Chapter 1721

Calvert angrily shouted at Kelly, pointing a finger straight at her

Dad, Tomas brought it on himself, and you're blaming me for it?" Kelly asked, finding it hard to accept

"What do you mean, he brought it on himself? It was Jacob who set him up" Calvert bellowed, clutching his chest and collapsing onto the couch

Kelly was completely taken aback.

What followed was her desperate call to Jacob.

take for you to leave my family alone? They had no part in this! My father genuinely loved Erica, I was the one causing trouble! Please, spare them? Kelly broke down, sobbing uncontrollably want you to give up everything you have, leave the Shields family and live on the streets, begging for survival"

What Kelly valued most was her pride, wasn't it?

So he would crush her, burying her pride forever!

"Jacob, you are crazy" Kelly was in utter disbelief

Asking her to beg was worse than asking her to die

It's fine, you can die. Within a couple of months, your father, brothers, husband and child will be homeless, begging and wandering just like you"

Kelly's ears were buzzing

"You have....three minutes to decide. After that, I'm changing my mind" Jacob said slowly

Kelly gripped her phone tightly. "Jacob, is it all my fault that you and Enca broke up?"

“Don’t worry, no one’s getting away” Jacob replied, his tone laced with amusement.

This sent chills down Kelly’s spine

Three minutes was too short a time.

Kelly had no choice.

Through gritted teeth, she agreed, “Jacob, don’t hurt my family anymore!”

Kelly glanced at Calvert.

He had a stern expression, turning his head away to avoid her gaze

With a bitter smile. Kelly put down her phone and, filled with humiliation, walked towards the front door.

Jacob had someone watch Kelly

They kicked her out of the affluent neighborhood and dumped her in a slum where the homeless gathered

She was too gorgeously dressed.

On the very same day, they forcefully stripped off her designer clothes.

They replaced them with clothes reeking of filth.

At night, she found a corner that she thought was safe.

But soon after, a man, reeking of filth, harassed her.

No matter how much she screamed and begged, she couldn’t escape.

She suddenly remembered a time, over a decade ago.

Erica, with tears streaking her face and ragged clothes, standing before her.

When the hardship finally fell upon her, Kelly finally felt regret.

If she hadn’t done those things, how much could Erica, an illegitimate daughter, really outshine her?

The major families wouldn't want a woman of her birth.

The minor families wouldn't care about her.

Her father would've likely married her off as a tool of alliance

No matter what, she wouldn't have ended up like this.

But what's done was done, she couldn't take it back.

Kelly was now stuck in the filthy chaotic, disorderly slums.

Her pride gradually faded away under the weight of hunger and the abuses of men.

Jacob's people watched her for six long months

Once they saw her slowly turning into a madwoman in the corners of the city

Jacob ordered them to leave

Actually, Kelly didn't really lose her marbles

Once she noticed that the guy tailing her had left for good, she tried to get in touch with her old man, hoping he could somehow give her some cash so she could skip town

But all she got from Calvert was a curt, "You've got the wrong guy I don't have a daughter"

She tried to reach out to her ex husband too, but the man picked up the phone.

Kate was grinning from ear to ear, “You have arrived”” Rosalynn’s group set off a bit earlier than Erica’s

Both cars arrived almost at the same time.

Cars pulled up one after another.

Rosalynn and Paige’s families got out of their cars one after the other,

It was a lively scene, Kate’s smile grew even wider.

It had been years since their home was this bustling.

Did she ever mention?

Paige is the lucky charm of the Scott family. With her around, the Scott family has become lively again.

“All of our relatives wanted to come, but I turned them all down” Kate held onto Paige, “How could I let a bunch of noisy people disturb my beloved daughter-in-law?”

Paige was beaming. Thanks, mom!”

“You’re such a good girl!” Kate replied, then turned to greet Rosalynn and the others

Wayne and Baillie, focusing on the kids, were the last to arrive

“Wayne, does this place ring a bell?” Baillie asked.

Wayne looked around, his mind filled with vague images.

He shook his head helplessly. “No.”

Baillie comforted, “No rush. Let Mr. Carter and the others help you with your treatment for a while, maybe you’ll remember.”

