

Arabella 1550

Chapter 1550

Serena fumed, her mother had effectively cut off all her escape routes.

"Can you sneak me those skincare products later, Betty?" Serena tried to negotiate, "Those two helpers are as dumb as they come. They didn't even remember to bring me toner this afternoon! I need my skincare routine before bed."

"Mrs. Collins said, Ms. Arabella Collins doesn't use all those jars and bottles, and you won't be needing them either."

Serena's face stiffened, "What does it mean?"

"It means that if Ms. Arabella Collins isn't using all those skincare products, you don't need them either."

Not even her skincare products were spared!!

changing clothes? There are only two outfits upstairs. Don't tell me, mom only allowed you to bring me two sets?" Serena asked, not ready to to enjoy life. You only need enough clothes for two days, the

to live like a guest, without the luxuries of being a part of the Collins

it?! Was that what her mother

just

Betty glanced at the clock, growing anxious, "If I go be so ruthless. To discourage the staff from chatting with her, she had will remember your good qualities, or see that you've repented, and mention of this, Serena scoffed coldly. Her mother had hardened her heart to this extent, almost leaving her to fend for herself.

about ten days, both families' elders will visit. Your grandparents, and all your uncles and brothers, someone will surely speak up for you. Then, Mrs. Collins would Since Martha left, Betty had been the only kind soul to Serena.

Serena thought there was some logic to it. New Year's Eve was the biggest day for them, all about togetherness.

But with ten days to go, she didn't even know how to get through these coming days. Especially with the plain meals three times a day, no one to talk to, and no permission to leave the place.

"What if mom only lets me join the dinner on New Year, and then sends me right back here?" Serena worried. That could mean being shut away indefinitely.

"The thing that upset Mrs. Collins the most, the thing she cares about, is that you disrespected Ms. Arabella Collins. If you just correct that, considering the eighteen years of affection, she might let you off the hook. She can't possibly keep you here after the New Year, especially when school starts again, right?"

Serena felt there was sense in these words.