

Chapter 646 The Death Of Yusuf

The next second, Liam leaped into the ship!

A murderous darkness filled his eyes.

Cannon had arrived with more than a dozen subordinates. When they saw Liam and felt the terrifying aura about him, their hearts chilled.

With bloodshot eyes, Liam shouted, "Go to hell!"

Liam moved like a flash of lightning. In a second, he rushed to Cannon and his team.

The blood drained out of Cannon's face. The aura of the person in front of him chilled him to the bones. He shouted at his subordinates, "Why are you still standing there? Shoot, you bastards!"

The words were barely out of his mouth when Liam was already in front of the first person.

Liam raised his hand and punched the man, killing him on the spot.

Liam seized the submarine gun in his hand and equipped himself with it.

It was only then that Cannon and his men realized what happened and started shooting.

The dense bullets came in their numbers, but not a single one touched Liam. He was so agile that he moved through them.

Liam's strength in this moment was too scary for Cannon. He was too strong for Cannon.

No matter how far or close they were, whenever Liam aimed the gun, it reached its target.

Cannon watched as his men dropped dead one after the other. The thought of running finally occurred to him, but it was too late. Liam was already here.

Liam stared him down with dark bottomless eyes and said coldly, "There's no running away for you."

Cannon shrank back, his whole face pale with fright. He sent his hand into his coat to pull out his own gun, but Liam knocked him out with a karate move.

After disposing of all of them, Liam hurried back to Yusuf and moved him from the boat and onto the deck.

Yusuf's lips were already a little blue as blood oozed out of different holes on his body. In a panic,

Liam struggled to stop the bleeding.

However, it wasn't easy. Yusuf had more than a dozen bullets in his body that were constantly letting his blood flow out. With no professional medical equipment on the dock, even Liam couldn't do anything to save Yusuf.

Liam raised his head and roared in pain and frustration. All he could do was painfully watch as Yusuf got drained of his blood.

"It's all my fault. I shouldn't have brought you here. It's all my fault!" Liam cried, hating himself for what was happening.

Yusuf could barely breathe at this point. He was in a daze and in pain, but he managed to say, as blood flowed out of the corners of his mouth, "No, it's not your fault. I was the one who wanted to come with you. I didn't know your real identity, or your reason for coming to the delta region until you got drunk that day. When I found out, it was my personal decision to help you save her. So, it's not your fault. I came here of my own accord."

Tears welled up in Liam's eyes. That didn't make this any better to bear.

Yusuf was already extremely weak, yet, he still forced out a smile and said, "I'm dying and I can't help you anymore. I believe you'll do it."

After that, Yusuf spat out a mouthful of blood and coughed weakly.

Tears streamed down Liam's face. He knew that Yusuf wouldn't make it. This was the end for him.

Liam swallowed the lump in his throat and said through lips that quivered, "What else can I do for you?"

Yusuf struggled with another smile and took out the cross that hung on his chest. "Give this to Mehdi. He has always treated me as his son. I was supposed to take care of him in the future. But... I can't do it anymore. Please... take care of him for me, Liam. This thing is all I can give him. Please, give it to him..." Yusuf trailed off as the life drained out of his eyes until they closed. His body turned cold. He was dead.

Tears kept flowing out of Liam's eyes as he recalled what happened to him and Yusuf. He could still remember Yusuf's tragic story he shared on the day they got drunk.

The words seemed to be stuck in his head.

"I was an orphan. My parents were drug addicts.

One of them died of drug. Having no money to buy drugs, the other went to beg, and was beaten to death. I was later adopted by the Dark Night Organization. After training, I offered to stay in the delta region. After staying here for more than ten years, I see this place as my home. After what happened to my parents, I hate drugs very much. That was why I wanted to destroy Black Spider, but I couldn't do anything. Not on my own. I gradually lost hope, got depressed and engaged myself in those dirty things. But when I see you, I can see that you are more energetic and capable than the lot of us who have stayed here for a long time..."

Liam's heart broke. He would never hear those words and Yusuf's voice again.
