

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress

Boss Chapter 1775

Chapter 1775 He Didn't Think About Anything

Clayton's voice was extraordinarily soothing late at night and had the effect of a lullaby.

Unknowingly, Nicole fell asleep.

Clayton saw that Nicole was sleeping soundly. After a while, he quietly got out of bed and went to the study to deal with some company affairs.

The next day.

The weather suddenly turned cold. When Nicole got up, the sky outside was still a bit gloomy.

Clayton knew her habits and did not force her to recuperate at home. Nicole enjoyed going to work too much, even though she often did not do much work when she was at the office.

Early in the morning, Clayton made breakfast and woke Nicole up with a warm voice. Nicole squinted her eyes and did not want to get up. She just nestled her head on his chest.

Since he could not touch her like he wanted to early in the morning, Clayton felt uncomfortable.

Clayton restrained himself and woke her up. His voice was low and hoarse.

"Come on, get up! Stop fooling around."

After Nicole successfully aroused a certain part of his body, she felt satisfied and wanted to wash up

As a result, Clayton pulled her back to the bed, lowered his gaze, and looked at her deeply.

"If you really don't wanna get up, why don't you call in sick today?"

Nicole touched his abs which felt so firm and nice to the touch. This was hers, so she could touch him whenever she wanted to.

While touching him, she shook her head with great difficulty.

“No, I can’t be lazy!”

Nicole looked so witty like a little she-devil and was simply challenging Clayton’s willpower.

Clayton took a deep breath and lowered his head to kiss her.

Nicole saw that Clayton was about to lose control and regretted teasing him so early in the morning.

Finally, she could only helplessly beg for mercy. She really could not be late today because there was an important meeting in the morning. Since Kai was away on business, Nicole had to be there.

Clayton’s eyes were bloodshot. He wiped the corner of her lips with his thumb and looked at her with a doting and sympathetic gaze. How did he manage to marry such a dainty little lady?

However, this way, she would learn her lesson.

Clayton got up and carried Nicole to the bathroom. She had barely any strength, so he helped her to wash up and was just short of helping her change her clothes. Nicole then kicked him out.

Finally, Clayton sent her to work. When he was kissing her goodbye, he saw Logan waiting for her at the door.

Logan rushed to meet her when he saw her getting out of the car.

“President...”

They ensured that Nicole always had someone by her side, no matter at work or out of work. There would always be someone there to protect her.

Nicole also did not refuse. Anyway, she did not hate those people, so there was no harm in having more attention.

Once Clayton left, Logan looked at Nicole and paused. He looked hesitant.

He did not know what to say.

Nicole gave him a look. “Just spit it out!”

.

Logan pursed his lips and took a clean mask from his pocket.

“Why don’t you wear this first?”

Nicole frowned and took it over. “Why?”

Logan then took out a round makeup mirror from his pocket and handed it to her.

“Take a look for yourself.”

Logan thought, ‘It was just a goodbye kiss and just a short few hours of separation... Did they need to be so intense?’

Nicole’s lips were bright and red, slightly swollen with blood. Who could not see what was going on?

Logan was too embarrassed to look at Nicole again as he was afraid that she would think that he was frivolous.

Nicole saw her own lips, froze for a moment, immediately took out the mask, and put it on.

While putting it on and walking, she weakly explained.

“I may be allergic to something. That’s why my lips are like this. Don’t think too much...”

Logan said, “Yes, President. I didn’t think much about it...”

‘Haha, that’s not true. It’s all excuses! I saw it with my own eyes, so why would I still need to use my imagination?’ Logan thought.

Nicole looked at Logan in anger. He was so perfunctory, so he was probably already imagining things.

At once, Nicole felt a surge of anger and could not help but speed up her pace. She was walking like she was flying

Logan immediately caught up to her.

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 1776

Chapter 1776 Chain Reaction

Everyone passing by did not even get the chance to say hello since Nicole and Logan were running away one after the other.

Luckily, they came in time and did not delay the meeting.

Nicole went in with a mask. The others were all seated.

The project director gave her the new proposal.

“President, I’ve already told President Kai about this project, but he didn’t agree with our competition plan. If we don’t prepare in advance, according to our opponent’s development, they will likely become a threat to us!”

It could be seen that this director was very eager for this project.

A team of fresh college graduates had set up a new company.

This small startup became a thorn in their side at this moment.

The reason was that as soon as the website they designed went online, it attracted a lot of traffic. In just six months, this startup became the object of everyone’s competition for investment and acquisition.

However, these graduates were smart. They only accepted high investments but not acquisitions.

They were not blinded by the small profits and immediate vested interests.

