

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Chapter 2031

Chapter 2031

Nicole received the invitation to this auction when she was still in Esperanza.

It was Grant who wanted to make her happy, so she asked him to participate in such activities more.

Although there were no extra invitations, she didn't need it herself, just brush her face.

So as soon as she got home, she gave Luke the invitation.

A few days later.

The auction went ahead as scheduled.

Nicole and Clayton were together, she was wearing a beige skirt, which set off her laziness and beauty, and her slender waist was not full of grip.

The biggest highlight of this skirt was that the back was hollow, and anyone could vaguely see the beautiful and delicate butterfly bones.

Many people who came and went greeted Nicole, and Nicole nodded.

On the other hand, Clayton had been standing behind her, never leaving her. He was deliberately trying to block the eyes of others looking at her from behind. If he had known that Nicole was so sexy and beautiful, he would have participated in her hobby of choosing clothes. But when he sent the talk to the old house, Nicole had already arrived ahead of schedule.

Fortunately, Nicole also wore a transparent tulle shawl, which could create beautiful water patterns in the moonlight or in the gentle light, which matched her clothes well.

Jewelry auction was the last link. The banquet was brought forward.

Nicole looked around and really saw Luke. She breathed a sigh of relief, and it seemed that he was someone who could take chances very well.

She was right.

Clayton was saying a few words to the person opposite, and Nicole walked over with a glass of wine.

Opposite Luke was a colleague she knew, so it was appropriate to say hello.

But she didn't notice that there was a thick pillar where they were standing, and Eric was just blocked by the pillar. Hearing their conversation, Nicole nodded slightly.

"I am very interested in Mr. Youngblood's company. If Ferguson Corporation is willing to invest, H's project can be done together."

Nicole was taken aback. She held back and didn't roll her eyes.

The person who robbed her of Eric's dog days?

Luke smiled and declined, still acquainted: "Thank you for the kindness of President Ferguson, but Z Technologies has already been acquired, and I am not the actual shareholder."

"Oh? Why don't you bring your team and join J&L Corporation together? The Corporation is good..."

Luke said, "Z Technologies is the hard work of our team. It exists like a biological child. Which parent can throw away their child?"

Eric sank his face and did not continue to speak. Then turned around and left.

Luke was inexplicable, "Which sentence did I say wrong?"

The person on the opposite side smiled and smoothed out: "What a good opportunity, you rejected Eric. Of course he has a temper."

Luke thought to himself, what he said just now, isn't it? For Eric?

Luke smiled and shook his head and sighed: "It's embarrassing, but I can't help it."

If Nicole knew that he was against the water, he would like to find someone to kill him.

The person on the other side jumped in their hearts when they saw Nicole approaching, and quickly greeted them with a smile: "Miss Stanton, long time no see..."

Luke's eyelids also jumped, looking at Nicole, thinking to himself Your performance just now was not wrong, right?

Nicole glanced at Luke and Tina, Then said, "It's been a long time indeed."

Although the two were not familiar with each other to that extent, they still had a friendship playing of play-cards.

Tina took her arm affectionately: "It's been a long time since you came out to play. It's boring without you."

Nicole smiled, she actually admired Tina.

It was obvious that she and her husband had a very unsatisfactory life, but when they went out, they were of one mind.

Well, like the honey love period, She completely forgot about the third, fourth, and fifth. "I'll play again when I have a chance next time."

Luke nodded when they saw what they had to say: "Ms. Stanton, I'll excuse me now."

Nicole nodded.

Luke smiled and left immediately.

Tina stared at Luke, approached Nicole, and said in a low voice, "You know him? He's really handsome, and he's a good little fresh meat."

Nicole raised her eyebrows and smiled: "Why, I'm interested?"

"Can't you? After all, there are so many talented people around you. How can you turn one eye and close one eye?"

Tina was full of suspicion.

If Nicole and Luke were not familiar with each other, Luke would not stop at just two sentences if he wanted to cooperate.

They must know each other very well before they say hello and leave.

As for the degree of familiarity, Tina felt that Luke was right.

According to Nicole's playful temperament, there were constant rumors of little fresh meat before marriage. How could he be willing to be ordinary after marriage?

A moment of silence.

Nicole thought about it seriously and knew that Tina had misunderstood.

But how can you let others misunderstand yourself?

Is her image in everyone's heart so romantic?

Suddenly.

She choked on her chest, feeling inexplicably angry.

She stared at Tina for a few seconds, or maybe Tina was testing her here out of interest in Luke?

Then she can't make her wish. She smiled, groped for the wine glass in her hand, and said sloppily: "It's the same sentence, only children can do multiple-choice questions, adults can ask for several at a time."

Nicole admitted that it was too generous.

Tina choked, her face inexplicably became a little hesitant to speak.

The admiration in her eyes was uncontrollable.

