Chapter 601

Renee felt much better after Margaret consoled her. She wiped away her tears and commanded herself to stop feeling depressed. She had to stand back up!

For the first time in a long time, she slept soundly without any external assistance such as hypnosis or piano. When she woke up, it was already past seven o'clock in the morning.

Today, Margaret and her were going to send Adie and Abby to the Monte Perry Kindergarten together.

Because it was the first day and the two kids were transfer students, there would surely be a lot of procedures they had to go through.

Renee decided to get there early.

Therefore, she immediately got up from bed. The two kids also woke up one after another.

While Renee was thinking of what healthy and delicious breakfast she should make for the kids, the doorbell suddenly rang. Renee opened the door and saw the errand runner from the other day.

"Hello, Ms. Everheart. Your breakfast is here. Enjoy."

Before Renee could ask any questions, the errand runner had already left.

Renee could only open the thermal container and take out the breakfast inside one by one.

Compared to the previous time, there was much less variety this time, but it was much more elegant in appearance and gave off an enticing aroma.

"Mommy, is breakfast here?"

Adie was still sleepy, but the moment he saw the breakfast on the table, his face immediately brightened. "It is, but are you sure you want to eat it? Have you forgotten about the painful experience last time?" That breakfast from hell still scared Renee. She did not have the courage to try it one more time.

"There's nothing to be afraid of. He's a famous chef in Beach City. It's only human to make a mistake once in a while. The breakfast this time is definitely delicious. I can already smell how good it is. Let's dig in!" Adie had high expectations of Mr. Q.

He believed that, after practicing his cooking skills for so many days, Mr. Q would surely have made some progress. "I don't dare to eat it. You can eat it if you want."novelxo.com fast update

Renee rubbed her stomach. When she recalled the taste of the previous breakfast, she almost threw up.

"Ugh, I don't dare to eat it either..." Adie shrugged.

Although he was a firm supporter of Mr. Q, he thought moral support should be enough. He did not have the courage to support Mr. Q with his actions.

After all, Mr. Q's previous cooking almost made him quit the habit of eating breakfast. Abby woke up right then. She slowly walked over in her pink rabbit pajamas.

"What a pretty cake! Abby loves cakes!"

She immediately stuffed a slice into her mouth without another word. "Abby, don't..."

Renee could not stop her in time. She could only let poor Abby become the food tester for them.

Renee and Adie stared at Abby and asked cautiously, "How does it taste?"

Chapter 602

Abby chewed the cake slowly like a kitten. Then, her big round eyes instantly enlarged and shone bright like stars in the sky. She said excitedly, "Wow, what a delicious cake! It's the most delicious cake I've ever had!"

"Really?"

Renee and Adie exchanged glances. They were still afraid to taste the cake due to their trauma. "Adie, why don't you... give it a try too?"

Adie shook his head and said, "Mommy, of course I should let you go first. I'm a filial son after all." Renee's smile was awkward. "Yes, you sure are."

She slowly picked up a slice of cake and licked it tentatively.

Surprisingly, it did not taste as "exciting" as the previous breakfast. In fact, it was quite delicious. Renee quickly finished a slice and immediately started on a second one.

Seeing that, Adie also picked up a slice and tried it out.

"It's good. Looks like that guy put in a lot of effort to improve. Not bad, not bad at all." Adie nodded while eating. His opinion of Mr. Q improved by ten points.

With her mouth full of cream, Renee looked at Adie with a skeptical expression and asked, "Tell me honestly, who exactly is this "famous Beach City chef" you were talking about? How did you meet him? Do I know him?"

"He's a friend I made. When the time is right, I'll introduce him to you..."

Adie was being very mysterious. He added, "My friend is amazing. If I introduce him to you now, I'm worried that you might fall head over heels for him immediately. But what if he has a major flaw? That would be bad. So, Mommy, please be patient for now. I promise I'll observe him carefully for you."

"For me?"

"Yeah, didn't I tell you I'll pick a husband for you? Have you forgotten already?" "Uhh..."

Renee's expression was awkward.

She did not expect the little boy to actually look for a husband for her.

In that case, she looked forward to meeting the man that her son found for her.

At least the man would have passed Adie's evaluation already. That means he had already won half the battle.

They enjoyed the delicious breakfast and departed for Monte Perry Kindergarten.

