

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 1995

Chapter 1995

"Mister Glasbey, could you have made a mistake?' Scott snapped out of it and asked.

Both Chad and Jerry found it difficult to believe that Leon was a Platinum Dragon Guard.

"It's not a mistake! Leon might not be in the Almighty State just yet, but he was able to kill one of the eight criminals, Asmodeus, all by himself! I assume he isn't far from reaching the Almighty State!" Alfred deadpanned.

"So he was the one who killed Asmodeus!"

Scott and the other two were absolutely flabbergasted.

Though Asmodeus was only a martial artist in the Semi-Almighty State, he was a sly man who possessed an Almighty Weapon, the Cuff of Doom.

Even martial artists in the Initial Almighty State might struggle to defeat Asmodeus alone.

If Leon managed to kill Asmodeus, it would mean that Leon was just as formidable.

However, they soon realized that it did not seem possible for Leon to defeat Asmodeus on his own if he was not in the Almighty State unless he had the help of someone far more powerful.

"Could it be that this kid came in through connections?"

Realization dawned on the trio.

According to the promotion system in the Dragon Corps, Platinum Dragon Guards were selected from martial artists who reached the Almighty State. If Leon was given the title without having reached the Almighty State, it would mean that he was promoted to the position due to his connection with someone important in the Dragon Corps.

They then concluded that the person backing Leon might have killed Asmodeus and gifted Leon with his contribution points so that Leon could be promoted to a fifth-level Platinum Dragon Guard.

"I see!"

They all assumed that Leon did not win his title by true strength and instantly began to look down at Leon.

Still, how Leon managed to rise to his rank did not matter to them, so they did not think much of it.

"Alright, I'll be assigning you all to your respective tasks! Two days ago, the Dragon Corps in the western region had sought our help to plan an attack on Poisonwielder. I'm sending in the six of you guys." Alfred cut to the chase and started briefing them on the plan.

"That's good!' Scott, Chad, and Jerry felt motivated.

They had all heard that the Dragon Corps in the western region needed help with their attack on Poisonwielder, but none of them expected themselves to be included in the mission.

Although Poisonwielder was powerful and the mission had its risks, they would obtain a large number of contribution points and also eliminate a threat to the public if they succeeded.

It was the perfect chance for them to showcase their value, and everyone was excited to be entrusted with the mission.