Nicole couldn't help laughing.

Next second.

The sound of steady footsteps gradually came, and a hand was placed on Nicole's slender waist. She froze for a second, smelling the familiar warm and cold fragrance on Clayton.

She turned her head slowly.

Sure enough, Clayton's warm eyebrows and eyes were dyed a bit cold, and he looked at her with dark eyes.

Nicole's heart sank.

Didn't Clayton hear what she said just now? She paused for a while, then slowly pulled out a little smile: "Husband?"

Tina got into trouble. Seeing that, he couldn't stay any longer. He immediately put down the glass and found a reason: "Oh, Ms. Tina, it's been a long time."

Before he could finish his words, the person disappeared.

Nicole scolded her more than 800 times in her heart. Clayton squeezed her waist tightly, as if with a warning: "What did you say, Miss Stanton? Would you like to explain it to me?"

Nicole's insistence was all of a sudden deflated, and she snuggled softly against him. In his arms: "Just kidding, Tina always does things like this. I have to pull it back, you know I only have you in my heart. Don't you know Luke? Tina is thinking about him. I...I can't let my employees be poisoned by her."

Clayton stared at her with a look of scrutiny in his dark eyes.

Nicole knew that Clayton wasn't out of breath, so she immediately climbed up on his arm and kissed his lips.

As a result, he hides.

Nicole fluttered.

Apparently Clayton was really angry.

Nicole pouted, knowing that it is not good to coax now, it will be more serious in a while. She pulled him down relentlessly, and she had to kiss him.

She was making trouble in her arms like a kitten, and Clayton's initial coldness gradually faded, and there was some gentle playfulness in his eyes.

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Chapter 2032

Chapter 2032

It was very noisy today.

Nicole's skirt was also slightly wrinkled.

This scene falls in the eyes of others, and they all know that the relationship between Clayton and Nicole is extremely deep and sweet.

Finally, seeing that she was in a hurry, Clayton stopped teasing her. He lowered his head and leaned forward, leaning her whole body against him.

Music played at this time.

Where they were right on the dance floor.

In a gentle kiss, it was the easiest thing to appease Nicole.

Clayton lingered on her lips reluctantly, and his footsteps moved gently with the music, and the graceful voice rang in his ears.

When everyone saw the pair, they smiled embarrassedly.

But no one stopped to watch, everyone dragged their partners into the dance floor one after another.

Over half of the song.

Clayton raised his head slightly and looked at the woman with ruddy lips. His throat moved, his eyes slightly deep.

“Forget it this time, I’ll spare you.”

He don’t know if it was her gaffe or something else.

Nicole gasped softly, looking at so many people around her, her face flushed instantly. It’s all because she was so invested in it just now that she didn’t notice it for a while.

She bit her lower lip, pulled Clayton and walked out. The face has not been cultivated to that extent.

Clayton loosened his neckline, followed her with a smile in his eyes.

Standing in a place with few people, she breathed a sigh of relief: “Next time, pay attention to the occasion.”

Clayton raised his eyebrows, his face had long since lost his temper: “We are legal, what are you afraid of?”

Nicole looked at him with an innocent look on her face, she was speechless for a while. She took a deep breath and said, “Forget it, I’ll go see the auction.”

In fact, I already knew today’s auction before I came.

Nicole is mainly interested in jewelry, and has never been interested in antiques.

But Clayton, as always, looked pleasing to the eye and shot.

Gifts or collections can always bring out the overflow value beyond the original value of antiques.

This is what Nicole particularly admires.

Clayton smiled, followed him two steps, and Roland hurried over:

“Mr. Sloan, is in a hurry, can you spare a few minutes?”

Clayton was stunned.

Nicole smiled, let go, and patted his shoulder understandingly: “Go, make good money.”

Clayton smiled helplessly, bowed his head and kissed the back of her hand: “Dance by yourself, I’ll be right back.”

He stood up straight, and returned to his usual gentleness and prudence.

Just as Nicole was about to turn around and leave, Clayton grabbed her.

He frowned and lowered his tone: "It's so happy, why don't you come with me?"

Nicole was silent. She smiled and looked at him, her eyes reflecting the bright light in the hall:

"I can't bear you either, I want to be with you all the time. But your business is important, go quickly, I'll watch you go!"

Nicole said a few words, and Clayton left comfortably and satisfied.

Roland, who was standing on the sidelines: Why do you want me to see this?

As soon as Clayton left, Nicole restrained her smile and looked at Roland: "Why are you still stunned, follow along."

Roland then reacted and quickly caught up with Clayton's pace. He also didn't expect that a successful person like Clayton would be more sticky when married than in love.

Don't they have a cooling off period?

Clayton walked to Mr. Collins's side. He was not the only one. Coincidentally, there were several acquaintances in the shopping mall, including Eric.

