

Arabella 117

Chapter 117

Romeo wasn't surprised by his arrival. "My grandpa sent you, didn't he?"

"Yeah, Grandpa flew in a top-notch pastry chef from France to prepare an afternoon tea for Miss."

As Brodie said this, he hastily removed the items from the car, then added apologetically, "But there's n one for you."

"No worries."

Romeo looked toward the company. As long as Arabella was happy, he'd be happy.

"Master, are you also here to deliver afternoon tea to Miss?"

"Yes."

"Did I arrive too late?"

Brodie seemed a bit annoyed. He knew the afternoon tea was personally prepared by the pastry chef using the finest ingredients. Grandpa put a lot of thought into it.

having the appetite to eat the pastries Phillip sent, out of the company. He quickly approached her and respectfully handed out to take it, giving a small smile and more when you

"Okay."

you have a preferred school, whether it's domestic or abroad, you can difficulties at work, you can ask Phillip for help. If something's bothering you in remembered running the group for three years; Grandpa never sent him afternoon tea, not being all nice

convey my thanks to

tall, a mix of cold and cute

I won't disturb your work anymore."

1

at Romeo next to him, then said

leaving first