

The Untouchable
Ex
Wife
Chapter
1291

Angelo Fairfax, a famous singer, became desperate as he gritted his teeth and complained, "I can't take it anymore! I've never met such a delicate star even though I debuted so many years ago. She joined a variety show in the countryside, but doesn't even want to drink the water at this place. She demanded pure water from an expensive brand, and even asked me to cook using that water. Where can I get so much of that? How preposterous!"

Angelo was in charge of cooking in the show, and he was good at it. The others enjoyed his cooking, and his skills helped him gain a lot of fans. However, Shirley had started ordering him around after she joined the show. She claimed that the pasta was undercooked and that there were insects in the food. However, what infuriated him the most was that she demanded he cook with that expensive water, or else she wouldn't eat.

"I've met self-important people, but she's way too much. I'm no longer famous but I was quite a successful singer in the past. I've never suffered this much before, honestly. If Shirley isn't dismissed, I'll quit!" Angelo smacked the table angrily. He was even willing to breach his contract because of Shirley.

Lily Anderson, the host, quickly comforted him. "Ah, please bear with her. She's a star heavily promoted by Universal Entertainment, and they purposely got her into our show. If we force her to leave, we'll make Universal Entertainment our enemy. We'll be banned if we offend them given their status in the entertainment industry."

"But I heard a rumor that they've given up promoting her. If she doesn't do a good job this time, she may be suspended. We don't have to be afraid of offending her, we just need to teach her a lesson!" Thomas Morris, a famous actor, had had enough too. He had long wanted to teach that woman a lesson.

"No, that isn't the case." Lily shook her head. "The superiors of Universal Entertainment, including Mr. Stuart wanted to promote another star, but Shirley befriended someone more powerful in the company, so she won't get suspended."

As a famous host, she had great connections, and had long heard that Shirley had gained a new supporter who Xavier was afraid of. So, she would have to let Shirley have her way.

"Alas, I heard that too. Her new supporter seems to be..." Angelo approached them and was about to gossip when he heard someone open the door of the house. Ace, the dog they had, kept barking.

"Is that a dog?" Xavier was about to go into the house, but he instantly backed away when he saw the large yellow dog in the house. He bumped into Leia who was behind him, and quickly hid behind her helplessly. "Dog... There's a dog!"

Leia glanced at him in disgust and waved at the dog. "Doggie, hello. Why are you so much fatter than on the screen? Come here and let me pat you."

Strangely, the barking dog turned into a docile pet instantly. It looked up at Leia and wagged its tail enthusiastically.

Leia touched its head. "Good boy. You're so cute, but some people are afraid of you. You don't bite either. I don't know why he's so scared. What a coward!"

Xavier could not accept that as he hid behind her. "I mean... I'm not afraid of dogs. I just don't even know if the wild dogs here are vaccinated or not. What if the dog bites me and I get rabies?"

"You shouldn't have come here if that was the case. Since you're here, you should open up and enjoy yourself. Don't act like a coward and hide behind me," Leia rudely rebuked him.

At that time, both Lily and Angelo came out of the house. When they saw Xavier, they were initially shocked, but enthusiastically went to him.

"Mr. Stuart, why are you here, in such a remote place? Our little house is honored to have you!" Lily said charmingly.

The Untouchable Ex Wife

Chapter 1292

Angelo extended his hand.
"Mr. Stuart, you're busy so it's hard to see you. Are you here as a guest, or did you come for a visit? Why didn't the crew inform us?"

The shooting had ended because it was night, so they could not tell if Xavier was a guest or merely there for a visit. "We're here to see someone. May I know if Shirley is around?" Leia asked directly.

"Shirley?" Angelo became annoyed when Shirley's name was mentioned. He said indifferently, "She's a princess. Of course, she won't stay here."

"What do you mean? Don't tell me she's not here!" Leia almost broke down. It was a long car ride, and she had soldiered through the muddy road and water path before finally arriving on the set. If they told her that Shirley was not there, she'd go mad.