Because it was the kids' first day and they were transfer students, Renee was really worried. Even after the two kids were led into the classroom by the childcare teacher, she stood at the school gate for a long time, refusing to leave.

On the contrary, Margaret appeared very calm. She persuaded Renee, "Miss Ren, stop staring. They're gone. We've always kept Adie and Abby protected from the outside world on Sun Island. It's high time they make contact with the real world and make friends with other kids. It's also time you learn to let go."

"I understand what you're saying, but I still can't bear to part with them. My nose was sore when I watched them walk into the classroom. Will they be alright? Will they bully their classmates?..."

"Well, as long as their classmates don't do anything stupid, they should be fine. Adie and Abby know their boundaries. Even if they bully their classmates, it would be the gentle type of bullying. They won't cause too much trouble."

"You're right. Although my two babies are difficult to deal with and are very scary, they won't cause unnecessary troubles. Their classmates... should be safe."

Renee took a deep breath. She couldn't help but worry for the other children.

"Miss Ren, get back to work. Don't worry too much about them. I believe they'll adapt well."

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 603

Margaret was not as confident as she appeared. She was also worried that the kids might not adapt well or that they would get laughed at for not having a father, but she had to remain calm.

If she was anxious too, Miss Renee would become even more anxious.

"Okay, I'll get back to work. I do have something important to take care of today." Renee said goodbye to Margaret.

Renee checked her watch. There was still half an hour left before the press conference Jovan mentioned.

Major changes were coming to Beach City in half an hour. Many important figures would probably attend the press conference. Of course she would want to witness this special moment too.

Renee drove straight to the five-star hotel where the press conference was held.

Luxury cars lined up outside the hotel. Security was tight. Reporters crowded outside the cordon. Many influencers were there too, hoping the exposure would boost their popularity.

Renee's red Ferrari was very eye-catching to begin with. When she got off the car, it turned even more heads. She instantly became the center of attention.

"Look at how beautiful that woman is. Isn't she the Queen Fighter who went viral a while back?"

"She's not just the Queen Fighter, she's also the wife of H Group's CEO. Unfortunately, she was usurped by the mistress..." A daring male influencer chased after Renee while streaming on his phone.

"Hold on, chat. I'll go talk to the former wife of H Group's CEO. Let's find out why the Queen Fighter has suddenly appeared at H Group."

"Goddess! Goddess! A moment of your time, please. Can I ask you a few questions?" Renee frowned and blocked her face with her hand while saying, "Sorry, I'm in a hurry"

The male streamer blocked Renee's way and would not let her go. "It won't take up too much of your time. Please say a few words to your fans..."

"Get out of my way!"

Renee was annoyed. Her gaze was cold.

She really hated unethical influencers who would do anything for popularity like him, so she naturally would not give him the time of day.

Not to mention, the press conference was about to start, so she was indeed in a hurry.

The streamer thought that the bigger the commotion and the more embarrassing the situation, the more popular his stream would get, so he immediately shouted, "Oh, wow, the CEO's wife has quite the temper. You think you're a big celebrity or something? You won't even say hello to your fans. If you're really all that, you wouldn't have lost to the mistress. You're just an abandoned woman now, but you're still so snobbish!"

His stream's audience started hurling insults at Renee too. "Shut up!"

Renee's tone became even more impatient. She warned him, "For the last time, get out of my way!" "Nope, don't wanna. What are you gonna do, hit me?"

The male streamer spread open his arms and said to the camera, "See, chat? This is what she's really like. She's as foul-tempered as a hag. No wonder she got abandoned by her man. In my opinion, Mr. Hunt's mistress, Miss Desrosiers, is simply more gentle and more feminine than her. At least, when I met Miss Desrosiers before, she greeted me politely..."

"Chat, if she hits me, you'll have to be my witness. I'm the victim here. I..." "Get lost!"

Renee had run out of patience. She slapped the streamer and sent him flying together with his phone.

She then tried to walk into the hotel, but her action had caught the attention of the influencers and reporters there. They immediately flocked around her to snap her pictures or catch her in their streams.

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 604

Renee became even more irritated. She roared at the reporters and influencers, "I already said I'm in a hurry. Are you all deaf? Get out of my way or I'll beat you up!"

