

Arabella 661

Chapter 661

Later on, Chasel dropped Myrna off at her doorstep, telling her, "Behave yourself and try to spend more time with your family when you can."

In their line of work, being away from home for months at a time was par for the course.

Myrna wrapped her arms around Chasel's neck, stood on her tiptoes, gave him a lingering kiss, then said, "You're off work for the next couple of days. You'll get bored hanging out with your sister alone. Why not take me along? Girls have more in common, right?"

Chasel looked down at her, gently saying, "You should get back to work."

Myrna retorted, "No, I'm sticking with you!"

Chasel eventually gave in, saying, "Alright, we'll head back together in three days."

Myrna exclaimed happily, "Awesome!"

After saying her reluctant goodbyes to Chasel and barely stepping into her house, she received a message.

from Arabella, but to her surprise, home yet?]

Arabella's could reply, Serena sent another message: [Arabella grew up in a small town. I don't know if she's been influenced by replied, [What you in the

[So you've been spying pass by and

[Do you have one night, and Myrna had already started calling Arabella "Bella". That got it all wrong. I was just trying already pulling rank, even though she just bottle and sent it over, saying, [It's made by a reputable company; I'm sure it's fine. Besides, what does she stand to gain if something happened dare harm someone as Serena could tell it have thought Arabella would go to such lengths to win over

She must be up to something!

[I should keep my mouth shut to avoid good intentions backfiring.] Serena replied.

[Then shut up already!] Myrna shot back.

Men might be slow on the uptake when it came to emotional affairs, but she could clearly see something was up.

[I heard that when Bella first came back to this house, it was only because she agreed that you could stay. Is that right?] Myrna asked.

Serena clenched her phone. [What are you implying?]

Myrna: [You should be grateful to those who've helped you. Your current lifestyle, the comforts you enjoy, and the respect you receive are all thanks to her agreement! Isn't that reason enough to be thankful?]

Serena clenched her phone tighter, never expecting Myrna to side with Arabella so blatantly.

Myrna: [Your parents only want peace within the family. And whoever stirs the pot, well, do I need to remind you what happens to them? Also, what's wrong with someone from a small town? My dad came from one, and look where he is now, all thanks to his own hard work! I was raised by him and became a deputy minister through my own efforts. Do you feel threatened by people from small towns?]

Chapter 662

Serena was pissed.

Myrna: [Stop putting on airs in front of me. I'm not Chasel so your tricks won't work on me. Do you know why I prefer to text chat with you? Because I've taken screenshots of all our conversations, don't even think about deleting parts of it to make it look like I'm bullying you. That's a trick you fake nice people are good at.]

Serena was fuming, her face red with anger, but she was speechless.

Myrna: [Do you know why I like Arabella so much? Because she's not pretentious, not hypocritical, not blindly self-confident, not full of herself, not a troublemaker, not fake. You should learn from her.]

Finally, Myrna said, [If you're going to continue talking shit about her, don't message me anymore.]

Serena was livid, and she immediately blocked Myrna.

She angrily tossed her phone onto the table, her chest heaving with rage. It took a while for her to calm down, and then she unblocked Myrna.

After all, she was the daughter of a big shot, and she had high status. It was better to keep the connection, it might come in handy later.

But did Myrna think just because she was dating Chasel, she could do whatever she wanted and take jabs at her?

Serena's eyes turned cold. If Chasel didn't like her.

Meanwhile.

stood by

by the car, unfazed by the attention around him, kissing knees from his kisses. After the kiss, she noticed all eyes were on them and People around were whispering.

the top

she has that profile is so handsome, and his

a student at our such a handsome guy at dark, otherwise, we could entering and exiting the school at of her and said, "I was still savoring the kiss, reluctance in his eyes, "call me when you get to

"Okay."

from other guys in but say, "Do you really need to remind after entering the campus, Arabella received a call you back

"Yes, Chasel."

want to say to me?" Chasel tried to guide her

Arabella was a little confused. "What do you mean?"

"Myrna works for the Ministry of State Security, she's a deputy minister. How did you get close to her and hurt her?"

Arabella didn't expect Chasel to call her out of curiosity about her undercover identity.

She casually replied, "Because Myrna was thinking about you then, she was distracted, that's why I had the chance."

"The wound on her arm must have been from blocking your kick."

Chasel had seen the wound on Myrna's arm, it was definitely not a normal one.

The power of Bella's kick was definitely beyond that of an ordinary person.

Well then, since she couldn't hide it.