Mr. Collins doesn't stay in the country very often. This time, it was also a temporary stop. He was going to leave by plane in a few hours.

He smiled and stretched out his hand to shake hands with Clayton:

"Mr. Sloan, since you settled in Mediana, it's even harder to meet you."

Clayton smiled and raised his eyebrows: "Blame me, my wife is more clingy when she is young. I had to hold me for a few more minutes just now, or I would get angry, I can't really leave her and go. After all I have to coax her out of anger before I rush over, not to mention going abroad..."

Mr. Collins looked at him with a big laugh: "You have today too!"

Clayton loosened his neckline, and he didn't clean up the corner of his mouth that was bitten just now because he kissed Nicole, and he looked a little bit romantic.

There was a hint of playfulness on the corner of his mouth, and he smiled.

Everyone smiled tacitly.

Only Eric, who was standing there, had a dark and ugly expression on his face. He seemed to be enveloped in a thick layer of black mist, and the chill was constantly radiating out.

Roland stood there frowning. He didn't quite understand, when did Clayton develop his black-and-white skills?

...

Nicole simply turned to look for Luke.

Although Luke was slumped at Eric's place, he seemed to have a good time chatting with other people. He didn't feel embarrassed or depressed at all, on the contrary, there was an idle old god like a son-in-law.

Nicole nodded with satisfaction.

Such a little blow Luke did not take it to heart.

It means Nicole was not wrong. She was really afraid that she would fall down and her money would be lost.

Luke was talking eloquently in front of several bosses, and those people seemed to be attracted and listened very seriously.

Nicole walked over and interrupted them with a smile: "I didn't bother you, did I?"

Several people quickly smiled: "Ms. Stanton, of course not, this is Mr. Youngblood, a young talent with a bright future... ."

Luke smiled in a low-key manner, but he didn't take this compliment to heart at first glance.

Nicole raised her eyebrows: "Since several of you are so optimistic about him, remember to contact him when there is a chance for cooperation. Mr. Youngblood, do you have a business card?"

He quickly took out his business card and handed it to him.

Several bosses looked at each other, took it over, and asked Nicole hesitantly: "Boss Stanton and President Youngblood know each other?"

Nicole's words were obviously introducing Luke. She smiled, "Of course, I invested in Mr. Youngblood's company, and I still need your support in the future."

The boss nodded suddenly, and quickly took out his business card and handed it to Luke.

If there is no Nicole behind them, their business cards will not be easily taken out.

After saying a few words, Nicole and Luke left.

Luke breathed a sigh of relief, visibly relieved for a moment of tension.

Nicole smiled: "Luke, I thought you weren't nervous!"

Luke was helpless: "If I came to play, I wouldn't be nervous. Isn't this coming with a purpose?"

There was nothing wrong with his answer.

Nicole: "How is the harvest?"

Luke looked at her solemnly: "I want to give up the H Project, I want to completely specialize in one aspect."

Nicole frowned, "Give up so easily?"

Although she also felt that Eric would not give Luke a piece of the pie, but it was too easy for Luke to give up.

Luke pursed his lips, his face slightly grim: "Ms. Stanton, it is time to stop the loss, Ferguson always will not share the project, nor will he watch us grow bigger and threaten the interests of J&L Corporation, why bother Doing it in vain?"

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Chapter 2033

Chapter 2033

Nicole watched him quietly for a few seconds under bright lights. Luke's eyes were full of brilliance, as if he had the urge to break through the confinement.

The kind of youthful struggle that any self-made man has ever had.

Nicole smiled, "Continue."

"I plan to change the research project to aerospace. Although there are many monopolies in the aerospace field, the technological aspects of design are the most extensive and the most tolerant. Our research results overlap with the aerospace field to some extent. If you change direction now, everything will be in time."

Luke said excitedly.

Nicole was silent, and turned the bracelet on her wrist intentionally or unintentionally.

“So, do you have a plan?”

“I had a few conversations with the people from the Aerospace Corporation just now. In their conversations, they were unsure about the frequency of accidents in the current field. Although our technology has advanced by leaps and bounds, in a certain In some respects, it is still more refined, more perfect, and better in Liberty. Since we can have overlapping research parts. It is better to directly change the research direction.

The situation that aviation technology is monopolized should also change.” The last sentence, He said it calmly, but the people who listened were enthusiastic.

Nicole has long lost the mood to drink, and has been listening to him with her eyes down.

When Luke finished speaking, Nicole slowly reacted. Her eyes flashed, but there was no stingy admiration in her eyes: “You are right, President Youngblood, I look forward to your achievements.”

She had a vague intuition that Luke would soar to the sky sooner or later.

In this mixed shopping mall, occupy a place.

Just as he was talking, Tina searched around to find Nicole, and came over happily.

