

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1834

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1834

Chapter 1834

Larkin was on his way to find Erica when he suddenly saw a message from the Prior

“What does this mean?” Erica’s eyes sparkled like stars, “Is he taking me to meet your teacher? is your teacher willing to see me?”

“Not quite sure.” Larkin gently tapped her nose, “But Mary speaks highly of you in front of my teacher. He knows you’re a good person.” “Really?” Erica seemed very surprised

“Mary is just awesome!”

“Let’s go, we shouldn’t keep them waiting” Larkin said.

“Alright!”

Erica held Larkin’s hand again and said to him, “I want to hold your hand until we get to where there are a lot of people, then let go.

“If you want to hold my hand, it’s okay even in crowded places” Larkin replied.

Erica looked at him with surprise, “But you never hold my hand when there are a lot of people before”

Larkin looked a bit hurt.

“Erica, it’s actually you who has been keeping distance from me.”

“Did I?” Erica pondered for a moment and then realized, it might be true.

“I just didn’t want to pressure you, afraid that you would feel embarrassed to reject me, so I kept my distance.”

Enca muttered to herself.

Larkin was deeply moved by her cuteness

He gently squeezed her hand, suppressing the urge to do something more.

“You’re very considerate, but don’t overinterpret my intentions next time.”

“Alright.”

Erica found herself quite silly.

When Enca and Larkin arrived at the monastery, the Prior was about to make a phone call.

Seeing them coming, he put down his phone

“Hi” Erica greeted enthusiastically.

The Prior seemed a bit unaccustomed

“How’s Larkin’s teacher now?” Erica continued to ask.

Larkin’s eyelids drooped slightly, but the smile in his eyes was hard to hide.

“He’s okay. He went for a walk this morning” The Prior replied, “The meals are ready. You guys haven’t come for so long, I was about to call.”

“I just woke up and saw the message, so I came right away.” Larkin answered

“Alright, come in and eat!”

After the Prior finished speaking, he led the way in.

Enca and Larkin looked at each other, and Larkin gave Erica a comforting look.

They both entered the Prior’s courtyard.

The yard was very neat and had many beautiful potted plants.

“So beautiful!” Erica immediately praised when she saw the potted plants.

The Prior glanced at them and started to set the table without saying a word.

Larkin said to Erica, "The Prior is very good at gardening"

"That's amazing" Erica's praises didn't stop.

"Let's eat, the food is getting cold"

All the food in the monastery was vegetarian.

But even though it was vegetarian, the Prior's cooking skills still shocked Erica

"Mister, are you such a good cook!" Erica was not exaggerating at all

After tasting it, she couldn't stop praising!

Erica kept praising how tasty the food was, and the Prior's face turned redder and redder

"These young monks are all picky eaters. They don't like the food cooked by the chef. As their elder I can only try to make them eat better, right?" the Prior complained under his breath

Larkin chuckled and said, "Thanks to you, the rest of us were able to eat more and grow taller."

The Prior suddenly understood.

Chapter 1835

Looking back, the Prior remembered getting caught sneaking extra help to his junior brothers.

The person in charge of the Rule Hall wanted to punish him.

Larkin was outside defending him, "The food here is hard to swallow, we can't be left hungry, how are we supposed to grow taller?" Although Larkin's protest did not spare him punishment, he was not stopped from secretly helping his junior brothers afterwards.

It is said that his teacher at the time called over the monk in charge of cooking and seriously criticized him.

He demanded that he improve the taste of the food.

Indeed, looking back, that monk seemed very stubborn, the food has been unbearable to eat for decades,

“Over the years, some of you kids have gone secular, some have gone to other monasteries, and only I am left beside the teacher,” the Prior sighed softly. Enca understood his feelings very well, she said, “You and Larkin’s teacher must miss everyone a lot, right?”

The Prior took a bite of his meal, “It’s all fate. Nothing to think about.”

Enca blinked her eyes.

She was very satisfied with this meal.

She finished all the food on the table.

In the end, she was so full that Larkin had to help her out of the Prior’s yard.

The Prior’s attitude towards Erica seemed less cold, he said helplessly, “Larkin, at least teach her to eat moderately, will you?”

“Sir, the main responsibility is yours, the food was so delicious, I couldn’t resist,” Erica retorted.

The Prior was speechless.

“It’s okay, I’ll take a long walk with her.” Larkin responded with a gentle smile.

Erica waved her hand, “It’s okay, I can walk by myself, you go see your teacher.”

“No.

Before Larkin could finish his objection, Erica made a gesture for him to stop talking. What? Are you afraid I’ll get lost in my own home? Listen to me, I’ll just walk around and then go back to take a nap!”

After saying that, Enca shook off Larkin’s hand and left.

Larkin was both amused and helpless.

The Prior came back to his senses and said, “Wait, when did this place become her home?”

Larkin laughed and pulled the Prior towards his teacher's yard, "She was just saying it, don't take it to heart.

"You just let her get away with it?"

Deep down, the Prior is a person who values rules. He always felt that Erica was a bit too casual

"So what do you want me to do?" Larkin looked at the Prior, "She is the person I used to dream of, I can't refuse her requests."

The Prior's face turned red.

"I don't understand the thoughts of you worldly people! Anyway, don't talk nonsense in front of our teacher!" After saying that, the Prior quickened his pace and walked away

Larkin's eyes were full of amusement.

Erica was too full and not sleepy, so she decided to go find Mary.

When she found Mary, Enca happened to see a woman who seemed to have gone mad, push Mary to the ground.

Mary fell to the ground, taking a hard fall

"What are you doing!"

Enca immediately rushed up, picked up Mary, and then glared at the woman, furious.

"Stay away from her Mary clung to Enca's arm, pulling her away from the woman fm so sorry"

The woman's face suddenly changed, she held her head, looking very scared. "I didn't mean to, L

"You useless thing?" The next second, the woman's face changed again, becoming very fierce, saying to herself, "You keep saying sorry, all you do in your life is saying sorry, who are you apologizing toll

Erica stood there, stunned

She saw the nuns in the monastery and the woman's relatives restrain her.

Then, Enca saw the relatives take out a rope and skillfully tie the woman up.