Wayne nodded in agreement

“Dad, your house is so pretty” The kid ran around the place and then came back to hold Baillie’s hand, eyes sparkling. “No wonder grandma said I’d absolutely love it here! I really do

“Grandma also prepared a great art room for you, and she got the full set of your favorite brand of art supplies,” Baillie replied with a smile, “I’m looking forward to creating more pieces this summer!”

The kid nodded enthusiastically

Then, letting go of Baillie’s hand, he ran over to the other kids.

Wayne’s gaze followed.

Even Liam, who rarely smiles, was laughing now.

It was almost midsummer, but it was still quite cool at Baillie’s place.

Once everyone had settled down in the living room, the servants carried everyone’s luggage to their respective rooms

This time, they even brought their pets on the trip.

The pet was being extra clingy

In this unfamiliar environment, the pet was very well behaved, laying at Laura’s feet, trying to be as unobtrusive as possible.

Little did the pet know what was about to happen.

The Scott family's children were about to start a special forces style dog-walking regimen, that would leave Max so scared that he'd hide under the table at the sound of their voices.

The first day he was walked, he was so worn out that he slept through the night and most of the next morning

"I was thinking, you young people might find it boring" Kate said with a warm smile, "So I've prepared some local travel guides. Our farm isn't far from here, you can pick some fresh fruits and vegetables, and there are some fabulous private hot springs nearby.."

Kate explained in detail.

"All in all, no matter how long you're staying, two months or longer, I won't let you get bored!"

Paige clung to Kale like a baby, I must we done something good in my past life to be lucky enough to meet you!"

kate loved Hun kind of interaction with Paige

She burst into a big happy smda

Then they chatted a bit more.

That's when flaker

Kate, who was being all sweet a moment ago, changed her tune instantly. "You got lost? Blake, you can get lost in your own backyard? Are you kidding

The living room fell sident instantly!

Kate hung up the phone, her sweet demeanor returned. "You guys carry on, Hallie's dad and brother got lost, I need to go rescue them."

Enca nodded repeatedly

She kept saying kay

Kate mumbled her dissatisfaction grabbed her car keys and was out the door

“Are they okay” Paige looked worriedly at Baillie

Baillie shook her head. “They should be fine”

“Where did they go that they got lost? Paige was confused.

cleared his throat, Dad said the fish we raise aren't nutritious enough, so he and my brother went up the mountain to fish in the spring.”

Paige was taken aback.

“It might be a while before they get back, shall we go back to our rooms and settle down?” Baillie continued, then looked at Larkin and Erica, “Do you want to stay with the elders or

“No, thanks” Larkin flatly refused

He didn't mind, but he was concerned Erica might feel uncomfortable.

There are always more things to worry about when there are elderly around “Then just stay near my courtyard, that way it's easier for you all to move around” Ba finished, then called for a servant to take their luggage to the Plush Mirage Enclave.

Then each family went to settle in.

Rosalynn brought four kids, so their courtyard was a bit bigger.

“Go find your own rooms, Kate marked them for you” Upon arriving at the courtyard, Rosalynn told the four kids.

Then she and Wayne headed to the main house.

I'm getting old “Rosalynn laid on the soft bed, playing with Wayne's fingers, “A few hours in the car and my back starts aching”

Wayne sat down next to her and gently massaged her.

Let's pay a visit to the Carter family later, shall we?" Rosalynn looked sideways at Wayne

Wayne nodded, "Sure."

"We're just going to visit, not necessarily to recover memories. You've had two major accidents in a row, it's always good to recuperate." As Rosalynn spoke, she thought of the time on the island when Wayne was poisoned. "You were even poisoned."

Wayne saw her concern

Even though he had lost his past memories, but just now, seeing how Kate doted on Paige

He felt guilty

His love was forced to his side, and he had treated her so badly.

Now they're together, but none of his family treated like the Scott family did.

They would even bully her when he was in danger.

Seeing all this, he felt that she had suffered a lot by being with Wayne

Thinking of this, Wayne felt even more sorry for her

He was even more eager to recover soon, then go to work to shield her from storms.

"I'll be fine" Wayne held Rosalynn's hand tightly. "Don't worry"

As they were having this heartfelt conversation.

Suddenly it was interrupted by the children's shouting outside

“Mommy Daddy, I love my room so much Rosalynn moaned, burying her face in her pillow

“Mommy!”

