

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1751

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1751

Chapter 1751

“Dad”

by broke away from Rosalynn’s arms, ran up to Wayne, and hugged him long face, she relayed the incident where someone tried to attack Paige.

“It must scared you night?” Wayne squatted down and gently patted Ny’s back.

by nodded, choking back tears. “Thank god Liam was there, I’m too short to block that high heel

The adults present couldn’t help but laugh at this comment.

Larkin then gave Paige a once-over. “You’re okay.”

“Should we check on le too? I think he might be more startled Paige joked, holding Baillie’s hand, trying to lighten the mood gave a helpless smile. If you’re okay, then I’m not scared.”

Larkin tumed to Baillie

Wayne led by to Rosalynn’s side, the family squeezing onto a two-seater sofa.

“Where’s Max” Rosalynn gently asked Wayne.

still sleeping” Wayne replied, “Don’t let him dive again, his fur is full of all sorts of stuff”

Rosalynn chuckled.

Just then, her phone buzzed twice

A message from Jaime.

“Done”

Rosalynn replied “ok” then transferred him thirty bucks, “Here’s lunch money”

Then Rosalynn texted Paige, “Jaime has wiped all the stuff that shouldn’t be in Jordon’s phone”

Upon receiving the message, Paige looked at Rosalynn, her eyes full of gratitude

Rosalynn had taken care of the problem before she even had a chance to deal with it.

Not long after Luna left, she heard about Paige’s attack by Jennifer Without even calming down the still upset Newell, she immediately came to find Paige

Coincidentally, Luna ran into Paige and Baillie who were on their way to find her

“Why are you out here under this blazing sun?” Luna quickly scolded

“To find you” Paige replied with a big grin.

“You okay?” Luna gave her a once-over

“I’m fine!” Paige waved her hand, “Ivy, with her little boyfriend Liam, knocked the high heel that was attacking me right off, it landed straight on Regina’s head, it was so dramatic”

Baillie helplessly chimed in, “If Wayne heard about “Ivy’s little boyfriend, he wouldn’t sleep for three days.”

“He’s not here, we can whisper” Paige said in a low voice.

Seeing Paige as lively as ever, Luna was relieved, “I’m sorry for the trouble”

“What are you apologizing for!” Paige said, touching Baillie’s cheek, “It’s all because Baillie is too attractive! It’s not your fault!

Baillie looked helpless, “Just yesterday you were talking about getting me plastic surgery to make me uglier, were you serious?”

“Absolutely not!” Paige immediately objected, “Does that make sense? If someone likes my stuff, should I just destroy it? Absolutely not?”

Baillie broke into laughter. He knew Paige’s way of thinking all too well.

Luna, watching from the side, couldn’t help but chuckle, “Could you two stop for a moment, I haven’t eaten anything today, but your PDA has already filled me up

Chapter 1752

Luna, you two PDA much more than us” Parge said, chuckling. “Newell was really a stud today!”

Luna chuckled back. Truth be told, it’s the first time I’ve seen Newell lose his cool in all the years we’ve been together”

It seemed like the men in the Scott family were typically pretty calm, everyone knew that

So, even Newell can get ticked off for love!” Paige concluded succinctly

“Alright, as long as you’re okay, I’m good to go back and calm Newell down, Luna replied

“Sure!” Paige paused for a second suddenly holding Luna’s hands, “Luna, my hacker brother, Jaime, has already erased all the stuff that shouldn’t be there You don’t have to worry about anything anymore”

Luna’s eyes flickered.

Even though she had let go, she’d definitely be happier if those pictures were gone.

“Thank you” Luna said gratefully.

“It wasn’t me, it was Rosalynn who got Jaime to sort it out as soon as she heard you were being threatened; Paige quickly clarified.

Luna was taken aback. She had heard over the years that Gabriella Jared was very assertive and decisive, but cold hearted. She didn’t expect that Gabriella would help her out immediately

After a bit more chit-chat, Luna left

Paige, hand in hand with Baillie, headed back.

“Baillie,” she called out suddenly as they were walking.

“Hmm?” Baillie looked at Paige gently.

“Can you make sure your punishment doesn’t harm anyone’s life?” Paige asked softly.

