Chapter 66

“How... do you want me to make you feel better?”

Renee asked earnestly, her back pressed tightly against the seat, her eyes innocent and clear.

Honestly, she didn't know how to feel.

She should have felt elated and vindicated to see the man in this predicament. Yet, seeing how sad he was, she felt a little bad.

“The best way to forget someone is with time and a new love. I have plenty of time. But a new love...”

Stefan stared at her intensely. He lifted her chin slightly with his long finger and said in a low voice, “Everyone said that you're a better version of Cecilia Smith. How about you become her substitute for a few minutes and give me a comforting kiss?”

He closed his eyes. His pronounced facial features were perfect, as if they were sculpted. His thin lips slowly moved closer to Renee.

No woman could refuse such a handsome face.

The old Renee would have fallen for it too...

But now, her mind was crystal clear. Her fists tightened. You want me to be a substitute?!

In your dreams!

Renee gathered her strength, preparing to drop him to the floor.

Suddenly, her keen ears detected an unusual sound in the quiet car. “Don't move!”

Stefan opened his eyes. It was obvious from the look in his eyes that he wanted more. “You're resisting me?” “Stop it!”

‘s something wrong with your car!”

San instantly became alert. His face became serious again. “Can't you hear that? Something's beeping...”

Stefan frowned. He held his breath and listened attentively.

Sure enough, there was a beeping sound coming from the bottom of the driver's seat.

Renee swallowed hard. She found it hard to breathe. “If I'm guessing correctly, there's a ticking time bomb in your car!” “What did you say?”

Stefan's face stiffened.

He was losing his composure.

He wanted to get up to check, but Renee pushed him back down. “Do you want to die? I told you not to move!”

Stefan, who was used to being in control, was being ordered around by a young woman for the first time in his life. But, surprisingly... he didn't dislike it.

He cleared his throat and remained in his seat as she told him too, then asked, “Okay. What do we do now?” “What else? We're gonna dismantle the bomb!”

First, Renee took a deep breath to calm herself. Then, relying on her past experience, she carefully slid over to the driver's seat and bent down to inspect the situation.

It was supposed to be a dangerous and tense moment, but Stefan was a bit distracted. That's because her posture at the moment was way too distracting.

Her beautiful hair dropped down like a waterfall, giving off a soft fragrance. Her petite body moved like a nimble doe...

Stefan's mouth felt inexplicably dry. He gulped and quickly turned away to look out of the window.

Renee did not notice Stefan's unusual behavior. She was too busy inspecting the bottom of the seat.

There was indeed a time bomb under the driver's seat. It was the size of a fist with a timer

1. on. There was still two minutes before the countdown reached zero.

ately, the bomb had a very simple design. There were only three wires – red, yellow and blue. To her, this bomb might as well be a toy. She could already deal with something like this back when she was a kid.

Stefan asked in a serious voice.

“We have two minutes left. Hand me a pair of scissors.”

Renee lay there calmly and stretched her hand out towards him.

Stefan always kept tools like scissors and knives in his car. He rummaged around for a pair of scissors and placed them in Renee's hand.

He wanted to see if the young woman could actually dismantle a bomb.

Renee took the pair of scissors. She carefully checked the bomb's wiring in an extremely difficult pose.

She must find out which wire to cut in the shortest time possible.

“Beep, beep, beep...”

Seconds passed. Stefan's face was grim. He was finally starting to feel afraid. It's not like he was afraid of death; he was just afraid that Renee might get hurt.

Seeing that two minutes had already passed but Renee was still crouching down, Stefan asked with clenched fists, “Have you dismantled it?”

“I've done it like a minute ago.” Renee's voice was calm.

Stefan finally breathed a sigh of relief. Then, he immediately asked, “Wait, a minute ago? Why didn't you say anything?!”

Renee tried to hold back laughter as she explained, “I was afraid something might go wrong still!”

Hahaha, in truth, she just wanted to play a prank on him.

Because it was the first time she ever saw the normally arrogant and proud Master Hunt looking scared. Unfortunately, she was in an awkward posture, or she would have snapped a picture!

Stefan, being as sharp as he was, immediately caught Renee holding back laughter and instantly understood what happened. “How dare you! You're gonna pay for this!”

ried to flick Renee's head with his long finger.

Renee ducked back and mocked him, “You need better social skills. Why do so many people want to kill you?..."

"So, I saved you once again. Is this how you repay someone who saved your life?" As they bickered playfully, an ambiguous emotion filled the air.

Both of them realized at the same time that they had crossed a certain line.

Stefan cleared his throat and changed the subject. "You can actually dismantle bombs?"

"Of course. Don't you know who my grandfather is? When girls my age were still playing with dolls, my grandpa had taught me to disassemble guns and introduced me to all kinds of weapons!"