Ivy called out again.

“Mommy’s coming” Rosalynn replied, getting up from the bed.

Wayne helped her out of bed with one arm

The two of them, one after another, walked out of the master bedroom

The kids rooms were all on the first floor

Kate had decorated them with great care, even the rooms of Molly and Liam, whom she didn’t know too well, were very cozy

“I just love Kate! I want to paint her a picture?” Ivy exclaimed, gripping Rosalynn’s hand in excitement.

Rosalynn smiled, looking around, but didn’t see her son

“Where’s your brother?”

“Cory is reading in his room” Molly pointed towards a room.

Rosalynn walked over

Through the half open window, she saw Cory, engrossed in a book at his desk

Rosalynn glanced at the title of the book

Some people can get totally engrossed in a book

Others, just by looking at the title, feel like their heads are going to explode.

“He’s amazing” Liam commented, standing next to Rosalynn, “I can’t understand this book at all”

“Really?” Rosalynn turned to Liam, “Don’t worry, it’s okay if you don’t understand it now. You’ll get it someday”

Liam nodded in agreement.

He had just been in Cory's room too.

The books that Kate had prepared for him were all very difficult.

Most of them were beyond his understanding, but there were a couple he could just about manage.

This summer, apart from tutoring Ivy, he had two new goals.

To finish the two books he could barely read!

"Liam, you're already amazing, Cory is just different!" Ivy consoled Liam seriously, "His brain is like a computer Compared to him, you're the best!"

Liam instantly blushed.

"We have some time before lunch, how about doing a test sheet?"

Ivy was speechless.

"Look, the puppy found its own doghouse"

Then, as if she hadn't heard Liam's words, Ivy pointed towards a puppy in the distance, happily changing the subject and ran over

The puppy's doghouse was very artistic.

At first glance, it looked like a rockery

While everyone was admiring their rooms, the puppy had quietly found and happily settled into its new home

The kids all ran over

Rosalynn glanced at her son

Cory seemed to be in a trance, oblivious to everything around him.

He was deeply immersed in a sea of knowledge.

How come my twins, who were conceived and born together, are so different?"

One was as lively as a monkey, the other always so quiet and focused.

"They're both great" Wayne wrapped his arm around Rosalynn

Then he looked up to see hvy crawling into the doghouse.

"Babe, that's not okay? Wayne immediately stopped her.

Ivy crawled out of the doghouse discontented and said to Wayne, "Daddy, the doghouse grandma prepared for Max is really big Max can lie in it, and there's even room for me

"Kids, if you're done, pack your stuff in the next ten minutes, and we're off to the hall."

Rosalynn clapped her hands.

Once Molly and Liam arrived, they stashed their luggage in their assigned rooms.

Now, only Cory and Ivy hadn't sorted out their stuff.

Without much ado, Molly picked up Cory's suitcase and dumped it in his room.

Cory, engrossed in his book, noticed the commotion.

He looked up, closed his book and hurriedly said, "Thanks, Molly"

Molly waved him off, "Keep reading"

She turned around to help Ivy

Ivy was already struggling with her suitcase, dragging it into her room,

Liam was supervising from the side.

Once the hustle was over, Paige's voice echoed from the yard.

Darlings, we're off to the hall!"

Rosalynn and Wayne quickly called the kids outside.

"Are you guys happy with your rooms?" asked Paige.

She got a mixed bag of responses.

Cory nodded.

Ivy's eyes sparkled as she nodded frantically. "It's great!"

Molly said, "It's okay"

Liam was a bit slow, but he agreed it was nice.

Paige looked at them, sighed and said, "You guys don't harmonize at all!"

Ivy was ecstatic, giggling as she clung to Paige's arm.

"Mr. Scott!"

Just then, the Scott family's butler approached.

"What is it?" Baillie shifted his gaze from his wife to the butler. His face turned cold.

"We have more guests, the butler replied. "Relatives of Luna Baldie Scott."

"Luna"" Baillie furrowed his brow.

Luna, wife of Newell Scott, came from a complicated family.

Her family, the Baldie family, was pretty well-known in the Norhaven area during her grandfather's time, but things went haywire when her father's generation had too many kids and her grandad passed away without leaving a will

The inheritance dispute caused a four-year family feud.

Luna's father, being the youngest son, didn't get much.