Baillie understood Paige, and Paige understood Baillie. He seemed calm, but clearly wouldn’t let Jennifer off easily.

Baillie hesitated for a moment before saying, “I understand.”

“Good boy!” Paige squeezed Baillie’s hand.

She wasn’t a saint, but she didn’t want Baillie to get involved in these dirty things.

**

Considering the Baldie family’s attitude today, like Luna said to Regina, they’ll be each other’s hell in the future, living will be the greatest torment.

“So, what should we gift Liam?” Paige suddenly changed the topic.

Liam didn’t like too many thanks, but Paige still wanted to show her gratitude.

That high heel was so sharp, if they had hit her the consequences would be unthinkable.

“He doesn’t like over-the-top gifts, we can help him out when he needs it in the future, Baillie suggested.

“Great!” Paige nodded vigorously, “Liam is so gifted, he will surely go places! Maybe he’ll become a big-time businessman!”

With that, Paige rubbed her belly, “Baby, your daddy is pretty amazing too!”

Baillie couldn’t help but laugh, “Darling, what will you do if the kids grow up and follow your plans?”

“They have the freedom granted by law, what can I do? Break the law?”

Paige’s words had Baillie in stitches.

“You’re definitely the most logical person in the world!”

Although the sun was high, it wasn’t hot, basking in it felt pretty cozy

The couple continued their aimless chat as they slowly strolled home.

Chapter 1753

Molly and Felix are back.

“I was just about to call you, where did you guys go?” Mike greeted them as they walked in, “You missed a big drama”

“We got lost!” Felix exclaimed, clearly embarrassed.

“Dad, you’re the one who led us astray!” Molly retorted, looking helpless, “Mike, what happened?”

Mike quickly filled them in on the recent happenings.

Molly frowned instantly after hearing the story, “Dad, I am not going on morning runs with you anymore!”

“Come on, I promise I’ll stay off the mountain trails from now on!” Felix pleaded.

“It’s my responsibility to protect Ivy and Cory. Ivy almost got into trouble today!” Molly paused, “I should also protect the baby in Ms. Paige’s belly!” Molly’s logic was simple.

She should protect those kids!

After saying this, Molly went straight to find Ivy and Cory.

Leaving Felix alone, looking rather awkward.

“Felix, why on earth did you run up the mountain?” Mike asked, curious.

“I heard you could pick mushrooms up there.” Felix admitted, scratching his nose, “But the trails here are so confusing, I got lost after a short while.” Mike looked at him speechlessly.

Felix, such a competent hitman, got lost while mushroom picking.

If word got out, it would surely leave people in stitches.

“Did you pick any mushrooms then?”

At this point, Felix looked even more embarrassed: “I did, but when I got back, I ran into the cook. He told me only two of the mushrooms I picked were edible, the rest were poisonous!”

Mike didn’t know what to say anymore.

“Don’t look at me like that, I avoided all the colorful ones!” Felix defended himself, he thought the more vibrant a mushroom, the more likely it is to be poisonous.

Unexpectedly, white mushrooms could be poisonous too!

Mike just chuckled.

Feeling belittled, Felix challenged right away, "Why don't you come with me tomorrow then, see if you can tell which mushrooms are poisonous!" "Deal" Mike agreed, "Having helped Calvin with farming for so long, I of course know which mushrooms are edible, and which are not!"

And just like that, they made a spontaneous plan to go mushroom picking.

Molly quickly found Ivy and Cory

"Molly, where have you been?" Ivy asked, surprised.

Molly looked more disheveled than when she had left, twigs were even caught in her hair.

"I got lost during my morning run, are you okay?" Molly asked, fixing herself up a bit.

"I'm fine" Ivy assured her, shaking her head.

"That's good to hear"

Rosalynn looked out the window towards the room where the children were gathered.

"Wayne, do you think there really is a special connection between the children?"
Rosalynn turned to look at Wayne, Tvy just said she ran out to find Paige because she felt her unborn little sister was looking for her

"That's exactly what Ivy said when she ran out of the room" Wayne came up behind Rosalynn and gently held her.

Rosalynn was reminded of her near-death experience when she saw two small orbs of light that brought her back from the brink of death.

