

Arabella 109

Chapter 109

If something's up with their relationship, how can Miss Serena still laugh?

Can she even be in the mood to go buy afternoon tea?

"Miss Serena is only eighteen, already so successful, born with a silver spoon, and her fiancé is pretty to p-notch."

"She's way better than us in every aspect."

"All right, all right, keep your voices down. If someone hears you, it'll tarnish the company's reputation!"

Arabella walked into the office; the assistant Dean had already laid out the food he had brought back on a small table.

Thirteen dishes in total.

lifted his head and respectfully said, "This is the food prepared at the food on the table, picked up the fish soup to smell it, then picked up a dish of corn kernels fried with color and smell of it cooled her

is the food still fresh?"

go to the cafeteria."

the cafeteria, a few curious employees sneakily followed.

dishwasher was washing dishes. Two chefs were resting in Arabella, not knowing who she was, but seeing Dean following behind, they be the new CEO who recently made the Dean, is this Ms. Bennett?" One of the young chefs extinguished his cigarette on the sole Arabella walk into the kitchen, Dean softly explained, "Ms. Bennett is just to clean up after cooking lunch. Usually,

"Call your manager."

was stunned and quickly