

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 391

"Bro, did you watch your wife's stream just now?"

Xavier rushed up to Stefan with an excited look on his face and immediately asked, "Tell me honestly, are you the stupid top donor who fell for their trick?"

Stefan appeared disinterested. While flipping through the documents in his hand, he said expressionlessly, "What stream?"

"Stop pretending. There's no way you didn't know about something that big. Moreover... it's your wife's live stream! There's no way you would miss it!"

Stefan didn't even look up. "I'm busy." What he meant was: Shut the hell up!

Xavier knew Stefan would not admit it. After all, the guy had always been proud. Therefore, he snatched the phone that Stefan had placed aside before Stefan could react. "Your phone is turned off. That's even more suspicious. I have to check it!"

Xavier tried to turn on the phone. "Give it back!"

Stefan lifted his eyes and gave Xavier a death stare.

Xavier gulped and immediately changed his mind. He obediently put the phone back in place and said, "Bro, so what if you watched it? You don't have to feel embarrassed about it. It's nothing embarrassing."

"You know what's embarrassing, though? When you turned half the world upside down to find your wife, but not only did you fail to find her, you even got tricked by her. Now that's... pfft hahaha... now that's embarrassing..." Xavier originally intended to talk to Stefan earnestly.

But when he recalled what happened four years ago, he could not help bursting out into laughter. Stefan had rushed to a certain island to find Renee, but not only did he fail to find her, he even got tricked by her. He had to beg over a hundred island inhabitants before he managed to escape.

What's worse, the video of what he said to the island inhabitants was posted on the H Group's official twitter account for five whole minutes! Talk about public humiliation!

Since then, Xavier and Christopher had been laughing regularly at Stefan about the video for their personal amusement. Four years had passed now, so it was not as funny anymore.

But now that Renee had suddenly returned, it became funny again.

Xavier could not hold back his laughter. He held his stomach and laughed for five minutes! "Do you want to die? I don't mind helping you."

Stefan could not stand it anymore. He put down the documents and cracked his knuckles. "Spare me, your highness!"

Xavier took a deep breath and tried to stop laughing. "This nonsense is what you came to talk about?"

Stefan asked impatiently.

"It's not nonsense. I'm sincerely telling you to go find your darling wife and make up with her. If you don't hurry... As you saw for yourself tonight, lots of wolves have their eyes on her. Don't let her slip away from your grasp again."

Xavier advised earnestly.

Stefan said coldly, "There's no need."

"Bro, why are you so stubborn? You're obviously not over her. Who are you trying to fool?"

"It's over between us. If there's even a sliver of possibility left, I would have looked for her long ago. I wouldn't have waited until now."

Stefan said with a serious expression.

He knew very well that over meant over. Getting hung up on it would not be wise. "Are you sure it wasn't because you weren't able to find her?"

Xavier's mockery was met with Stefan's death glare. He immediately changed the topic. "Well, if you're well and truly over her, I won't hold back anymore... To be honest, the third highest donor today is none other than yours truly!"

Stefan reflexively asked, "If you're the third highest donor, then who's the second highest?"

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 392

"Uhh... how would I know?"

But Xavier quickly latched on to the key point and asked with a strange smile, "Bro, why are you only curious about who the second highest donor is and not the highest? Aren't you exposing yourself?"

Based on normal logic, people would normally be curious about the first place. Who would care about the second place?!

Stefan knew he could not deny it anymore, so he pursed his lips and said nothing. His cold, handsome face clearly read "Don't push it".

Unfortunately, Xavier was a guy who had no fear. He continued teasing Stefan. "Bro, like the netizens said, you sure are willing to spend to make a woman happy. 4 million dollars for a dinner. That must be a Guinness World Record. You're... going tomorrow evening, right?"

Stefan did not answer Xavier's question, but instead mocked him back, "In terms of spending money on women, how can I compare to you? In recent years... in order to make your girl famous, you must have spent more than 40 million dollars. You're the true whale here."