“Mr. Youngblood is also here?”

Tina looked at Nicole with a lot of change in her eyes, which was meaningful.

Was caught by Clayton just now, turned around and mixed up again?

Really superb.

Nicole was too lazy to explain and smiled perfunctorily.

“Is something wrong?”

Tina leaned closer to her ear and said softly, “I have a pair of earrings.”

Nicole was stunned, “Okay, no problem.”

She glanced at Luke and clicked nod.

Luke left very sensible.

Nicole followed Tina to the auction. Another exhibition hall is full of collections from the meal auction. Favorite here.

Tina pulled Nicole in, and the bodyguard at the door saw Nicole, nodded and moved away.

The manager greeted him and said with a smile, "Miss Stanton, the auction will start in 15 minutes, do you want to enjoy it in advance?"

Nicole nodded, and Tina couldn't wait to run in.

"Look, this earring is so beautiful!" Tina said, pointing to one of the earrings inside the glass.

Nicole walked over and squinted, she was really beautiful and exaggerated.

The manager smiled and came over to introduce: "This is a lot brought by Mr. Gelinas. He said that his wife voluntarily donated this earring. We also sent a thank you letter to Mrs. Gelinas!"

Bloodless and stiff.

Nicole was also stunned.

She was pulled over by Tina to look at the earrings. When she was waiting for the auction, if someone robbed her, she would let Nicole take a picture, and she would go back and buy it from Nicole.

In this way, those who are interested in fear of Nicole's identity will give up bidding.

Tina will have to pay a lot less.

Nicole didn't mind doing a little favor. When she started watching this scene, she seemed to think that things were not so simple.

Sorry for helping.

The expression on her face was a little unstoppable. It took only a few seconds for Tina's expression to go from stiff to collapsed.

But these few seconds, She didn't know how many days have been accumulated. Her liking for the pair of earrings also turned into disgust and indifference.

She suddenly wanted to pounce and smashed the glass box. But she was stopped by the quick-witted manager and bodyguard.

“Mrs. Gelinis, what are you doing?”

Nicole had vaguely realized something.

Tina always pretended to be generous and dignified in front of others. Even if everyone in the circle knew that her husband was spending a lot of money, the women around her never stopped, and she never said a word.

She has always been a model good wife in the circle. It doesn't matter where a man's heart is, as long as it occupies a position. But at this moment, she suddenly collapsed.

She screamed and roared. It attracted everyone from outside the exhibition hall.

The manager looked at Nicole in embarrassment: “Ms. Stanton, what's going on?”

Nicole raised her eyes and said indifferently, “Mrs. Gelinis you want to thank is not the righteous master in front of you.”

Choked to the point of speechless.

She only knew that the earrings were sent by Mr. Gelinis in the name of Mrs. Gelinis, who knew that there were so many twists and turns inside.

No one could hold back the scene where Tina collapsed and cried.

Nicole clicked her tongue. She really couldn't stand indifferent. She walked over and persuaded Tina softly: “What are you crying for? Don't you know? Since you already knew it, why did you make trouble at this time?”

“On the ground, she pointed to the pair of earrings: “You know what? I know there are women outside but I can bear it, because he said that the women outside are just for fun, and no one can move my position. He said, the company was in trouble. I asked so many relatives and friends to help him. I was reluctant to buy even a piece of jewelry that I was frugal. He bought such precious jewelry for a woman outside, and he could donate it at will. I'm still trying my best to buy this second-hand product!”

Tina cried hysterically.

Everyone looked at this scene and sighed.

Zach Gelinis hasn't come yet, and he didn't see it after turning around just now, so he probably will come later.

It's not good for Nicole to stay here, but it's not good to leave Tina alone.

What can she do?

Tina and Zach's marriage was already crumbling, and Tina felt that there was no problem and could go on.

If she persuaded her to break up and turned back to Tina and made up with Zach, wouldn't she be a human being inside and out?

The manager squatted down and looked at her in embarrassment: "Mrs. Gelinias, this auction item was sent by Mr. Gelinias. Unless it involves the stolen goods from the police, we still have to auction it according to the regulations..."

Tina raised her head suddenly, his eyes were scarlet One piece: "Shoot, who rarely wants second-hand goods from this vixen!"

While speaking.

Clayton heard the movement and walked in and looked at Nicole.

Nicole pursed her lips and spread her hands helplessly. The two looked at each other helplessly.

Tina's collapse may have been expected, but this situation is really not suitable for further trouble.

Clayton said: "Mrs. Gelinias, I heard that President Gelinias has already arrived at the door. If you have something to say, you might as well make it clear to him. It's useless to cry here."

Tina wiped her face and raised her head with undisguised anger in it: "Really?"

Clayton nodded.

Tina stood up without saying a word, without caring about her image, she ran out with her skirt in hand.