

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 1915

Chapter 1915

"Take him down! If anything happens to Seth, I want that brat and the woman next to him to die!" Eliam commanded coldly.

As a seasoned martial artist and the leader of his family, he was through enough to know that Leon would not kill Seth as Seth was his only leverage at the moment.

"I guess I can't run from this fight, after all!" Leon's expression darkened and knew that he would have to fight.

He rolled his wrist and the Cuff of Doom appeared in his hand once again.

He did not know the extent of Eliam's power, but through his earlier duels with the Fourth and Fifth Elder, he could guess that Eliam was likely in the Peak Emperor State as well, and all the other Golans would be in levels below that.

There was one strike in the Intermediate Almighty State left in the Cuff of Doom and it would be more than sufficient to fight off Eliam and the others.

However, it did not change the fact that Leon was outnumbered and a single attack might not take down every single one of the Golans, which made the situation far more challenging.

"Stop!"

Just as a battle was about to break out, a powerful roar echoed in the air.

A luxurious car raced toward them and stopped right before the group.

The car door opened and Roanne stepped out with John.

"Who are you? Why are you here in our house?" Eliam and the other Golans were slightly stunned by Roanne's and John's powerful presence.

"I'm John of the Thompsons, and this is our lady, Miss Roanne Thompson!" John announced.

"What? The Thompsons?"

The Golans were all shocked.

Ever since Joel was forced to apologize to Elegante Group in public, most of the families in the southern region found out that Elegante Group was connected to the Thompsons somehow and that Joel was only forced to apologize out of fear toward the Thompsons.

The Golans caught news of it as well but did not expect the Thompsons to hurry over and stop them from harming Leon so soon after Leon barged into the Golans' Mansion.

It all happened so fast that they were caught by surprise.

"Miss Thompsons, the Thompsons, and the Golans have steered clear of one another's way so far, so why are you here?" Eliam asked darkly.

Though he already guessed why Roanne was there, it was only an assumption.

"I'm here for Leon and Iris," Roanne said.

After learning that Iris and Snow were in danger, Roanne called Leon right away to meet with him. However, Leon was in too much of a hurry to wait for her and arrived at the Golans Mansion before she did.