Xavier's expression immediately changed. He looked away as he tried to deny it. "What are you talking about? There's nothing going on between Shirley and I. We're purely a boss and an employee. I spend money on her because I think she has potential and can bring value to Universal Entertainment."

"Oh, really?"

Stefan smiled and mocked, "If she has so much potential, why isn't she famous yet after four years of heavy investment? Does her value lie in losing money for Universal Entertainment?"

Xavier was completely defeated, but he kept arguing while awkwardly rubbing his nose, "Well... these things take time. We're gonna produce a few more movies for her. She works really hard, so she'll definitely make it big one day!"

"A celebrity doesn't become famous just by working hard. Sometimes, it's just not in their destiny."

Stefan raised his eyebrows, a hint of playfulness creeping into his perfectly contoured facial features. "For example, a certain someone... vanished for four years, but the moment she returned, she exploded in popularity. You can't achieve this with money."

Xavier pursed his lips and rolled his eyes. "Alright, I get it, your darling wife is soooo amazing. I thought you said you didn't care? Why do you look so proud of her?"

Stefan frowned and asked, "Do I look proud?"

Xavier nodded heavily, "Yeah. Very proud."

Stefan realized that Xavier was right. He immediately put on a serious face and asked solemnly, "Were you serious when you said that you're gonna make a move on her?"

Seeing that he finally got some reaction from Stefan, Xavier quickly said, ' Of course I was serious. You can't touch your bro's woman, but if she's not your woman anymore, then I'm not breaking the code. It would be a pity if she ended up with someone else."

"Fine."

Stefan nodded and said expressionlessly, "In that case, I'll make a move on Shirley too. There were sparks between us a long time ago... Honestly, I like my odds."

Xavier almost coughed up blood. He quickly said, "Bro, don't mess around. I was just kidding. You win, okay?"

He originally wanted to provoke Stefan so that the arrogant guy could be honest with his own feelings, but Stefan was too clever for him. Now that Stefan had a hold on him, he could only give up.

Stefan chuckled and said, "So you're gonna settle down for real now and stop fooling around with other girls?"

"Nah, no way."

Xavier looked nonchalant. "Shirley's not my type at all. You know I don't like thin, bony girls like her. How could she possibly make me settle down? I just... care for her like a normal boss caring for an employee. Have you ever seen a shark that stays put for a single fish? Besides, she doesn't even count as a fish in my pond."

"Really?"

Stefan raised his phone and said, "I recorded everything you said just now. Should I send the recording to her?"

"No!"

Xavier went after Stefan's phone with an extremely serious expression.

Although he was not interested in Shirley White, she was his employee and a star that Universal Entertainment had invested heavily in for several years. He could not let Shirley suffer psychological trauma!

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 394

Anon12358's reply was: 'Til go if I feel like it."

They did not know what he looked like, but from just the reply, they could imagine his smug, cocky face. Mandy clicked on Anon12358's personal information page. It was completely empty.

"This guy seems to be using a newly registered account. His profile picture is the default one and there's nothing in his personal information page. But the first thing he did was spend 4 million dollars... He obviously came for you, Ren."

She boldly speculated, "Maybe he's Mr. Hunt."

Looking at the default profile picture, Renee's red lips curled up into a faint smile. 'Maybe. We'll find out tomorrow."

If she really wanted to know, she could investigate his IP address any time, but she did not do that. She was curious if he would go to the dinner tomorrow.

Late that night, Renee returned to Leia Osborne's apartment. To her surprise, Liam was there too.

'There you are, Boss. If you had come back any later, I would have called the police."

Liam had been worried sick the whole night. He heaved a sigh of relief the moment he saw Renee.

Leia said, "I told you, you're getting worried over nothing. How could anyone hurt her? She's the one who would do the hurting. Did you see tonight's stream? Our baby's beauty reached a new height. In just over two hours, she harvested money from countless men. How did you even do it? You should publish a book to teach other people."

