The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss

Chapter 2041

Clayton took a deep look at her, and his chest was very dull. He looked at the snow-white skin on Nicole's chest. His eyes darkened, and he pulled the thin blanket on the side to cover her.

Clayton: "Wait, let's have dinner together at night" Nicole smiled and watched him walk out with a dark face. Inexplicably, She feel better. Listening to him outside, she snorted coldly in a bad tone"

"I thought you didn't even knock on the door when the earthquake happened?" Nicole stretched, tidied up her clothes, and lay back down.

After a while, she fell asleep in a daze.

When she wake up again, it's getting dark. It was dark night outside the curtains.

It took her a while to react before she remembered where this place was.

She heard a faint movement outside, which lowered the voice.

It was Clayton who deliberately lowered his voice to speak on the phone.

Nicole went down barefoot and looked down through the floor-to-ceiling windows.

The road fed by the neon lights was like a silent dragon, dazzling and dark, winding all the way to the end.

After Clayton finished the phone call, he looked at no one on the bed and was stunned for a moment.

Then looked at Nicole standing there. He turned on the lights.

The light instantly filled the entire room.

Nicole turned back.

Clayton smiled, "Finally woke up? Can you still fall asleep at night?"

Nicole stretched and spread her arms to act like a spoiled child: "Yes, you can coax me."

Clayton walked over and picked her up and put her away.

When he got to the bed, he touched her feet, and was relieved when he didn't feel cold.

"Thinking beautifully, I wish you couldn't sleep." Clayton smiled meaningfully.

His eyes dimmed.

Nicole looked away, pretending she didn't see. She remember exactly what happened before she went to sleep.

If something really happened here, how could she show up in the future? Clayton almost lost his mind because of her beauty.

Fortunately, Nicole figured it out in time.

However, Clayton knew that now was not the time, so he helped her put on her shoes and took her out of the company.

Nicole swept around, "why was there no one?"

Although the lights were bright, there was not even a single person working overtime.

Nicole glanced at Clayton: "Where's the person?"

Clayton pointed to his watch: "It's off work."

Nicole said, "Your company is so humane? Does anyone work overtime? Don't you earn overtime pay?"

Clayton smiled and glanced at her: "I think it's the same as you. It's easy to squeeze employees. Our company is humanized. Overtime is absolutely not recommended. Unless they volunteer to contribute to the company, I will never force it." Nicole tugged.

The corner of her mouth, this high-sounding hypocrite, how can Clayton shape himself so perfectly! When their company worked overtime, she even asked her aunt to make soup and send it over.

Seeing Nicole roll her eyes, Clayton smiled, put his arms around her shoulders and leaned on him: "It's not because you are sleeping here, I don't know when you will wake up, if others see it, you will give birth to me again. I'm angry."

After Clayton explained this, Nicole thought about it.

She chuckled lightly: "Won't it delay you from making money?"

Clayton glanced at her and said with a smile: "Then what will Miss Stanton pay me back?"

Nicole: "What do you think?"

"The meat compensation." Clayton said hoarsely and smiled in a low voice.

Nicole's face turned slightly red, and her footsteps couldn't help but quicken.

Clayton was really getting more and more impolite.

After Clayton finished teasing her, he followed her slowly, with a warm smile in his eyes.

There was a soft light under the lamp. It seemed that every time Clayton saw her, he was in a very happy mood.

The two want to go out for a walk, such a beautiful night, it was a waste not to date.

But it made Nicole a little angry to say that the children can't see Daddy and Mommy tonight.

She kept getting angry all the time, and the servant at home couldn't stand it anymore, so she could only say Clayton.

Clayton glanced at Nicole helplessly: "Let's go, there is another person in the family who needs to be coaxed."

Nicole raised his eyebrows, "Let's say that it is rare for children to lose their temper, and it is a good thing to lose their temper. It is better than a soft bun."

Clayton smiled, "That's right."

He instantly felt that talking about losing his temper was a trait of character, and having character meant strength.

Indirectly, that was to say that the child was a very strong child.

The two got into the car, and Nicole sat in the co-pilot. It was quiet without a trace of noise.

