

Read Married at First Sight Chapter 2731

Married at First Sight Chapter 2731-“Mom, have a good talk with Dad, listen to Dad’s explanation, and don’t make a decision that you will regret.” Kathryn persuaded Matriarch Farrell in a gentle voice.

Matriarch Farrell waved her hand and motioned for her daughter to follow her son out.

When Kathryn passed by Holden, she said softly to him, “Dad, please explain to my mother carefully. You and my mother have been husband and wife for decades.”

Holden nodded. He wanted to speak but didn’t know what to say.

Kathryn was related to him by blood and would still speak for him at critical moments.

After all four children had walked out of the study room, Matriarch Farrell walked over to check whether the door was closed. She opened the door again and looked outside to make sure that none of the four children were eavesdropping. Then she closed the door again and locked it.

She turned around, stopped in front of Holden, and looked at him condescendingly.

“Honey, I really don’t know why something like that happened. Shiloh and I must have been plotted.” Holden explained clearly.

After Matriarch Farrell looked down at Holden for a long time, she returned to the chair and sat down. She asked coldly, “Tell me what you were doing after Shiloh brought you food upstairs?”

Holden recalled what happened just now with a pale face. He said, “I was just in a bad mood and was drinking alone. I got the wine from Marco. Marco drank it, and there was still half a bottle left. I asked him for it. He gave it to me.”

“After Shiloh went upstairs, I asked Shiloh to drink two drinks with me, and then I confided in her what was on my mind. Wife, I know I was wrong. I shouldn’t have cheated on you when you were not in Jensburg. It was my fault. I still resent you in my heart; it’s all my fault.”

At this moment, Holden did not dare to hide anything and told Matriarch Farrell honestly that he was complaining to Shiloh about her domineering behavior.

Matriarch Farrell knew that Holden had a grudge against her.

She has been suppressing Holden since she got married, fearing that he would cheat on her and do something wrong to her.

Of course, there was a sweet period between them; otherwise, they would not have had four children in a row.

After giving birth to Kathryn, she felt that she had a successor, so her focus was on the company and her children, and she paid less and less attention to Holden. She thought she was the head of the family, and she was getting older, so there was no need to talk about feelings anymore.

She didn't expect that Holden would still cheat on her. Maybe he had been thinking about it since he was young. He finally took advantage of the opportunity, and then he actually cheated on her.

She would be angry if he cheated on someone else, but it wouldn't be as hard to accept as it is now.

Shiloh was not her biological daughter, but she raised her as her biological daughter. She couldn't accept that the scene she just saw had become reality.

No matter how angry, angry, or wishing to turn back time, there was no way to turn back time. What happened would happen.

Just like before, she regretted killing her elder sister and younger sister, but there was no use in regretting. She had done everything she had done. No matter how much she regretted it, she could not bring both her older sister and younger sister back to life. She could only be cruel. Walk the dark road to the end.

Holden continued: "Then, Shiloh and I both finished the glass of wine. After finishing the wine, I felt hotter and hotter, and so did Shiloh. Both she and I were compelled to remove our clothing due to the extreme heat. Then, neither did we. You know what, that's it."

Married at First Sight Chapter 2732-When Holden said this, he came to his senses and said quickly, "Honey, there's something wrong with the wine. There must be something wrong with the wine. Shiloh and I were just like that after drinking. Are you having a banquet at home tonight? Is there anyone there? There was something tampered with in the drink.

It's the person named Liberty. She is your sister's descendant. Many people say that you killed your sister. She came here to avenge you. She doesn't want to make your life easy. She knows that you love her the most. The person you want is Shiloh, and Shiloh is not our biological daughter, so she designed Shiloh and me to attack you like that."

Matriarch Farrell knew there was something wrong with the drink. She sneered and said, "Liberty never touched a drink from the time she came in to the time she left. How could she plot against you and Shiloh? Holden, even if you two really plotted, it would not be Liberty. I know that Liberty came to Jensburg for the Farrell family.

I am old too, but I am not so old that I am confused. If you want to blame Liberty for this matter, you will not succeed. The people coming tonight are not only Liberty but also Mr. Queen and Mr. York. They were all present, and so many people from the clan were watching.

Don't talk about liberty. You can't even find a scapegoat among the people in the clan. The person who brought you food was Shiloh. She also brought you a bottle of wine. The wine was not opened. You can drink it. But you brought the wine from Marco.

The person who plotted against you is Marco?"

After analyzing the eldest son, Matriarch Farrell's face became even more ashen.

Holden was also shocked. He didn't expect that the eldest son would plot against him.

Impossible!

Marco was his first child. He loved him very much. In addition, Marco took the surname Janzen, and he was a descendant of his Janzen family. His love for Shiloh was because he wanted to cultivate a good relationship between father and daughter until she took over. Then he and the Janzen family could get more benefits.

“There is no need for Marco to do this.” Matriarch Farrell said coldly, “That person might be Shiloh, who brings you food upstairs.”

Holden: “It won’t be Marco. Marco is my biological son, and he will not treat me like this. Wife, I am really being plotted. You have to believe me. No matter how lustful I am, I will never get along with Shiloh.”

“But you’re already like that.” Matriarch Farrell said coldly, “I will never forget that scene. I kicked Shiloh out. She was not from my Farrell family; she was not my daughter. Her father did something to hurt the mother and daughter for the sake of the mother-daughter relationship of more than 20 years. I didn’t take my anger out on her.

But she is sleeping with you. I don’t care how it happened; I can’t tolerate it. From now on, she is no longer a member of my Farrell family. Everything I gave her, I will get back. She is just a servant’s daughter!

My biological daughter is Kathryn! As for you, Holden, you are resentful of me. You have long thought of betraying me. You have had a history of cheating on me before. I will never believe you again, no matter what you say.

Now you have two options: one is to divorce me and leave the Farrell family. Second, you should commit suicide.

As long as you become an old eunuch, I can rest assured that our marriage can last until we die, leaving you with some dignity.”

Holden’s expression changed drastically.

Matriarch Farrell stood up, walked to the back of the desk, opened the drawer, took out a pair of scissors, and then threw the scissors in front of Holden.

She sat down at the desk and watched Holden choose coldly.

Holden trembled all over.

If he got divorced, he would die. Also, Matriarch Farrell would not let him go. Even though she said it so generously, she wouldn’t make it easy for him if she was angry with him.