"No, she's not staying here now. When the camera s are rolling, she'll be here." Angelo smiled bitterly.

"Where is she now?" Leia hurriedly asked.

"She's having a rest in town. Although we have bedrooms here, that princess can't stand to stay in them. After the shooting is over, she goes to the hotel in town to enjoy the air-conditioning there. Isn't there a muddy road on the way here? She spent some money to let the villagers carry her over, so technically, she's providing jobs for the villagers too."

"Ahem, ahem!" Lily hurriedly grabbed Angelo's arm to stop him. "Miss White's body is sensitive. We don't have air-conditioning here, and it's not very convenient with the water and electricity supply. It's very normal for her to stay somewhere with better conditions. After all, she's an actress. It's one of her jobs to take good care of her body."

"Tsk, she just puts on airs. Don't make it sound so righteous," Leia directly commented. "So, does that mean that we have to go back to town to see her?"

"Yes, but it's too late now, and the road is bad. It's dangerous for you to go back there. Why don't you wait until tomorrow? She'll be back here when we start shooting." Lily suggested a compromise.

Leia nodded while looking at the dark

sky. "Okay, I'll let her have another easy night." After all, she had time to waste with

Shirley. She would not give up until she got a result.

"But there's a problem if you two are here for a visit." Angelo explained bluntly, "Our bedrooms here are fixed. The only vacant one is Miss White's room, so you guys may... have to share a room. Is that okay?"

The Untouchable Ex Wife

Chapter 1293

"Yes!"

"No!"

Xavier and Leia spoke at the same time.

Xavier wanted to stay in the same room as Leia, but Leia felt that it wasn't a good idea to get close to him since they had officially broken up with each other.

"Umm... it's up to the both of you, I guess. Either way, wash up and rest well; there'll be a grand welcoming feast for the both of you early tomorrow morning. If you're not comfortable with the arrangement..." Lily thought about it for a while, then pointed at a small thatched shed nearby. "There's a cowshed over there. We can set up a bed there, and you can make do with it for one night. We don't suggest it though, because the cows are very stinky and may try to knock you down."

"Are you serious?" Leia forced a smile, but was inwardly cursing. She knew that the conditions were hard at Happy Days, but surely it couldn't be so bad that she had to stay in a cow shed.

"It's late. The both of you should head to bed, don't worry about us..." Xavier hugged Leia's shoulders and smiled. "I'm sure you've noticed that we have a somewhat 'special' relationship... I'm sure we'll figure out the sleeping arrangements."

"There's nothing special about our relationship! Stop spreading rumors, you idiot! People will get the wrong idea." Leia tried to struggle out of his arms but he just hugged her tighter.

Xavier looked down at her, his gaze tender. "You're so stubborn, darling. Our relationship is really something else." Both Lily and Angelo watched them in understanding, and exchanged meaningful glances.

"Okay, we won't disturb you then. Take your time to discuss it. There are brand-new toiletries in the room, and if you're hungry, there are some snacks there too. Goodnight and sweet dreams."

Angelo was still grinning and watching the fun, but Lily quickly pulled him away to give Xavier and Leia some privacy. She suspected from the beginning that the two were in a relationship, which was why she had suggested they stay in the same room.

Now, it seemed like her suggestion was exactly what Xavier wanted. When the time came, she was sure he would return the favor too.

That was how the entertainment industry worked.

"Miss Anderson, it seems like the rumor is true. Universal Entertainment does want to support another person, and Mr. Stuart clearly likes this woman very much. Maybe he brought her here to expose her to the public. Let's include them in the shooting tomorrow and make her popular."

"Great idea!" Lily said enthusiastically. "I don't care who Shirley's new supporter is, but she can't rely on her old supporter now. We just need to curry favor with Xavier and help get him together with Miss Osborne."