Watching his handsome profile flicker under the streetlights, she suddenly felt that the night was very beautiful.

Because of the people around her, and because of the people she will meet Nicole smiled, hesitated for a while, stretched out her arm, and poked Clayton's arm.

Clayton put his hand on the steering wheel down and shook hands with her casually.

Nicole couldn't help but bowed her head to appreciate the constant flow of heat from his warm palms.

The slender, clean fingers are like works of art.

Hand control people really can not help but want to kiss two.

But Nicole was in control, she couldn't do such a rude thing, In particular, she must maintain her noble image in front of Clayton.

Thinking of this, she immediately looked away and looked out the window. It was dark night.

There were few vehicles outside, but they also came and went, and the neon lights reflected the road ahead, which was long and far away.

Nicole suddenly thought of what Tina did today.

From school uniforms to wedding dresses, they couldn't stand the test of time.

Will they be together forever? Nicole tilted her head and looked at Clayton.

"President Sloan..." Clayton raised his eyebrows when he heard the word 'President Sloan' Usually, she would call him that only when she thoughtfully wanted to give him a problem.

Maybe Nicole didn't realize her little habit.

"You said." She thought halfway through and stopped immediately.

Originally she wanted to ask, what would happen if he changed his mind? But all of a sudden he was head-scratching.

As soon as these words came out, he was paranoid and fell behind.

In marriage, the most taboo was to worry about gain and loss.

This was also the reason why Nicole had been sober all the time.

She would never indulge in the sweet dates given by others.

Be prepared for danger in times of peace, this sentence was true whether it was in the shopping mall or in marriage.

Clayton glanced at her, but couldn't be distracted while driving, and squeezed her palm: "what's the matter, talk?"

Nicole coughed and smiled, with a sloppy poise on the corner of her mouth: "If one day, I've changed my mind, what do you do?"

She reversed the roles, and the meaning in her words was completely different.

In an instant, Clayton's smile disappeared completely.

He looked at her with dark eyes, and pursed his lips: "Did Eric harass you today?" His voice was low and hoarse, as if gritting his back molars.

Clayton suddenly felt a kind of anger and panic in his heart.

Nicole was stunned for a moment, then smiled: "Don't think too much, I just asked casually."

She took a deep breath, feeling like a sc*mbag with this question.

Sure enough, instead of worrying about others leaving her, it is better to let others worry about her leaving others.

The initiative still has to be handed over to oneself.

A stupid person like Tina will spend half her life.

Nicole is different, she is very confident, at least looking at Clayton's love for herself, it is no problem to keep it for ten or twenty years.

As for the future, or worry about it later.

Nicole said it casually, but Clayton took it to heart.

He has been secretly speculating, and he can't calm down at all.

Seeing that he was about to turn a corner, Clayton walked straight.

Nicole was stunned for a moment and reminded her: "I passed..."

Clayton smiled, and his warm eyes were instantly clean: "I forgot to tell you, I still made an appointment with a friend. Hot spring, aren't you in a bad mood today? Go take a dip and relieve your fatigue."

"Then talk about it." Nicole hesitated.

Tell me that the children are still waiting at home! Clayton could only aggrieve his precious daughter: "It's fine, just fall asleep."

Nicole snorted, not realizing Clayton's emotional change.

At the door of the hot spring manor, Nicole stood there, and the cold wind hit, she shivered.

Fortunately, Clayton had her shawl on his car.

He casually draped Nicole over his shoulders.

Clayton's friend had been waiting there for a long time and greeted Nicole: "Sister-in-law, thank you for your honor." Nicole smiled, "Thank you for your invitation."

Don't look at Nicole being so playful, she didn't know there was a hot spring here.

Clayton hugged her and went in, "This is the artificially introduced hot spring water. It is not open to the public yet, but there are a lot of people here."

Looking at Nicole's surprised eyes, Clayton quickly added: "I am also the first Come once."

The friend behind followed him and said with a smile: "Yes, I have invited several times, and Clayton always shies away from being busy. I said that you brought your sister-in-law here. The fact is that hot springs are especially nourishing for women's skin that is much more effective than doing beauty treatments."

Nicole couldn't help smiling, Although it was bragging, it was also pleasing to hear.