The reporters and influencers who were blocked outside the venue were all nobodies. They were an unscrupulous bunch who would do anything to get views. When they saw Renee lose her temper, they got even more excited. They kept testing her patience, hoping that she would lose control.

Renee was surrounded. She couldn't move a single step. She clenched her fists and was ready to start beating people up. A Maybach slowly pulled up. A handsome man in a suit got out of the car, escorted by security guards.

"Why are you guys bullying a weak woman like her? Come at me instead!"

The man who spoke was none other than Jovan, the protagonist of today's press conference. "It's Jovan Hunt, the rising star in the business world!"

"He's rumored to take over the H Group, which means he's about to replace Stefan Hunt as the new Supreme King of Beach City!"

"They're probably going to announce Stefan Hunt's death today. That's such an explosive piece of news. It feels like the entire world is watching right now. Whoever manages to report this hot topic first will earn enough money to retire!"

A crowd immediately switched target and surrounded Jovan instead.

The male influencer who was slapped by Renee climbed back up and complained to the camera, "Weak woman? I've never seen a weak woman who can send a grown man flying with a slap! She's clearly a female king kong!"

Renee could finally heave a sigh of relief. Even the air around her felt much fresher now.

She smoothed her long flowing hair and walked casually towards the hotel entrance without any expression on her charming face.

"Wait for me!"

Jovan, who was currently surrounded, gave an order to the security guards to push away the annoying group of reporters and influencers. He then caught up to Renee. He seemed to be in high spirits.

"I knew you would come today, but are you here for me or for Stefan?"

Jovan lowered his head and smiled at Renee while whispering at a volume that only the two of them could hear. "There's no time to talk. I'm in a hurry."

Renee glared at him, obviously not interested in talking.

Jovan not only refused to shut up, he even put his long arm around Renee's shoulder and said with a smirk, "It doesn't matter who you're here for. After today, the whole world will know about my feelings for you. If anyone dares to touch you, they'll be going up against the entire H Group. You'll be mine sooner or later!"

Renee felt a chill run down her spine. Looking at the arm on her shoulder, she warned, "Jovan, are you crazy? If you don't want me to break your arm in public, don't touch me!"

"I love how spicy you are! You're fiery, you're..." "Enough!"

Before Jovan could finish his sentence, Renee bent her arm and slammed her elbow into his stomach, causing Jovan to curl up like a shrimp from the pain. He immediately let her go.

Although he just got hit, he smiled happily like he just found money on the ground. "Hitting me is a public display of affection. Hit me harder to let the whole world see how much we're in love."

Renee felt like throwing up. She's got goosebumps all over. "You're sick!"

But Jovan was right. Their interaction immediately caught the attention of everyone there. They felt like they had discovered a massive secret.

'They're acting so intimately. Looks like the rumors might be true. Jovan Hunt has always been secretly in love with his cousin's wife!"

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 605

"Rumor has it that the two of them were in love first. It was Stefan who stole Renee away from Jovan. And now, Jovan Hunt has returned to take back his lover."

"In that case, maybe those two were involved in Stefan's death... Tsk tsk, wealthy families are so scary!" Renee could not be bothered with their speculation. She walked straight into the hotel lobby.

The hotel decoration was grand and magnificent.

There was a podium adorned with the H Group's logo. Various microphones with logos of television stations from around the world were placed on the podium. Reporters sat in chairs below the stage, while senior executives of H Group sat on the stage. Renee was not considered a senior executive of H Group, so she kept a low profile and chose a seat in the last row.

The same could not be said for Jovan. As soon as he entered, he was the center of attention. He received a warm welcome from the audience.

In addition to reporters, there were also representatives from other major companies and some wealthy tycoons. Renee even saw Geronimo Osborne there.

After all, today's press conference would affect the commercial landscape and the statuses of the major families in Beach City in the near future, so lots of big shots were invited. No one wanted to miss this wonderful show.

Renee took out her phone from her bag before the press conference started to browse today's top stories, but she immediately became furious!

The video of her slapping the influencer and the video of her "intimate exchange" with Jovan Hunt at the hotel entrance were trending on various platforms.

All the comments were flaming her. Some claimed that she had an affair with Jovan. There were even comments that claimed she conspired with Jovan to murder her ex-husband for revenge!

"Are you kidding me?!"

Renee was so angry that she felt like she was going to explode. She logged into a burner account and retaliated against the keyboard warriors.