Renee spoke of her grandfather with pride and nostalgia. "I see."

Stefan found it hard to believe at first, but when he recalled that she was the granddaughter of the famous General Everheart, he thought it made sense.

The top student of a famous school, an expert gamer, and a bomb dismantler. What other things had he yet to discover about this woman?

Renee suddenly realized that they were in a very awkward position. She tried to get up, but suddenly, she felt a sharp pain in her stomach...

Chapter 67

Stefan noticed her discomfort and asked, "What's wrong?"

"Nothing, just a little cramp because I crouched down for too long." Renee endured the discomfort and returned to the passenger seat. She must be careful not to let Stefan find out about her pregnancy.

Upon returning home, Renee could not endure it anymore. She immediately lay down on the sofa and did not dare to move.

She took out her phone and called Liam. "Come here and take me to the hospital right now! Liam drove Renee to the nearby hospital in his super expensive sports car as fast as he could

After a series of examinations, Renee was placed on a hospital bed to wait for the examination results.

Liam paced back and forth restlessly. He was so confused. Why was Renee in the obstetrics department?

He finally received the answer when the examination results came out. He was petrified. "What the hell... six weeks pregnant?"

The doctor pushed his glasses and told Renee and Liam, "What are you guys doing? This is a crucial period in the pregnancy. The babies are very fragile right now. You, please look after yourself better! And you should look after your wife better!"

"The results of the examination show that there's a risk of an early miscarriage, but the problem isn't too severe. You just have to stay in bed for a few days and get some oxygen."

Renee was relieved to hear that the babies were alright.

"Thank you, doctor."

The nurse put Renee on the ventilator, gave her some instructions, and left. Renee and Liam were now alone in the ward.

Liam could not hold it in any longer. He asked in a rush, "What the hell, boss? I haven't seen you for a few days and suddenly you're pregnant?! Who's the father?"

Renee rolled her eyes. "Who do you think?"

When Liam heard that, he instantly understood. He tightened his fists in anger.

"Damn that 1/

Stefan Hunt! What a bastard! He impregnated you, then immediately took in his lover and forced you to get a divorce?! I won't stand for this!"

"Does he think we're pushovers? I'll go confront him right now!"

Seeing that Liam was threatening to go fight Stefan, Renee shouted at him, "Get back here!"

"He doesn't know I'm pregnant, and I don't want him to know. It's over between us. After getting the divorce certificate, my babies and I will have nothing to do with him anymore, so understand?" go and make things complicated. Do you don't

Liam tried to suppress his anger. After a while, he growled, "Fine. Dump the father and keep the babies. That scumbag's unworthy of being the babies' father!"

"You and I are the only ones who know about this. I don't want a third person to know." "Don't worry, this is a secret that belongs only to you and me. I'll protect it to the grave." Liam said earnestly and resolutely.

No matter how much he wanted to seek justice for Renee, he would unconditionally support whatever decision she made. "Thank you, Liam."

Renee was touched. She knew Liam would understand her.

He was always someone she could trust, someone she could put her guard down around, someone she could rely on.

The accident this time made Renee more keenly aware of the fact that she did not have much time left.

She managed to bluff her way out this time, but if things like this kept happening, Stefan Hunt might actually find out. Then, she would be in trouble.

Therefore, she must make all the arrangements as soon as possible.

The most important matter was to make sure the "Azure Group", which was under her direct control, get on the right track. "Liam, have all the companies that terminated their contract with H Group signed a contract with our Azure Group?"

"Can we get an appointment with the person in charge?"

"No problem. He may be difficult to deal with, but my name of Master Osborne still holds some weight around here.” “Good. Please make an appointment so that I can talk to him.”

After the discussion, Renee lay down to rest.

The next day, the doctor came for an inspection. There was no problem with the babies and Renee was discharged. Liam, like a knight, helped escort Renee out of the hospital. 1

They did not notice a camera aiming at them in the distance, snapping picture after picture.

Chapter 68

After a few days of rest, Renee's body completely recovered.

She brought the law firm share transfer contract to H Group to get Stefan to sign it.

H Group had a serious atmosphere today. A security cordon had been set up outside the building. Supposedly, an important person was visiting the company with guests. Many reporters had heard the news and were waiting outside.

Renee was stopped outside the cordon. She had to wait until the visit was over before she could enter the building.

She saw Stefan in the distance. He was in a black suit. He was standing in the center of the building, gracefully and calmly taking a group photo with the visitors.

Stefan's handsome face and cold eyes gave him a naturally regal air. He was always extremely attractive. Suddenly, a commotion rose in the crowd.

“Let me in! Don't you know who I am?”

