

The Princess and the Pauper (Arabella)

Chapter 867

Chapter 867

[I see you're enjoying your meal.]

Arabella looked up at the message, "Clark, did you tell Romeo we're having a midnight snack?"

"Yeah, he asked if we were home, and I said we were, having a late-night snack."

"And you sent him my photo?"

"Yep." Clark showed her the picture, "Look at you all chubby from eating, so cute."

[So, you lied about going to bed just to have a midnight snack with Clark?] Romeo texted with a sad emoji.

All Arabella could reply was, [I'll go to bed right after I shower]

[Are you tired today?]

[Yeah, a bit.]

Serena noticed Arabella constantly typing. Oh, that attitude, as if she wanted to make it clear that she was chatting with Romeo!

What she was showing off?

She even purposely mentioned Romeo's name, as if she was announcing to the world that she was chatting with Romeo!

After a while, Arabella finished her snack and stood up, "I'm full."

Serena thought she finally had a chance to be alone with Clark. Her eyes lit up, but before she could express her joy.

"Bella, wait." Clark hadn't finished eating yet, but seeing his sister getting up, he quickly stood up too, "I'm done too. I'll walk you upstairs."

Arabella was a bit puzzled.

Serena didn't expect Clark to be so clingy to Arabella and suddenly felt unhappy!

"I forgot to ask you a question earlier.' After leaving the dining area and making sure no one was around, Clark whispered, "You said your skills were taught by those old men. are they masters in their fields?"

"Yep." Arabella nodded, not understanding why Clark suddenly asked this question.

"So, your fighting skills were also taught by one of them?"

Arabella immediately reacted, "Did Jack tell you something?"

"No, he didn't say anything. I hacked into his phone and saw the video of you fighting with those guys."

Now, it made sense to Arabella. That big mouth, he must have told Clark about her installing surveillance at Carol's house. Otherwise, how would Clark know there were surveillance videos in his phone and even hack into it to see?

So, the picture of the beautiful woman that Clark sent to Jack was not to introduce him to a girl but to a virus.

Just to hack his phone.

"Bella, when was your gang established?" Clark asked again.

Did Jack also mention the gang?

Right now, Arabella just wanted to wring his neck.

"Jack didn't really say anything. It's just that I saw those guys calling you boss and they all had weapons." Clark couldn't help but ask, "I don't want to pry into your past. He just wants to know if you're safe now. Do you need more people to protect you?"

"No need." Arabella smiled slightly, "Don't worry, Clark, I'm doing just fine."

"So, what does your gang do?"

"Well, we protect the weak and also some medicinal plants.'