Arabella was ready to confess everything, but Chasel gently said, "I'm not trying to pry into your personal matters. I just want to know if you're safe, if what you're doing is dangerous. If you need help, you can come to me and I can help you."

Arabella felt warm in her heart. "Don't worry, I'm safe and there's no danger."

"That's good. If you don't want to talk about it, I won't force you." Chasel could almost picture her obedient and gentle expression on the other end of the phone. Such a good girl, how could she be doing anything dangerous?

He must be overthinking.

"I'll pick you up from school tomorrow and take you somewhere fun. You get a good rest tonight."

Chapter 663

He had already informed the school, so Arabella's extra-curricular activities wouldn't be too tough.

"Alright, Chasel, goodnight."

"Goodnight."

After hanging up the phone, Arabella thought for a while and then sent him a message.

Chasel's phone lit up, and seeing that the message was from his sister, his eyes lit up too.

His sister had taken the initiative to message him!

[I have a small team with some friends in the triangular zone, mainly doing some side jobs to earn a bit of money. We haven't done anything illegal. It's safe and there's no danger.]

He didn't expect his sister to tell him everything!

Chasel was a bit surprised. The triangular zone?

and well-behaved sister, how was she connected to the triangular zone? And they even formed a as he was feeling confused, he received another message from his sister. It was just one sentence:

[Keep it with an OK emoji, thought for a while, and gave her a thumbs to do some digging, and a sarcastic smile appeared at the

A gang of thousands was called a small had it of money? Their monthly income was at least hundreds of thousands of

he gave his sister was way was the infamous Mafia Flame boss of the triangular become the boss of a gang in she even got so many pretty well, last time Myrna remembered the person who saved Myrna, who according to Myrna's description, seemed somewhat similar activities ended, Arabella received a your school. Which dorm this, she replied, "I'm about to pass the west gate, which gate are you at? I'll are you?" Myrna

Did Myrna know

Arabella spotted Myrna at the school gate right away, with a bunch of stuff at her feet, probably gifts she'd bought.

"Myrna, how come you're free to come today and brought so much stuff?" Arabella walked up to Myrna and introduced her to her dorm mates. "This is Chasel's girlfriend."

Her dorm mates exclaimed, "Wow, you're so young and pretty!"

"We saw Chasel yesterday and he's so handsome too! Your whole family is so good-looking."

Hearing people praising Chasel, Myrna was even happier than when they praised her.

"Hello, are all students this pretty now? You all look so pretty!" As Myrna said this, she picked up the gifts from the ground.

"Myrna, you brought too much stuff." Arabella knew she'd spent quite a bit of money.

"It's fine. These gifts are for you and your classmates."

Myrna's status was pretty unique, so she didn't want to attract too much attention when she went out. If she brought bodyguards and maids, people might start suspecting her father.

Therefore, she always went shopping by herself and took a taxi to come here.

She was very down-to-earth.

Chapter 664

"Arabella, your family is so sweet, buying you all these goodies and even some for us. Myrna, let me help you carry some. Next time you don't need to bring gifts. We're all pals after all," Joyce offered, grabbing a few items herself.

"Must have been a tough journey for you, huh? How about you join us in our dorm for some coffee later? Not to brag, but our dorm is pretty neat, and the coffee Bella brought last time was delicious! You're going to love it. If you like Bella, you're bound to love her stuff."

Mya chimed in, taking some of the load as well.

Kelly instantly figured out who Myrna was. What a surprise to think Chasel could snag such a top-notch girlfriend.

Her family background was beyond just "impressive."

"Let me help you carry some," Kelly offered with a laugh, finding Myrna to be very sociable and easy-going.

also took a fair share of the items, saying, "Next time you don't have to bring anything, Joyce Arabella and her classmates were. Lugging the remaining gifts in one hand and linking they arrived at the dorm, Arabella brewed her some coffee, and the other girls warm atmosphere brought tears

"Have some fruit. I recently learned how to make a fruit platter online. See how cute my Kiwi hedgehog is? What's wrong? Your eyes look even when Joyce wants some, but since you're here, I'll share my pastry's shape make you wiped away her tears and broke into a smile. "You guys are so nice.

curiosity was piqued at "once before," with all of "The first time was?"

to say. It must've been at Bella's house, experiencing the family warmth there," Kelly laughed. "You've parents are so kind,

"And most importantly, they're all so good-looking! Try this Kiwi, it's really sweet. I even peeled it for you."

"You should try my pastry."

Touched, Myrna took the offered fruit and pastries, and after hanging out with the girls in the dorm for a while, it was time for extra-curricular activities.

"You can rest in the dorm, I'll come find you after the extra-curricular activities, and then we can go out for dinner," Arabella said gently.

