

Chapter 371 You'll Scare Her

Nicole was surprised to see this and was delighted. This was coincidentally her favorite dessert store!

"Thanks, Michael. Take care!"

Lil Michael waved his little hands. "Bye, Pretty Lady!"

Tigger ran over and wagged its little tail.

"Bye, Lil Michael!"

In the car.

Lil Michael proudly tilted his head. "Pretty Lady is really pretty, right?"

The nanny could not help but nod. "Yeah, she's very pretty! Prettier than any of those women who want to get close to your daddy, so you need to have a sense of crisis!"

Lil Michael blinked his sapphire eyes and nodded his little head solemnly.

'Yes, I should have a sense of crisis!'

The bearded bodyguard sat aggrievedly in front.

“I thought I was supposed to go. I didn’t even get to see her...”

The nanny rolled her eyes at him.

“You’ll scare the pretty lady if you go!”

Lil Michael nodded approvingly. “Exactly!”

The fierce-looking bodyguard shrank in his seat even more aggrievedly.

Lil Michael frowned in thought for a moment. His delicate and pretty face had a rare look of puzzlement.

“We can’t keep sending the same gifts, so we’ll have to think about what to give her next time!”

The bearded bodyguard looked down and flipped the page of “Love for Dummies” that he just bought and muttered, “I thought of those gifts...”

Back at the hotel.

Lil Michael lazily tried to climb into bed, but he was picked up by Clayton.

“I heard you didn’t turn in your homework to your English teacher?”

homework to your English teacher?"

Clayton's voice had a distinctive coldness.

Lil Michael grunted and was petulant. He hugged his father's legs and buried his head in his father's thighs.

"Daddy, I'm busy chasing after my pretty lady!"

"How are you chasing her?"

"I bought her gifts!"

Under Clayton's curious gaze, Lil Michael proudly told his father about all the gifts he bought for Nicole.

When Clayton heard about the white chrysanthemums and the chunky gold bracelet, he had a funny expression on his face as he chuckled like he was suppressing some emotion. The anger he felt earlier completely disappeared.

"Good luck then!"

Clayton tousled Lil Michael's hair in a doting way.

If Nicole still did not drive Michael away after receiving all those "gifts", she was really a kind woman!

really a kind woman!

Clayton was just about to leave the room when Lil Michael asked, "Daddy, can I invite my pretty lady to your dinner?"

'Dinner?'

Clayton frowned. He then suddenly realized that Michael was probably referring to that business dinner he was planning to hold.

He had no more than five people on his invitation list, so it was very discreet.

"If you want to," Clayton said indifferently.

If it was someone else, Clayton would not have allowed it, but she was the woman from three years ago.

That was a different story altogether.

This time, Clayton's project was attracting worldwide attention. After all, it required a lot of manpower and resources. It also took a lot of connections to make this a success.

Thus, Clayton's every move was extremely secretive. Even his whereabouts were confidential.

However, there were quite a few capable people in Mediania who had a significant position in the market, such as Eric Ferguson.

Thus, Eric Ferguson was only one of many possible partners.

Stanton Corporation's ability was comparable to Ferguson Corporation, but Clayton did not take them into consideration because his butler had mentioned Stanton Corporation one too many times.

Clayton hated it when people around him overstepped their bounds to dictate the company's affairs.

If his butler overstepped again, Clayton would not care that this butler had been with him for over a decade.

For several days in a row, Clayton Sloan ignored all the appointment invitations from Stanton Corporation.

Nicole was very annoyed and did not want to accept Eric's invitation to attend Clayton's business dinner as his female

Nicole was very annoyed and did not want to accept Eric's invitation to attend Clayton's business dinner as his female companion.

However, Eric kept asking her repeatedly saying that he was willing to compete fairly with Stanton Corporation.

'Bullsh*t! If I couldn't even get an invitation, how could I even compete?'

