

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 2097

Chapter 2097

"Mister Morrison, you have been mistaken. To tell you the truth, the production of alchemical pills requires an enormous supply of rare herbs and materials... It's not that easy to gather the supplies..." Leon explained his concerns.

To prepare for the second sales drive, Leon had used up most of the herbs he received from the Shears and the Scammells. If he wished to produce enough pills for the market in the western region as well, he would need to give the Shears and the Scammells time to restock.

He had only refrained from agreeing to the partnership out of concern that the supply would not meet the demand. It was not because of concerns about the profits he would make.

"I see! Mister Wolf, if that's what you are worried about, please rest assured! I'm sure there are rare herbs in the western region as well. I can get my hands on them," Hugo said with a smile.

"That's right. I almost forgot about it!"

The herb suppliers in the western region were bound to have their own stock. Since the Morrisons were extremely powerful in the western region, it would not be challenging for them to obtain herbs that had grown for hundreds of years.

"Just leave it to me! Give me a list of what you need, and I will gather them as soon as possible!" Hugo promised.

"Sure! If you can gather enough herbs, Cynthion Group will begin production immediately! As for the partnership deal, you have my consent!" Leon said.

"Great! Mister Wolf, please give me your number so that we can keep in touch!" Hugo beamed and felt relieved that Leon had finally agreed to the partnership.

Leon handed a list of herbs he needed to Hugo afterward, and the two exchanged numbers.

Once everything was in place, Hugo bid his farewell and left with his subordinates.

"Leon, Iris, if that's everything, we should get going as well!" The Shears said.

The Shears had been in the sales drive to maintain order. Since the sales drive was over, there was no point for them to stay around any longer after members of the other families departed.

"Elder Scammell, please wait! There's something I need to hand over to you!" Leon called out before shooting a look at Iris.

Iris brought over a few flasks of alchemical pills and handed them to Patrick.

"Elder Scammell, Uncle Damian, these two flasks contain three hundred premium Energy Nurturing Pills and six Supreme Pure Energy Pills... The other two flasks contain two Cleansing Pills and two Sun Pills. I've prepared these specifically for the Scammells..." Leon said with a smile.

"What?"

"Two Cleansing Pills?!"

Patrick and Damian gasped in shock.

Leon had only offered four Cleansing Pills up for sale during the sales drive, and all the families had fought for a chance to obtain the pills.

After the entire ordeal, the Thompsons were the only ones who managed to obtain two Cleansing Pills due to their relationship with Leon.

Hence, the Scammells were all stunned that Leon had prepared two Cleansing Pills for them.
