s me, your mother! I bought loads of presents to visit you and your sister, but the security won’t let me in. Which building do you live in?”

*Hearing this voice made Cornelia want to hurl.
“Don’t call yourself my mother, I don’t have a mother like you”*

Cornelia’s disgust and rejection didn’t faze Clair, “I think there’s a big misunderstanding between us. We should sit down and hash it out”

Comelia retorted 'Buzz off'

Clair responded. "My blood runs through your veins. You're my flesh and blood. Can you deny that?"

With every word Clair said Cornelia felt more nauseous She abruptly hung up the call and blocked the number Just as Cornelia hung up. Tahlia's phone started to ring

Seeing the caller ID, Tahlia's expression instantly changed, "Cornelia..."

Cornelia took Tahlia's phone, intending to hang up and block the number as well. But then she had a thought, if Clair was so keen on buttering them up, why not use her to their advantage So, she answered the call, "If you want to meet us, bring Tahlia's property deeds and unfreeze her bank cards,"

Clair replied. "That's no big deal, sure thing. So can you tell me which building you live in now?"

"First bring what I asked for, then we'll talk." After saying this, Cornelia hung up the call and told Tahlia, "If you don't want to answer her calls, you don't have to Tahlia nodded, put away her phone, and muttered, "I often wonder if she's truly my mother. Which mother would treat their child like this?"

Though she said it in passing Cornelia pondered, "Is it possible that she's not our real mother?"

Tahlia thought for a moment, "I was born from her womb. There are pictures of her pregnant at home, so it probably isn't fake."

Cornelia responded, "Who knows if it was you she was carrying"

Tahlia replied, "That's true."

Cornelia asked, "Do you have that picture on your phone? Can I have a look?"

Tahlia took out her phone, found the picture in the album and sent it to Cornelia, "She loves using this to manipulate me, making me look at it every day to make me feel indebted to her"

Cornelia looked at the picture over and over again. The woman in the picture was much younger than the Clair she knew now, which was only natural. But Cornelia felt that the woman in the picture was more attractive than the present Clair. The woman in the picture was touching her pregnant belly with a look of warmth and gentleness.

Cornelia couldn't find any trace of the woman in the picture in the Clair she knew now. Tahlia, look at this picture closely, don't you think the woman in the picture and the Clair we know have completely different vibes?"

Tahlia replied. "Yes, I've had that feeling more than once. I've always wondered what happened to her to make her change so much"

A daring and unbelievable idea started to form in Cornelia's mind, 'Is it possible that she's not our real mother? Could she just be a woman who looks like our mother, just pretending to be her?"

Tahlia also found the idea hard to swallow "I know how much you hate her, but I think the odds of this are nearly zero, she said

"Why?" asked Cornelia

"Why would she pretend to be our mother? What's the point in pretending to be our mother? I've been around her for many years, and I know that to her profit is more important than anything else. If she's pretending to be our mother, it's probably because the identity of our mother could bring her benefits. But over these years, she hasn't gained any advantages from this identity"

Tahlia's analysis made sense, and Cornelia said disappointedly. "Yeah, what's the point in her pretending to be our mother?"

Cornelia thought about it, hoping she could suddenly understand and find the possibility of Clair pretending to be their mother. Unfortunately, she herself fou nd the idea absurd How could one person possibly become another person without being recognized? That was super tricky

She didn't want to accept she had such a cold hearted mother, so she thought that this woman was not their biological mother and naively hoped that she's just a wicked woman who was pretending

Cornelia chuckled helplessly. I guess I'm being too childish."

Tahlia held Cornelia's hand, "If you have doubts about her identity, we can secretly do a paternity test"

Comelia immediately perked up. "You're right, we should find a way to verify if we have doubts. When we get back to Riverton, we'll find a way to get a sample from her for a DNA test"

Tahlia replied, "Okay"

Cornelia took Tahlia straight from the airport to the cemetery to mourn their grandparents and father. Their three graves were together, which made it easier to mourn

Cornelia first offered bouquets to the three, then stood in front of the tombstone with

Tahlia, "Grandpa, grandma, dad, we came to see you today because we have something to tell you"

She pointed to Tahlia standing next to her and continued, 'Dad, this girl here is your child. Her name is Tahlia, Tahlia Tahlia, say hello, to grandpa, grandma, and dad

Tahlia said, "Grandpa, grandma, dad, I'm here to see you. I didn't know my own origins before, it was Cornelia who found me. Cornelia has been very good to me, and I'll also treat her well in the future"

Cornelia added, "Don't worry, we'll take care of each other and support each other..."