'Yeah, yeah, whatever. Aren't you guys tired?" Renee stretched. She was a bit tired.

"We couldn't sleep since you hadn't come back, but now that you're back, don't sleep just yet. Let's have a little chat..." Leia's big bright eyes shone with the desire to gossip. She grabbed Renee's arm and asked, 'Is he the top donor?"

"How would I know?"

"Are you sure you don't know?" "I don't."

"And you're not gonna investigate?" Leia tried to get to the bottom of things.

Renee spread her hands and said, "Nope. The only thing that matters is I got the money." Then, she turned to Liam. He was strangely quiet.

'Why is Master Osborne so quiet today? You're not the top donor, are you? Renee joked with a smile on her face.

She used to call him just "Liam" before, which was what everyone called him.

But over the past four years, thanks to Liam's relentless efforts, they had become much closer, so she would sometimes jokingly call him "Master Osborne" now.

"It's not me."

Liam lazily propped up his head. His once carefree face was now filled with sorrow. "As you know, in the last two years, the Osborne family has poured everything into the Azure Group. I don't have the financial liberty to spend 4 million dollars on something like that... Even if I want to spend 100,000 dollars nowadays, I have to apply with the finance department."

"Alright, alright, I know how hard life has been for Master Osborne for the past two years. In order to support my career, you've even run out of funds to fool around with girls. Don't worry, we won't lose... I'll make sure of it."

Renee walked over to Liam and comforted him while ruffling his soft, thick hair, like she was coaxing a child.

Liam struck while the iron was hot. "That's right. All the girls know I'm broke now, so they all ignore me. I have nothing now, Boss. You have to take responsibility for me!" "No problem. After we deal with everything, we'll get married. I'll take care of you!"

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 395

Renee looked like she was joking, but she was actually serious.

Without the full and unconditional support of the Osborne family for the past four years, she would not have achieved success so quickly and would not have been able to return with so much confidence.

She was not afraid of anyone now. The only thing she feared was disappointing Liam!

'That's more like it."

Liam had been drowning in jealousy the whole night. Now, his handsome face finally brightened, like the blue sky after the rain.

Ah, he used to have such a good life. Because he was cunning and clever, he was given the title of 'Beach City's Little Demon King'. Even the most cocky people in Beach City had to steer clear of him so that they wouldn't get bitten.

But now, he had become Renee's obedient little brother.

He lived an honest life, worked hard, stopped picking up women, stopped bullying the weak, and even helped old ladies cross the road when he had nothing better to do. He was as upright as a model elementary school student!

Renee suddenly got curious. 'If you're not the top donor, then you must be the second highest donor, right? After all, this isn't the first time you've used this kind of trick to scam someone.'

She and Liam once used the same trick on Stefan in a charity dinner. Liam shook his head. 'I'm broke. Even if I wanted to, I couldn't.'

'That's weird. Who could it be?'

Renee exhaled and cleared her mind. She could not be bothered thinking about it anymore. She just assumed her boundless charm had attracted a lot of rich fans.

After a shower, she went back to her room.

It should be afternoon on Sun Island right now. Renee video-called Margaret.

"Miss Ren, are you okay? I think I saw you on the trending topics. Did that scumbag bother you?"

Although Margaret was getting up there in age, she surfed the internet a lot so she knew that Renee had become famous. She was worried that Stefan might bother Renee.

"I'm doing well. That guy hasn't made any moves so far. He's probably forgotten about me." 'Thank goodness.'

Margaret said through gritted teeth, "I hope that scumbag won't ever bother you or your children. The most ideal outcome is for both of you to forget each other"

Renee was expressionless. She made no comment on that. She asked Margaret, "What are Adie and Abby doing?" "Oh, I was just about to tell you..."

Margaret was taking care of both children by herself. The two kids were so clever that she could not deal with them at all.

"Adie was really upset after you left. He said he's going to do experiments behind closed doors like you, and no one could disturb him. He'll only come out when you get back..."