"Oh, I'm good at that. Leave it to me!"

They happily decided to focus the next few days of shooting on the two. They wanted to make Leia popular and help her get with Xavier.

Eventually, Xavier and Leia were the only ones left in the yard. They were still arguing about the sleeping arrangements.

"Xavier, you're a man, and I'm a woman. It's inappropriate for us to stay in the same room, so I suggest you stay in the cowshed. I can help you set up the bed," Leia said seriously.

Xavier looked at her helplessly. "Why should I stay in the cowshed? What if the cows attack me while I'm asleep? You can go and stay there. I don't want to." While talking, he shamelessly walked into the only guest room.

"Ugh, you're really not a gentleman! I'm a woman, you know. What happens to my privacy if I stay in the cowshed?"

The Untouchable Ex Wife

Chapter 1294

While complaining, Leia hurried to follow Xavier.

The only bedroom looked rather ordinary. There was an old wooden bed, and although there was a new mattress on it, the room had bumpy floors and a leaking roof. It was not much better than the cowshed. The most horrible thing was that one had to use the water prepared in the tank for washing up—there was no tap water or hot water. Water had to be boiled on the spot if one wanted to take a bath and wash their face. It was extremely inconvenient.

"I get why Shirley did that now..." Leia swallowed. "We can't blame her for being a diva. It's not easy to stay here."

"I think this place is pretty good." Xavier accepted his fate and flopped down onto the bed leisurely. He put his arms under his head and smiled contentedly. "The bed is rather soft, and we can look at the stars. How romantic!"

"Is that so? Coincidentally, I'm allergic to romance," Leia said grumpily. She pulled a chair over and sat down on it cross-legged, as if she was meditating. "Leave me alone. Life is a journey of self-cultivation, so I'll stay like this tonight."

Xavier noticed how miserable she looked, and smiled at her warmly. "Just tolerate it since you're here. As long as we're together, it'll be alright. Even hell seems like heaven this way."

"Ugh! I haven't eaten. Don't disgust me." Leia rolled her eyes and turned to look at him. She could not figure out when he became so corny.

Xavier

remained silent before he sat up in bed. "Do you want to wash up? I'll boil some water for you." "Yes, I do." Leia

nodded.

"Boil more water for me so I can take a bath and wash my hair too."

"Okay." Xavier agreed to it, behaving like a considerate and reliable boyfriend. He knew that the conditions here were difficult. Leia was a rich, young lady who grew up like a princess, so it was probably quite tough on her.

He could only try his best to make her more comfortable.

Xavier came to the kitchen and used a silver lighter to light up the firewood to boil water. As the fire burned, the thick smoke that billowed out of it choked him until his eyes watered. After some time, he finally managed to boil some water.

"It's ready. Go ahead and take a bath. I'll go out and smoke." Xavier carried a large bucket of water to the room, then politely retreated.

"Are you sad? Why are you crying?" Leia saw how red and watery his eyes were, and felt sorry for him. But at the same time, the situation was also pretty amusing.

"I'm not crying! It's because I burned the firewood. Aren't you moved by my dedication and gentlemanliness?"

"Yes, I'm moved. You're indeed here to suffer." Leia fought back a smile and patted his shoulders. "Although you're a beast most of the time, sometimes you look like a human too. I'll remember this favor and repay you when I get the chance."

"You can repay me now!" Xavier took a step forward, looking determined. "You just need to repay me with your body." He felt that both he and Leia were too pretentious. They cared about each other, but they made things so complicated. After holding himself back for a day, he decided to be honest and confess his feelings.

The Untouchable Ex Wife

Chapter 1295

"Get lost!" Leia knew that he could never speak nicely. After she drove him out of the room, she quickly locked the door. She was a bit tired after the shower, so she decided to rest early that night.

She had to battle against Shirley the next day.

