

Chapter 822 The Forged Invitation Card

Casper's wife was deeply shocked by the slap.

Casper's wife, covering the red mark on her palm, trembled as she saw Liam approaching again. Seeking shelter behind Casper, she pleaded, "Honey, this man assaulted me. Please protect me!"

Having been on the receiving end of Liam's beating previously, Casper refrained from confrontation. He scoffed and said, "We shouldn't waste our time with such a brute. Don't worry. Someone will put him in his place eventually."

Attempting to divert attention, Casper pretended to check the time and said, "Darling, it's late. Let's head inside and leave them out here."

Showing off his invitation to Yesenia, Casper boasted, "Have you seen this before? It's coated in gold, symbolizing our esteemed status!"

Seizing the opportunity, Casper's wife ridiculed Julie, "Are you envious of us? Envy won't serve you well. Especially when you've married such an ineffectual

Casper's wife was deeply shocked by the slap.

Casper's wife, covering the red mark on her palm, trembled as she saw Liam approaching again. Seeking shelter behind Casper, she pleaded, "Honey, this man assaulted me. Please protect me!"

Having been on the receiving end of Liam's beating previously, Casper refrained from confrontation. He scoffed and said, "We shouldn't waste our time with such a brute. Don't worry. Someone will put him in his place eventually."

Attempting to divert attention, Casper pretended to check the time and said, "Darling, it's late. Let's head inside and leave them out here."

Showing off his invitation to Yesenia, Casper boasted, "Have you seen this before? It's coated in gold, symbolizing our esteemed status!"

Seizing the opportunity, Casper's wife ridiculed Julie, "Are you envious of us? Envy won't serve you well. Especially when you've married such an ineffectual husband!"

Livid at Liam's incompetence, Yesenia said to Liam coldly, "It's all your fault! Your incompetence is embarrassing us here."

Julie remained silent, her face drained of color. She was angry but unsure how to express it.

Chapter 822 The Forged Invitation ... 🎁 +120 Points at most coldly, "It's all your fault! Your incompetence is embarrassing us here."

Julie remained silent, her face drained of color. She was angry but unsure how to express it.

Unexpectedly, Liam interjected icily, "Wasn't this invitation card purchased rather than received from the Murray family? The gold layer you mentioned might be worth less than copper. I advise you not to enter. You might get thrown out for using a fake card!"

Casper, angered by Liam's comment, yelled, "You know nothing, you rustic fool! Don't speak on things you've never experienced. You're just envious of me!"

In fact, the invitation card was bought from the black market, not acquired from the Murray family. However, the seller had guaranteed its authenticity, and Casper never doubted it.

Observing Casper's unwavering stubbornness, Liam expressed his disapproval with a disdainful shake of his head before discreetly messaging Bowen using his mobile phone.

Liam then sneered at Casper, "I'm envious of you? What if I told you I could get in without the invitation card? Would you believe me?"

Casper's family laughed again at Liam's claim. Casper said sarcastically, "Liam, don't tell me you

Chapter 822 The Forged Invitation ... 🎁 +120 Points at most don't know that this is the richest man's banquet in Salem. I suggest you refrain from boasting. You'll face dire consequences if you try to enter without an invitation!"

Both Casper's family and Yesenia found amusement in the situation, but Yesenia's amusement soon turned to frustration. Convinced that Liam was boasting and lacked common sense, she scolded, "Liam, if you don't comprehend the situation, it's better to stay silent. Do you not realize the humiliation Julie and I are already enduring?"

Even Julie found it hard to believe Liam. Among the family members, Asher was the sole supporter of Liam. Seeing everyone's doubts about Liam, he innocently said, "I trust Dad. Dad is the best!"

With a pitiful expression, Casper shook his head disdainfully and urged his wife, "Let's not waste time with these losers. Let's go in."

Casper led his family confidently toward the guard at the door and respectfully handed over the invitation card.

However, to their shock, the guard glanced at the card and immediately stopped them.

Casper and his family stood bewildered. Just like Liam said before, the invitation card was fake. The guard at

Chapter 822 The Forged Invitation ... 🎁 +120 Points at most the banquet entrance said coldly, "How dare you replicate the invitation card and attempt to deceive your way in! Get out of here!"

AD I want no ads >