Given this experience, Ivy's behavior today seemed reasonable again

"It seems that the child in Paige's belly has a deep connection with Ivy"

Just as she was saying this, Rosalynn's phone rang. She glanced at the caller ID, her gentle expression quickly disappearing as she answered.

'Boss, I've collected everything you need, do you want me to send it directly to your email?'

"No need, find someone who has a grudge against Jordon Baldie, and give them the stuff"

Chapter 1754

At first, this matter was a family issue within the Scott family. The Scotts should've been able to handle it themselves, Rosalynn shouldn't have interfered. However, when Jennifer dragged Paige into this, the nature of the issue began to change.

As long as Jordon is alive, how Newell takes revenge for his wife Luna is his own business.

Despite the initial sour mood caused by the irrational Baldie family, the following days of the summer vacation gradually became stable and peaceful. Rosalynn had arranged her work so meticulously before leaving that, unless something major came up requiring her personal attention, she didn't really have much to worry about.

So, in the following week, Rosalynn and Wayne had a blast with the four kids.

They caught crabs in the mountain streams, and under the guidance of the Scott family's servants, picked edible wild fruits from the mountains.

The most outrageous thing was that Felix and Mike were having a contest to see who picked fewer poisonous mushrooms. When Ivy found out about this, she thought it was hilarious and promptly joined Mike's team. Not wanting Felix to be left out, Ivy forcefully dragged Molly into Felix's team. As for Cory and Liam, after careful discussion with Ivy and Mike, Felix decided that they should not be allowed to participate in the competition. The reason was simple, these two were too knowledgeable...if they joined, the game would lose its fun!

And so, they all had a jolly good week.

On the evening of the seventh day. Rosalynn received an international call.

"Should I call you Miss Rosalynn Tesdal or Miss Gabriella Jared?" The voice of the woman on the other end didn't sound young, but was very pleasant. "Whatever you want. Rosalynn felt unfamiliar, it must be someone she didn't know before.

"Let's stick with Rosalynn, after all, it was under this name that my daughter suffered till death." The woman slowly said.

Rosalynn didn't respond.

"Let me introduce myself, I am Lucia Khunban." The woman paused, seemingly gathering herself, then continued, "I am Heatherway Rosso's mother." "Hello, Ms. Khunban." Rosalynn wasn't surprised at all.

Doing the math, it has been almost two months since Hilaria started making moves against Hunt Khunban.

Mrs. Khunban calling Rosalynn at this moment probably meant Hunt was on his last legs.

111 cut to the chase, when exactly are you planning to stop pushing Hunt? The Jared family is rich in resources, you guys can't possibly not know that, the things I've done have nothing to do with Hunt!"

Chapter 1755

"Sorry, I'm not quite following you." Rosalynn's voice was cool. "But I did hear about the gang wars on your end. So? The Hunt family, who's been under the Jared family's wing for two generations, is now on the brink of collapse without our support?"

Lucia's face reddened with rage. She glanced at Hunt, who had lost an arm in an attack earlier that day.

At first, Lucia had just wanted to use Hunt for her own revenge.

But over the past couple of months, no matter how much Hunt had been oppressed or betrayed, he had steadfastly declared he wouldn't abandon her.

Lucia had loved many men in her life, but no man had loved her like Hunt had.

She just couldn't bear to see Hunt end up dead and dismembered because of her.

"If I died, would the Jared family start backing Hunt again?" Lucia asked.

Rosalynn chuckled after hearing this. "Mrs. Hunt, we've been through this plot already. Hunt rejected the Jared family's trade-off proposal"

"So what do you want me to do to spare Hunt?" Lucia demanded angrily. "Rosalynn, do you really think you're blameless? After all, Heatherway and Robert are dead, you're unscathed, and even Wayne, who disappeared, has returned! What else could you possibly want? What more do you need to vent?"

Once Lucia had finished her rant, Rosalynn calmly said, "Lucia, we're adults. You should know that everyone's current situation is their own doing. The Jared family did a lot for Hunt, but he took it for granted, even looked down on Hilaria who supported his rise to power. This is why, even without you, Hunt would lose the Jared family's support. And if Hunt crashes and burns after losing their support, gets replaced by another gang, it just shows that Hunt is essentially impotent. The Jared family won't back a useless traitor."