A man was struggling to break through the cordon to get to Stefan. Elon Barnes!

Renee's brows furrowed and her fists tightened.

Elon Barnes, like a thug, shouted in Stefan's direction at the top of his lungs, “Nephew-in-law! Nephew-in-law, look over here! I'm Renee's uncle! I have no choice but to come to you! You can't ignore me!”

The voice immediately drew the attention of the reporters. They all turned their cameras towards him.

Embarrassing!!

Renee walked over with clenched fists and a cold face and yelled, “Shut up, Elon! Do you have no shame?”

“Renee! You're here too! That's great! Tell your husband to come here. We'll rediscuss the distribution of assets!”

your family. I can't watch you get bullied in this divorce and not do anything about it!”

Elon Barnes said that loudly without any shame, hoping to attract everybody's attention.

He knew H Group had an important event today and all the major media outlets would be here. He wanted to say stuff to pressure Stefan in order to wring a sum of money out of him!

Renee felt so embarrassed.

But more importantly, if Stefan felt offended by this, he might intentionally make things hard for her in the share transfer, and that would be problematic.

“I'm warning you, Elon, get lost right now or I'll call the police!”

Elon Barnes, wishing to cause as big of a scene as possible, roared, “You seeing this, everyone? My niece completely changed after marrying into a rich family! She said she'll call the police to get her uncle arrested! Do you think this is right?”

Stefan, who was not very far away, had already noticed the commotion in the crowd.

Normally, Stefan would not even bat an eye at something like this. He would just let the security guards handle it.

However, he saw Renee's petite figure among the crowd. His eyebrows slightly furrowed.

Meanwhile, Renee had reached a boiling point.

She had always found people who had no shame to be much harder to deal with than bad people. If you argue with someone who had no shame, you would just end up stooping to their level.

“Elon Barnes, for the last time, get lost!”

Renee refused to argue with him any further. She started dragging him away. “No! I'm not leaving until Stefan gives me a satisfactory answer!”

After Elon Barnes said that, he pushed Renee away, hard.

Because Renee was trying to protect her babies, she lost her balance and fell straight back.

Next thing she knew, a man's strong arm was tightly holding onto her slim waist. Her back did not hit the cold ground but fell into a warm embrace instead.

Renee turned around and met the man's eyes. Stefan Hunt!

Chapter 69

Stefan's strong aura caused Elon Barnes to shrink back a little.

However, with so many cameras aiming at them, he did not think Stefan would dare do anything funny!

"What else could I want, my nephew-in-law?"

Elon cleared his throat and said loudly, "My niece has been your wife for many years. She has always been a responsible wife. Now that you want to dump her, all you're giving her is a stupid law firm? How is she supposed to live from now on? Considering how rich the Hunt family is, surely you don't have to be so heartless?"

His words caused an uproar in the crowd. The reporters frantically pressed their shutters. L

"My niece is timid and has a thin skin, so she begged me the whole night to help her fight for what she deserves..."

"I'll keep it simple. Give us $7 million and we promise to disappear from your life completely!"

Elon could hardly wait to extort Stefan.

"Elon Barnes, shut the hell up!"

Renee said through clenched teeth.

His words had dragged her reputation through the mud. She wished she could tear him into pieces!

Renee stole a careful glance at Stefan. She thought he would be furious, but... he was actually quite calm. Still the same emotionless face that kept everyone at bay.

He stood tall like a celestial being, giving off a sense of oppression. He turned slightly and said, "Elijah, take him to the finance office."

Then, he simply walked away.

That... that's it?

Elon swallowed hard. He could not believe it was that easy to earn $7 million.

Before he came, he was afraid that Stefan would be difficult to deal with, so he had even prepared a small knife, intending to put up an act of harming himself to threaten Stefan.

Had he known that his niece-in-law was this generous, he would have asked for more!

After taking a few steps, Stefan suddenly turned back and looked coldly at Renee, who had stood rooted to the spot with a confused face. He asked, "Aren't you coming?"

+15 BOHUS

Renee jolted back to her senses and quickly followed behind him.

Stefan went back to the visitors with Renee in tow and calmly introduced her to them.

Renee quickly calmed down and greeted the visitors. The way she carried herself with elegance and dignity drew praise from them.

They took a photo together, talked for a bit, and happily concluded the visit.

Renee could finally heave a sigh of relief. Thankfully, the crisis was averted,

If Elon Barnes had messed up the visit due to the scene he caused, she would have felt so bad, not to mention Stefan might make things hard for her.

Renee and Stefan stepped into the CEO's private elevator. As soon as the elevator door closed, all pretense of love and harmony between them dropped. Neither of them spoke. The atmosphere was awkward,

While the elevator climbed, Renee stole a secret glance at Stefan.