"No, it's okay, I'd like to go with you."

Staying alone in the dorm could be boring, and it might be nice to see if Arabella was tiring. If it was, Myrna could talk to the school about it.

While they participated in activities, Myrna sat under a nearby tree, watching them. Their extra-curricular activities were quite simple, just marching in step and then turning left or right.

Compared to the rigorous training in the army, it was like night and day.

Chapter 665

A wave of hushed whispers started to circulate.

"Did you hear? The top scorer is being kept by someone."

"Really?"

"Somebody saw her kissing an older man at the school gate last night."

"I heard she's got a powerful background, and she's the one who got the two Winters girls kicked out of school!"

"What? Aren't the Winters family buddies with the McMillians? How strong must Arabella's background be to not even fear the McMillians?"

"After Noreen left, Enid also bailed. I heard they've already processed their drop-out papers."

academically outstanding student could be so petty? She can't stand others. Could it be because Enid and turned to look. Four girls in uniforms were heading towards heard she used some dirty tricks to get into the Collins family. She even bullied Serena! So annoying!

walked up to them and said, "Hold puzzled at

"What's up?" they asked.

family? What's that about?" Myrna was furrow her eyebrows. "How do you know I'm just blabbing? If three girls also backed

Higgins family? The mayors you? What does your family do? Do you to Delia,

but it turned out it's not even that. "You know all about Bella's family? And you just spout nonsense, we can sue

"Arabella is no good!" Delia was furious, and she didn't expect this pretty girl to protect Arabella so much. What's so great about Arabella?

Myrna was angry. "Is the school's education meant to produce trash like you?"

"I didn't make things up. Serena told me herself! Arabella only got the opportunity to study because of the Collins family's support so her top scores are because of the Collins family's sponsorship!"

After Delia said this, she realized she'd said too much and covered her mouth. But then she thought there was no need to keep Serena's secrets anymore, given how she'd been bullied. She had to let it out, let everyone know the real Arabella!

She continued, "Arabella, with her good looks and excellent grades, took advantage of the kindness of Serena's parents and convinced them to adopt her. She became their adopted daughter and moved in with the Collins family. How else do you explain her being called Arabella Collins?"

Myrna couldn't help but laugh. "So you're saying Serena told you Arabella is a sponsored student of the Collins family, and because she's eloquent and charming, she became the Collins' adopted daughter? Is that really it?"

"Isn't that the case?" Delia was puzzled by her question.

"How do you figure Arabella is the type to play mind games and sweet-talk people? She's always straightforward in handling things, nothing like your roundabout ways."

Chapter 666

After Myrna finished, she opened her mouth again and asked, "Serena? I know her too; I'll get her over here now and we can solve this face-to-face."

As she said this, she took out her phone, ready to call Serena.

Delia burst into laughter. "Serena is such a high-class lady. How could you have her number?"

She's the rich daughter of the Collins family, the heiress! She's not just anyone's friend.

"Don't try to fool me. I'm friends with Serena, and I can recognize her voice."

Before Delia could finish, Serena's voice came from Myrna's phone.

"Myrna, what's up?"

Delia and her three classmates were stunned, it was really Serena's voice!

girl in front of them be related to they were family, why would she help Arabella? What on earth come over."

was somewhat surprised, hearing Myrna's tone was a a restaurant later and Chasel will be there to get close to Chasel and deal with the arrogant Myrna to Westerly College to see Arabella first and only calling her now, she felt a Serena forced down her on the west side of the Westerly

Now?

still in extra-curricular this was a golden opportunity, she ran to and ask, "Are you really Serena's family? Could it be that things are not as we thought? Arabella subconsciously shook her head and said, "But Serena has no reason to lie to her, took

Soon, Chasel called her.

"You went to the school to see Bella?"

"Yes, there's a bit of a situation here, you'd better come and witness it."

Just to avoid people saying that she, as the fiancée, bullied the little princess that the Collins family had raised for eighteen years.

What happened?

Chasel instantly realized something: "Did something happen to Bella? Was she bullied?"

"Yes."

She was indeed bullied.

"I'll contact the school and go deal with it right now."

Chapter 667

"No need, we all know each other." Myrna added, "Just your presence would be enough."

Everyone knew each other? No need for the school to get involved? Just his presence would do?

What's going on?

Even though he was somewhat confused, Chasel quickly agreed.

As he was heading downstairs, Louisa glanced at him and said, "Chasel, perfect timing. You should pay a visit to the Gellar family in the next couple of days. Bring some gifts. We can't neglect our manners."