"Fine!" Lucia spat out viciously. "If you're not planning to leave us a way out, then we're sworn enemies. Bring it on!"

As Lucia hung up the phone, Rosalynn thought she heard a man's pained, hoarse voice on the other end, calling Lucia's name.

Rosalynn calmly dialed Hilaria after hanging up.

I'm chatting with Ivy about her little crabs. Hilaria answered, sounding cheerful.

"Ivy has really relaxed these past few days. She's been having a blast, but I'm just worried that when the vacation is over and we have to go back, she won't want to leave, Rosalynn said with a hint of helplessness.

If she likes the house that much, we can just buy one in H City." Hilaria suggested generously. "At dinner, Jaime was telling me he wants to move to a bigger estate"

"There are plenty of big estates, but that would make it inconvenient for Cory and Ivy to go to school, Rosalynn answered.

"We'll figure something out," Hilaria said, then quickly changed the subject. "You didn't call just to chit-chat, did you?"

"Lucia, Heatherway's mom, called me," Rosalynn answered.

"Lucia?" Hilaria laughed coldly. "With the way she's been talking, I thought she didn't know the meaning of the word 'fear'."

Hilaria laughed again. "She's scared of me, the stern Mrs. Jared. She knows you're a pushover, so she doesn't dare call me, only pesters you. What a wimp Rosalynn chuckled at Hilaria's sense of humor.

"Hilaria, is your end goal to kill Hunt and Lucia?" Rosalynn asked.

"I've said it before, if Hunt is willing to give up all his powers and leave Lucia, this matter could be resolved. Unfortunately, Hunt is neither willing to give up his powers nor leave his woman. He insists on playing tough. What can I do?" Hilaria's voice was cold.

Since finding Gabriella and having Cory and Ivy, Hilaria's mindset had changed significantly

In the past, would she have given Hunt a choice? Would she have let Hunt cling to life for over two months? Hilaria would have cracked down hard and dealt with it quickly.

Chapter 1756

From Rosalynn's difficult birth, her subsequent serious illness, to Cory's leukemia, to Ivy's near-death experience at the hands of Olivia Whaley... These series of events were like alarm bells ringing in Hilaria's ears.

Hilaria began to reflect on her life, and suddenly, an idea hit her.

Though her useless yet good-looking ex-husband was a dumbass, and his influence on the Jared family was big, it was hard to say whether her past cold-heartedness had brought about retribution.

Even if the possibility was one in a thousand, Hilaria didn't want her mistakes to hurt Rosalynn, Cory, or Ivy again.

Otherwise, how could Lucia possibly have the mood to complain to Gabriella?

"This issue is actually a dispute between me and the Hunt family. You don't need to get involved. I'll handle it correctly," Hilaria said softly.

Rosalynn responded, "I know. I heard from Calvin that you've been having trouble sleeping and coughing at night. After Paige gives birth, I'll gradually hand over the affairs of Bane Corporation back to Wayne, and then return to work at the Jared Group. Just hang in there a bit longer."

"Alright," Hilaria's voice softened even more, "Don't worry, I'll live a long life. I still want to see Cory and Ivy get married and have kids" Rosalynn responded with a laugh.

After chatting for a while, Calvin came over to urge Hilaria to rest, and Rosalynn hung up the phone.

The weather forecast predicted heavy rain for the day after tomorrow. The night's weather began to become stifling, making people feel depressed. Early the next morning, word of the incident in Tranquil Bay had made its way back home.

At breakfast, the news reported on the bloody event that took place in Tranquil Bay the previous night.

The local gang war had reached its boiling point.

During the storm last night, Hunt was attacked and died from an infected wound...

In the early hours of the morning, a new gang leader took over Hunt's turf, completely taking over the leadership position that Hunt and his son had held for forty years.

"Hunt finally got what he deserved," Kate said with a cold laugh after taking a sip of her coffee, "In these years, how many of H Country's merchant ships passing through Hunt's port haven't been extorted?"