For some reason, he listened to outsiders who claimed Luna and her mother would bring misfortune.

Baillie wasn't sure about the details.

In a nutshell, Luna and her mother were kicked out of the house for a while.

During this time, Luna's mother fell ill and passed away.

Perhaps to avoid gossip, Luna's father took back Luna, who was only seven or eight years old..

By then, there was a young and beautiful lady of the house.

Two years later, the stepmother had a daughter, and a son the following year.

The stepmother had always been unkind to Luna, but her attitude worsened after having her own kids.

When Luna was twelve, Luna's grandmother came to visit her.

What she saw was a scarred Luna who had dropped out of school.

Luna's grandmother, a tough lady, went to the Baldie family and took Luna away

She then started a snack stall, saved up bit by bit and eventually sent Luna to a prestigious overseas school

Newell was head over heels for Luna the moment he laid eyes on her in college.

And after bis consistence of pursuing, they became a couple and got married later

The Baldie clan only made an appearance once during Luna's wedding

And Baille had only met them once.

After that, he went abroad for his studies and rarely came back home, and his family almost never mention this matter.

Whether they still kept in contact with each other, he was in the dark

"What's up?" Paige noticed that something was off about Baillie's expression,

"Nothing much, you hang out with Rosalynn and the others, I'll go check it out Baillie looked at Paige with a gentle and indulging expression.

"Okay"

Paige nodded.

Then, Baillie followed the house manager and left.

Rosalynn noticed Baillie's expression and speculated that whoever was about to arrive might not be a good person.

In the foyer

A few people dressed to the nines were chatting

Two women, one in her early twenties, the other looking like she was in her forties or fifties, both decked out in glittering jewels

Two men, one looked about fifty or sixty and another in his twenties.

"Why have we been kept waiting here for so long? Doesn't the Scott family always value manners?" The young man was getting impatient.

The older woman was also showing signs of impatience, "Everyone, chill! Don't forget you came back this time to ask Newell for help with your job, watch your mouth!"

The man grumbled under his breath.

The young woman was touching up her makeup in front of a mirror.

She seemed determined not to let any flaws show on her face.

Baillie”

Suddenly, Randal Baldie called out

Jennifer Baldie immediately looked up.

A tall and handsome man, casually dressed, was striding towards them across the threshold.

Jennifer’s heart raced as she looked at him.

After all these years, she finally saw Baillie again.

Compared to when that hateful Luna got married, he had fully grown into a charming man.

“Oh my, Baillier

Regina Terence called out to Baillie with an air of familiarity.

The house manager was following Baillie, nervously introducing to Baillie that the woman who was speaking was Luna’s stepmother.

“It’s been years, Baillie! Despite being five days younger than Baillie, Jennifer’s voice was sickeningly sweet.

“Hello everyone” Baillie’s expression was indifferent, “What brings you here?”

“We came to visit Luna!” Regina answered, Plus, we never got your wedding invitation, and we heard your wife is about to give birth, so we came to see if we could help!

“Thanks” Baillie’s tone remained cold, “Does Luna know you’re here?”

“We wanted to surprise Luna, so we didn’t tell her! Is she home?’ Regina asked

“Luna took the kids abroad for an exhibition Baillie answered

“What a shame!” Regina’s face showed no sign of disappointment, as if she already knew that Luna wasn’t home, “No worries, we’re planning to stay for a few days, so we’ll wait for her to come back?”

“Baillie, I brought you a gift Jennifer immediately took out a small box from her bag, and opened it like a treasure chest. Inside was a vintage diamond cufflink, “I heard from Luna that you like vintage stuff, so when I saw this in a jewelry store during my vacation abroad, I thought it would be perfect for you, so I bought it?”

“I don’t need gifts.” Baillie responded coldly, then turned to the house manager, “Get her settled in the Crystal Crown Residences for now”

The Scott family’s Crystal Crown Residences was not connected to the main living area.

It was usually used to accommodate less familiar guests.

“Baillie, can we stay at Luna’s place?” Jennifer took a step forward, asked in a coquettish tone, and reached out to touch Baillie’s cufflink

Chapter 1728

As Baillie was thinking whether he should break her hand, Kate’s voice rang out from outside.

All heads snapped towards her.

Kate exuded an aura that was hard to resist.

