

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 1926

Chapter 1926

"I was so close," Snow's heart sank when she noticed that Gordon was only slightly injured.

Though Leon gave her two Potential Energy Forces, Gordon was a formidable martial artist and she knew that using the other force on him would not be efficient.

"That's right! Leon gave me something else!" Snow recalled something and retrieved a box from her pocket that contained two poisonous daggers inside.

Since Gordon was injured and defenseless at the moment, she could shoot the daggers out and he would likely be killed.

Just as she was about to act, she hesitated.

Gordon used to be her lover and he seemed to truly regret his mistakes in the past, so death did not seem to be a just punishment.

As a woman, she tended to be more understanding and sentimental, so she found it hard to kill Gordon.

Taking advantage of her hesitation, Gordon got up from the ground and backed away to keep a distance from her.

"W- What's in your hand?" He noticed that Snow was pointing a box at him and an ominous feeling overwhelmed him.

"Gordon, this box contains poisonous daggers that Leon gave me! The poison on the daggers is extremely lethal and would kill you within seconds! If you know what's best for yourself, you'll let me go, or I'll show you no mercy!" She warned and aimed the box at him to threaten him into letting her go.

"What?!" Gordon did not expect Snow to have so many tricks in protecting herself.

Knowing that he would die if Snow attacked with the daggers, his heart sank and he instantly gave up on claiming Snow as his.

"Snow, it was all just a misunderstanding. Don't shoot the daggers out of the box! If you want to leave, I'll let you go! I won't stop you!" He smiled sheepishly, his arrogance from the earlier exchange vanishing without a trace.

"Good! Move over to the side. Don't get close to me or get in my way!" Snow relaxed and instructed him to move away as she moved closer to the door while aiming the box at him.

"Snow, wait!" Gordon called out when Snow was right by the door.

"What else do you want?" She questioned coldly without letting her guard down.

"Well, here's my car key! It's easier for you to leave in my car," Gordon offered sincerely.

"Oh, okay, then. Throw it over!" Snow said thoughtfully.

Her power was sealed and she dared not to allow Gordon close enough to unseal her power. Hence, it would be much easier for her to leave by car once she obtained Gordon's car key.