'You guys are all blind. Can't you see that she was in a hurry? Those influencers are just online leeches. They pester her like flies in order to gain views. I think that guy got off easy with just a slap to the face. I would have kicked him!"

"Also, the woman was clearly very annoyed with Jovan Hunt. How was that an intimate exchange? Are you guys sure your eyes are working fine?"

As a result, she invited waves of attacks upon herself.

Some even pointed out that this must be Renee Everheart's account. The netizens became even more excited in flaming her.novelxo.com fast update

Renee rolled up her sleeves. She wished she could jump into her phone to fight all these internet trolls. "Renee?!"

The surprised voice of a man came from above her head.

Renee looked up, still filled with anger. It turned out to be her old friend Xavier Stuart whom she had not seen for four years! Actually, Xavier could be considered her life savior. The flames of fury in Renee's heart were instantly extinguished.

"Xavier! You're here too!"

Renee was happy to see an old friend. She greeted him with a smile.

Xavier's handsome face was filled with various emotions. He was shocked, he was surprised, but more than that, he was moved. Tears welled up in his eyes. "Renee, you're finally willing to show yourself again. I thought... I'll never get to see you again!"

'Tell me honestly, where have you been in the past four years? Stefan and I searched almost every corner of the world but we couldn't find any traces of you..."

Xavier sat down next to Renee and asked.

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 606

"I was wondering who the person that has been constantly sniffing for my traces over the years was! That IP was like a virus, I intercepted it time and time again. So it was you... my savior."

Renee's red lips curled into a smile as she looked at her old friend.

Who knew that there was still an old friend in the vast Beach City who still cared about her. She was touched.

'You call me your savior, but you hid from me for four years, making me worry about you for four years. Is your heart made of stone?"

Seeing the woman who had become more charming, more attractive, and more elusive than before, Xavier's emotions were complicated.

After all, this was the woman who once made his heart race and the woman he risked his life to save. Even if it was impossible between them, she still held an important spot in his heart.

Rather than saying that he and Stefan had searched almost every corner of the world for Renee all these years, it would be more appropriate to call it his personal obsession.

Stefan had long given up on finding Renee. It was Xavier who tried any method he could think of to look for Renee like a man possessed.

Some time ago, when he learned that Renee had returned to Beach City, he was already looking forward to meeting her, but the opportunity never arose.

Who could have known they would reunite under such circumstances?

"Let's talk about something more serious. Do you know what the top executives of H Group are thinking? Why are they appointing an incompetent guy like Jovan Hunt as CEO? Are they trying to destroy the company?"

Renee changed the topic. She wanted to see if she could extract some useful information from Xavier.

Xavier lazily leaned back on the seat and crossed his legs. He looked at Jovan, who was sitting on the stage, with a strange smile. "Who knows? Stefan told me before that the H Group may seem impregnable from the outside, but it has actually started to rot on the inside. Various factions are constantly fighting against each other. The situation is as intense as the political struggles in the ancient empires. Maybe Jovan is just the dog of a certain faction. While Stefan's power is weakened, they push Jovan out to be their puppet, just like the puppet leaders in ancient history. He may seem powerful, but he's just a puppet, so he's actually powerless!"

Renee immediately noticed the key point. She asked, "Are you sure Stefan is just weakened?" "What else could it be?"

"Haven't you paid any attention to the rumors?"

Renee carefully probed, "The rumors say Stefan's already dead. The Hunt family claims he's dead too. They've even chosen a grave for him and are just waiting for a suitable day to hold the funeral now, so..."

"Are you saying that Stefan is dead?"

Xavier turned to look at Renee. His smile deepened. "Isn't he?"

Don't tell me he's still alive?"

"Honestly, I don't know. I haven't received any news from him for many days. It's like he's completely vanished from the world..."

Xavier let out a long sigh, then asked Renee, "But I'm curious. Do you wish him to be dead or alive?" Renee, who talked like a chatterbox a moment ago, suddenly went quiet.

Xavier would not let it rest. He sat upright, looked her right in the eye, and asked, "We're good friends, aren't we? Then tell me this - You two parted on bad terms and you disappeared for four years, but now you've suddenly come back. Did you come back to start over with him?"

"No way!"