She was followed by two men covered in dirt, their faces somewhat blurred.

They were Blake and Newell.

“Hey, Kate!” Regina greeted enthusiastically.

Jennifer, not to be outdone, took her hand back.

Baillie kept a safe distance, wanting nothing to do with this family. She went straight to Kate, saying, “Paige and Rosalynn are together, the housekeeper told me Luna’s relatives were here, so I came out to check.”

Luna's relatives?" Kate turned to look at Baillie.

Newell was equally confused.

His wife normally didn't mingle with Regina and her family.

At their wedding, they had even shown up uninvited.

"I have no idea." Newell went to call his wife, but his phone was dripping water from his pocket.

Kate was instantly pissed.

"Were you guys really fishing? There not a single catch, everyone lost a shoe, phones are all busted, and you got lost!"

Blake was speechless.

So was Newell.

"Kate, we came without telling Luna, we were trying to surprise her," Regina said with a smile.

Kate gave her a cold look.

Then, Regina mentioned that Paige was due soon, and they wanted to see if they could help out.

Kate was smart, and she knew this family was here for their own gain.

But they were Luna's relatives, and her granddaughter was about to be born.

She didn't want any drama at home.

"Luna won't be back for a few days, you guys can stay at the Crystal Crown Residences for now."

Kate finished speaking and called to the two men behind her, "Get cleaned up, Paige might get hungry soon, it's almost lunchtime!"

“Oh yeah, it’s almost lunchtime, I’m starving!” Randal perked up at the mention of food, “What’s for lunch?”

“The servants will bring lunch to your rooms soon. Kate strode inside, “Butler, what are you standing around for get the guests settled!”

“Kate, there’s no need for that, we can just eat with you guys!” Jennifer quickly said.

Kate gave her a glance.

This woman’s scheming was showed all over her face!

“Let’s talk about it later, we have important guests visiting today.”

Kate finished speaking and gestured for Baillie to follow her.

The remaining members of the Baldie family looked at each other, their expressions not looking too good.

“What does she mean by that?” Jordon Baldie, who had been silent the whole time, suddenly spoke, his face full of annoyance, “Are we not important guests?”

“Was that Newell that just walked by? He didn’t even notice us!” Randal complained.

Jennifer bit her lip, angrily stomping her foot, “I really don’t get it, what’s so great about Paige? She’s so much older than Baillie, and she’s got such a disgraceful past!

“It’s all that bitch Luna’s fault! Regina glared at Jordon, “Baillie and our daughter are the same age, I’ve spoken to her several times, told her not to let a good opportunity slip by, she should reconnect Baillie and Jennifer! She just doesn’t want to see our family doing well!”

Jordon’s face darkened, “Luna and her mother are both troublemakers for us!”

The butler maintained a proper distance, watching this family whispering in hushed voices.

He politely interrupted them.

“Mr. Baldie, Mrs. Baldie, shall I show you to your rooms?”

“What’s the rush?” Regina’s attitude towards the servants was clearly less respectful than towards the master.

here

She twisted her waist in dissatisfaction: “Where the heck were you just now? Why didn’t you call Baillie over with your phone? We’ve been standing here waiting for so long! As the butler of a well-off family, you’re even less efficient than our servant!”

“Sorry, Mr. and Mrs. Scott don’t really check their phones when they’re together, the butler replied.

He wasn’t stupid. He could tell that this girl Jennifer was keeping an eye on Baillie.

When she heard this, Jennifer’s face darkened even more

She was clearly annoyed and glanced in the direction Baillie had left.

From the moment she first saw Baillie, Jennifer was attracted to him.

Her mother also said that once Baillie finished school, the two families would sit down together to discuss her marriage to Baillie.

She had always believed that she would marry Baillie.

After all, if someone like Luna could marry into the Scott family, she should have no problem.

She was prettier and had a better figure than Luna!

She even told her good friends that Baillie was her fiancé

They would get married once Baillie graduated.

But last year, Baillie suddenly married another woman, causing quite a stir.

That day, Jennifer's social media accounts were almost blown up.

Everyone was asking.

She was utterly humiliated.

Then she went home to confront her parents.

Her parents hadn't expected this to happen either. Her dad called Luna.

