

An Understated Dominance By Marina Vittori

Chapter 1894

“Ji Yuanzun, you have brought disaster to the country and the people, and your crimes are extremely heinous. You must be arrested immediately, otherwise you will be killed without mercy!”

Margaret’s voice was cold and her aura was strong. In her hand, she was holding a golden token representing imperial power.

She left Stonia this time and followed Dustin to West Lucozia, originally to deal with the remnants of Hulong Pavilion, so she made various preparations.

The golden order to mobilize troops was given by her father himself, just in case.

Fortunately, this golden order played a big role, otherwise it would be impossible to mobilize troops across provinces, and it would still be 200,000 White Tiger troops.

”Why? Why is this happening?”

After seeing Adam Spanner and Margaret, Ji Yuanzun staggered back with despair on his face.

Between his mouth and nose, black blood flowed more.

”Ji Yuanzun has been defeated, and there is no possibility of a comeback. After today, the Dragon Guard Pavilion will no longer exist. You bunch of scoundrels hiding in the darkness will finally have to pay the price for your actions.” Dustin said coldly.

”No! I haven’t lost yet! There is no way I will lose!”

Ji Yuanzun looked up to the sky and screamed hysterically: “It took a lot of effort for me to get to where I am today. It took a lot of effort for me to have the opportunity to become the co-owner of the world. How could I lose? For you brats like this?!”

He endured it for many years and finally came forward and became the master of the Dragon Protection Pavilion.

He thought he could gain supreme power, but just a few days later, he suffered a heavy blow, and now he is forced into a desperate situation.

He is not willing to give in!

I am not willing to fail like this, I am not willing to be defeated by a few young people, and I am not willing to die like this.

”Ji Yuanzun, don’t you understand yet?”

Adam Spanner said calmly: “Ever since the Sword Immortal Bai Ye cut off the dragon veins and obliterated the Dragon Protection Pavilion, you have lost your momentum and your luck. If you hide in the darkness and linger on, you may still be able to live a few more years, but you should absolutely not be greedy, and should not have ideas for the Prince of West Lucozia. From the moment you make a decision, you are destined to fail. This is God’s will and the general trend. Accept your fate.”

“What bullshit God’s will? I don’t accept it! I don’t accept it!”

”I am the one destined by destiny! I am the leader of the world! There is no way you guys can beat me!” “

I’m going to kill you! I’m going to kill you!”

Ji Yuanzun roared angrily, looking like a madman.

The gentian red flame spear flickered, and the whole person turned into a bloody light and shadow, and rushed towards Dustin.

It’s all about death anyway, so before you die, take someone with you.

”Go to hell!!”

Ji Yuanzun’s eyes were red, and all the blood and essence in his body was burning.

Black blood kept pouring out between his eyes, ears, mouth and nose, but at this time, he no longer cared.

”Stubborn!”

Dustin snorted coldly. Without dodging, he held the Sky Sword and stabbed forward.

The two were so fast that they covered a hundred meters in the blink of an eye and crashed into each other.

”Bang!!”

There was a loud noise.

The moment the sword tip and the spear tip touched, a terrifying energy wave erupted instantly.

All flowers, plants and trees within a hundred meters radius evaporated, and the powerful air wave swept away in all directions with a devastating force.

Under the terrifying impact, Dustin was sha