"Hunt was only able to gain a foothold in Tranquil Bay thanks to Ms. Hilaria's help. These past few years, they even dare to skim some profits off the Jared Group's merchant ships!" Blake Scott said in a deep voice, "Who knows what will happen there under the new leadership."

Kate glanced at Rosalynn, who had been listening.

"Eat your food. If the situation improves, it's good for us. If it worsens... our merchant ships haven't been using that route for over a decade!"

Kate is a person who absolutely refuses to be extorted. She would rather spend more money to detour than give money to Hunt.

Hunt once sent Kate a headless turtle, bloodied.

But Kate was not an easy person to deal with. She bought two big screens in Times Square and publicly criticized Hunt, making him a hot topic online for a while

After that, Hunt no longer dared to mess with Kate.

This time... the internal conflict in the Hunt gang was obviously too sudden.

The savvy Kate could certainly sense that the Jared family was the driving force behind it all.

Spoiled dogs always try to take their gifts for granted, and the master naturally steps in to discipline.

So, Kate wasn't worried about Blake's situation, she was quite certain that Tranquil Bay would soon improve

Chapter 1757

After breakfast, Rosalynn and Erica took Paige for a walk.

Lately, Paige has been sleeping more and more, heading straight to her room for a nap the moment she gets home.

Larkin's relatives were here, and they would occasionally call on Larkin to handle some stuff.

But Erica was far from bored, she always found time to go over the accounts of her stores every day.

Her stores, thanks to her former wedding and her 16-year love story with Jacob Strand, had a steady stream of customers. The nail artists Erica hired had great taste, and she paid them handsomely. Even the customers who were just browsing or checking out new designs, were always pleased. Her stores were fully booked for the next month.

That's why Erica was a big believer in destiny. She told Paige and Rosalynn, "Even though I don't know my exact birth time, I'm certain that Larkin and I are a match made in heaven, or at least he's super good for me! I've become prettier and my reputation has improved since getting married, but most importantly, business's been great!"

Apart from managing the books, Erica spent most of her time playing with Larkin and the kids, either going up the mountain, to the riverside, or playing games. Erica, in her thirties, had a blast playing with the kids, there were no barriers at all. This made Wayne quite worried, fearing Erica would spoil the children.

“Enough with the peeping Rosalynn, having finished her work, saw Wayne vigilantly watching Erica playing cards with the kids.

“Are you done?” Wayne subconsciously wrapped his arm around Rosalynn’s waist, “Honey, can you tell Erica and Larkin to go on a honeymoon? I’ll cover the bill!”

Rosalynn laughed till her shoulders shook.

I can’t convince her, she’s here to keep Paige company. Rosalynn patted Wayne’s head, “Look at you, you’ve lost your memory and you’re still so wary of Erica?”

“All I know is I should be wary of her!” Wayne scowled as if he could squish a mosquito between his brows upon hearing this.

Rosalynn laughed even harder, “Erica is just a bit childish, but she’s very kind, she won’t spoil the kids. Come on, let’s sneak out and enjoy some alone time while the kids are not looking!”

Upon hearing this, Wayne instantly agreed, without a moment’s hesitation.

Aside from bedtime, Wayne and Rosalynn always had a bunch of people tailing them whenever they went out. They thought they sneaked out unnoticed, but in reality...

“Are they gone?” Ivy whispered to Erica.

Erica nodded, speaking bluntly. “They think we didn’t notice, Wayne was watching me like a hawk, his eyes were too intense.”

“Erica, what on earth did you do? Wayne can’t remember anything but why is he so guarded against you?” Ivy whispered.

Erica, who was just laughing her head off, suddenly remembered the most serious mistake she had ever made in her life upon Ivy’s question,

Even though her intention was to expose the bad side of Wayne to Rosalynn, it almost put Ivy and Cory in danger.

Chapter 1758

“No biggie.” Erica is really into Ivy.

Erica was afraid that if Ivy found out she almost got her killed, Ivy wouldn’t want to hang out with her anymore, so she chose to zip it.

Rosalynn and Wayne stepped out into the yard.

A light drizzle was still falling outside, and the lotus flowers in the pond were blooming delicately in the rain.

Hand in hand, Rosalynn and Wayne strolled down the ancient corridor.