Leia woke up a few hours later, and felt rather sorry for him. She opened the door, and as expected, saw him squatting outside the door pitifully. He looked like a homeless puppy.

"You're awake?" Xavier looked up, his eyes watery.

Leia looked at him, half expecting him to burst into tears. She sighed and said, "Forget it. Go and sleep in the room. I'll sleep in the cow shed." After all, she was a tough woman. She could handle sleeping in the cowshed, but it was cruel to ask a rich young heir like Xavier to sleep there.

"Thanks!" Xavier did not hesitate at all, and dashed into the room eagerly. Gone was his pitiful act and puppy dog eyes.

'Leia Osborne, you're a fool! He tricked you!' Leia cursed silently as she returned to the room to take a clean blanket and pillow.

Before Leia could head to the cowshed, Xavier closed the door and hugged her from behind. "Stop messing around, this bed is large enough for the both of us. If you think it's cramped, I'll just hug you and sleep."

"Xavier, let go of me. Don't be ridiculous."

"I'm serious, Leia. We have slept together before, and I promise that I'll only hug you." Xavier raised his hand and swore solemnly.

Leia pursed her lips. "Maybe you can promise not to do anything, but I can't... We've already broken up with each other, so we should keep some distance from each other. If not, things will go back to the way they were." She knew him, and she knew herself. In the past, they had also argued and wanted to break up, but they somehow slept together and made up with each other right after. Xavier always said that they would never break up because of it, and even if they did fight, they could always solve it by sleeping together.

But Leia didn't want to make the same mistakes again.

They would never resolve their issues if they did, and those problems would just come back to haunt them. Inevitably, she would only get hurt again if this vicious cycle continued.

"Don't promise me if you can't. Just sleep with me, and see me as something to use. I'm not asking you for money or to take responsibility for it." While talking, Xavier started to kiss her neck, and his hands reached out to unbutton her clothes.

"Stop!"

The Untouchable Ex Wife

Chapter 1296

Leia stopped Xavier from going further, and said quietly, "If you do this, I'll just be like all the other women you've dated. You'll just use me to sate your lust, and leave me when you get bored. It makes me feel cheap."

They had said that during their previous fight. She knew that it had been said out of spite, but her heart ached every time she thought about it.

"But I'll never get bored of you..." Xavier murmured hoarsely. He closed his eyes and touched her skin, allowing his instincts to guide him. He had to admit that even though their relationship wasn't deep, their bodies were compatible. He didn't want to give her up so easily because of that.

"You're still talking nonsense. Don't you realize that it matters to me? Don't you think you should discuss it with me? Or am I just a tool to you, so you feel you don't have to waste your time talking to me?" Unable to stand it, Leia pushed him away and asked him, her eyes watery.

She was reluctant to accept that they had broken up, and wanted to talk it out with him, but he always seemed unconcerned.

Unfortunately, they had never really discussed the issue properly, and she couldn't forget about him. This trip had given them the perfect opportunity to talk it out, but he was not taking it seriously as usual. He only wanted to sleep with her, which she couldn't accept.

Xavier became annoyed as he said coldly, "Leia, can you stop being so pretentious? Does it matter why I date you? It's fine as long as we're happy. If I'm infatuated with your body, it means that I'm infatuated with you too. It's not like our souls are nobler than our bodies." He liked things to be simple, and this relationship was very complicated. He had never sincerely dated women in the past, so he would only stay with them if they were physically compatible. If they weren't, they would break up. He never really got attached, and to him, that was easy and straightforward.

But it seemed that it would not work with Leia that way. Both of them wanted more, but deep down, he couldn't adjust to it. So, they always fell out with each other because of their differing expectations.

Shirley was just a catalyst; the main thing affecting their relationship was yet to be resolved.

"All women want their men to love their souls because bodies can be replaced. Only souls are unique and can last forever!" Leia argued, tears running down her cheeks. She wished that Xavier could love her for who she was on the inside too. Although she felt like she was ordinary and boring, she wanted to be special to someone.

