Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 786

Shaun followed Catherine. When he saw Catherine's resolute back, he felt that if he did not make some things clear, he might really lose her forever. "Don't go. Actually, I... liked you since before."

This was the first time he fully expressed his true thoughts.

Catherine paused, and Shaun lowered his voice in chagrin. "But I couldn't say it because I've known Sarah for too long and owe her too much. I couldn't let her down, so I could only choose to divorce you. I don't understand why I changed my mind either. I just like spending time with you more. When I see you with Liam or Issac, I become angry."

"Is that so?"

Catherine turned her reddened eyes to him and glared at him with a sarcastic smile. "Shaun Hill, you're too deeply entangled with Sarah. You said that you like me, but can it compare to the guilt you have for Sarah? The next time she says a word, you'll abandon me without mercy again. Have you heard of the boy who cried wolf? I'm the villager in that story. I have no trust in you anymore."

"No, it's really... impossible between Sarah and me." Shaun shook his head. After speaking, he felt a sense of relief.

It turned out that he really did not love Sarah anymore. He was always tired when he was with her.

Even their wedding had filled him with depression.

“In any case, I won’t believe you. I don’t want to be cannon fodder between you two. Don’t follow me anymore.”

Catherine glared at him and swiftly left on her high heels.

She seemed as if she was afraid that he would chase after her.

Shaun was upset.

He had already spoken out his true feelings, but unexpectedly, she did not react well at all.

Maybe he had hurt her too deeply before.

At night, Catherine told Freya about this while they were eating.

“What? Shaun Hill really told you that he likes you?” Freya was overjoyed. “That’s great! Now you can abuse that scumbag to death.”

“It’s not that simple.” Catherine sighed. “You underestimate the feelings between Shaun and Sarah. I have to take it one step at a time.”

“No way, Sarah already cuckolded him.” Freya wanted to vomit just thinking about it. “No man would be able to accept that.”

“You underestimate Sarah. Didn’t you hear that she came out of the police station the very next day? She must have told Shaun that she was forced by Lucifer. She must have dispelled Shaun’s anger. ”

Catherine felt a little regretful. She had spent a good deal of effort to get Lucifer, but in the end, he ended up dead somehow. She originally wanted Lucifer to live and make Sarah get into a dogfight with him. “I might have to change the plan.”

Just as Freya was about to ask a question, the doorbell suddenly rang.

She looked at the peephole and saw that it was a kind-looking middle -aged man. She opened the door.

“You’re... Ms. Lynch, right?” The middle-aged man smiled gently. “ I’m the butler of the Snow family. ”

Freya subconsciously tried to close the door, but the butler was unexpectedly quick and instantly pushed the door open. Then, two brawny bodyguards walked out from the stairway.

“What do you want?” Freya had a bad feeling. Was the Snow family here to cause trouble for her because she ruined Rodney’s reputation before?

“Ms. Lynch, don’ t be scared. We don’ t mean any harm. It’s just that our family’s master wants to have a chat with you.”

“What is there for me to chat with your family’s master about? I’m not free. ” Freya did not believe that what the butler said was true.

She regretted it now. She should not have called reporters over to make a scene.

She had no ability to fight against the entire Snow family. Boo-hoo! Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South]

“Ms. Lynch, don’t be afraid. We don’t have any ill intentions,” the butler said while pressing on the door.

“I ruined Rodney Snow’s reputation. How could you not have ill intentions?”

Freya did not believe these families at all. In the past, Catherine was called over by the old master of the Hill family and her face was disfigured.

She had not found a boyfriend yet. She did not want to be disfigured or locked up.

“If you don’t cooperate, then we’ll have to take you there by force.” The butler sighed helplessly.

Seeing the bodyguards about to barge in, Catherine walked over. “Freya, I’ll go with you.”

“Ms. Jones, that’s...” The butler frowned. He had also heard of Catherine. She was the heir of the Yule family.

“I believe that the Snow family isn’t unreasonable. If there’s anything that has to be said, we can talk it over. To be honest, I won’t be at ease letting my friend go there alone.”

“Very well.” The butler nodded. “Let’s go together.”

“Cathy, do you really want to go with me?” Freya was worried. The two of them did not know the Snow family at all. Who knew if they would end up walking into the lion’s den?

“It’s fine. I believe the Snow family won’t make things too difficult for us on account of my dad.”

Catherine was sure about her words.

However, after getting in the car, she shamelessly sent a text message to Shaun asking for help.

She had no choice. Although she hated him, Freya and she would be able to leave in one piece as long as he showed up. After all, everyone in the country had to show Shaun some respect.

An hour later.

The car drove to the Snow family’s mansion. The atmosphere here was different from Hill Manor’s solemnity. The Snow family had pavilions, rockeries, flowing water, and exquisite corridors. Any tree in their yard would be able to buy a house outside.

After passing through the door, Freya saw a tall and slender woman in front of them walking. The woman walked so fast that Freya only had time to see the woman’s beautiful profile, but it was enough to surprise her.

“What’s wrong?” Catherine turned back to look at her.

Freya grabbed her hand emotionally and whispered, “Did you see that woman just now? She looks like... my brother’s ex-girlfriend. I saw her photo on his phone before.”

Catherine froze. She knew Forrest Lynch but was not familiar with him. After all, Freya had always said she would pair Forrest with her.

However, Forrest always looked unsmiling and unromantic, which made her feel pressured. She was completely unable to get along with Forrest.

“That can’t be. I’ve never heard of your brother having a girlfriend before.”

“He dated only once when he was studying abroad. I’ve never met her before, but now that I think about it, she was probably his first and only love.”

After Freya finished speaking in an emotional whisper, she turned to ask the butler, “Mister, who is that beautiful lady who passed by just now? She’s so pretty and elegant.”

“That’s our Snow family’s eldest young miss.”

When the butler heard Freya address the woman so affectionately, he had a much better impression of her.

Thinking that Freya might become the second madam of the Snow family in the future, the butler could not help but add, "The eldest young miss is now the president of Snow Corporation and is usually very busy."

"The eldest young miss..." Freya was a little dumbfounded.

Catherine looked at her with a vague smile. "Yeah, your brother's ex is the Snow family's eldest young miss."

"...I was joking. Maybe I was mistaken." The corners of Freya's mouth curved upward. She believed that her brother did not have that capability.

Soon, they arrived at the main hall and saw three people sitting inside.

The one sitting in the middle was an old man with white hair but a kind face. Next to him sat a middle-aged man with a handsome face and a middle-aged woman with exquisite makeup. The woman looked slightly similar to Rodney, and it was clear at a glance that they were Rodney's parents.

"Grandpa, Uncle, Aunty, hello," Freya and Catherine greeted them politely at the same time.

The butler explained from the side, "This is Ms. Catherine Jones, Mr. Joel Yule's daughter. She's good friends with Ms. Lynch and came along because she was worried."

Old Master Snow nodded. Many people in the noble circle had talked about Catherine recently, and everyone admired her excellent talent.

After all, no ordinary person would be able to become the world's top designer at such a young age. If Freya was able to be friends with such a person, it meant that she was decent herself.

The people of the Snow family all set their sights on Freya.

After going home tonight, Freya had removed her makeup and was wearing a very ordinary denim jacket and T-shirt.

However, her face was clean and her eyes were clear. Her exquisite face looked tender. The Snow family nodded in satisfaction.

"Is... there something you need me for?"

Freya felt nervous at their gazes. "I can explain myself. It was Rodney Snow who slandered me for plagiarism three years ago and made it impossible for me to stay in the cosmetics industry in the country. This time, I just... returned the favor to him."

Old Master Snow snorted coldly. "Is the Snow family a family you can mess with? You've ruined Rodney's reputation. His mother had wanted to arrange a partner for him before, but now, all the women from influential families are avoiding him."

"I don't think he would agree even if you introduced other women to him." Freya could not help but mutter. The only person in Rodney's mind was Sarah.