“You seem to have something on your mind.” Wayne gave Rosalynn’s hand a squeeze. “Is it about Hunt?”

Rosalynn looked at Wayne and gave a small nod with a smile. “I made a decision, not sure if it’s the right one.”

“What decision?” Wayne asked patiently.

Rosalynn pursed her lips a bit. “I let two people off the hook that should’ve been taken out.”

In the thick jungle, a few armored vehicles equipped with weapons sped along the muddy road. After a long journey, they finally arrived near a border. The ride was smooth.

From the lead vehicle, a burly man in camouflage with a vicious look hopped out.

A horrific scar on his face made him look particularly ferocious.

He strode over to the middle armored vehicle and opened the back door.

The backseat window was covered with a black cloth, blocking out all the light during the ride.

The moment the door was opened, light flooded in, and the people inside looked over in fright.

Always elegant Lucia was now disheveled, her clothes stained with blood. She was cradling an unconscious Hunt, completely devoid of her usual grace. “Who are you guys?” Lucia asked.

“Ms. Gabriella asked me to tell you, you only have one shot to live a normal life with Hunt.

If you let hatred and greed make you give up on the opportunity she’s giving you, your outcome will be even worse,” the man relayed in a somewhat broken English.

“What did you say?” Lucia looked at the man in shock. “Rosalynn is letting us off?”

It was clear that he knew about the things Lucia and Hunt did. “Not letting you off, she paid us to save you from the rebels.”

After saying that, he tossed a black bag to Lucia.

“These are your new identities,” he said.

Lucia frowned, hesitated for a moment, then decided to open the bag.

Sure enough, there were two passports inside, along with bank cards and ID cards.

“Get out. Someone will meet you over there, they’ll take you to a safe place. Ms. Gabriella left some money there for you, enough for you to get by for a while”

“Why would she do this? She turned me down when I went to see her last night!” Lucia asked in a low voice.

She still had doubts, wondering if this was a trap.

I think you need to realize your situation. If Ms. Gabriella wanted you dead, it would be a piece of cake. She wouldn’t even have to lift a finger Don’t mistake people’s kindness!”

Lucia’s eyebrows were tightly knitted

“Get out the man lost his patience

Lucia glanced at him and saw that he was carrying a submachine gun. She had no choice but to comply.

Lucia gently woke up the unconscious Hunt, She helped him out of the vehicle, then under the guidance of the intimidating mercenary, they started walking forward

“Lucia, where are we now?” Hunt’s voice was hoarse “Where are the rebels?”

Chapter 1759

Lucia shot Hunt a quick glance.

If... if Rosalynn really decided to let them go, they could move to some strange place and live the life of a normal couple. That would be the best possible outcome for her.

That way, Hunt might have a chance to survive.

“No more rebellion from now on,” Lucia said softly, “Hunt, we won’t be living that dangerous, bloody life anymore.”

Hunt looked at the woman he had always loved deeply.

She had lost the vitality of her youth, her hair had turned white, and her face had more wrinkles. But to Hunt, she was no different from the girl Lucia who had burst into his life one spring.

“Hilaria...” Hunt began with difficulty

“It’s all in the past now.” Lucia’s eyes shone with tears, “From now on, we will live a normal life, without power or wealth.”

“But how can you live a normal life?” Hunt gasped for breath.

“Why can’t I?” Lucia felt somewhat helpless. She had been urging Hunt to escape, but Hunt had always refused.

It turned out that he didn’t want her to live a life on the run,

Hunt had given her everything, but she had always just used him as a tool for revenge, or a haven to escape reality. Lucia’s thoughts turned to Heatherway.

Had she been completely disappointed with Heatherway when she left the Y Country to come to Hunt?

So she chose to only care for herself and give up protecting Heatherway.

She didn’t want to make the same mistake again.

With difficulty, Lucia and Hunt crossed the border.

Mercenaries in armor stood on the other side of the border, watching them coldly.

Til repeat Ms. Gabriella’s words one more time-this is your only chance to survive, to grow old together.”

Lucia put away her tenderness for Hunt, looked up at the mercenary and said. Please also convey my message to Gabriella...”

Lucia paused for a moment.