"Then I'm afraid you'll be disappointed. I won't fall for anybody's soul. It's too much for me to handle," Xavier answered bluntly. His words were cruel, but he was telling the truth. A relationship like that was deep and serious, and it might be one that lasted forever... He had yet to think of his future.

"You're lying. You love Shirley's soul, so you're willing to sacrifice for her even after so many years. You've got no energy left in you to love another's soul because you're still in love with hers. So, you're lying when you say that you can't fall in love with my soul," Leia said sharply.

"Whatever!" Xavier could not be bothered to explain, and decided to go to sleep. 'Tsk! She's so meddlesome. What got into me? Why did I follow her here? Whatever! I'll leave early tomorrow morning. I don't care how pretentious she is!'

The Untouchable Ex Wife

Chapter 1297

Leia was enraged by his response. She grabbed a blanket and pillow then stormed off towards the cowshed. 'Hmph! I'd rather sleep with cows than with a scumbag like you!' She gritted her teeth as she thought so. However, when she arrived at the cowshed, she found that the rich smell of cows, cow manure, and grass was too much for her. She soon returned to the room.

At the moment, Xavier was sound asleep.

"Sleep on the floor, damn it!" Leia threw the blanket and pillow on him before she kicked him onto the floor. Satisfied, she got onto the bed.

Xavier was sleeping soundly, but woke up with a start as he landed on the floor. He rubbed his sleepy eyes and crawled back into bed, then hugged her and said, "Baby, stop messing around!"

He dozed off again, and Leia was at a loss for words. She wanted to kick him away but he hugged her like they were a couple who had made up with each other after a fight. She couldn't bear to kick him away either.

"Forget it. What an ill-fated relationship!" She heaved a long sigh and let him hug her as they slept.

Since they were so exhausted, they slept until late morning the next day. They slowly woke up after the crew were almost done preparing for the shooting.

"Why are you here? Didn't you sleep in the cowshed?" Xavier looked at the woman in his arms and asked, smiling. He didn't know that Leia had snuck back into the room and kicked him off the bed.

"Hmph! I won't sleep in that kind of place." Leia got up and changed her clothes, then went to wash up.

Xavier also quietly changed his clothes and washed up before he went to open the door. When he opened the door, the camera team and the director immediately went to him. They had been waiting at the door.

"Mr. Stuart, why didn't you tell us that you were coming to visit? We were so busy preparing things for you..." Adam Jiminez, the director, smiled brightly. "Universal Entertainment is the biggest sponsor of Happy Days, so you're our benefactor. Do you have any new orders for the show? Please tell us, and we'll change it until you're satisfied."

Xavier had met a lot of people like this, so he remained calm. "There's indeed something you need to change."

"Please tell us. We're all ears. We can even change it now."

"Pick a larger house next time and get more guest rooms. I didn't sleep well last night and my neck is sore." Xavier turned his neck and felt discomfort. He had been enjoying a comfortable life for so many years and had never slept so badly before.

"Umm... This is the best house in this village though."

The Untouchable Ex Wife

Chapter 1298

Adam was put in a dilemma but he gritted his teeth and said, "It's fine. We'll resolve it. We'll build a new house now. I think it'll be done when we shoot the next season of Happy Days, so we'll invite you as a guest then."

Xavier waved. "Alright, carry on with your work. I'm too busy to join a variety show."

"Yeah, I overlooked that. You must be very busy, so you can't join such a childish thing. I should have watched my tongue." Adam's flattery filled Leia with discomfort. Flattering and bullying in the entertainment circle were indeed quite bold and outrageous. She recalled watching the interesting highlights of the behind-the-scenes of Happy Days. The celebrities also fawned over Adam, and at that time, she felt that he was an upright man and different from the other celebrities.

Unexpectedly, everyone in the entertainment circle was realistic about building connections.

