

Arabella 90

Chapter 90

But then the guy replied, "The USB port is gone."

"What about the spare key?" Arabella asked.

"Uh, lost that too." The servant answered.

"Well, take out the dead battery from the door lock and replace it with a new one." Arabella suggested.

"No spare batteries either." The servant said.

Arabella was speechless. How come these servants didn't have anything prepared for the door?

Seeing his shifty eyes, Arabella quickly caught on and smirked.

"Just go tell my grandpa that I'm ready to leave." Arabella got up, ready to go.

let me inform Mr. Phillip. Please stay here." The determined to leave, he hurried off to find Phillip.

waved his hand dismissively after hearing her story, "No worries, I've already had the USB port removed and the spare key and battery hidden.

signs of the USB port being tampered with and the hidden spare key and battery were missing, before her, "Your grandpa sure went to great lengths for you."

"He likes you

this guy can take advantage of me? No way!"

fingers on the key pad, punching in a was clearly locked. Didn't Mr. Phillip say it was impossible to open without rendering the password useless. This girl knew a keyed in randomly, let's go." Arabella was the first to walk out the door, but hadn't gotten a heart attack, please come suspicious, she hurried over to help. A servant led the

Phillip laid in bed,

hand touched his wrist, she knew what is he okay?" Brodie