“ I don’t care. In short, people who mess with the Snow family will pay the price. Because of you, the Snow family is being ridiculed.”

Old Master Snow struck the table.

The old master revealed his dignified aura. Needless to say, Freya jumped in shock, and even Catherine was a little uneasy. “Grandpa Derek, although I’ve never met you before, I heard about your strict lectures on self-discipline given to your descendants. I’ve always thought you were a sensible and reasonable elder, but I didn’t expect that you’re no different from those elders in large families who bully the weak.”

Jason Snow’s face changed slightly. “Ms. Jones, please pay attention to your words. Even if your grandfather came over, he would not dare to speak to my father like that.”

“What I said is the truth.” Catherine lowered her head. “Moreover, the reason for that incident was because Rodney had bullied her using his status.”

Old Master Snow felt embarrassed at being pointed out, but due to his goal, he put on a bold look on his face. He said sternly, “That’s enough, lest you call me unreasonable. Freya Lynch, let me ask you. Do you admit that you’ve ruined Rodney’s reputation?”

“Yes, I admit that...” Freya nodded vaguely. “But— ”

“But if it weren’t for him, you wouldn’t have gone abroad that year and you wouldn’t have become the most talented cosmetic chemist in the world today,” Old Master Snow interrupted her. “It was because of the humiliation he gave you that made you what you are today.”

Freya was dumbfounded. Old Master Snow was already so old. How could he be so... shameless? “So, according to you, I should be thanking Rodney Snow instead?" She gritted her teeth and said in cold sarcasm. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 789

Old Master Snow waved his hand nonchalantly. "That's not necessary. You just have to compensate Rodney. Since you've ruined his reputation and made other women afraid to marry him, just use yourself as compensation to him."

Freya, "... "

She was dumbfounded. What was Old Master Snow saying? Why did she not understand him at all?

Catherine's mouth twitched. "You mean you want Freya to... marry Rodney?"

"Exactly." Old Master Snow nodded. "We have no other choice. Rodney's mother had arranged a marriage for him, but it was all ruined by you."

Then, he secretly gave his daughter-in-law a look. Wendy Collins said shamelessly, "Yes, that woman was a really good woman. They could have gotten married. You have to compensate him with a marriage."

"No." Freya shuddered as her head shook like a rattle. "My family is too poor. People like me aren't worthy of the Snow family."

Old Master Snow snorted. "We've already investigated your background. The Lynch family is one of the richest families in Melbourne. Although you weren't worthy before, Rodney's reputation isn't good now, so we can accept you."

Freya wanted to cry. "Rodney doesn't like me, and I don't like him either. There's no use trying if it's not meant to be."

"Emotions can grow with time." Wendy persuaded.

"I'm dirty and unworthy of Rodney. I was ruined by Thomas Neeson before. It was on the news at that time, so go look at it. Many people know about it." Freya directly smeared her name.

"We've already checked. You weren't defiled," Jason Snow added.

Freya, " "

She did not understand how this happened.

She gritted her teeth. "In any case, I won't marry him even if I die. If you guys think I've ruined Rodney's reputation, feel free to take revenge on me. If you want me to marry someone like him, you might as well tell me to die. He's a scumbag whose brain is most easily brainwashed by two-faced manipulative women. I'd be insane to marry him." "You..." Old Master Snow's blood pressure soared.

Seeing the atmosphere getting stiffer and stiffer, Catherine could not help but interject, "Um..."

There's no need to argue about this. I think you might as well persuade Rodney first instead of asking Freya to compensate him. He would definitely choose death rather than agree to this."

"We'll make him agree," Old Master Snow said confidently.

Catherine was also completely speechless.

"Catherine, let's go. Words won't get through to them." Freya grabbed Catherine and was about to leave.

Several guards immediately stopped them. Catherine's face changed.

At that moment, she saw Shaun's tall and upright figure heading over from the pavilion. He was wearing the same clothes from the afternoon, a black shirt and a pair of black pants. However, at that moment, his body exuded a cold and solemn aura.

"What are you doing here?"

Soon, Shaun walked to the door. He swept his dark and deep eyes at the guards who stopped him at the door.

The guards recognized his identity and immediately gave way silently.

Shaun walked in with big strides, and his eyes fell on Catherine who was at the door. Seeing her staring at him with her big and bright eyes, he could not help but think of the WhatsApp message she had sent to him when he was resting at home. The corners of his lips involuntarily curled up. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 790

Catherine had just told him not to follow her in the afternoon, but she sent him a WhatsApp message in the evening.

Catherine naturally did not miss the smug look in his eyes and glared at him fiercely in annoyance.

Shaun pretended not to see it and turned to greet the people of the Snow family. "Grandpa Derek, why did you call them here?"

Old Master Snow motioned to Freya with his chin. "That lying girl ruined Rodney's reputation, so I had no choice. I'm worried that Rodney won't get a wife, so I want her to marry him."

Shaun was also shocked by the old man's idea. "Does Rodney know about this?"

"I mentioned it to him before." Old Master Snow sighed deeply. "Shaun, Rodney isn't young anymore. I can't watch him wasting his life away like this."

Shaun was choked for a moment. He knew that Rodney had feelings for Sarah. "Grandpa, I have to bring these two people away today, so don't make things difficult for them."

"They even prepared a savior beforehand." Old Master Snow glared at Freya. "The next time I see you, I hope that you'll be my grandson's wife. If you help Rodney and marry him, I'll give you 10% of the Snow Corporation's shares."

Freya was stunned and shook her head. "I can earn money by myself. Why would I want your Snow family's shares? I don't need them."

The Snow family was stunned, not expecting her to refuse without hesitation.

"Grandpa, it seems you can't convince her." Shaun laughed. He grabbed Catherine's hand and walked away. Freya followed after them.

After a full minute of silence, Old Master Snow slapped the table in excitement. "She treats money like dirt. I'm definitely making Freya Lynch my granddaughter-in-law."

Jason was exasperated, but Wendy was more attentive. "Shaun was holding Catherine's hand earlier. What does that mean? Are they getting back together again? Isn't he going to get married to Sarah?"

"They didn't go through with it. I heard that Sarah might have really had an affair with someone before their wedding. The Hill family never mentioned holding another wedding," Jason said.

"Oh no! If Sarah doesn't get married, it's likely she'll go to Rodney as her rebound. That silly boy always protects Sarah. We have to find a way to make him get married soon," Wendy said anxiously, "I'll never let him marry Sarah."

Old Master Snow and Jason also nodded. A woman like Sarah Neeson must never enter the Snow family.

Not long after coming out of the hall, Catherine pulled her hand back hard.

Shaun looked down at his empty palm and glanced at her resentfully. "I haven't eaten because I ran over here to save you."

"So... you saved us. But do I have to let you hold my hand?" Catherine looked at him coldly. "Then don't save me next time. I believe that I would've been able to walk out in one piece even without your help. At most, Freya will just become your good friend's wife."

Freya, who was walking behind, wanted to vomit blood. What a lousy friendship!

Shaun was also choked up.

However, Catherine did not pay attention to him and turned to Freya instead. "By the way, do you know how much 10% of Snow Corporation's shares are worth?"

"How would I know? I'm not interested in—"

"At least 40 billion dollars."

Freya, " "

She counted with her fingers. It was money that she could not earn even if she worked for several lifetimes. "Forget it. Even if you give me 100 billion dollars, I wouldn't want to be with an idiot like Rodney Snow who only knows how to protect a two-faced b*tch like Sarah Neeson." Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 792

July 28, 2021 by gamanovel

Catherine's temples throbbed.

Damn it! From the beginning till the end, Shaun only treated her like a chef. How did she fall in love with a b*stard like him before?

Forget it. She would endure it for the sake of her plan.

She closed her eyes and put on the apron before going to the kitchen to cook.

Shaun sat in the living room watching TV. He looked back occasionally and saw the busy figure in the kitchen. His heart felt warm.