When Leia saw Adam turn to leave, she immediately asked, "Mr. Jiminez, can I ask you a question?"

Adam saw Leia come out of the same room as Xavier, so he assumed that she had a special relationship with him. She might be the new star Xavier decided to support and promote. So, Adam asked enthusiastically, "Go on. Ask me anything. You're more outstanding than the celebrities we invited. I thought you were a mysterious guest we invited!"

"I would like to ask you where Shirley is. I need to talk to her."

"Shirley?" When Shirley's name was brought up, Adam's expression changed. He had a lot of complaints about the fixed guest that was forced on the show. "I think she may be very busy. She generally comes way too late for shooting since people from the town will carry her here. I think she's still sleeping at the moment, but she'll get here soon. We'll be shooting the celebrities picking mushrooms on the mountain today, and we can't shoot that if she doesn't come."

After he said that, he heard his assistant's joyful voice. "Miss White is here. At last, we can start shooting!"

"Mr. Jiminez, I'm so sorry that Shirley is late again today. She couldn't sleep last night because the bed in the hotel is so hard and it smells bad. Shirley's had a hard time." The sharp voice of Shirley's agent came from afar, and she enthusiastically ran over and greeted Adam coquettishly so he wouldn't get angry with them.

Shirley was right behind her, and her assistant held an umbrella over her head while serving her drinks. Shirley was scowling, clearly impatient.

When the three of them saw Xavier and Leia, who were surrounded by the director and crew members, their faces turned pale. "Xavier... Why... Why are you guys here?"

Xavier was about to speak but Leia beat him to it as she sneered, "Miss White, I heard that you're having a hard time here, so Xavier and I came to visit you and cheer you on!"

Shirley's features stiffened, but she could only put on a fake smile since there were so many people around. "Miss Osborne, what are you talking about? We're not that close. I'm flattered that you came here to visit me. I don't deserve such a great honor."

"Yeah, we're not close but you're pretty close to Xavier. He wanted to visit you, so I naturally came along." Leia did not want to fall out with Shirley directly, so she used Xavier as an excuse.

"Really?" Shirley sounded surprised as she looked at Xavier eagerly. "Xavier, did... did you come for me?" Xavier was speechless, and just shrugged helplessly.

"Yeah, Xavier came to ask you one thing. You talked to the main surgeon of the Fair Plastic Surgery Institution on the phone at 8.20 a.m. on the thirteenth of August, didn't you?" Leia asked directly.

The Untouchable Ex Wife

Chapter 1299

A tinge of panic crept into Shirley's eyes, but she was an actress who had undergone professional training, so she soon regained her wits. "Oh, that... Yes, I seem to have contacted him because I needed to get my skin booster again, so I made an appointment with him in advance. Miss Osborne, do you need it too? I can recommend him to you."

She lifted her chin and smiled at Leia, but the provocation was clear.

"Stop pretending. You know it isn't as simple as that." Leia was so angry that she rushed to Shirley to confront her.

"Miss Osborne, please behave yourself. Shirley is a celebrity, so please keep some distance from her." The agent extended her hand to block Shirley from Leia.

Shirley looked at Xavier and sneered, "I didn't expect your taste to be this... special."

"What do you mean? Speak clearly!" Leia demanded, sensing that Shirley was mocking her.

"Mr. Jiminez, didn't you say we were about to start shooting? Why is everyone still standing here?" Shirley ignored Leia as she asked Adam sweetly.

"This..." Adam swallowed and looked at Xavier. "We were about to start but Mr. Stuart came, so it was delayed. We're waiting for his order."

Leia now realized that Xavier had the final say here.

"Do you want me to say yes?" Xavier immediately understood Leia's intense look, and smiled mischievously at her.

"Of course!" Leia gritted her teeth and whispered in his ear, "You know why we came, so we have to keep an eye on Shirley at all times to find the truth as soon as possible."