Renee couldn't help but smile. "He's a curious boy. He's always liked to play around with all sorts of things ever since he was little. As expected of my son. He'll grow up to be a scholar."

"What about Abby? Is she angry with me?"

"Abby actually took it much better. She's not angry with you, she just mentions you hundreds of times every day. She made a little toy phone so that she could talk to you regularly."

"Margaret, please call them over. I'd like to chat with them."

Renee missed her kids so badly. She could not wait to talk to them. "Sure, Miss Ren. Give me a second..."

Margaret loudly called out to Adie and Abby.

Abby quickly ran over, but Adie was nowhere to be seen...

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 396

Renee felt her exhaustion vanish the moment she saw her daughter. She felt all warm and fuzzy inside.

"How are you today, Mommy? Abby missed you so much."

Abby was a sweet girl. Her eyes were like grapes, big and round.

She was holding a homemade phone in her hand. She aimed one end of the phone at the screen and placed the other end at her ear. "Mommy, if you have any secrets, you can tell Abby. Margaret won't hear it."

Her innocence and cuteness made Renee smile. Renee played along and whispered, "Did you behave today? Did you wet your pants?"

Abby's face, which was as red as an apple, turned even redder as she blushed. "You're so bad, Mommy. I don't wet my pants anymore. Only big bro does now!"

"Hahaha, that's right. Mommy forgot. You don't wet your pants anymore. You just like to dawdle in bed."

"Mommy, come home. If you come home, I won't dawdle in bed anymore. Both big bro and I miss you so much."

Abby's puppy eyes drooped as she said pitifully.

"Don't worry. Everything's going well over here. Mommy will be back soon."

Renee promised her daughter.

They kept chatting for a while longer, but Renee still did not see Adie, so she asked Abby, "Where's your brother? Doesn't he miss Mommy? Why hasn't he come over to talk to Mommy?"

"Well..."

Abby blinked and said, Big bro is still upset with you. He said he won't talk to you until you come home!"

"It's that serious? Can you ask him to come over, please?"

"No!"

Abby shook her head. She still remembered her promise to Adie. "Big bro said he's doing an experiment like you. He said he's gonna make something big to show you, so we can't disturb him... He made this phone for me. He's amazing!"

"Ugh!"

Renee shook her head helplessly. In this aspect, Adie was just like her.

He's good at various things and liked to experiment with this and that.

Moreover, whenever he went into his laboratory, he would stay there for several days. He had the potential to be a good researcher. She naturally found it hard to stop him from doing his things.

"Never mind, then. Can you tell him later that Mommy misses him very much and ask him to stop being angry at Mommy?"

"Okay, Mommy. Don't worry, I'll persuade him."

They soon ended the call.

Renee fell asleep peacefully.

The next morning.

Renee got up early. Her plan today was to inspect the Everheart Residence and sign a contract with a design company to begin the rebuild of the Everheart Residence.

Leia refused to let her go alone, so she went with her.

They took the big red Ferrari.

Leia bought some nice-looking pastries. She took a bite herself, then fed Renee a bite. The two of them naturally attracted a lot of attention.

Leia had been holding onto a certain question the whole night. She finally could not hold it in anymore and asked Renee, 'Renee, were you serious when you said you'll marry my brother?'

"Of course. You can't joke about these things."

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 397

"But I don't think you like my brother, do you? He's always been your underling. No boss marries their underling." "Marriage is less about liking someone and more about whether the person is suitable."

Renee smiled self-deprecatingly. "Take me, for example. You know how much I loved a certain man in the past? And how did that work out?"

"It's hard for me to become close with someone, especially men. Liam has been by my side all these years - helping me, supporting me, warming my heart. He makes me feel at ease. I don't think there's anyone in this world more suitable for me than him."

"The reason you would think he's suitable for you is because he suppresses his own nature to appeal to you... no, that's not entirely right."

