

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 1851

Chapter 1851 Sold Me Out

The people in the hall were all whispering.

They all witnessed how enthusiastic and clingy this woman was to Ian earlier.

However, no one dared to be nosy, except for Yvette.

Yvette deliberately laughed and said, "Wait, weren't you trying to cling onto Ian earlier?"

The girl's face was stiff and glum. She was frightened by Riley's cold and stern gaze and cowered for a moment.

"Get out here!"

Riley yelled.

The girl had no choice but to get up obediently.

She had no right to refuse.

Riley had just taken two steps outside when he suddenly thought of something.

He then walked up to Nicole and thanked her seriously.

"If it wasn't for you, I would've been cheated to death by this woman. Thanks!"

Nicole raised her eyebrows. "You're welcome."

SOOOOONN

Her initial purpose was not for Riley, but for Ian.

When the delicate girl saw this scene, her eyes which were filled with hot tears looked a little shocked.

She suddenly ran over and yelled at Nicole.

"You're the one who told him! You betrayed me! You liar!"

She was about to rush up and attack Nicole, but Nicole subconsciously took a step back.

Ian, who was next to Nicole, could not help but step forward to grab the girl's arm and pushed her away.

The girl did not stand still and fell to the ground. She felt humiliated when she saw Ian pushing her away and began to cry.

"You guys are too much! You're all bullies! I'm going to expose you all!"

Ian beckoned for the two bodyguards to come in.

(Throw her out."

"Yes, sir."

Initially, Ian wanted Riley to solve the problem by himself, but Riley was not only brainless. He was also useless.

The bodyguards carried the girl by each arm and headed out without another word.

It was useless no matter how much she struggled or cried

The large banquet hall finally quieted down.

Ian glanced at Riley. "Why are you still standing here? Get out."

Riley felt guilty and touched his nose. He then turned around and left.

He had to get rid of that woman first.

The director breathed a sigh of relief and immediately smiled at the others.

"This is a misunderstanding. She's just a crazy person. It's Mr. Carter's birthday today, so it's best not to spread this matter and cause unnecessary trouble."

After all, the cast and crew who attended this banquet were accounted for.

Once news of this leaked out, it would not be difficult to find out who did it.

Who would want to offend the director and Ian?

Everyone immediately dispersed as if nothing had happened.

Compared to what happened just now, the small quarrel between Kirsi and Lorelai at the beginning was nothing.

Lorelai sheepishly turned off her phone. She instantly stopped herself from wanting to post this online.

The director's warning was clear as day, and she was not that stupid.

Ian loosened his collar and walked up to Nicole.

"Are you alright?"

Nicole nodded. "I'm fine."

"Did you get him to come? How'd you know..."

Ian spoke mid-sentence. He did not even want to mention that woman.

Nicole laughed. "It was a chance encounter. That woman didn't know that I lost my memory, so she told me everything. This time, I decided to ask Riley to come over."

Tan breathed a sigh of relief and laughed leisurely. He pointed at Nicole.

This made me so upset all night! Why didn't you tell me sooner?

Nicole smiled and spoke

"She asked me not to tell Riley, and I didn't know that she'd come back to you."

Who knew that this woman was so thick skinned?

Yvette smiled meaningfully.

"Carter, you'd better polish your eyes. If a few more of these women come to you like this, you'll sooner or later lose your family fortune!"

Julie was not that interested. "Yeah, it's all thanks to Nicole this time. Otherwise, that woman will pester you to death!"

Chapter 1853

Send Her Back Ian laughed and put the car keys in his pocket. "I drank earlier, so I can't drive."

Kirsi also laughed.

The two got into the car, and the driver in front froze for a moment. "Mr. Carter, where should we go?"

Ian did not answer and looked at Kirsi.

Kirsi closed her eyes and told the driver her address. The driver then started the car.

It was not far since it was still on the set.

Ian asked, "Isn't the film over? What are you going back to shoot?"

Kirsi opened her eyes slightly. Her eyes were watery and hazy, just like someone else's eyes. At that moment, Ian stiffened slightly.

"I have another film that starts shooting tomorrow. It's nearby."

"You're so busy?"

"Continuously being on the set is a good thing. It just proves that I'm still popular."

Kirsi smiled. Her eyes were twinkling with some shrewdness.

In their line of work, receiving films continuously was a type of recognition.

Dying from exhaustion was better than being idle.

Ian laughed and did not comment on it.

However, her watery eyes from that glimpse earlier lingered in his mind. He could not seem to forget them.

The set was just ten minutes away. After they arrived, Kirsi got off, and Ian stayed in the car.

Kirsi turned around and leaned down to look at Ian.

“Thank you, Mr. Carter.”

Ian smiled. He was immersed in the darkness from the dim light, so she could not see his face clearly.

“You’re welcome.”

After the car door closed, the car fell silent.

The driver glanced through the rearview mirror.

“Mr. Carter, should we head home?”

Ian rubbed his eyes and thought, ‘I really drank too much today. Otherwise, how could I look at Kirsi’s eyes and think that they’re similar to Nicole’s eyes? The two of them are completely different!

Ian let out a faint “mm”, closed his eyes, and fell into silence again.

In the car, Nicole chattered about what happened today to Clayton.

Clayton listened with a smile. When he heard Kirsi’s name, his eyebrows wrinkled slightly.

There seemed to be something wrong.

Nicole did not miss that reaction. She looked at him and paused.

“You know her?”

Usually, Clayton could not even recognize celebrities and always called them by the wrong name.

oooh ooo

How could he react to Kirsi’s name then?

That was why Nicole felt even more strange.

Clayton laughed, recovered his composure, and immediately explained.

“Don’t misunderstand me. I just find it a little odd.”

“What’s odd?”

Nicole turned her head to the side. She sent the photos she took earlier to their group chat

Ian was also in the group chat, and his birthday was worth the remembrance.

Clayton hesitated to speak, and Nicole was getting a bit impatient.

“Tell me! How do you know her?”

“I’m not sure if I should say it since it’s someone else’s privacy.”

Clayton was a little hesitant.

Nicole raised her eyebrows and laughed coldly.

“Fine, then you don’t need to say anything. Send me back to the Stanton Mansion, and you can go back home yourself. I want to play with Chatty and I don’t want to be disturbed.”

Clayton’s face changed slightly, and he immediately compromised.

“I’m Chatty’s dad, so I can play with her too...”

His darling daughter, who had just started to speak incoherently, had not yet learned to call him “Daddy”, so how could Clayton be absent from her growth?

Nicole simply stabbed a knife into his heart.

What did someone else’s privacy matter anyway?

Clayton immediately changed his tune.”

Actually, it’s nothing. Just now, you said that Kirsi is Lumi Makinen’s sister, and Lumi is married to Samuel Lindstrom?”

Nicole smiled and nodded her head.

“Yup.”

After a few seconds, Clayton spoke with a dark gaze.

“But I saw Kirsi Makinen kissing Samuel Lindstrom before.”

In an instant, Nicole’s face stiffened slightly. She looked up at Clayton in shock.

Clayton would never joke about such things.