She

didn't know if their family could really hear them. As they were speaking, a wind suddenly blew in the stifling air. The breeze gently brushed their cheeks, as if a gentle hand was caressing them...

Cornelia said excitedly. "Grandma, is that you? Can you still hear my voice?"

What answered Cornelia was the sound of the wind blowing through the grass, again and again, rhythmically, as if her grandmother were talking to her.

Cornelia softly called out, "Grandma..."

But Tahlia had another concern. "Would grandpa, grandma, and dad accept me?"

Having been hurt before, afraid of being used again, and scared of being abandoned again, Tahlia had become very sensitive.

"Don't worry, I'll explain it to them." Cornelia said again "Dad, you probably didn't know you have another daughter, but it's true. We've done a DNA test for Tahlia and grandma, and they're related. I guess when my mother left you, she was already pregnant. She left alone and gave birth to the child quietly, that's why you didn't know"

As Cornelia finished speaking, a miracle happened again. The wind suddenly stopped and the rustling sound from the grass vanished.

Comelia believed they could hear her, especially Grandma Rebecca.

Cornelia looked at grandma's photo on the tombstone and whispered, "Grandma, I know you've always been worried about me and it's hard for me to let go of you too. I want to tell you today that Mare and I will live well and we should be having a kid soon. After our child is born, we'll come visit you together"

Comelia said a lot, as if her grandma was still there, she told grandma everything she wanted to say Because she knew, after seeing her grandma, she wouldn't have many chances to come back within a year, and her grandma would be farther and farther away from her

Maybe one day in the future, she might even forget what her grandma looked like

Seeing Cornelia's sadness. Tahlia was also upset, "Don't be sad If our grandma can hear us in heaven, she wouldn't want you to be so upset."

Cornelia lifted her head, holding back her tears, 'Let's go home

Tahlia said, "Alright"

After they left the cemetery, they found Dylan still waiting in the parking lot.

Cornelia asked, "Dylan, didn't I tell you to go do your thing, why are you still here waiting for me?"

"Nothing is more important than taking care of you guys" Dylan, the top director of the Hartley Group Rosenberg Branch, was happy to be their driver and didn't complain at all, "Ms Stewart, please get in the car

Even though he knew Cornelia was President Hartley's wife, he was still used to calling her Ms. Stewart.

Cornelia said, "You could have just arranged a car for us, no need to be our driver personally."

Dylan said, "It's an honor to be your driver"

Cornelia said, "You know, President Hartley doesn't like this kind of people."

Dylan said, "It doesn't matter whether President Hartley likes it or not. Making you happy is what matters. As long as you're satisfied, a good word from you in front of President Hartley is worth more than me doing ten things."

Comelia said "You're very straightforward"

Dylan said, "President Hartley can see right through my little schemes. It's better to be honest than to hide."

Cornelia said, "But I might not speak well of you in front of President Hartley. We keep our work and private lives separate, I won't talk about private matters."

Dylan said, "That's okay, as long as I take good care of you, President Hartley will naturally see"

Cornelia said, "Dylan, you are really eloquent, no wonder you were trained in the business department, I admire you."

Cornelia asked. "What do you know?"

Dylan replied "Despite the fact that people think he's an ice-cold bastard, he's really not. He's always treated us loyal underlings fairly"

Cometra laughed and said. "How much of the rumors out there are actually true? When it comes to gossip, people believe whatever they want to believe, and how many actually care about the truth?"

Just like

her own experience. the footage from the day of the incident had been made public, and the cops had caught the culprit, yet some people still blamed her. Some even claimed the publicized footage was doctored, otherwise why wasn't it released at the time Cornelia had seen right through these people

Dylan said. "Powerful people like President Hartley don't seem to care about what the public thinks of them."

Cornelia responded, "No matter how powerful he is, he's still human with feelings"

Dylan nodded and said. "True that. Then he asked. "I remember you have a bestie. She came back with you to Rosenberg last time, how come she didn't come back with you this time?"

Cornelia answered, "She's in Rosenberg now" As she said this, a call from Abigail Young came in. Cornelia said, "Speak of the devil, she's calling"

Dylan was glad to hear this, but he kept his cool and continued driving.