Renee said coldly, "The first reason I came back is because Beach City is the hometown I grew up in, so I have feelings for this city. The second reason is because I want to take back the things I lost. I want to redeem the Everheart family's tarnished reputation and make the Everheart family one of the eight major families in Beach City again. I want to make the people who once hurt the Everheart family pay!"

Her gaze was fierce and tenacious. She was like a thorny rose, beautiful and captivating, but dangerous.

'Tsk tsk, how ambitious. But are you really gonna compete with those ruthless and cunning old foxes for territory? I'm afraid a weak woman like you will be eaten alive before you can even get into the game..."

Xavier expressed concern for Renee.

Although he had seen what she could do, it would not be easy to bring a downfallen family back to glory. Out of the eight major families in Beach City today, which one could she afford to mess with? She, a lone woman, wanted to carve out a place for herself? It would be extremely difficult!

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 607

"A weak woman?"

That made Renee laugh. "They should pray that they don't lose all their teeth when they try to eat me alive!" "Nice.

Your courage is commendable. I'll give you a round of applause."

Looking at the confident Renee, Xavier almost overflowed with admiration.

"To be honest with you, the only person I'm afraid of in the entire Beach City is Stefan Hunt. But now that Stefan is gone, those old fools are destined for defeat."

She knew her words were very arrogant, but it was not without reason.

'That means you're hoping that Stefan's dead for real. Tsk tsk... Poor Stefan. He's so sincere to you, but you want him dead." "Sincere?"

Renee snorted. "How could you utter a blatant lie like that? Stefan's sincere to me? Would you want that kind of sincerity?"

"I know you have a lot of resentment in your heart, but Stefan has his own difficulties too. There are some misunderstandings between you, and those misunderstandings have been brewing inside you for four years.

Neither of you wants to let it go, but..." 'That's enough!"

Renee impatiently interrupted Xavier and sneered, "He's already dead, so these things are meaningless now. Talking about them will just reopen old wounds and make me feel the pain again..."

"What if Stefan comes back from the dead? Would you be willing to give him another chance?" Xavier asked one more time.

He's probably not the only one who was curious about the answer. Stefan would be curious too. Renee remained silent for a moment, then said firmly, "No!"

She had only made peace with Stefan because he was dead.

If he were to come back to life, she would feel like a clown that he could fool anytime he wanted. Her hatred for him would only deepen.

"Fine. The relationship between you two is way too complicated. We outsiders can't help you even if we wanted to." Xavier sighed and shook his head.

"Why do you keep asking me that? What about you? I heard that your love life has been pretty bumpy in recent years. Shirley White has you completely under her spell. I heard you did a lot of things for her that you normally wouldn't do."

Renee joked.

She would occasionally read entertainment gossip when she was bored, and Xavier was famous for his high-profile acts to make his girlfriend happy.novelxo.com fast update

The most famous one was him booking the entire Time Plaza, which was a famous landmark in Beach City, and covering the entire plaza with red roses to celebrate his girlfriend's birthday. It made lots of women envious.

He was so famous that even Leia would often gossip about him.

However, unlike other women, Leia was not envious. She would always laugh out loud when she talked about him, saying that Xavier was a fool.

"Sigh. I don't feel like talking about those embarrassing things. In short... I've fallen for her hard!"

Xavier awkwardly coughed a few times and said, "I'll tell you the details when we have time. I'm in a real dilemma."

At that moment, the press conference officially began. Jovan finished up his socializing and took his seat at the very center.

Alexander, Stefan's father, suddenly stormed in. He pointed at Jovan and yelled, "You shameless rat! Get up! You don't deserve to sit in that position!"

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 608

It caused a huge uproar. The cameras flashed non-stop. The major drama that everyone was eagerly anticipating had arrived surprisingly quickly.

Renee and Xavier also stopped chatting to focus on the stage.

Jovan did not panic. His thin lips curled into a smile as he bowed and gestured an invitation to Alexander. "You're right, Uncle Alexander.

Although you only have shares but no real power in H Group now, you still have the highest status in the entire Hunt family outside of grandpa's generation. Since you're here, of course you should take this seat instead.'

Alexander had no intention of putting on an act with Jovan. He accused Jovan in front of all the reporters. 'Do you think I'm only referring to that seat? You did so many dirty things while the H Group was in chaos. In ancient times, you would be like a thief usurping the throne. It's a crime punishable by execution!"