Previously when he was alone here, he had felt that the place was empty and that something was missing. Now, he realized that it was missing a woman.

He had never experienced this kind of feeling even when living at the seaside villa. Even though Sarah and Aunty Zara were there, he had never felt this way before.

Catherine spent an hour and a half before she was finally done cooking the ribs and meat. She was so tired that her hands were numb and her stomach was growling.

Shaun looked over and found that she had cooked a bowl of sweet and sour pork ribs, a plate of roasted pork, and a bowl of sparerib stew. The rest were pork chop and peppers, as well as stir-fried pork.

His handsome brows immediately furrowed. "Didn't I tell you to just cook sweet and sour pork and roast pork?"

Catherine rolled her eyes at him and snapped, "Do you want to get high blood pressure or diabetes by asking me to cook four whole ribs of sweet and sour pork? You just fainted and got sent to the hospital yesterday. Pay more attention to yourself."

Shaun was stunned.

Looking at her bright and angry eyes, there was suddenly a sweet feeling in his heart. His sexy thin lips curved upward in pleasure. "Are you concerned about me?"

Concerned her *ss!

Catherine sighed. "Mister, this is common sense. I beg you to please grow a brain."

"I wasn't going to eat it all at once, " Shaun suddenly said with bitterness, " I was planning to put the leftovers in the fridge and eat one bowl a day."

"You can't eat it like that either."

“Okay, I won’t eat it then. I’ll listen to you.” Shaun’s gaze burned into her. He looked like a well-behaved dog.

Catherine, “ ”

She looked away and served the dishes. She was getting ready to eat. She had gotten dragged away before she could finish eating earlier, so she was starving now.

However, it was all meat and ribs. She was tired of eating them.

On the other hand, Shaun was eating happily. Although the best ones were the sweet and sour pork ribs and roast pork, the stir-fried pork and sparerib soup were also good.

After eating, he put the rest in the refrigerator. When he turned around, he saw Catherine sitting there playing on her phone. The dishes on the table had not been washed at all.

“The dishes should be washed... ” He knocked on the table and reminded her in a low voice.

Catherine looked up from her game and stared at him with a cold gaze.

Shaun explained, “There isn’t a nanny at home, so there’s no one to do these things.”

Catherine laughed.

History was repeating itself. She increasingly felt that the Catherine from the past was an idiot to have fallen in love with him.

“Shaun Hill, what’s the point of a person like you wanting a woman? You should just stay single for life.” Catherine directly got up and left. Just looking at him made her annoyed.

Shaun’s eyebrows lowered instantly. Seeing Catherine open the door and about to leave, he strode over and grabbed her arm. “If you don’t want to wash the dishes, then don’t wash them. Just say it—”

“Shaun Hill, that’s enough. You brought us out of the Snow family tonight, so I cooked for two hours and paid you off for the favor. Besides, I saved you yesterday. It’s my fault for being kind-hearted.”

Catherine sneered, “Don’t look for me in the future. I don’t want to painstakingly cook for you and end up being responsible for washing the dishes and cleaning up after you too. I suggest that you call this number if you need something in the future.”

She took out her phone and pulled up a contact for him to see.

Shaun saw that the number was saved as ‘Housekeeping Agency’.

His handsome face suddenly darkened.

Catherine reminded sincerely, "Don't think that all housekeepers are aunties. There are some who are young and unmarried. You can pick any one of them if you see that they're suitable for you."

Then, she slammed the door and left.

It was as if it was too annoying for her to look at him.

Shaun's chest surged with anger. By the time he chased after her, her figure had disappeared.

He returned home and saw the table full of dishes and utensils. He felt depressed.

He had just asked her to do the dishes. Was there a need to get so agitated? If she did not want to wash them, then she should have just said so. It was not like he was forcing her to do the dishes.

He took out his phone and subconsciously wanted to call Chester for advice, but he soon stopped.

Chester and Sarah were also friends. If Chester found out that he liked Catherine, he would definitely start nagging again.

He thought about it and went online to ask: [I invited the girl I like home to cook, but when I asked her to do the dishes, she got angry and left. Is it my fault or is the woman too narrow-minded?]

Less than half an hour after he posted it, the comments section exploded.

[Oh my God, I can't believe someone actually asked this question. How unlucky must that woman be to be liked by a guy like this?]

[You have a lot of nerve to ask if that woman is narrow-minded! How narrow-minded can you be?]

[Friend, as a man, I'm kindly telling you this with confidence: You won't be able to find a girlfriend like this.]

[I think you shouldn't find a girlfriend. Just get a housekeeper.]

[If I were that woman, not only would I run, I'd blacklist you too.]

Shaun was so angry he felt like he was about to explode.

These netizens were out of their minds. What did they mean he was narrow-minded? What did they mean he could not get a girlfriend? He had always been chased after by all kinds of women.

He was annoyed and deleted the post. He must have gone crazy to ask such a senseless question online.

After deleting it, he found Catherine's number and called her. However, what answered him was an automated female voice saying, "The number you have dialed is unavailable."

He then tried again a minute later but got the same response.

Five minutes later, it was still the same.

Half an hour later, he was sure that he had indeed been... blocked. F*ck.

After Catherine returned to Hackett Institute, Freya, who had just taken a shower, immediately ran out and winked. "Let me see if your clothes are intact and if you have hickeys or not. Hey, your clothes are wrinkled and your hair is so messy. You look exhausted as well. Did you two..."

She smiled ambiguously.

Catherine swept her icy eyes over. "Put away those dirty thoughts. I went to his place and cooked for two hours for him. I have calluses on my hands from chopping so many ribs."

Freya silently looked at her reddened hands and was speechless.

Catherine looked like she wanted to cry and complained, "40 pounds of ribs and 40 pounds of meat. I chopped them for ages before putting them in the freezer for him. Then, I cooked him roasted pork, spareribs stew, pork chop with peppers, stir-fried pork, and sweet and sour pork ribs. I had just finished eating when he asked me why I wasn't doing the dishes. I..."

She drank a large glass of water angrily. "By the way, can you believe that I didn't even drink a glass of water at his place?"

Freya patted her shoulder sympathetically. "How blind must you have been to fall in love with him before?"

"You know that I'm blind too?" Catherine looked up and sighed. "I blocked his number as soon as I left. How infuriating."

"Well done. You must be tired. Go take a break and then sleep." Freya comforted her. "I believe that after this experience, your heart will be calmer and will no longer ripple for him."

Catherine sneered, "The only ripples I'll have for him are from anger."

Hill Corporation.

The next morning at 8:00 a.m.

When Shaun came out of the elevator, he heard Hadley chatting with several women in the secretary department in the corridor.

"Assistant Young, I saw a super funny male chauvinist ask a question online yesterday. The man actually asked, 'I invited the girl I like home to cook, but when I asked her to do the dishes, she got angry and left. Is it my fault or is the woman too narrow-minded?' My God, the world really is large. There are all kinds of outlandish men out there."

Hadley laughed. "That man is crazy. He invited a woman to his place but made her cook. That's bad enough, but he asked her to do the dishes too. This kind of person is destined to never find a girlfriend."

"Right? He even had the nerve to ask the question online! It's enough that he's not self-aware, but he had the cheek to accuse the woman of being too narrow-minded."

"There are much weirder men these few years. It's best to stay away from people like that if you encounter them."

"I'm guessing he's been blocked by that woman."

At some point, everyone suddenly felt a chill coming from behind them. It was almost summer, but they felt as if it was colder than winter.

Someone called out, "President Hill."

Looking back, they saw Shaun's handsome but dark face.

"President Hill..." Hadley explained nervously, "Work hours haven't started, so we..."

"Hadley Young." Shaun's death stare fell on him.

"Come in."

Then, Shaun went into the office.

Hadley followed him miserably and closed the door. "President Hill, I'm sorry. I'll never chat with others in the corridor again..."