Chapter 372 Super Cute

When Nicole came out of the office lobby, she saw Lil Michael leaning against the side of the van with a cool pose.

His delicate little face attracted a lot of attention. His sapphire eyes were very animated as they sparkled. He simply looked so cute.

'When this little charmer grows up, he'll surely be a heartbreaker...' Nicole thought.

As soon as Michael saw Nicole, he ran over excitedly and hugged her legs, then rubbed his head on the side of her thigh. His voice was soft and cute.

"Pretty Lady, I miss you so much..."

Nicole laughed speechlessly. Her heart melted.

She was not at all annoyed by the sudden appearance of this little boy. Rather, she felt an inexplicable sense of affection towards him.

"Lil Michael, I miss you too..."

Nicole squatted down to talk to him and could not help but tousle his curly hair. It felt so soft!

Lil Michael carried a big box without any brand on it and handed it to her.

“Pretty Lady, will you attend a party with me today?”

Nicole looked at him in amazement and was puzzled.

“What party?”

“Just a casual dinner. Daddy said that I could invite you...”

“Your daddy is also there?”

Somehow, Nicole had a feeling that Michael’s father was not one to be trifled with even though they did not say much the last time they met.

Lil Michael nodded his little head and looked at her expectantly with big round eyes. He said with a smile, “There are other people too! I want to introduce you to all my friends!”

‘I want everyone to know that Pretty Lady is mine!’

Nicole hesitated for a moment. Since she had nowhere to go, she thought that there

Nicole hesitated for a moment. Since she had nowhere to go, she thought that there was no harm in going. She also assumed that this was a kid's party.

Not to mention, Lil Michael was so kind to invite her.

"Okay, I'll go back and get changed."

Lil Michael excitedly pointed to the box in his hand.

"I picked a dress for you! You'll look like a pretty fairy when you wear it! Actually, you're already more beautiful than a fairy!"

This was the evening gown that he spent a lot of time choosing after the careful consideration of the opinions of his nanny and bodyguard.

Nicole was stunned for a moment. When she opened the box, she marveled at the beautiful light-colored gown.

Upon closer look, the gown had intricate stitches on the bodice that seemed to reflect the light. From a slightly different angle, the reflection of the light gave it a different visual effect.

Although Nicole could not see any brand

Although Nicole could not see any brand name, she could tell at a glance that this luxury custom-made dress was from a skilled designer.

Nicole was amazed and looked at Lil Michael with admiration.

“It’s so beautiful!”

Lil Michael proudly raised his chin with delight. His smug face was too cute.

“Of course! I knew that you’d like it!”

Nicole tousled Lil Michael’s hair. The little gentleman struggled to pull open the car door for her and even bowed slightly like a little prince.

“Get in, my princess.”

Nicole chuckled and went into the luxury van.

The interior of the van was luxuriously decorated, surrounded by some expensive limited-edition toys. It was obvious that this van was for kids.

‘Wow, Lil Michael’s really living a good life!’

The driver was separated by a privacy

The driver was separated by a privacy screen, so he could not see anything. The car was on the road for about twenty minutes before it stopped at the entrance of the Hilton Hotel.

The surroundings were very quiet. It looked like there was a road closure because no cars were coming and going.

The bodyguard at the entrance came forward and was about to stop them, but when he saw Lil Michael, who was next to Nicole, he instantly became respectful again.

Nicole thought to herself, 'Wow, why are they so strict for a kid's party?'

Lil Michael cheerfully took Nicole's hand and went inside.

Nicole found a room to change into the gown that Michael had prepared for her. The long gown was so fitting to her slender figure and highlighted her body in all the right ways. She looked so elegant and noble.

He cupped his cheeks with both hands and stared at Nicole with his big sparkly eyes.

"Pretty Lady, I think that you're super pretty! I love you!"

Nicole could not help but laugh. She thought that he was just another little fanboy that was infatuated with her.

"Well, I think that you're super cute!"