Leia frowned as she searched for the right words. "It's like he's hiding his sharp edges to cater to you. In truth, my brother is extremely cocky. He has lots of ideas, lots of ambition and he's very capable. Otherwise, he wouldn't be notoriously known as the "Little Demon King" in Beach City. He's not the cute little obedient puppy that he appears to be in front of you."

"I know."

Renee said, "After all, your family earns money through the gray industries. Without some degree of ability and courage, how could you possibly keep the people in those industries in check? As the child Mr. Osborne values the most, Liam will take over the Osborne family one day. Of course he's not a cute little obedient puppy."

"If you know that, then don't joke with him..."

Leia was rarely this serious. She earnestly pleaded with Renee, "My brother's feelings for you are sincere. He might look carefree and heartless, like nothing could bother him... but he's actually very loyal. When he falls in love, he falls in love for life. If you're not sure that he's the one for you, don't give him hope. I'm worried that he might spend the rest of his life trying to forget you."

Although Liam and her were always fighting, they were born together, so they knew each other very well. No one knew better than Leia how much Liam loved Renee.

And no one could say for sure whether Renee had really gotten over Stefan. If Renee got involved with Stefan again, then her brother would get hurt!

"Don't worry, I know what you're worried about. The things you're worried about won't come true."

Renee was very clear about what choices she should make. Her voice was firm. "Maybe Liam is not my Mr. Right, but he's definitely the man I'm willing to spend the rest of my life with. Our relationship has already transcended a normal relationship between a man and a woman."

"I'm glad to hear that. Maybe I'm overthinking it." Leia nodded.

Although she had received assurances from Renee, deep down in her heart, she still did not have high hopes for them. She could not help feeling like something would go wrong somewhere. They soon arrived at the Everheart Residence.

There were always stories about the place being haunted, and it even burned down some time ago, so all the inhabitants nearby had moved away. The area had become a wasteland overgrown with weeds.

From a distance, the house looked gloomy and desolate. It was still cordoned off. "Look what happened to the house I grew up in!"

Renee frowned looking at the desolation before her.

This place carried the joyful memories of three generations of Everhearts. It had a very special significance to her. Seeing one's home in ruin was like seeing the most precious thing in one's heart being tainted. It was painful.

"Yeah. After the big fire, this place has become a forbidden area for Beach City's inhabitants. It's been abandoned for a long time and should be quite difficult to rebuild. You're better off just buying a new house..." Leia sighed with a regretful look on her face.

To think that this place used to be known as a wealthy area. You really couldn't predict what would happen in life!

"There can be many houses, but there's only one home. I'll definitely rebuild the Everheart Residence, no matter how difficult it is."

Besides dealing with some matters related to the Azure Group, the main focus of Renee's trip back to Beach City was to rebuild the Everheart Residence.

They pulled the cordon up, wanting to go in to take a look.

Suddenly, someone ran over and yelled at them. "Who are you people? You can't trespass on private property!"

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 398

"Private property?'

Renee glared at the man with a frown.

The man was wearing a security guard uniform. He should be a staff member responsible for guarding this area. "What are you talking about? This is my friend's house. How could it be your private property?"

Leia, who was notorious for her violent temper, yelled at the security guard, "We're going in right now. Get out of the way!"

"I don't care who owns this house, this land has been included within the scope of expropriation, which makes it a private property. Our boss said that no one can enter without his permission."

The security guard straightened up and replied fiercely.

"Hey, do you understand human language? Do you want me to beat you up?"

Leia rolled up her sleeves, looking like she was about to fight with the security guard.

She was not that good at fighting, but she knew Renee was. With Renee by her side, she was afraid of no one!

'You can beat me up, but even if you kill me today, I can't let you in. This is my job. If you keep causing trouble, I'll call for backup."

The security guard took out a walkie-talkie and said into it, "Headquarters, come in. Someone's causing trouble. Please send backup immediately. Over."

"Stop being unreasonable! I told you, this house belongs to my friend! How can you chase her away from her own house? This is preposterous!"

Leia could not stand it anymore. She walked up to the guard angrily. She was going to hit him for real.