"Assistant Young, the crazy man you mentioned earlier is me." Shaun took off his jacket and threw it on his leather seat. His eyes were frosty. "I'm the man who asked the question online. The same guy you said would never find a girlfriend in his life."

Hadley was petrified, "..."

He had an urge to whack himself to death on the spot. What kind of outrageous words did he say earlier? He could not remember at all.

"President Hill, I'm sorry. I didn't know," Hadley stammered, "I... I thought it was some poor and ordinary loser. Of course... for a handsome, rich, and dazzling man like you, there are tons of women willing to cook and wash dishes for you. There's no way you won't be able to get a girlfriend." Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 795

July 28, 2021 by gamanovel

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 795

Shaun snorted coldly. "That goes without saying."

Hadley's heart leaped to his chest. He wanted nothing more than to disappear. He could not understand. He was not the only one who had been gossiping. Why was the president only bothering him?

"Then answer this question for me." Shaun knocked on the desk and said in a deep tone, " Catherine... Why did she get angry and leave? Did I really do something wrong? What should I do now?"

Hadley realized that the person was Ms. Jones. Gee, Ms. Jones was really pitiful. Why did she run? If he were a woman, he would run too.

"President Hill, with all due respect, at present... you should be at the courting stage, right?" Hadley asked carefully.

Shaun scoffed and glanced at him. "Do I have to court her? You should know better than anyone what she thinks of me. She has liked me for a long time, but I hurt her in the past and made her feel uncomfortable. However, I'm lowering myself for her."

Hadley laughed dryly. Shaun was a mighty president, so Hadley could not call him out. "President Hill, whether the two of you are in love or not, women should be spoiled. How can you call a woman home and ask her to cook for you? Then, you even asked her to do the dishes. You're looking for a woman, not finding a qualified housekeeper. Women should be doted on. You should be the one cooking and washing the dishes, making her happy. With the way you're acting, you'll only make Ms. Jones feel like she's with you just to be your nanny. Any woman would be uncomfortable."

"Sarah isn't like that." Shaun could not help but say.

Hadley was speechless. If Sarah was not like that, then why did he not go to Sarah instead? However, Hadley still pretended to be surprised and said, "Has Ms. Neeson done the dishes before? It seems that it's usually Aunty Zara who does the work."

Shaun was stunned.

It was true. Although Sarah occasionally cooked, the cleaning up was usually done by Aunty Zara or Yael. There were maids at home to wash the clothes and clean the house.

Hadley sighed. "President Hill, you should get this straight. Women are to be doted on. Don't you have a lot of servants and nannies?"

"But I like her cooking," Shaun said in annoyance.

"Then you can learn to wash the dishes yourself. She'll cook, and you'll do the dishes. This is actually a kind of simple happiness for many couples... You can learn from how Young Master Stringer courted her."

"Why do I need to learn from him?" Shaun sneered disdainfully, "How can Isaac Stringer compare to me?"

From head to toe, there was nothing Isaac had that was comparable to him.

"I misspoke. I've spoken too much." Hadley immediately slapped his own mouth. "Compared to you, Isaac is like the dirt on your shoes."

Shaun gripped his fountain pen in annoyance. A moment later, he let go of it and said in a cold voice, "Go buy a car full of pink flowers and send them to Hudson Corporation."

Hadley sweated. The man just said he would not learn from Isaac, but he ate his own words in the blink of an eye.

“Yes.”

Hadley answered respectfully and went out to book flowers for delivery.

He was really pleased to be able to see how Eldest Young Master Hill and Ms. Jones were progressing. Although the Eldest Young Master Hill’s hypnosis could not be lifted, it did not prevent him from falling in love with Catherine again.

Hudson Corporation.

Catherine had just returned to her office after a meeting and suddenly found that it was filled with pink roses. She felt like she had fallen into a sea of roses.

Her mouth twitched as she turned to ask Harvey, “ Who sent these?”

As soon as she spoke, her phone rang. It was from a n unknown number, so she answered it. Shaun’s low and gentle voice sounded. “Do you like the flowers I sent?”

Catherine rubbed her forehead and mocked, “Why did you send me so many flowers? Do you want me to cook and wash the dishes for you again?”

“It’s an apology, ” Shaun said in a low voice, “I shouldn’t have asked you to wash the dishes last night, and I shouldn’t have let you do the cooking. ”

“Don’t ridicule me. You’re Eldest Young Master Hill. Cooking for you is my honor, ” Catherine gritted her teeth and said in a gloomy voice.

“I’ll cook for you tonight, okay?” Shaun coaxed gently. “I’ll wash the dishes as well.”

“Thank you, but I don’t want to be your guinea pig. I’m afraid you’ll poison me.” Catherine had tried his food and it was off-putting.

“Let me take you to watch a movie, then.” “No.”

Catherine hung up the call straight away. Despite knowing that she should stick to her plan instead of acting this way, she could not help but feel indignant over the incident last night.

Meanwhile, in the president’s office.

When he was hung up on, Shaun’s temples twitched.

He turned on his laptop but failed to digest any of the words displayed there. When it was 3:00 p.m., he started the car and sped toward the preschool.

The security guard at the gate knew him, so he was allowed to go to the door of the class.

The kids had just woken up from their nap and were drinking iced pear juice. Suzie was sitting beside a boy in a white shirt. He was reading a book while keeping his head down. She secretly took his juice and sipped on it.

The boy raised his head. After that, he furrowed his brows and glared at Suzie as a warning.

Suzie stuck her tongue out in an extremely mischievous manner.

When she spotted Shaun through the French window, she was so shocked that she nearly bit her tongue.

Lucas looked in the same direction and shuddered deep down.

Damn it! Shaun had caught sight of his face. He remembered that his mom had told him that he bore a strong resemblance to her.

At that instant, Lucas' face paled in spite of himself.

A wave of emotions swept over Shaun who was standing outside.

When Shaun noticed the boy beside Suzie just now, he found his face rather familiar. After glancing at him twice, Shaun realized that the boy's features were very similar to Catherine's. In fact, the boy was a mini version of Catherine. The only difference was that the boy's brows made him look even fiercer.

At the sight of Suzie and the boy sitting together, all kinds of shocking thoughts flashed across Shaun's mind.

If his twins were still alive and they were a pigeon pair, the boy would have looked like this boy.

How could everything be so coincidental? “Uncle Shaun, why are you here?”

At this moment, Suzie ran out with an uneasy look.

“Suzie, who is the boy you were playing with just now?” Shaun squatted down and asked softly.

“His name is Lucas.” Suzie tilted her head and asked in bewilderment, “Why are you asking for his name?”

“Don’t you think that he... looks like Aunty Cathy?” Shaun’s hands trembled uncontrollably.

“Yeah, that’s why I feel an affinity for him. We always play together, and he’s my best friend,” Suzie responded with a grin.

Shaun narrowed his eyes and pursed his lips. “Go inside and continue playing for a while. I’ll come again later to pick you up.”

“Oh, alright.” His words made Suzie nervous.

When he returned, Lucas ran to her and asked anxiously, “What did he say?”

“It seems that our scummy dad has started suspecting you.” Suzie was at her wit’s end. Lucas frowned. “Don’t panic. When Mommy decided to send me here, I had already prepared myself for such situations.”

Shaun swiftly contacted the principal and asked for Lucas' information.

Lucas' full name was Lucas Yule. His father was Sheldon Yule, whereas his mother was Sabrina Winton. To Shaun's distress, Lucas was actually one and a half years younger than Suzie.

"Are you sure that Lucas is only two years and two months old?" Shaun frowned deeply, wondering why Lucas looked older than Suzie.

"Yes. That kid is quite tall, probably because his parents are tall. This kind of situation is common here."

The principal smiled and said, "Initially, we didn't want to accept him as he's too young. But ultimately, we accepted him since his parents are from the Yule family and they pulled some strings with us."

"The Yule family?"

