

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 1930

Chapter 1930

"Darius, just let me explain," Gordon was upset that he was not given the chance to explain himself.

"There's nothing to explain! I'll only say this one last time. Get your arse over here and break your arm to apologize to Miss Poole!" Darius roared in fury.

Gordon tempered with Elegante Group's cosmetic products a few days ago, and Darius was forced to negotiate with Leon in the hope of protecting Gordon. In the end, Leon decided to spare Gordon out of respect for Darius and the Hughes Group.

Not only did Gordon not learn his lesson, but his action also escalated and he went as far as to kidnapping Snow, 1

Darius knew that he could not protect Gordon the second time and if he handed Gordon over to Leon, Leon would destroy Gordon.

Despite what Gordon did, he was still Darius' brother-in-law, so that was the last thing Darius wish to see. Hence, he insisted that Gordon break his arm to apologize so that Snow would forgive him before Leon hurried over.

Since Snow was not injured, Leon might vent his anger on Gordon but would spare his life out of respect for the Hughes and Darius would be able to answer Leon concerning the incident.

Frankly, he was trying to protect Gordon, but Gordon did not understand his effort and insisted on arguing.

"No way! Seth and Joel wanted to attack Snow and I brought her here to protect her. Besides, I didn't do anything wrong or hurt her, so why should I have to apologize to her?" Gordon retorted stubbornly.

"Are you seriously still arguing after all that you've done? Do you have a death wish? If you won't break your arm, I'll help you with that!" Furious, Darius strode toward Gordon.

"Darius, I'm not arguing. I'm telling the truth! I'm your brother-in-law! Why would you believe an outsider over me?!" Terrified, Gordon fumbled up and backed away.

During both incidents when Elegante Group's products were swapped and when Snow was captured, Darius sided with Leon and injured Gordon twice with no mercy.

At this moment, Darius was about to break his arm as an apology to Snow, and Gordon could not help but resent Darius for it.

"You scum, just how shameless can you be? I would've killed you right here and now if you weren't my brother-in-law!" Sensing no remorse from Gordon, Darius was livid.

Without further delay, he darted forward and reached for Gordon's arm to break it by force so that he could answer Snow and Leon.