Renee was much calmer. She stopped Leia and spoke politely to the security guard. "Sorry, I'm the owner of this villa. I've been away for several years. Can you tell me exactly what happened?"

"Oh, so you're the homeowner that our boss couldn't reach..."

The security guard's expression softened a little. "Like I told you, this piece of land has been expropriated for the construction of a garbage treatment plant. Construction is planned to start at the end of this month. You came back just in time. You're the only homeowner who hasn't signed the expropriation agreement. Please sign it when you have the time."

Renee's expression immediately turned serious. She asked, "This is a high-end residential area. Why would a garbage treatment plant suddenly be built here? Who made the decision?"

"The higher ups, of course. The garbage treatment plant is a municipal engineering project, designed based on reasonable city planning and layout... This area used to be a residential area, but everybody has moved out in recent years. The direction of the city's development plan for the next 10 years is "expanding to the north and the west", so the land here will no longer increase in value. That's why a garbage treatment plant will be built here."

The security guard spoke confidently.

Although he was only a common folk, he had the chance to hear about things like national affairs and urban planning, so he knew more than the average person.

Leia had heard enough. She said angrily, "If I understand correctly, you're saying that you guys are gonna demolish the house my friend grew up in that contains countless precious memories, then build a garbage treatment plant on top of it."

"Yup, that's right."

The security guard nodded and said, "This area is now closed to the public. No one can go in without permission. If you really are the homeowner, you better sign the expropriation agreement before it's too late. That way, you can at least get some compensation."

"What if I refuse?"

Renee asked coldly.

"Then we would have no choice but to treat your house as an illegal building and demolish it by force." The security guard spread his hands, indicating that there was nothing he could do about it.

After all, the power of the Municipal Planning Department would always be greater than the power of homeowners. "I see."

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 399

Renee nodded and said, "I won't be going in today."

Leia was incredulous. She gripped Renee and said, "You're gonna leave just like that? This house has a special meaning to you. It's gonna be turned into a garbage treatment plant! Don't you find it insulting? How can you stand it?"

Renee took a deep breath and answered with a serious expression, "Of course I can't stand it, but there's no point arguing with a security guard. He's just doing his job."

"Then what are you gonna do?"

"Find the mastermind behind the scenes who's targeting this piece of land and make him give up." "The mastermind behind the scenes?"

Leia was puzzled. "Didn't the security guard say it's an order from the Municipal Planning Department? Then it's a government project. What mastermind behind the scenes are you talking about?"

"It may look like a government project on the surface, but it's definitely driven by a business organization. So, to solve this problem, we must deal with the business organization behind the scenes."

Renee gave Leia a meaningful look. She had a bad feeling about this.

Her instinct told her this mastermind behind the scenes would not be easy to deal with, and they're specifically targeting her! Renee and Leia returned to the apartment.

Leia then went out on a date with her new boyfriend, so Renee was left alone at home.

She took out her computer and keyed in relevant information about the area where the Everheart Residence was located. She started a thorough investigation.

The area was included in the Municipal Planning Department's expropriation scope six months ago.

That was because a lot of incidents happened in the area, such as the suicide of Renee's parents, the houses being haunted, and a fire.

After the Everheart Residence was burned down, the couple who set fire to the house both hanged themselves in front of the Everheart Residence.

It was the couple whose daughter mysteriously died in the club ran by Xavier, and who lost the court case afterward due to Zack Rosenwell's help.

Therefore, there were a lot of horror stories about the place. Those living nearby had all moved away, leaving the area abandoned for many years.

Half a year ago, the municipal government announced the plan to build a large garbage treatment plant in the city. They gathered public opinion on where it should be built and this area obtained the highest number of votes, so it was expropriated.

On the surface, everything seemed reasonable. If Renee did not agree to the expropriation, she would be going against the people's will. In the end, not only would she fail to keep the Everheart Residence, she would also receive a lot of criticism.

But in reality, everything was driven by money.

The mastermind behind everything was Rubio Pascal from the Pascal family.