Shaun was struck by an idea. After walking out of the principal's office, he immediately asked a Liona member to investigate the Yule family. Soon, he received some news. "Young Master Hill, someone called Sheldon Yule does exist in the Yule family. He's Joel's cousin. Even though he's been married for years, Sheldon doesn't have a son. A while ago, his ex-lover brought a two-year-old boy back.

“Sheldon heard the boy was his child, so he promptly did a DNA test. It proved that Lucas is his biological son. Now, Sheldon and his lover treat Lucas as their beloved kid. Because of that, his wife is so pissed that she always argues with him.”

“Send me Sheldon’s photo. I want to have a look at him.”

Less than a minute after he gave his order, Shaun received Sheldon’s photo. He noticed that Sheldon and Joel looked quite alike.

Considering that Catherine looked like Joel, it was not surprising that Lucas resembled Catherine.

Shaun lit a cigarette and felt as if his body had suddenly fallen from the sky to the ground.

Indeed, he was out of his mind just now. He actually suspected that Lucas and Suzie were the twins that Catherine had been pregnant with.

Perhaps Catherine did not have a miscarriage back then. It could be that Liam bribed the hospital staff to tell him that Catherine was dead and she had a miscarriage.

However, he had forgotten the amount of pain and blood loss Catherine suffered when he drove her to the hospital back then.

How could the twins possibly be alive? He felt as if he was insane.

“Uncle Shaun, Granny said you should smoke less.

Smoking isn't good for the body."

Suzie, who was carrying her school bag, appeared in front of him. With the sunlight shining on her pink cheeks, she looked like a pretty doll.

Despite feeling a sharp pain deep inside him, he forced a smile. "Why are you out?"

"Classes are almost over. My teacher let me out since you're already outside." Suzie tilted her head and asked, "Uncle Shaun, you seem... a little sad."

"Mm. I was thinking about something, something that... I can never forgive myself for." Shaun rose to his feet and touched her head. "Let's ask Aunty Cathy to join us for a movie, okay?"

"Huh?" Suzie was dazed for a moment. "But... But I'm still young. I can only watch animated movies

".. Let's watch an animated movie, then," Shaun replied reluctantly.

"Yay. Let's watch Brother Bear." Shaun was speechless.

He felt like taking back what he had just said.

Shortly after, he arrived at Hudson Corporation. Suzie then called Catherine. "Aunty Cathy, I'm waiting for you downstairs with Daddy. Come down now, okay?"

The minute Catherine heard Suzie addressing her as 'Aunty Cathy', she was sure that it was not Liam who brought her here. When Suzie was with Liam, she would always call Catherine 'Mommy'.

Now, this little girl was getting better at deceiving people. She always favored strangers over her own mother.

Catherine sighed and answered, "Alright. I'm coming down."

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 798

Shaun, who was seated in the driver's seat, looked somber. To his surprise, Catherine came down straight away without asking any questions when she thought it was Liam here to meet her.

He wanted Catherine to break these bad habits one day. He wanted to let her know that she needed to keep a distance from her brother-in-law.

Shortly after, Catherine appeared in front of Shaun and Suzie.

Suzie rolled down the window and waved at her excitedly.

Catherine immediately walked toward the car. Within seconds, Shaun got out and opened the rear door. "We're going to accompany Suzie to watch a movie."

"I..." Catherine's lips twitched.

Shaun switched on his phone and showed her the tickets. "I've bought your ticket, and it's non-refundable."

Catherine was speechless after darting a glance at it. "You're bringing me to watch Brother Bear?"

"Aunty Cathy, I'm the one who suggested this movie." Suzie lifted her head sympathetically and gazed at Catherine. "I've never stepped into a movie theater in my life."

Catherine felt helpless. Did she have a choice to not bring Suzie to the theater? Given that kids typically watched kids' movies, she did not feel like watching Brother Bear with Suzie for two whole hours. She just found it miserable.

"You little liar." Catherine pulled on Suzie's ear.

Suzie said in an aggrieved manner, "Sorry. If I didn't tell you that I was with Daddy, you wouldn't have come down."

"I knew earlier that you were lying," Catherine said in annoyance.

Shaun's eyes glowed and he stared at Catherine with mixed feelings. "This means that... you came down not because of Liam?"

Catherine glowered at him with her large eyes, and she seemed furious. Nevertheless, the scene made them look like a couple arguing.

Shaun's lips curled as he watched her get furious. Nevertheless, he found her quite adorable, and he somehow felt like giving her a kiss.

Because of Suzie, Shaun eventually took them to a child-friendly restaurant.

The three of them had steak pizza.

Shaun felt that the taste of the pizza was average and not as delicious as Catherine's cooking. He stopped eating after a few bites.

Suzie blinked and said, "Uncle Shaun, you didn't finish your food. What a waste! Also, you'll soon get hungry."

"It's fine. I still have some leftovers at home, so I can go home and eat," Shaun said as he gazed at Catherine gently.

Catherine almost choked on her drink. When she looked up and met his eyes, her pretty face flushed slightly, looking just like the tender rose on the table.

Shaun was inwardly filled with joy at the sight of her expression. His heart thumped like how a male protagonist in novels would. He had never felt this way even when he was in a relationship with Sarah during college. He had never expected himself to be acting like a muddle-headed young man at this moment.

"What? You have leftovers from last night's meal?" Suzie found it unbelievable. "That's not good. The food has been kept for too long. I heard eating too much leftovers is bad for your health."

"You don't understand. The leftovers are sweet." Shaun continued to fix his eyes on the woman opposite her.

Suzie nodded. "You're referring to the pork ribs, right?"

"It's not just the pork ribs. There's something sweet in it that you don't know." Shaun gave a faint smile. "When the sweet taste goes into my body, I'll feel the sweetness in my heart too."

"Cough, cough." Catherine could not take it anymore.

He used to behave like this previously as well. Every time Shaun, that arrogant, harsh, and cruel man, said something lovey-dovey, she would get goosebumps.

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 799

"Aunty Cathy, do you know what's this sweet stuff? That way, I can feel the sweetness in my heart next time too." Suzie looked at Catherine in confusion.

"I have no idea. I'm not as knowledgeable, sentimental, and unfaithful as Uncle Shaun," Catherine teased him before she lowered her head and continued eating the steak pizza.

Shaun took a glass of water and sipped it sulkily. When was he unfaithful?

As the head of the Hill family, apart from Catherine, he had only been in a relationship with Sarah in his life. What was more, he had only ever been intimate with Catherine.

After finishing the meal, the three of them headed to the theater.

Shaun was carrying Suzie on his shoulder, while Catherine was holding Suzie's jacket.

To other kids, the three of them looked like a family.

When they were waiting outside the theater's lobby, a lot of kids were standing there. Some came with either their fathers or mothers. They all looked at Suzie admiringly.

"Mommy, that little girl is fortunate to have both her dad and mom accompany her."

"Darling, your dad has no choice but to work overtime to make more money."

"How I wish both my dad and mom could accompany me. By the way, her dad is handsome and her mom is pretty."

Upon hearing those words, Suzie raised her head with a smug expression.

At the sight of Suzie's expression, Catherine smiled gently but felt upset at the same time.

Suzie had also used to admire kids for having both their parents accompanying them when she was abroad. This was also precisely why Catherine could not bear to reject Suzie's request to watch Brother

Bear.

Lucas suddenly crossed her mind. It had been several days since she last visited Lucas as Shaun had been spending time with her recently. Lucas was mature, so mature that she took pity on him.

“Why are you spacing out?” Shaun gripped Catherine’s hand out of the blue and stared intently at her. “What do you want to eat? I’ll go buy it.”

“I want... I want popcorn,” Suzie said first.

“Do you think that I’m a foodie like you guys?” Catherine mumbled, but Shaun heard it anyway.

Shaun replied seriously, “I’m not a foodie. I just like your cooking.”

“So do I. Aunty Cathy’s cooking is the best in the world.” Suzie went along with it.

At the sight of how Shaun and Suzie were similar in appearance, Catherine’s gaze turned gentle. “I want a cup of grapefruit juice.”

