

Chapter 757 Family Traitor

Liam lay on the ground, completely devoid of strength. He made multiple attempts to get up, but it seemed as if all the energy had been drained from his body, rendering him incapable of standing.

A profound sense of panic washed over him as he realized he might not be able to protect his family and loved ones any longer.

Rohan sneered and signaled for the battle to resume. Without Liam, the Hoffman family was severely outmatched, and the situation quickly deteriorated. The Hoffmans found themselves in a losing position, gradually losing the ability to fight back.

Sergio, in despair, surveyed the devastated Hoffman family, realizing that it was all over.

In his desperation, Sergio turned to Liam, who was still lying on the ground, his last hope resting on his grandson.

In desperation, Sergio rallied the Hoffman family members, declaring, "This is a fight for our lives. Everyone, cover your master while he retreats. We will confront these foes, awaiting our master's vengeance in the future."

"Give it our all." Every member of the Hoffman family raised their voices in unison, prepared to engage in a fierce battle with unwavering determination.

At that moment, their eyes were filled with a fiery determination. They abandoned any notions of defense and hiding, as many individuals charged into the midst of the enemy, carrying explosives with them.

Boom! Boom!

Explosions resounded through the enemy's forces, causing some casualties among the Duncan family and their allies.

However, overall, the Hoffman family's counterattack had little impact. Many of their elite soldiers had been eliminated in the previous battle, leaving them in a desperate situation.

In a critical moment, Rohan took aim at Sergio in the midst of the chaos. But just as he fired, Theo stepped in front of Sergio, sacrificing himself to protect his master.

Tears brimmed in Sergio's eyes as he clutched Theo. His voice trembled as he called Theo's name.

Theo gazed at Sergio with a smile, making efforts to utter his final words. "Mr. Hoffman, I can only continue my service to you in the next life."

The loyal butler, who had dedicated his entire life to the service of the Hoffman family, had now met his end on the battlefield while defending his master.

Observing the dire situation of the Hoffman family, Rohan approached Liam, who lay on the ground, wearing a malicious expression.

He declared coldly, "Liam, today I will ensure you taste the agony of witnessing your family's annihilation. Rest assured, you will be the final one to meet your end."

He then lifted his hand and fired a fatal shot through Sergio's chest. Sergio fell to the ground, consumed by anger and resentment.

With a sinister grin, Rohan said, "Goodbye, Grandpa."

Liam, with tear-filled eyes, cried out in anguish, "Grandpa!"

Rohan reveled in Liam's pain and laughed maniacally. "Don't worry. Save your strength. This is just the beginning."

With that, Rohan signaled to his subordinates, and they advanced with machine guns, mercilessly gunning down the helpless members of the Hoffman family.

Gunshots echoed, and the direct descendants of the Hoffman family fell one after another.

Of course, except for Leandro, the traitor.

He regarded the situation with a cold detachment, as if the fallen individuals were not his own kin. Sergio's emphasis on family bonds had only made Leandro appear even more devoid of humanity. Leandro had taken his betrayal further than his father had. He had covertly aligned himself with the Duncan family.

It could be said that Leandro bore significant responsibility for the tragedy that befell the Hoffman family.

Liam, overwhelmed with grief, displayed a deathly desolation on his face. Devoid of power, he could do nothing to halt this brutal onslaught. All he could do was die with a sense of unfulfilled vengeance, possibly seeking retribution in the next life.

Just as Rohan prepared to shoot Liam, an unexpected gunshot rang out from outside the door.

Dozens of figures burst in, subduing Rohan with their light machine guns.

Retreating into cover, Rohan grumbled, "Well, you losers. I didn't come looking for you. You came to me, seeking death."

These figures were none other than Liam's loyal followers, including Aikin, Fiona, and Riel.

Most of them had been recovering in the hospital, and

Chapter 757 Family Traitor

 +120 Points at most

some were not fully healed. Upon learning of the Hoffman family's plight, they had rushed to their rescue.

 I want no ads >