"What's in it for me if I agree?"

"What do you want?" Leia clenched her fists angrily. "Even at a time like this, that scumbag still wants to take advantage of me. How inhumane!"

"Not much... I just want you to obey me for the next few days." Xavier pouted at her and whined, "You bullied me so much the past few days, it really broke my heart..."

Leia cursed inwardly but forced a smile onto her face. "You want me to listen to you? Sure, you're the king here now, so everyone will listen to you!"

"That's right!" Xavier touched Leia's head in satisfaction as if he was petting an animal.

Everyone saw how they whispered to each other like a young couple, and figured that Leia was very special to Xavier. Thus, they fawned over Leia even more.

"Miss Osborne is so cool and fun."

"What's more, she looks obedient. Maybe she'll become popular after this show."

"If it's possible, Miss Osborne's participation in the show will certainly cause ripples. There'll surely be drama if anything happens between her and Miss White during filming."

Shirley looked at Xavier and frowned. "Are you going to say yes? You're the president of Universal Entertainment, but you're bending over backwards just to please a woman!"

"So what if he's a president? He's a human just like everyone else. It's just a variety show, it's not like he's going to suffer," Leia "Just go ahead with your shooting. Don't delay it because of us." Xavier put his hands in his pockets and ordered. Hence, the team started filming.

Based on the original script, Shirley would take a few guests up the mountain as the main heroine to pick mushrooms for today's lunch. The mountain was a few miles away, so going up and down the mountain would easily take more than half a day.

That meant that Leia might lose the chance to confront Shirley.

"No!" Leia stepped forward and said suddenly, "Mr. Jiminez, didn't you say you want to invite us as mystery guests? Why don't Xavier and I be the mystery guests for this show and go pick mushrooms with Shirley?"

She felt that she would be able to get the truth out of Shirley as long as she was near her at all times.

"Er, that..." Adam wiped away his sweat, uncertain of what to do.

The guests for every show were fixed in advance, and the script had already been finalized too. If two people joined the show all of a sudden without any script, accidents would happen very easily. For example, the show might be too boring or the guests might be too wild, and then it would be hard to edit the show later. Previously, he invited Xavier to join the show as a guest out of cordiality and to gain his favor. If Xavier agreed to it, Adam did not dare to say no.

Shirley naturally did not want Leia to make trouble, so she asked Adam coldly, "Mr. Jiminez, you've always been cautious in your work, and you hate people who pull strings. Since the guests for a show are fixed in advance, people can't come and join the show at random, right?"

"That's true but there'll always be a change of plans. We'd better ask Mr. Stuart's opinion on this. After all, he's the sponsor of this show; we'll listen to him." Adam wiped away his sweat and let Xavier handle the dilemma.

Leia looked at Xavier and indicated to him to agree to it immediately.

The Untouchable Ex Wife

Chapter 1300

scoffed. "I recall that your first movie was with Stefan, the CEO of Hunt Enterprise. Mr. Hunt became an actor just to gain his wife's heart. Xavier doesn't feel that he's wrong to join a variety show either, but you think we've wronged him. If you keep this up, people might get the wrong idea and think you're from a noble background. Why don't you tell us what kind of background you have?"

"Why, you!" Shirley gnashed her teeth. She wanted to argue but couldn't say anything. Her background had been a taboo topic for her, and she had worked hard in the entertainment circle for so many years to get rid of the humiliation brought on by her family. However, Leia's words pulled Shirley back to reality.

When she put it that way, others might feel that Shirley was not a princess but just put on airs as if she was one.

"It's getting late. Let's not delay the progress of the crew," Xavier finally said. "I'm not interested in picking mushrooms but Lei is, so I'll shoot this show with her for commemorative purposes."

"Oh, great! I believe that this show will be a wonderful one." Adam knew that he could not dissuade Xavier, so he agreed to it reluctantly.

Hence, everyone set off for the depths of the mountains.