The Pascal family was one of the eight major families of Beach City. The family was very secretive, so outsiders had no idea how powerful they were exactly.

They had only heard rumors that Rubio Pascal was a pervert. He was a man in his forties. Every month, he would seek out young women and use them to replenish his youth so that he would stay young and healthy.

Renee did not understand. There were no grudges between her and this Pascal guy. They had not even crossed paths before. Why would he come up with this elaborate plan to mess with her?

However, no matter who it was and what their purpose was, she would not allow anyone to touch the Everheart Residence!

Renee easily found Rubio Pascal's private phone number and was about to have a good chat with him when her cousin, Mandy, suddenly called her, sounding very excited.

"Ren, why aren't you here yet? The top donor is already here. Oh my god, he's so handsome that I'm getting a nosebleed. Get over here!"

The Untouchable Ex Wife by Mizuki Sei

Chapter 400

"Really?"

Renee's interest was piqued.

When she investigated Rubio Pascal just now, she also checked the physical location of the top donor's IP address in passing. The location was in the H Group. It was obvious who was behind the account.

Renee did not expect Stefan, who was usually so proud and arrogant, to simp so hard in order to meet her. It completely shattered his ruthless and cold persona.

She could not wait to laugh at him.

"Tell him to wait for a while. I'll be right there."

Renee got up, turned off the computer, took a long, comfortable stretch, and went to the Red House Restaurant.

"Ren, over here!"

Mandy was at the restaurant entrance, waving at Renee from afar.

She managed to achieve financial freedom from one single live stream, so she decided to splurge this time and booked the entire Red House Restaurant for an evening. It could not have been cheap because it was one of the top restaurants in Beach City.

Renee parked her car and got out.

Today, her curly hair was casually moved to one side and pinned down by a delicate diamond hairpin. She wore a Klein blue chiffon top paired with a pair of white wide leg pants and a pair of silver high heels. She looked tall and confident, exuding endless charm.

"Wow, Ren, you look so beautiful today. I thought I'm seeing a Victoria's Secret model! You're such an eye-candy!"

Mandy did not even dare get close to Renee due to the powerful aura Renee was exuding.

"Haha, you brat, you're such a smooth talker."

Renee grabbed Mandy's arm and asked, "How long has Stefan Hunt been here? Do you think there's any conspiracy behind his actions?"

"Mr. Hunt?"

Mandy looked puzzled and shook her head, saying, "The person who came is not Mr. Hunt."

"It's not him?"

"Yup, it's not him. It's a guy who's every bit as handsome as Mr. Hunt, and he's a lot more approachable. However... he feels a bit wild and unruly, so he doesn't feel very reliable."

Mandy gave her serious evaluation.

At her age, she had no resistance to good-looking guys.

Among the handsome guys who caught her eye so far, Stefan was ranked first, and he had always been first. That had never changed.

That was, until she saw the handsome guy today. She started to waver.

However, Mandy remained rational. She rubbed her chin and carefully analyzed, "I think this guy would make a fun boyfriend, but if we're talking about marriage, Mr. Hunt is much more reliable!"

"If you put as much effort into studying as you do analyzing men, your father would be ecstatic."

Renee chuckled and pinched Mandy's chubby face.

After finding out that the person who came was not Stefan, her mood was not affected much, but she was even more curious who it was.

The reason why the Red House Restaurant was famous was because it was located at the highest point of Beach City, at the top of the 336 TV Tower. One had to ride in an elevator for 15 minutes to reach the restaurant that was 520 meters above the ground.

Due to its height of 520 meters, it was also known as the "Tower of True Love". According to legends, only a man and a woman who truly loved each other and understood each other would run into each other here.

The two girls stepped into the panoramic elevator that had a 360 degree transparent glass design. They could get a nice view of the entire city from the elevator.

"Ren, do you know that this place is called the Tower of True Love? If you miss someone really, really badly, you'll definitely run into them here. Isn't it romantic?"