“Thank you”

Aside from “thank you, it seemed there was nothing else to say

“If you’re really grateful, stop causing trouble. The mercenary raised his hand, pointed at his eyes with his index and middle fingers, then pointed at them. “Ms. Gabriella is my lifesaver, she’s kind, but I’m not, I’ll be watching you, if you step out of line, I’ll personally send you to hell!”

“Don’t worry, I’ll be careful!”

Once she finished speaking, Lucia helped Hunt walk towards the vehicle waiting for them.

The driver was another mercenary in camouflage.

In the back of the car, there were two moderately sized boxes. When opened, stacks of US dollars and four small gold bars were inside

This was the money that Rosalynn had prepared for them, as the mercenary had mentioned earlier.

Lucia's eyes welled up with tears.

In her most extravagant days, she would spend this much on a single handbag.

But at this moment, her emotions were uncontrollable

The person who had enabled her to survive was a former enemy

After ensuring the safe departure of the target, the mercenary sent a message to Rosalynn.

"My mission is successfully completed

Rosalynn replied, "Thank you for your hard work, your payment has been transferred "

Putting down her phone, Rosalynn looked up to see a large carp jump out of the water and take a bite of a lotus flower

Chapter 1760

To be frank, it's been about six or seven years since Rosalynn knew Wayne was getting hitched to Heatherway, and way too many lives and blood have been dragged into the whole mess that followed.

After some serious thinking. Rosalynn decided to let Lucia and Hunt off the hook, giving them a shot at a normal married life.

She hoped the whole saga triggered by Wayne and Heatherway's marriage could end on a peaceful note, without more people losing their lives. Rosalynn didn't know much about Lucia and Hunt, but she heard from Hilaria that Hunt had always been head over heels for Lucia, and that love never faded.

He was always persistent, all for Lucia

Rosalynn had a soft spot for happy-ever-after love stories. So, she decided to roll the dice this time.

Of course, if they didn't appreciate her kindness and still made a fuss, she would be helpless. After all, no good deed can save a bad souls.

"Wayne, look! Rosalynn pointed at the carp jumping to eat the lotus, "Julia Irwin told me when I was a kid, this is a sign of good luck! Is this God's way of telling me I made the right call?"

Rosalynn finished her sentence, and glanced at Wayne.

After Wayne came back, he had seen Rosalynn in many forms, but this was the first time he saw such a lively and cute Rosalynn.

He knew when Rosalynn first started dating him, she hadn't graduated from college yet. Did she have moments like this back then?

"Of course." Wayne nodded, "Even without this sign, your decision wouldn't be wrong!"

"Sweet talker, huh?" Rosalynn arched an eyebrow, then pinched Wayne's chin and leaned over, "Let me have a taste!"

With that, Rosalynn gave Wayne a peck.

But they were outside, and it's easy for people to pass by, so Rosalynn just lightly kissed him and was going to pull away But then...

Wayne suddenly pulled her waist, pulling Rosalynn who was about to leave back into his arms, and deepened the kiss.

Luna's two kids were hooked on playing with Max, and would sneak out of the house whenever they got the chance, running into Rosalynn and Wayne's yard

Today was no exception.

Halfway there, the kids saw this scene.

At dinner that night, the two kids pulled Ivy aside very seriously and said, "We saw something very serious today!"

"What?" Ivy was curious.

"Your mom and dad were biting each other!" One of the kids said with a horrified look.

Ivy looked at them speechlessly.

Im not playing with idiots" Ivy walked away with Max who just finished his meal.

Luna listened to the whole conversation from the side, laughing so hard her stomach hurt.

Later, Paige posted this in their group chat.

Rosalynn was speechless. She pushed Wayne who was busy writing

Wayne looked at the pen that flew out, looked at Rosalynn in confusion and said, "What's wrong?"

From now on, we cant kiss or hug outside, we need to keep a certain distance"
Rosalynn said seriously

Wayne looked at her quietly.

Suddenly, his temples throbbed with pain

A scene flasted through his mind

It was a hotel room.

A younger looking Rosalynn was wearing only a bathrobe, with obvious love bites on her neck

A mans cold wüace Fang Gut

Remember, you're just a stand-in, and you need to keep a certain distance from me in public, got it?"