

Chapter 640 The Heart

Meanwhile, Julie had regained much of her strength, and with some exertion, she was able to move about. While Liam admired the moon in the delta region, she gazed at the stars, leaning on Nalani for support.

As time went by, her emotions started to sway. Rescuing her in this place had been no small feat, especially with Rennes in relentless pursuit. The situation left her far from serene.

Unbeknownst to her, Nalani, who was always by her side, carefully maintained her cover and bid time for the perfect moment to act. 1

The following day, someone came to Tihirang unexpectedly.

The man hailed from Kuba and was linked to the Duncan family's illegal organ trade, known as Frankie Vargas, much like the old doctor who had previously desired Julie's heart.

He was not a part of the Black Spider. Rather, he was loyal to Rohan, the elder brother of Rennes.

Meanwhile, Julie had regained much of her strength, and with some exertion, she was able to move about. While Liam admired the moon in the delta region, she gazed at the stars, leaning on Nalani for support.

As time went by, her emotions started to sway. Rescuing her in this place had been no small feat, especially with Rennes in relentless pursuit. The situation left her far from serene.

Unbeknownst to her, Nalani, who was always by her side, carefully maintained her cover and bid time for the perfect moment to act. 1

The following day, someone came to Tihirang unexpectedly.

The man hailed from Kuba and was linked to the Duncan family's illegal organ trade, known as Frankie Vargas, much like the old doctor who had previously desired Julie's heart.

He was not a part of the Black Spider. Rather, he was loyal to Rohan, the elder brother of Rennes. His current mission involved retrieving something from the Sandoval family.

Upon his arrival, Rennes warmly greeted him and seized the opportunity to ask for insights into the While touring the hospital, Frankie unexpectedly encountered Julie.

The instant he laid eyes on her, his gaze sharpened, as he remembered details shared by the old doctor.

Julie's heart was an invaluable asset!

Frankie wasted no time and asked, "Why is she here?"

Overhearing this, Rennes grinned warmly and responded, "Mr. Vargas, are you familiar with her? My younger brother brought her here for some minor concerns. She bears an uncanny resemblance to my late wife, so I had her admitted for treatment. She's now my girlfriend."

Frankie gave a subtle nod but remained quiet.

Rennes simply assumed the pair had crossed paths before, considering Julie's public prominence. He didn't find Frankie's behavior suspicious.

Conversation moved on, and they continued their stroll. Out of the blue, Rennes inquired, "Mr. Vargas, have you set a date for your departure? I have my own plans to coordinate."

Frankie gestured dismissively, saying, "Take your time. I'm sticking around a bit longer. Handle your business, and I'll reach out if necessary."

Rennes acknowledged this, and shortly after, their hospital tour concluded. Frankie offered some specific guidance before briskly bidding farewell.

Once he exited the hospital, Frankie scrutinized the area cautiously. Confirming he was alone, he made a phone call.

"Doctor, excellent news. I found the heart you spoke of today, and it's in prime condition."

A burst of excitement erupted from the other end.

"Fantastic! That heart is crucial for my human modification experiments. Retrieve it as soon as possible!"

Frankie's face clouded over, as he let out a frustrated sigh. "It's going to be tricky this time."

An irritated voice retorted from the phone, "What's the problem? Isn't heart-snatching your specialty?"

Frankie sighed, a touch of resignation in his voice.

"Taking a heart is usually easy, yes. But she's now involved with Rennes. We can't just seize her heart without his approval. I have to consult the big boss."

An extended pause lingered at the other end

Chapter 640 The Heart

 +90 Points at most

before the voice finally said, "Fine, I'll consult the big boss. Knowing him, we shouldn't face any obstacles. Wait for my instructions."

 I want no ads >

10:37

100.0%