"Mom, we can talk about this later." Chasel rushed downstairs, ready to leave the living room.

Louisa looked surprised. "Weren't you supposed to take your sister out for dinner today? Where are you rushing off to? It isn't work-related again, is it? You can't let your sister down!"

"Myrna is at Westerly College and I am going to check on her."

off to see his girlfriend and sister, no wonder he was in such a initially thought something serious had happened. Seeing his cold expression, she sighed. How did she end entered his own garage, randomly choosing a car, his of curiosity, he opened it, tricks to get into the Collins family? What's that about? You

It was Myrna's voice.

she was in an argument am talking nonsense? You want to go to school because of the Collins family's sponsorship. Her their foster daughter, and moves into the Collins family. How else would Collins family, and because she sweet-talks, she became a Collins family foster daughter?

[Isn't it?]

and sweet-talks people to win their hearts? She is very straightforward, how could she

I know her too, I will call her over right now recording ended there. Chasel's gaze

she grew up spoiled and her character was a bit arrogant,

Now, she said Bella was just a student sponsored by the Collins family, and because she was sweet-talking, she had the chance to move into the Collins family and become the Collins family's foster daughter.

Who was the foster daughter, and who was the real rich young lady with pure bloodline? Didn't she have a clear understanding in her heart?

If she was really spreading rumors, how much damage would that do to Bella?

It seemed that Myrna accidentally discovered Bella's classmates talking behind Bella's back, so she argued with them and even called him. If she was as predicted, considering her personality, she would definitely call Serena to confront her face-to-face.

Suddenly, words that Romeo once said appeared in his mind, and his heart seemed to be tightly gripped by an invisible hand.

"Trust me, I didn't record the more outrageous parts. Some people said Bella has a strong background, drove away the two girls from the Winters family, said she is cunning, and even said she is kept by a rich old man and was seen kissing this old man at the school gate."

What kind of messed-up rumors were these?

Chasel was a bit angry. "Who spread these rumors?"

Could it be that it's all related to Serena?

"I don't know, anyway, you should come over." Myrna didn't say much to him, just reminding him to be careful while driving.

Chapter 668

When his sister was wrongfully accused, how could he not rush over? He arrived at the school in less than ten minutes, giving the security guard at the gate quite a scare.

The guard was about to reprimand him, but upon recognizing Chasel, who had been at the school just a few days ago, he quickly put on his friendliest smile and bent over, saying, "Chasel, you're here. Please, this way. You can park your car anywhere at the gate. No worries, just as long as it's convenient for you."

Even if Chasel parked right in front of his guard booth, he wouldn't mind. After all, it's Chasel!

"Sorry, I'll just park for a bit and be on my way." Chasel wanted to find a parking spot, but all his thoughts were on his sister now. He wanted to get there as soon as possible to avenge her.

Arabella, who was in extra-curricular activities, occasionally glanced towards Myrna, clearly sensing something amiss.

Even Joyce noticed. She whispered to Arabella, "Bella, look, Myrna seems to be arguing with someone. Should we go over and help?"

Arabella responded, "No need."

of State Security could easily handle a not someone

Myrna will be bullied. She's too innocent." Mya said while warming up, glancing in their direction, a bit; we'll be done in ten minutes." Kelly checked her watch. The day's extra-curricular activity was about

"Can you tell us what's going on? If Arabella isn't the adopted daughter of the Collins family, a distance that a bad feeling.

must have blabbed something on the phone earlier, she her escape when Delia spotted her and said, "Serena! Over turned towards Serena, who almost also stood up, obviously seeing think of a way out when she pretended to stagger, rubbing her forehead while

"Serena, are you okay? Is it the heat? Did you get heatstroke?" Delia quickly ran over to her, offering her support. "Sit down for a bit? I'll put my outfit on the grass for you. You like cleanliness, so sit on my clothes."

"Water." Serena feigned dizziness. "I need water."

"Water? We don't have any here. Wait a minute, I'll go buy some from the supermarket." Delia's attention was suddenly diverted, and she was about to go get water.

"I want to drink water now, I'm really thirsty. Can you help me walk over there?"

Delia: "Can you walk?"

"I can hold on for a bit." Serena replied, then looked at Myrna and said, "Sorry, Myrna, I'm not feeling well. I'll come find you later."

"People with heatstroke have a pale complexion, excessive sweating, and a high body temperature. But I don't see any of those symptoms in you. So spill it, what's going on? Did you tell our classmates that Bella was able to go to school because she got financial support from the Collins family and that she scored full marks because of the Collins family's support? Is that it?"