After passing Suzie to Catherine, Shaun turned around and went to buy grapefruit juice.

Nestled in Catherine’s arms, Suzie suddenly whispered, “Mommy, is my scummy daddy... trying to pursue you?”

“You know nothing, you brat.” Catherine pinched the tip of Suzie’s nose.

“Mommy, I feel that... scummy Daddy is quite nice.” Suzie fixed a pitiful gaze on him. “Why don’t you guys just... get together?”

Catherine was momentarily stunned. In fact, she had noticed earlier that Suzie had the intention of setting her up with Shaun. Although Suzie hoped for that to happen, could Catherine forget about the harm Shaun had caused her for Suzie’s sake? “It’s not as simple as you think. Sarah won’t let things go easily, and your scummy dad might dump us anytime for her.”

Little did Suzie know that if it had not been for Liam and Hadley’s help, she and Lucas would have lost their lives.

Catherine would never forget that suffering and humiliation.

“Really? If that’s how he is, I won’t forgive him anymore,” Suzie responded with a pout.

Shaun soon returned with some food. Then, the three of them walked into the theater together.

Suzie was seated between Shaun and Catherine. However, Shaun felt that he was too far away from Catherine, so he placed Suzie on his lap and took her seat instead. “Suzie, I’ll let you sit on my lap, okay? The tall man in front of you is blocking you, so you won’t be able to see the screen.” “Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 800

Suzie nodded, assuming that what Shaun said was true.

Catherine was speechless. All of a sudden, she noticed that Shaun's hand was placed at the back of her seat.

She glared at him, yet he said with a straight face, " My shoulder hurts, so I'm stretching my arm."

Catherine turned her eyes to the screen as she could not be bothered about him.

However, the animated movies for kids were really very boring. Only Suzie was engrossed in the movie.

Catherine lowered her head. She switched on her phone to play some games.

After Shaun glanced at her account and region, his hand landed on her shoulder. As she was wearing a thin silk dress, he could feel her delicate and soft shoulder blade.

" Shaun..." Catherine looked up and glared at him.

Shaun withdrew his touch embarrassedly. Then, he took the cup of grapefruit juice that was placed between them and sipped on it.

"That's mine." Annoyed, Catherine took a deep breath.

"It doesn't matter," Shaun moved closer to her and whispered into her ear. His masculine breathing made her itchy and numb. "We've tasted each other's saliva anyway."

Catherine pinched his thigh mercilessly.

How dare this damn hooligan make such a shameless remark?!

If the theater was not this dark, he could definitely see her flushed face at this point.

She did not feel like having the drink anymore now that he had drunk from it.

Nevertheless, she needed to quench her thirst very badly. She had no choice but to share the juice with him.

During the movie, Shaun got up and headed to the restroom. When Catherine asked Suzie whether she wanted to go to the restroom, she shook her head and said no. However, when Catherine carried her, she felt some warm urine flowing out from Suzie that wet her pants.

Catherine's face darkened. If they were not outside right now, she would have spanked her.

"Sorry, Mommy." Suzie was aware of the terrible thing she had just done. With tears welled in her eyes, she almost began to weep.

"Why did you say no when I asked you whether you wanted to pee?"

"I didn't want to miss the movie, and I thought I could hold it," Suzie answered weakly.

At a loss for words, Catherine let out a sigh. "Fine. Stop watching the movie. You have to get changed.

Otherwise, you'll catch a cold."

She carried Suzie and walked out. Shaun, who was walking out of the restroom, happened to notice the wet spot on Catherine's dress where her thigh was.

"Suzie peed on me. I have to get her a new set of clothes so that she won't catch a cold," Catherine explained.

Fortunately, there was a shopping mall below the theater. Catherine soon bought a new set of clothes for Suzie to get changed into. She bought herself new clothes at a women's clothing store and got changed as well.

Since she had a great figure, any pants would look good on her.

The store assistant beside her praised, "Sir, your wife has such a great figure, and she also looks pretty. She's just like a model no matter what pants she wears."

Shaun smiled. The word 'wife' had never sounded so wonderful to him.

"Bring out all the clothes in her size." He handed a black card to the store assistant straight away.

The store assistant was taken aback. What a wealthy man he was!

By the time Catherine walked out in a pair of new jeans, the shop assistant was already packing the clothes. "Miss, your husband is buying all the clothes in this store in your size. How blessed you are!"

Catherine shifted her gaze to Shaun while her lips twitched. "Why are you buying so many clothes?"

"You look good in them." Shaun smiled.

Freya glanced at Shaun intentionally. "Cathy, I don't want to follow in your footsteps. If Rodney tells me to get lost and I don't, I might be put into a mental hospital. That'll be too painful."

Shaun, "..."

He really had the urge to throw Freya to the Snow family now.

He had just made a little progress, but she ruined everything.

"Right? That's why you must be careful when finding a man," Catherine said meaningfully. " Especially those men who lose their intelligence when they meet two-faced b*tches. You have to stay away from them."

After coming out of the Snows' residence, Shaun was rebuked by them.

He thought of himself as a smart and powerful man. Otherwise, he would not have been able to lead Hill Corporation while surrounded by jackals. However, in the eyes of these two women, he was just an idiot.

It made his handsome face become contorted.

“President Hill...” At that moment, Hadley pulled up in front of the three in a sedan. “You called me over to—”

“Send Freya back.” Shaun dragged Catherine without a word to his own car. He had already put up with Freya as the unwanted third party for too long.

“Shaun Hill, let go. I live with Freya, we can go back together.” Catherine yanked her hand back hard but was unable to break free from his grip. Her body was pressed into the car seat by Shaun.

“No matter what you say, I saved you today, so you have to accompany me to dinner. I’m hungry,” Shaun raised his sharp brows and said justly.

Catherine looked at his determined appearance and knew that she could not get away from him, so she helplessly buckled her seatbelt. “What do you want to eat?”

“Can I eat anything I want?” Shaun’s eyes brightened. Before Catherine could answer, he already stepped on the pedal.

Along the way, he made a phone call. “Send 40 pounds of ribs and meat to Zion Residence.”

As expected...

Catherine sighed deeply. Sure enough, Shaun was Shaun. His appetite never changed.

Before long, the car pulled up to Zion Residence.

The place Shaun lived in was a building with only six floors. Shaun stayed on the top floor.

When they came out of the elevator and Catherine saw four bags of ribs and meat placed at the door, she immediately had a headache.

Shaun entered the password in front of her and turned to say to her, "Did you get that? You can come over anytime in the future."

Catherine sneered, "Why would I come here? To cook for you? I'm not your nanny, and you're not paying me either."

"That's not what I meant..." Shaun was speechless and felt helpless.

"Then what did you mean? You want me to come here to take a bath and sleep with you?" Catherine said mercilessly, "To you, those are the only functions I have."

"I didn't know before. I won't do it in the future." Shaun looked at her with a deep gaze. Catherine would be able to draw the man's dark eyes and handsome face even with her eyes closed. When she listened to his low and magnetic voice, her heart was still slightly moved.

He opened the door, and Catherine walked in.

It could be seen that Shaun had just moved in recently. The whole house seemed deserted, and it was clear that the place was not very lived-in. There was no trace of the kitchen having been used before either.

“Did you secretly renovate this place in order to hide women behind Sarah’s back?” Catherine could not help but ridicule.

“This building was given to me by a developer before, and I just moved in a few days ago. I won’t return to the seaside villa,” Shaun explained patiently, “I want to eat the roast pork and sweet and sour ribs you made for Suzie last time.”

As he spoke, he brought in the four bags of meat and ribs.

Catherine’s face twitched. “You’re not asking to make all of that tonight, right?”

If so, she would definitely turn around and leave immediately.

Shaun looked down for a few seconds and took out four ribs and two pieces of meat. “Just cook these.”

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 801

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

Catherine rubbed her forehead. “There’s not enough space in my house to put all these clothes...”