"Your words are too extreme, Uncle Alexander. After Stefan met with an accident, the H Group became leaderless, so I rushed back from overseas as quickly as I could to stabilize the situation. As for the subsequent decision made by the board of directors, I'm sure it was made after careful consideration. For the sake of the big picture, I can only comply."

Jovan spread his hands helplessly, as if he usurped the throne out of kindness.

If Alexander's anger level was at seven out of ten before this, it had now jumped to ten out of ten. "You cunning bastard, still trying to act like you're the good guy. In that case, tell everyone whose decision it was. You must have spent every penny you had on bribes."

Jovan smiled and said no more. Instead, he looked over at several board members. The oldest one among them was Barry Brown.

His father had served under General Everheart on the battlefield and later assisted General Everheart in founding the H Group. He also joined the H Group and was one of the six members of the board of directors. He had always been loyal to Stefan and held a high position in the company.

But today, he did not behave as he usually did. He told Alexander, "Alexander, since you've already retired, you shouldn't interfere in the H Group's decisions anymore. You have plenty of shares, so just sit back and wait for the dividends."

'There are a lot of reporters here today. Be more considerate of the H Group's image. How can you, as an elder, argue with your nephew like this? It's unsightly. Sit down and stop making a fool out of yourself."

Alexander snorted and said, "Barry Brown, now that's a surprise. You used to be the Uncle Barry that Stefan trusted and respected the most. He entrusted you with so many important business matters, but now you..."

"Things are different now. Pursuing benefits and avoiding harm are merely animal instincts. I merely made the most logical choice. There's no use trying to persuade me. It wouldn't change anything."

The conversation between them conveyed a large amount of information. Watching from below the stage, Renee was initially angered, but she then sighed with emotion.

"I can't believe Uncle Barry would say that. He's always been one of Stefan's confidants, but now..."

"These things are normal. Even lizards would sever their tail to survive. Humans have to learn to protect themselves too. Stefan is already a thing of the past. You would be a fool to still remain in Stefan's faction."

Xavier said without much emotion.

Renee became even angrier. "I don't agree with your nonsense. If you have to pick a side in order to survive too, would you betray Stefan and choose to collude with a villain like Jovan?"

Xavier shrugged with a smile. "It's hard to say. I've never been in such a situation before, so I'm not sure what I would do."

"Hmph, Stefan would be stirring in his grave if he knew that. If it were me, once I chose someone, I would always be loyal to them and I would never betray them, even if it might endanger my life!"

"Are you feeling indignant on Stefan's behalf? Of course you're taking your husband's side... Looks like you still have feelings for him. If he knew, he would definitely feel so happy that he would come back to life."

Xavier joked.

Chapter

609 'That's not it!"

Renee denied it coldly. "That's just my moral principle. It has nothing to do with him." The press conference continued under the supervision of the staff.

A representative from the H Group's PR Department showcased to the media the company's ongoing projects, financial power, and organizational structure.

Finally, the PR representative enthusiastically told the media, "The H Group is about to embark on a new journey. Let's welcome Mr. Jovan Hunt, the new CEO jointly selected by the board of directors and the major shareholders of H Group, to give us a speech."

The venue suddenly erupted with enthusiastic applause. The atmosphere was even more enthusiastic than when Stefan held a press conference in the past. It was heartbreaking to watch.

Jovan talked eloquently in front of the media.

'The H Group is currently facing an unprecedented crisis. For the future of the H Group and the entire Beach City, I took on the responsibility of CEO at the company's darkest hour..."

Suddenly, Xavier stood up, looked directly into Jovan's eyes, and challenged him. "Isn't the CEO of H Group Stefan Hunt? Under his lead, the H Group thrives every year. How can you just take over? Did he agree to this?"

Jovan smiled and said, "Master Stuart has hit on a key point. I'll take this chance to explain to everyone in detail."

"First of all, I took over the position of H Group's CEO after a vote by the board of directors and all the shareholders. Among the six members of the board of directors, three voted in favor, one abstained, and two voted in opposition. More than half the shareholders were in favor of the decision made by the board of directors. Therefore, my appointment as CEO is something the majority of the company wanted."

"Hah, that's hilarious!"

Xavier rebutted, "If I remember correctly, Stefan Hunt himself is the H Group's largest shareholder. If what you said is true, did Stefan vote against himself or something?"