According to their current progression, they would certainly have a bright future.

However, their project collided with Stanton Corporation’s long-term investment. Stanton Corporation prepared for this project for two years. Once the time was right, they planned to go online, which would certainly go viral.

At this juncture, this startup suddenly appeared and launched this ahead of schedule, stealing all the limelight from Stanton Corporation.

This meant that all preparations Stanton Corporation had done in the previous two years were all wasted.

Their superiority was beaten by the startup’s fast innovation. Thus, their project could only be abandoned before it was even launched.

Nicole knew about this, and so did Kai.

Kai intended to give up the project.

After all, someone launched it first, and their traffic was unstoppable. If Stanton Corporation released a similar website at this time, the effect would not be great. Rather, it would be counterproductive.

They thought of the worst possible outcome – plagiarism, stealing traffic, stealing newcomers

'works...

This would cause a huge blow to a corporation that valued its reputation.

Nicole was aware, so she had been hesitating about this matter for some time recently on whether to give up or not.

It was a pity to just give up like this. Since they invested a lot of money in this project, that money would be lost if they just gave up.

However, not giving up might cause a negative chain reaction.

There was a heated discussion with all sorts of opinions in the meeting

Aside from those who were in the project department, everyone else advocated abandoning this project. They preferred to preserve the whole group and not take any risks.

However, the project team was not willing to do that because they had been working on this project for two years.

"President, we can't just give up like this! Even if we're late to the game, they still don't have a registered trademark. We've done all the preparation work two years ago, so we can explain to the public then."

"Why would the public listen to you about this? Don't do pointless work..."

"Yes, it's not too late to cut our losses now."

Nicole listened quietly and looked to the silent Tucker on the side.

Tucker came back from his post in J&L Corporation three months ago. His growth was rapid, so Nicole did not stint on talent and gave him better treatment and a higher position.

"Tucker, how's the investigation of this matter going?"

As soon as Nicole spoke, everyone consciously stopped arguing.

Tucker sat upright and looked at her with a straight face.

"President, I've sent some people to find out about Z Technologies. The general manager of Z Technologies, Luke Youngblood, and his team are mostly fresh graduates. Luke Youngblood graduated from a domestic university and went abroad for further studies. When he returned, he founded Z Technologies. According to my understanding, they're short of money, but they also know that they're holding onto a treasure that can generate money. Many angel investors previously offered to get a share in their startup but were rejected."

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress

Boss Chapter 1777

Chapter 1777 Difficulties in Acquisition

At the meeting The person sitting next to Tucker could not help but snort coldly. "He really thinks too highly of himself and doesn't want money? Is he trying to get rich with a single step? He doesn't know how the world works!" "Yes, I don't think we should give him the money.

Let's just see how he can go on without money. Perhaps in less than a month, they'll have to declare bankruptcy!" "Tucker, how did you arrange your people to work there? Are you sure that this is the real situation?" Seeing that everyone was going to bicker again, Nicole rubbed her temples. Her tone turned slightly cold. "He's not done yet, so you guys can discuss it later."

Everyone looked at each other, pursed their lips, and shut up. Although they were upset, they did not dare to say anything. The people present occupied important positions in the company and had to respect Nicole, so they certainly did not dare to oppose. As for the other shareholders, Nicole made them flustered as soon as she just joined the office. In front of Floyd Stanton, those shareholders were still somewhat respected, but in front of Nicole, they were nothing. They could not help it because Nicole was the Stanton family's baby.

Tucker cleared his throat, looked at everyone, and continued to speak. "It's evident that Luke Youngblood intends to get a huge investment but wants to give less report on his operations. He only intends to sell 10% of their shares, so the investor would not have any say in major decisions." After that, everyone's expression changed. Nicole wrinkled her eyebrows slightly. 10 % of their shares with no say in decisions.

Luke Youngblood was really confident in his company, huh? "These youngsters who just started their own business see themselves as the next richest person in the world, so they don't want to give up too much in the beginning. This is expected..." Nicole spoke lightly, glanced at Tucker, then adjourned the meeting. Afterward, she stood up and left.

Everyone still had not yet returned to their senses when Nicole was already gone from the conference room. However, it was rare that they did not continue discussing. They could tell that Nicole was quite angry. Logan went into the office with Nicole, then Tucker followed suit. Nicole poured herself a cup of fruit tea, took a sip, and put it down. She then slowly calmed down.

Tucker sat across the table. His face was quite tense. X "President, should we still continue this acquisition? The people we sent have all been discovered. If we send more people there, Luke Youngblood will just raise the price since he'll know how much we want it. Then, we'll lose the initiative." 20 BE Of course, Nicole understood this reasoning.