His face was as cold as ice. It was scary!

Renee guessed that he was probably mad. After all, Elon Barnes' embarrassing actions earlier would probably have a negative impact not only on his reputation, but on H Group's as well.

"Umm

She cleared her throat softly and said, "I'm sorry for what happened just now. Elon Barnes is a rat. Please don't give him the $7 million he asked for or he'll just keep coming back for more!"

Stefan's face was chilly. Without even looking at Renee, he said coldly, "If you're dissatisfied with the alimony, you could have just told me directly instead of doing things in such a roundabout way."

So he really had misunderstood her!

Renee could not find the words to retort. She thought hard about how she should explain it to him so that he would believe her.

The elevator arrived at the floor where the CEO's office was, and Stefan strode out.

A handsome figure was standing next to the french window in the corridor. At the moment, he was looking at them with half a smile on his face. "Mr. CEO, you're finally done with business. Do you have time to talk to me now?"

When Renee saw who it was, she suddenly felt the urge to run away.

Tsk, it never rains but it pours!

Chapter 70

Haze looked at Renee casually with his hands in his pockets and said pointedly, "What a coincidence. You're here too, Mrs. CEO's wife. A wonderful show is about to begin. Why don't you stay for the show, seeing that you're one of the main protagonists?"

Renee was not stupid. She naturally heard the hidden meaning in Haze's words.

It looked like his threat to expose her as Phoenix if she refused to work with him was not just an empty threat, but a real one!

Before Stefan transferred the law firm's shares to her, her identity as Phoenix must remain a secret!

"The famous Haze! I've long been an admirer of your skills. Could I perhaps have a quiet word with you?"

Although it looked doomed, Renee was unwilling to give up. She decided attempt a desperate Hail Mary.

You never know, Haze might take mercy on her plight and give her a chance.

“Of course.”

Haze’s long, narrow eyes shined with a glint of cunningness as he said with a smile, “Since the CEO’s wife personally requests it, who am I to refuse?”

Therefore, they both turned towards Stefan, who was standing between them.

The meaning was clear: Please step away for a moment.

Stefan’s already cold face was now covered in frost.

“You have five minutes.”

After telling Haze that with disdain, he walked into the CEO’s office without giving them a second glance. The cold air about him made him look like a walking iceberg, leaving a chill in its wake.

As soon as Stefan was gone, Renee dragged Haze to a dark corner, grabbed his throat with her ng fingers, and fiercely pushed him against the wall. She said, “I warn you, you better not mess around. If you dare reveal my identity, I can’t promise I won’t break your neck!” (1)

Haze was not scared at all. In fact, his eyes were sparkling with excitement. “Who would have thought that the great Phoenix isn’t only good at coding, she’s great at fighting too. How talented. Now I want to work with you even more. Ah, what should I do?”

“Shut up!”

Renee was afraid someone might hear or see them, so she quickly covered his mouth with her hand and pressed closer to him.

11

Haze, who was still struggling a moment ago, suddenly stopped moving, becoming as obedient as a child. He swallowed hard.

Renee’s delicate little face was right in front of his. Her long black hair was as smooth as silk and gave off a subtle fragrance. It tugged at his heartstrings like the furry paw of a kitten.

Renee had also realized by now that that they were a bit too close to each other. She frowned and warned him, “Be careful of what you say. If you agree, nod once.”

Haze nodded obediently.

Renee removed the hand that was covering his mouth.

Haze raised his eyebrows and returned to his usual cynical demeanor. He told Renee, “I’ll give you one last chance to work with me to bring the Hunt family down. If you do, I’ll keep your secret for you. Otherwise…”

Renee proudly stated, “I, Renee Everheart, never take kindly to threats. I would only work with you if I wished to work with you.”

“If you really want to expose my secret, be my guest. But if you do that, from now on, you and I will become mortal enemies. I’ll make you pay for your ignorant actions!”

“So if you’re going down, you’ll bring me down with you?”

With a mocking look in his eyes, Haze joked, “Why do you still wish to protect Stefan even though he treats you so badly? When he finds out later that you’re the reason the H Group is in this predicament, do you think you’ll be able to leave this building alive?”

“You can do as you please!”

Renee did not want to waste any more time arguing with Haze. She was prepared to fall out with Stefan.

en without Haze’s intervention, the trouble Elon Barnes caused earlier was already enough to make Stefan fall out with her.

At this point, it probably would not matter anymore, so whatever!

2/3

Haze walked into Stefan’s office. He was in there for more than ten minutes before he came back out.

Renee was waiting outside, ready for the storm.

Haze’s thin lips curled into a smile. He said to Renee, “You can go in now. I’ve told him everything. If you need help, feel free to call me.”