But Luna said, "Who promised you that Jennifer would marry Baillie? Your idea is simply y ludicrous!"

Jennifer was convinced that Luna had sabotaged her.

After all, Luna was inferior to her in every way, and her father loved her more.

She hated Luna to the core.

She believed that Luna had ruined her marriage to Baillie.

With this in mind, Jennifer managed to get through the past year.

The news of Paige's pregnancy was kept a secret, Jennifer only found out recently.

She cried all night again.

Her heart was filled with hatred for Paige, whom she had never met.

Kate walked side by side with Baillie, saying, 'Baillie, I'm warning you, if you dare to do anything to hurt Paige, I'll kick you out of the house, disown you, and consider my daughter-in-law as my own daughter!'

Baillie chuckled, "Got it, mom."

"What's Luna up to? I can't even reach her on the phone! Kate had called Luna twice.

But all the calls were out of service.

“Paige said yesterday that Luna was taking her kid for a hike in the mountains today, there’s probably no signal, Baillie reassured, “Mom, it’s fine. They must be here to ask for our help, just wait for them to bring it up.”

“It’s always the same, they will only come to us when they need something. I bet this has something to do with you and Jennifer, you invited this trouble!” Kate pointed at Baillie’s arm.

Since Baillie got married, he gradually became less popular.

Kate occasionally showed him some kindness

All thanks to her darling Paige!

If anyone dared to take her baby away, she would punish that person!

Just thinking about it. Kate felt it again that Baillie’s face was the real source of trouble.

“Baillie, why not consider plastic surgery? Make yourself uglier, so you won’t stand out so much, Kate suggested, not without a hint of sarcasm.

To her surprise, Baillie actually took her words into consideration.

He shook his head seriously. No way!”

“Why? Are you so attached to your face?” Kate asked

Baillie sighed, “Mom, if I become unattractive, you wouldn’t have to worry about me drawing attention anymore, but did you ever think that my wife might leave me because she finds me ugly?”

Kate was speechless.

She suddenly remembered the first time she met her husband,

He was wearing only one shoe, covered in mud, and sitting on a large rock.

In that moment, he was so ugly that she wanted to turn around and leave, to find a divorce lawyer.

“Good point” Kate admitted, looking somewhat taken aback.

“You better!” Kate responded, looking somewhat exasperated, “God help me, I hope Paige gives birth to a daughter this time. I can’t handle any more men in this family!”

Baillie obediently held his tongue.

Suddenly, he remembered a call from Blake half a month ago, in the middle of the night.

He said that Kate’s long overdue menopause had finally arrived!

She was already irritable, but now she was even more so, and it was terrifying

Baillie looked down at his feet, at the cheap slippers Paige had ordered online.

He started to think that Paige would also reach menopause one day, and he should start preparing now to make her more comfortable when the time comes

Kate said a few more things to Baillie, but he didn’t respond, lost in thought.

Kate was speechless, and even more irritated!

They arrived at the restaurant.

Kate was feeling a headache, but as soon as she heard a soft, sweet “Kate” her worries disappeared.

Ivy ran happily towards her

“My sweet baby!” Kate hugged Ivy, “Do you like your new room?”

Ivy nodded enthusiastically, her eyes sparkling, and then whispered into Kate’s ear, “I found your secret stash of snacks.”

Kate laughed heartily and whispered back to Ivy, "That's alright, just tell me whatever you want to eat. I promise I won't let your parents find out!"

"Okay"

The two of them happily came to an agreement.

I heard that" Baillie said casually..

"Baillie, I've helped you keep secrets before!" Ivy knew that Baillie wouldn't betray their secret after hearing this.

Baillie laughed helplessly, I know"

"What are they talking about? Paige asked, looking puzzled.

"What else could it be? Kate and Ivy are plotting to eat something behind my and Wayne's backs, and your husband is under Ivy's control, Rosalynn guessed accurately from the side.

Paige was shocked and clapped her hands involuntarily

"it's time to eat, let's serve the food" Kate called the waiter

"Mom, where are Blake and Newell? Paige asked

Kate smiled and said, "Don't worry about them, you must be tired from the long journey, let's eat first!"

As soon as she finished speaking.

The father and son duo came over after freshening up

"Paige, you look really good" Newell said with a smile

Blake, as always, was serious, "Tell us what you want to eat"