"Very good, Master Stuart. You've asked the key question again, which I believe is also the issue that the media are the most concerned with. Why would my cousin, Stefan Hunt, vote against himself?"

Jovan paused, causing everyone to hold their breath.

Strictly speaking, the matter was no longer a secret. Rumors had been circulating outside for a while now, but everyone was still waiting for the official statement from the H Group.

Only after the official statement was made could the official media report on it.

My cousin Stefan has always been outstanding. Some even see him as an omnipotent god. However, he's just a human after all, and not a god..."

Jovan said in a somber voice, "I believe all of you have heard rumors of Stefan's death recently. Today, on behalf of the H Group, I regret to inform you that Stefan Hunt has encountered an accident during his recent business trip and has passed away."

The cameras flashed incessantly. The press conference had reached its climax. At that moment, a voice sounded out that caused the entire place to go crazy.

"Who says I'm dead?"

Chapter 610

Everyone looked towards the direction the sound came from, including Renee.

She saw Stefan's tall figure casually walking into the venue like a deity.

Originally, Jovan was the center of attention, but as soon as Stefan appeared, he immediately became the side character, like a piece of glass compared to Stefan's diamond.

The place exploded. The atmosphere, which had reached a climax before this, became even more intense. The sounds of shutters and flashes were deafening.

"N-No way! Stefan Hunt?! But you're already..."

Jovan went pale, like he had just seen a ghost. He slumped down in his chair, devoid of his earlier energy and enthusiasm.

Stefan's gaze at Jovan was as cold and sharp as a dagger. He said, "You seem disappointed, Vice-CEO Hunt."novelxo.com fast update

The senior executives and shareholders sitting to the sides showed various reactions. Some were happy while some were not.

Those who supported Jovan had their backs pressed against their seats. They sweated profusely and found it hard to breathe.

Meanwhile, those who defended Stefan even after his death were so excited that tears welled up in their eyes.

"Mr. Hunt, we knew you'd be alright. Unfortunately, some people were simply too impatient. The moment they heard about your accident, they couldn't wait to put a useless person in charge. It's obvious what they're plotting."

Stefan smiled and said, "We're all adults; we all have the right to make our own choices. However, if we make the wrong choice, we have to bear the consequences... Am I right, Uncle Barry?"

Barry's face was unsightly. The cold sweat on his forehead kept dripping down along his gray hair, wetting his shirt.

From the moment Stefan "came back from the dead", he knew that he was powerless to turn the tables in this game of chess. He had lost completely.

"That's right, if we're willing to gamble, we must be willing to pay the price. Do what you will!"

Barry's face turned as pale as ash. He completely gave up.

Jovan was still sitting in the CEO's seat. He glared at Stefan with fierce hatred in his eyes and said through gritted teeth, "Incredible, simply incredible. Like a phoenix reborn! It's my loss."

The grin on Stefan's cold, handsome face was full of mockery and disdain. "My tactics are actually very conventional. It's you and those fish behind you that were too hungry. The moment you saw the bait, you jumped on it without hesitation, giving me the opportunity to catch all of you in one fell swoop."

Alexander urged Stefan, "Stef, there's no need to waste time talking to these traitors. We've already collected evidence of their illegal activities. Just ask the security guards to turn them over to the police."

"The H Group managed to remove all the tumors in one go thanks to your ingenious plan. I know it's been hard on you. As expected of my son. I'm proud of you, and the entire H Group is proud of you."

Alexander was very excited. He patted Stefan's shoulder proudly.

After that, several security guards came and took Barry Brown and the others away, leaving only Jovan behind.

Jovan could assess the situation. He offered his seat to Stefan, turned to the crowd, and said, "Let us welcome the miraculous return of Stefan, the CEO of H Group. As the Vice CEO of H Group, I can finally relax. After all, the higher the position, the more work there is. I'd rather be a useless person and let my excellent cousin Stefan do all the work."

Stefan sat down like a king. His gaze swept across the entire venue. He said calmly, "I'm sorry to make everyone worry. I went abroad for a while to heal up from a physical condition, but that actually gave some villains the opportunity to take advantage of the situation. However, everything's fine now. After this major purging, the H Group will usher in a new era. I will continue to serve as the CEO of H Group, leading the company to new heights..."