“Leave them in Zion Residence, then. When you come over to stay, you won’t have to bring your clothes,” Shaun replied in a self-righteous manner as if... the two of them were in an official relationship.

Catherine was absolutely speechless at the sight of his shameless expression. “May I know why I should stay there?”

“If you don’t come and stay in my place, whose place are you planning to stay in? I won’t allow you to stay in any other men’s houses,” Shaun said in a domineering and provocative way.

Nevertheless, Catherine did not have the energy to argue with him anymore.

Since he wanted to spend money on her, she would let him be. Anyway, she was the one who would decide whether or not to stay in his place.

Just like that, Shaun ended up buying over 100 sets of clothes for Catherine, who initially just wanted to get a pair of jeans.

Shaun wrote the address of Zion Residence in the form to send some of the clothes there. Then, he helped Catherine carry the others back home.

When the three of them went down the elevator, Joanne, who was shopping, caught sight of them. She immediately took a photo of them and sent it to Sarah through WhatsApp. [Sarah, what’s going on between you and Shaun? I just saw him shopping with Catherine. They even bought many clothes.]

Honestly, Joanne had previously admired Sarah for being Young Master Hill’s fiancée. She had spent a lot of time and effort flattering Sarah. Little did she expect that in the end... Tsk.

Everyone knew that Sarah would have no one to rely on without Shaun, considering that she was merely a psychologist. She would only be needed when there was a mentally ill patient.

The second Sarah saw the photo, she flew into a rage in the seaside villa.

These days, Shaun had been ignoring her calls and messages. Even the security guard at his office would stop her from entering.

It seemed as if she had been completely dumped.

Sarah was under the impression that Shaun was still holding a grudge against her, but she did not expect that he would go to look for Catherine. He was even accompanying her to shop for clothes.

With the two of them bringing along the kid, they looked exactly like a family.

What was worse, she could count the number of times Shaun had shopped with her using the fingers of one hand.

She nearly went mad.

No way! She had to stop Shaun from behaving this way!

A hint of resentment flashed across her eyes. She opened the door and called Yael over.

On his way back to Hackett Institute.

Shaun's phone rang all of a sudden. When he took it out and looked at it, he realized that it was an incoming call from Sarah.

Frowning, he pressed the mute button before he tossed the phone aside.

Catherine, who was carrying Suzie in the rear seat, remained impassive while watching this.

Shortly after, his phone rang again. It was Yael who called him this time.

Yael usually did not call him.

Therefore, Shaun swiftly answered the call. "What's the matter?"

"Oh no, Young Master Hill! The electricity in the seaside villa suddenly went out earlier. When Miss Neeson walked downstairs, she missed her footing and accidentally rolled down the stairs. She's injured... and bleeding a lot," Yael said anxiously. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 802

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

Shaun's expression changed. "Go and call the ambulance to send Sarah to the hospital. I'm coming back now."

Upon ending the call, he pressed on the accelerator as far as it would go and soon arrived at the entrance of Hackett Institute. "I'll leave Suzie with you here tonight. Tomorrow, I'll come and pick her up in the morning."

At this point, Suzie had already fallen asleep in Catherine's arms.

Catherine narrowed her eyes. When she gazed at Suzie's pure and sweet appearance, her heart suddenly ached.

Just now, this little kid had actually said that her scummy dad was quite nice, so she wanted Catherine to get back together with him.

Nevertheless, he was now abandoning them without hesitation to meet another woman.

"Now that she's so heavy, do you think I can carry her upstairs from the entrance of this neighborhood alone?" Catherine gave a sarcastic laugh.

Shaun was stunned and answered without a second thought, "I'll carry her upstairs, then."

"Shaun, why are you rushing to leave? You're not even bothered about your niece. Is it because something has happened to Sarah?"

All of a sudden, Catherine fixed her eyes on him. In fact, she had heard some parts of the conversation when he was on the phone.

Shaun gulped, knowing that he should lie to her. However, at the sight of her dark yet clear eyes, he was at a loss for words. A moment later, he could not help but explain, "There was a blackout in the villa."

Perhaps Sarah couldn't see in the dark, so she fell when going down the stairs..."

"Has someone called the ambulance to send her to the hospital?" Catherine asked sharply.

"Yael has called the ambulance..."

"So why are you rushing there? Are you a doctor? Or her boyfriend? Her husband?" Upon hearing Catherine's words, Shaun began to look awkward.

"She... She's badly injured..." Only after some time did he force the sentence out of his mouth.

Catherine laughed as she tucked a strand of hair behind her ear. "Shaun, in the end, you're still worried about her. You feel that you have a responsibility toward her. You still have feelings for her, regardless of whether you treat her as a family member, lover, or someone you feel sorry for.

You've naturally and subconsciously made her your top priority."

"Don't get me wrong, Catherine." Shaun's hands that were holding the steering wheel froze.

"There's someone by her side now, and what's more, you told me it's impossible for you guys to get married. So why do you have to hurry there?" Catherine forced a smile. "Shaun, if you insist on behaving this way, I'd advise you to stop looking for me. It's better for you to be with Sarah. You really don't have to make me suffer and treat me unfairly."

"I'm just going to visit her for a short while. You're overstating things." Shaun's brows furrowed. "I'm very sure that you're the one I like."

“You like me, but you’ll immediately go to Sarah once something happens to her. So if she falls sick and catches a cold, or if something happens to her family, are you going to worry about it and take responsibility for those things as well?”

Catherine knew that Sarah would do such things.

She also knew that Sarah would get herself hurt just to win Shaun’s sympathy.

Clearly, Sarah had fallen from the stairs during a blackout with the sole intention of having Shaun go over there.

Nevertheless, Catherine would not let her have things her own way.

She would not let Shaun head there tonight.

“Shaun, if you still feel guilty for what happened to her, then continue taking responsibility for her.

Even though she has done something wrong, you still put up with her. You can’t possibly be in a relationship with me and take care of Sarah at the same time. If you continue acting this way, I’ll start looking down on you.”

Catherine lifted her head like an arrogant white swan, her eyes heavy with determination. “I want you to know that if you don’t let Sarah go and continue to look after her secretly, she’ll think that she stands a chance at getting back together with you. If this is the case, any man who’s interested in her won’t be able to approach and pursue her. You can’t stop her from marrying another man when you don’t want to marry her, right?”

Shaun’s thin lips twitched. “Of course not. I... hope that she’ll be happy as well.” “Exactly. You don’t have to feel so guilty, actually. After all, you were only in a relationship with Sarah. You didn't make her go through an abortion or suffer a miscarriage for your sake either. You've even helped Thomas by preventing him from being sent to jail several times, and you've also always defended Neeson Corporation. As for why you guys didn't end up getting married to each other, I think you know the answer better than anyone else."

Catherine's words made Shaun feel at ease all of a sudden.

Despite knowing that he had a change of heart, he had still felt swamped by guilt all because of his promise from back then. After Sarah returned, she managed to cure his illness, but he could not bring himself to do it with her.

Nevertheless, Catherine was right.

Shaun and Sarah were merely in a relationship and they had never slept together. Previously, Shaun sincerely wished to marry Sarah. If it were not for Lucifer's appearance, he would have ended up marrying Sarah.

He admitted that Sarah was pitiful, but he was not the one who contributed to her heartbreaking past.

Catherine then continued, "I'm not an unreasonable person anyway. If there were no one by Sarah's side, it'd be fine with me if you wanted to go and help her since you're her ex-boyfriend. But someone's with her now and Sarah's brother is in Canberra. If you plan to go there, I won't give you a second chance."

With that, she opened the car door and directly got out while carrying Suzie.

"Fine, I'm not going there."

Upon noticing that she was leaving, Shaun quickly undid his seat belt and went after her. He took Suzie from her arms with a sparkle in his eyes. "So can you give me another chance tonight?"

Shaun began to push his luck. "After all, you were trying to control me just now."