Cornelia picked up the call, and heard Abigail loudly saying, "Weren't you supposed to arrive at noon? It's almost one o'clock now, where the hell are you?"

Cornelia replied. "I took my little sister to pay respects at our grandma's grave. Now I'm on my way home."

Abigail asked, "How much longer will you be?"

Cornelia answered, "Around ten minutes, I guess."

Abigail said, "Alright, I'll be waiting for you downstairs. My mom made a bunch of delicious food."

Cornelia replied, "I remember your mom is a fantastic cook, can't wait to have some good food."

Abigail said, "You didn't get to try her home-cooked meals last time you were here, she's been wanting to cook for you"

Cornelia replied, "Better late than never"

Abigail said, "Alright, drive safe. See you soon."

Cornelia replied, "Okay."

About ten minutes later, they arrived at their neighborhood entrance. Abigail had been waiting at the entrance. Seeing their car pull up, she immediately ran over, yelling, 'Smelly Nelly.....'

She noticed Tahlia behind Cornelia, and said, "So she really is the daughter of the Reese family"

Cornelia replied, "She's no longer associated with the Reese family She's now a Stewart. Her name's Tahlia. You can call her Tahlia like I do."

Abigail asked, "So does this make me her sister too?"

Before Cornelia could answer, Tahlia sweetly greeted, "Hi, Abby"

Abigail laughed and asked, "Do you know me?"

Tahlia replied. "My sister told me that you and Zack are her very close friends, like family without the blood ties, so of course I remember you guys."

Hearing this, Abigail was overjoyed, "Your sister is also a very close friend of mine."

Chapter 1000

Tahlia. "Abby you're even more beautiful and gentle than I imagined"

Abigail, "Well, thank you You're quite a looker yourself"

Cornelia, "Enough with the exchanging of pleasantries, you two

*Abigail. We're not just exchanging pleasantries, we're appreciating each other

Abigail, caught off guard finally remembered meeting him a few days before. "Hello, Dylan!"

Dylan stretched out his hand to Abigail, "Pleasure to meet you!"

Abigail didn't really want to engage with him, but his enthusiasm compelled her to reciprocate the handshake. But Dylan didn't let go of her hand, "Abigail"

Abigail quickly withdrew her hand, "Have you had lunch yet? If not, perhaps you can join us"

She was only being polite, but Dylan actually accepted, 'Well, if you insist'

They all entered the residential area, heading towards the building where Abigail lived.

Dylan followed closely behind Abigail, "Abigail.."

Guessing Dylan might be into her, she cut him off before he said something she didn't want to hear, "Dylan, you look pretty young. Got a girlfriend?"

Dylan, "Are you offering to play matchmaker?"

Abigail "Can I set you up?"

Dylan, "I have many girls chasing me, but I haven't met the right one yet. If it's you, I might consider"

Abigail, "I already have a boyfriend I was thinking of introducing you to my cousin. She just graduated from college and she's pretty. Would you like me to put you in touch?" Dylan, "I'm almost thirty, it wouldn't be appropriate for me to pursue a fresh graduate"

Dylan politely declined, but his message was clear to Abigail, "Well then, I hope you find the girl of your dreams soon."

Dylan looked at Abigail and laughed, "Actually, I've already met her, but she turned me down."

The implication of his words was too obvious, so Abigail played dumb, “Cornelia, President Hartley should care more about his employees. He’s married but doesn’t care whether his employees are”

Cornelia, ‘Which company meddles in their employees’ love lives? Did your boyfriend leave?’

Abigail, “He has work to do. He’s already back in Riverton.”

Dylan, “Abigail, are things going well between you and your boyfriend?”

Abigail, “We’ve met each other’s parents and they’re all happy. We’re planning on getting married this year.”

Dylan, “You’re still young, there’s no need to rush into marriage.”

Cornelia suddenly chimed in, “Are you trying to steal Abby away?”

“I am, actually. But I need Abby to give me a chance,” Dylan, looking at Abigail with determination in his eyes. “Abigail, I’m thirty this year, the head of the Hartley Group Rosenberg branch, and I earn a hefty salary I’m an orphan, so if you marry me, you won’t have to worry about complex family relations. I’m a really good catch. Think about marrying me.”

Nobody expected Dylan to be so straightforward about his intentions.

Cornelia was puzzled, ‘You’ve only met Abby twice and you’re already head over heels for her? You want to propose?’

Cornelia thought this was highly unlikely!