As soon as she entered the door, many people in the lobby were joking.

Clayton was really right, there were not too many people.

Nicole glanced at them and almost knew them all, They're all people in the mall.

Doesn't Nicole go to bars and clubs now and change them into hot springs? But with so many people, she was really exhausted and sighed secretly.

Clayton shook her hand, smiled and said to the friend next to her: "Take a private bath, my wife has been working all day and is too tired."

The friend immediately said: "Don't worry, I'm ready, do you need a massage? Both men and women!"

Nicole couldn't help but cast a glance at him.

Afraid of her misunderstanding, the friend immediately added: "It's a serious massage, all of them are blind, and I'm all for the public good."

Nicole didn't hold back, with a smile in her eyes: "No, thank you."

"Then call me again if you need to." Clayton greeted him and took Nicole to the corresponding room.

Nicole pulled off his shawl and smiled: "when did you meet a friend, it's quite interesting?"

Clayton raised his eyebrows: "I did a little favor before, I'm not here to bring you to know each other."

With a smile, Clayton pushed her shoulders: "Let's change clothes?"

Nicole nodded, since she's here, of course she has to enjoy it.

Just as she entered the locker room, her phone rang.

Clayton took it for her, because Julie knew that he was so out of temper.

Nicole glanced at him and picked the call up.

"I saw you, are you coming to the hot spring? Come out and say hello."

Nicole was taken aback, "Okay."

She put down the phone and smiled: "I know I'm here too, more Coincidentally, let me go out and say hello, do you want to join us?"

Clayton knew that they had a good relationship, so he didn't know how long it would take to greet him.

“Sorry, but I can’t stop it”

He sighed: “Forget it, remember to come back early, I’ll soak it first”

Nicole walked over and hugged him and kissed him gently: “It’s really sensible.”

Clayton smiled helplessly. It’s really being pinched by this woman.

Nicole happily took the mobile phone and went out the door.

As soon as he turned around, he saw Julie standing there talking to someone.

Like waiting for her.

Nicole walked over, and Julie waved quickly when she saw Nicole.

“Nicole, here_” Julie smiled and hugged her, teasing her in a low voice: “I just saw this business manager went in with you, didn’t you disturb your two-person world?”

Nicole tutted: “You should know it yourself, we are out on a date.” Julie smiled and blinked: “My fault, let me introduce you, this is Clarissa, The legal advisor of the crew.”

Nicole smiled and looked over, slightly taken aback.

It turned out to be the female companion beside Eric? What a coincidence.

However, because it was introduced by Julie, she was much less alert, and she became more enthusiastic and casual.

She stretched out her hand and took the initiative to shake hands: “Hello, I’m Nicole.”

With a smile in her eyes, she put down the air, very kind and gentle, with a frown and a smile, bright and generous.

Seeing her smiling and looking at Clarissa, Julie was very satisfied: “Miss Clarissa, this is Nicole, she sponsored a law firm that specializes in lawsuits for women, and she has also been involved. There are few shows, and the popularity is very high. If you are interested, you can talk to Nicole.”

Clarissa’s face flashed a trace of discomfort, but she still stretched out her hand, shook her hand, and instantly twitched back. She raised her eyes, but there was not much excitement in her eyes.

Looking at Julie is more enthusiastic than looking at Nicole.

Nicole pursed her lips, looked at Clarissa, and then looked at Julie.

Inexplicably felt a trace of first, and frowned suspiciously.

Where did you offend her? Even if I knew it, I didn't understand. I knew this Clarissa was so ignorant, why did I need to call Nicole out to say hello? It wasn't because she was kind enough to expand her personal network, so many people would not have the chance to meet Nicole.

Julie took a deep breath, but did not expect this Clarissa to be so blind.

On the surface, Julie smiled calmly and raised her eyebrows: "Ms. Clarissa is a top student studying law. Unlike us businessmen, she is cold-hearted and warm-hearted. She is very enthusiastic about public welfare undertakings. This time she is here with us. The crew is here to observe the feelings of the people."

Nicole smiled, looked at Julie, and said meaningfully: "You have come to the hot spring club to observe the feelings of the people? Your people's feelings are really noble."