"When did I control you? I was just telling the truth." Catherine started to lose her temper. If she had not spent a long time lecturing Shaun, he would have gone to look for Sarah. How dare he ask such a question.

"Are you mad? Are you jealous?"

Shaun's mouth curved into a mischievous smile.

Even though she maintained an impassive face, he knew that she was concerned about him deep down.

"You're overthinking it. I just don't want things to be like before when you kicked me to the curb and divorced me immediately after we slept together. Shaun, all I want is a sense of security. I don't want to always be the one who will be dumped at any moment."

As soon as Catherine finished speaking, she walked forward without looking back.

At the sight of her black hair being blown by the night breeze and her fine curves, Shaun's heart somehow ached.

Shaun went after her and entered the house. Then, he placed Suzie on the bed in her bedroom.

"Tomorrow, I'll send Suzie to preschool. You don't have to come and pick her up." Catherine tucked Suzie in bed.

"Oh." Shaun's eyes swept over the house. He raised his brows with a sense of wickedness. "I think I might as well sleep here tonight. I can just sleep on the couch."

"Are you dreaming?" After rolling her eyes, Catherine pushed him out of the bedroom harshly. "Freya will be back tonight. It'll be awkward if you sleep here."

"In that case, I... I can sleep on the couch in your bedroom." Shaun threatened her with a low voice, "

Aren't you afraid that I'll go to the hospital and look for Sarah if you let me go?"

He did not expect this sentence to offend Catherine.

"If you want to look for her, that's your business. It's not like I've tied your legs together anyway."

This time, she directly pushed him out of the main door and slammed it.

Shaun ruffled his short black hair in annoyance.

He blamed himself for offending her with his stupid remark.

As soon as he turned around, he saw Freya walking out of the elevator while humming a tune.

When their eyes met, Freya was taken aback. “S- Shaun, why are you here again?”

What did she mean by ‘again’?

Shaun disliked the sight of Freya as she had ruined his opportunity to stay with Catherine.

“Isn’t your office in the States? When are you leaving?” Shaun asked nonchalantly.

“Leave?” Freya was stunned. “I’m not planning to leave. I’ll be staying in Canberra to work.”

Shaun’s head hurt at the thought of this third wheel who would continue to stay here.

He pulled a long face and asked, “Are you going to keep staying with Catherine?”

”Of course. We’re best friends, and we depend on each other...”Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South]

Shaun suddenly took out a bunch of keys from his pocket. "These are the keys to a duplex apartment on the top floor of Brighton Gardens. This furnished apartment is > 40 square meters. Move there and it's yours from today onward."

Freya was dumbfounded.

Although she had not returned to Canberra for years, she knew that Brighton Gardens was one of the most expensive apartments in Canberra.

Considering that it was situated downtown, every inch of land was worth a fortune.

Shaun actually offered her an apartment just like that?

"Do you want it?" Shaun asked her.

"Yes!"

Freya took the keys, thinking that it would be a waste to reject the scumbag's offer. "I'll move out tomorrow."

"Mm."

Shaun nodded with satisfaction. After that, he entered the elevator and left. At last, he had managed to kick this third wheel out.

After Freya opened the door and stepped into the house, she quickly ran to Catherine. She showed off the keys, saying, "Damn. Just now, Eldest Young Master Hill gave me the duplex apartment on the top floor of Brighton Gardens. He said it's > 40 square meters."

Catherine was drinking water and spat it out immediately.

In a daze, Catherine fixed her eyes on the bunch of keys. She felt speechless. "You didn't tell him that you're going to move out, did you?"

"Of course, I did. I'm not a fool." Freya giggled and said, "What's more, I can give you the apartment afterward."

"It's fine. I'm wealthy and not desperate for an apartment." Catherine found it ridiculous. Shaun probably wore a ten-dollar hat on a five-cent head. When they divorced before this, she did not receive an apartment from him, yet he was willing to spend 100 million dollars just to kick out Freya, who was the third wheel in his eyes.

"Yeah, I know your relationship has improved lately, so I won't stay here and disturb you guys... Hehehe." Freya made a coquettish grimace.

"Get out." Catherine could not be bothered about Freya. She turned around and took a bath.

After showering, she got back to her bed and opened WhatsApp. She noticed that someone with the name 'Shauncierely Yours' had reached out to her.

'Shauncierely Yours'.

Catherine felt uneasy and spaced out for a moment. When Shaun and Catherine were madly in love with each other previously, he had changed his WhatsApp name to this.

Sure enough, he was still the same old him. He still behaved in the same manner.

Shortly after, Shaun sent her a WhatsApp message. [You blocked my last number, so I got a new number.

She did not reply.

Then, Shaun sent her a selfie. He was wearing a bathrobe that was tied loosely. Apart from his handsome face, his muscular abs that were covered with glistening water droplets were also in view. He exuded a sense of wildness and thuggishness.

Although Catherine had seen the man from head to toe before, she could not help but blush at the sight of his naked body.

What was this flirty man trying to do?

At this moment, she played the voice message she had just received. The man's gentle masculine voice made her feel as if electricity was passing through her body, causing her to go weak.

"Darling, I'm home. I didn't go anywhere." Darling?

What nonsense! Catherine's face flushed.

This man was shameless indeed.

Nevertheless, Sarah must be mad that Shaun did not go see her tonight.

After some thought, Catherine sent him a kiss emoji.

After sending the emoji, her face turned crimson again.

She felt embarrassed. She just wanted to seduce the man and piss Sarah off on purpose.

Zion Residence.

Once Shaun saw the kiss emoji, he felt a surge of excitement inside him. His Adam's apple bobbed, causing him discomfort for some inexplicable reason.

He lay down, imagining Catherine kissing him.

At that moment, he suddenly sat up on the bed and messaged Catherine four words: [I want it tomorrow.] Then, he ran to the bathroom to take a cold shower.

He had never been aroused by Sarah despite being with her for a long time. Never in his wildest dreams did he think that a simple emoji from Catherine would make him burn with excitement. He gave a bitter laugh.

When he came out of the bathroom, his phone rang again.

Yael called him. "Eldest Young Master Hill, aren't you coming? Miss Neeson is crying in the hospital. She refuses to get bandaged."

Shaun was somehow annoyed. "It's her body, not mine!"

Yael panicked when he screamed at her. "But Miss Neeson really needs you now, Eldest Young Master Hill. These days when you haven't been around, she hasn't been able to eat or sleep well. Because of that, she was absent-minded and fell from the stairs during the blackout tonight. The doctor said that her legs are injured. If she doesn't get them treated right away, she might be disabled in the future."

Yael's words felt like a huge weight on Shaun's mind.

For the first time, he did not feel a twinge of guilt. Instead, he felt exhausted.

As Catherine had said, he had merely been in a relationship with Sarah.

Why did it feel as if he had to take responsibility for her entire life?

"Okay, I'll come over," he whispered after some time.

In the hospital, Yael immediately told Sarah about it. Sarah was excited. She knew that Shaun would come eventually.

Sarah was upset and mad at him when he did not come after Yael called him the first time. However, she was glad that Yael managed to call him over at last.

The moment he appeared, there would be reporters taking photos of them. Then, everyone in Australia would know that something had happened to her and Shaun was the first one who anxiously rushed to the hospital to see her.

Ha! She could already imagine Catherine's indignant expression tomorrow.

Catherine was trying to snatch her man. Nevertheless, once Sarah gave an order, Shaun would dump Catherine mercilessly.

20 minutes later.

When Sarah saw Shaun in the hospital, she quickly lay on the bed and feigned a tearful, disappointed look.

In order to win Shaun's sympathy, Sarah had ruthlessly fallen from the stairs today. Her forehead, legs, and arms were injured. She looked extremely pitiful.

"Shaunic, you're finally here. I thought I'd never get to see you again."

The second Sarah saw him, she started to weep bitterly. She stretched out her hands and fell into his arms.

Shaun could not help but hold her, or she would fall from the bed.