An investor who took the initiative to negotiate too many times would only give the other party more confidence. It would be very unfavorable for negotiation. However, the acquisition of Z Technologies was the most beneficial to Stanton Corporation. This was the only way to get Z Technologies in the bag and allow Stanton Corporation's project to be launched smoothly so as not to attract the public's criticism. The biggest problem now was how to acquire them. Logan poured a cup of coffee for Tucker, who hurriedly got up to thank him.

Logan patted his shoulder, smiled, and sat on the side. Nicole took a deep breath. "How many partners do they have in total? Do they all have a say?" Tucker replied, "Including Luke Youngblood, there are three of them. They all have a say, but they pretty much oc oo listen to Luke Youngblood. The other two people are more inclined toward technology.

By the way, I heard that Luke Youngblood and his girlfriend are getting married soon." Nicole nodded. The girlfriend did not participate in the company's affairs, indicating that she did not play an important role. She looked at the computer screen in front of her and slid her fingers around. She looked at Logan and said, "Make an appointment with Luke Youngblood to have a meal together." Logan nodded. "Yes, President."

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 1778

Chapter 1778 He's Very Important

Tucker knitted his brows and was somewhat confused. "President, if you go in person, won't it be too grand." Nicole laughed. "That's one aspect, but it can also be interpreted as an ultimatum." Of course, this would not be the last time they interacted. It was just giving Luke Youngblood some psychological pressure. Tucker sighed with relief and nodded. "Then shall I accompany you?" 20 Nicole shook her head, picked up the fruit tea, and took a sip.

"No need." Nicole just wanted to meet this fresh graduate. Naturally, she would not bring more people with her as it would give that youngster an illusion that he was too important. Logan successfully made an appointment with Luke Youngblood. They would meet at IZ Technologies' office. Nicole changed into a more casual dress and a pair of soft-soled sneakers before she went.

Clayton bought her these shoes from somewhere and said that they would be more comfortable to wear while shopping. Nicole did not wear it much, but this time, it felt very comfortable like she was stepping on a cloud. Logan saw Nicole taking her time to admire herself and those shoes in the office mirror and did not know if he should rush her for a moment. © He saw that she even took out her phone and took a few pictures of her shoes. She probably sent them to someone and started to type messages on her phone.

Of course, Nicole sent the picture to Clayton Clayton's response was quick. [Going out?] Nicole replied. [Yeah, to talk about an acquisition. Aren't you very experienced in acquisitions? Do you want to pass on some tips?] Clayton hesitated for a long time. Why don't I go with you?] He did not know how to teach her for a while. So Nicole refused. That's not necessary. It's a business secret, so I'm forbidden to leak any news.]

Clayton replied. [.....] When Nicole made money, she certainly remembered about trade secrets. Nicole put down her phone, picked up her bag, and walked out.) "Let's go." Logan breathed a sigh of relief and immediately followed. The driver was waiting downstairs. Since Nicole was pregnant, she rarely went out personally to talk business. This time, it was a rather exceptional situation

. When she arrived at the office building, it looked a little old. She knew this place, which was in the outer ring of the city center. It was once quite prosperous, but with the development of the city center, this place gradually declined. However, the rental and market value of this area was very high. Many entrepreneurs liked to start earning their first bucket of money here. 000 Logan was walking behind her with a briefcase.

He saw that she was walking very fast and could not help but feel a little worried. "President, walk slowly. Please take care of your body." Nicole turned back and shot him a cold glare, then took a step forward. When they got to the elevator, Logan could not help but speak. "Your pregnancy hasn't been announced yet, so later when they bring you coffee, you have to hold back your urge to drink it Logan had been working for Nicole for so long, so he naturally knew about Nicole's love for coffee. However, after she got pregnant, she stopped drinking coffee. Thinking about Clayton's instructions, Logan must keep an eye on Nicole at all times and must not be careless. Logan was even more afraid to take it lightly.

Nicole clicked her tongue. "Why are you so naggy?" Logan spoke weakly. "These are special circumstances. I'm afraid that you'll forget." Nicole rolled her eyes and did not want to argue with him. Once she got out of the elevator, the hallway was cramped, narrow, and dark. They could barely see where they were going Luckily, the lights were sound-activated. Logan stomped his feet, and the place lit up. They walked further and saw a neater and brighter reception. Only then did they feel slightly more comfortable. There was a beautiful young lady at the front desk. When she saw Nicole and Logan walking over, lit up. her eyes 12 "Are you Ms. Stanton?"