Before Serena could answer, Myrna added, "So Bella got adopted by the Collins family because she's sweet-talking, is that it?"

Chapter 669

Delia stood aside, her head lowered with a hint of remorse. "I'm sorry, Serena. I didn't mean to let it slip. It's just that she was defending Arabella at the beginning, which really ticked me off, so I blurted it out. But honestly, I think we should stop covering for Arabella. After all, she's been bullying you like crazy. It's high time everyone knew her true colors."

Serena thought to herself, Unbelievable! If she wanted to blab, couldn't she pick someone else besides Myrna to spill her guts to?

Delia: "I didn't know she was your family. My bad."

Seeing Delia like this, Serena could only fume inwardly. On the outside, though, she remained calm. "We'll talk when I get back. I've got to go grab some water now."

"You still plan on playing dumb?" Myrna clutched her wrist, preventing her from leaving. "Today, you have to clear things up about Arabella in front of everyone, or this drama won't end."

"Myrna, you're hurting me." Serena grimaced in pain.

"Let go of her. Serena is already feeling unwell, stop holding her." Delia quickly intervened, seeing that Myrna showed no signs of letting go.

you putting on a show? How come I never noticed you were of intense pain.

line! How feeling well and have lost my balance. It's not her I get it now. At your home, Myrna and Arabella are in cahoots, aren't more unjust toward Serena. That's why Myrna suddenly birds of

to your dorm room to rest? I'm feeling dizzy. I hit my worried voice

"Serena, what happened?"

Chasel. Tears immediately welled up to make an effort to let Chasel witness this scene. There was no way Myrna could talk her way out in his heart!

"Perfect timing. You're Serena's brother, right? Your girlfriend just pushed Serena over. Serena hit her head. She said she's not feeling well and wants to rest, but your girlfriend won't stop haranguing her."

Chasel glanced at Myrna. Just as Myrna was about to say something, several people rushed over.

"That's sheer nonsense. Myrna has clearly let go. Serena was just putting on an act and deliberately fell."

That was Kelly's voice.

Upon seeing her, Serena's face immediately turned sour.

What was she doing here, meddling?

"I saw it too. The moment Myrna let go, Serena threw herself into the bushes. She even got the direction of her fall wrong."

Joyce also stepped forward to back up Myrna.

Chapter 670

Mya: "I've never lied. But Serena, why are you badmouthing Chasel's girlfriend for no reason?"

"Really, Myrna didn't lay a finger on her. She fell by herself," Arabella also testified.

Myrna was moved that four people were standing up for her. She felt more confident about facing Serena.

"Are you all kidding me?" Delia couldn't help but say "You're all lying. I saw it with my own eyes that Serena was pushed by this Myrna you're talking about. Chasel, you may not believe me as an outsider, but are you also not going to believe your own sister?"

The mention of "sister" made Chasel subconsciously look at Arabella.

Delia misunderstood and thought Chasel's look indicated doubt about Arabella's credibility, making her smirk instantly.

"We'll know the truth if we check the surveillance footage."

sent a chill down Serena's spine. She inwardly panicked:

she was putting on her act. She wasn't familiar with Westerly College's surveillance system as she was from another school. She

I feel dizzy." Serena clutched her forehead and said painfully, "Did I get a concussion from the fall?
Could

recognize that I'm Chasel, which means your consciousness is clear and not confused," Chasel explained. "Symptoms of a concussion include confusion, loss of consciousness, and even coma. You don't have any stunned.

don't we have Bella take a look?" Kelly smirked, treating Serena as a fragile, holding onto Chasel's sleeve and pleading, "Chasel, I want to go to the hospital. I'm not feeling well. I want shot down Serena's plan. "If I were you, I'd stand up rich girl lying on the

And you're suggesting Arabella treat Serena? Is Arabella a doctor? Can she treat people? She only a bit displeased. "Do you have any clothes and said, "Stop it, Delia, let's just go to Chasel's expression just now showed clearly that he didn't believe Arabella would harm her behind her back.

When did blood relations become more important than eighteen years of friendship?

Kelly, Mya, and Joyce stopped Delia and Serena from leaving, insisting they clear things up.

Seeing that they were outnumbered, Serena decided to feign fainting.

"Serena, what happened? You guys are too much, Serena fainted, and you still want to continue?" Delia quickly crouched down, calling anxiously, "Serena, wake up. Are you okay?"

"Even better that she fainted. Now tell me, how did Bella target Serena?" Kelly was determined to get to the bottom of things.

The 'fainted' Serena suddenly pinched Delia.

Delia was caught off guard.