

Repaid 361

Chapter 361

"Is Mommy going to cook for me?" Richard sounded very agitated.

"I want to buy groceries with Mommy, and I want to be with Mommy!" Cordy smiled and nodded.

Of course, she would not leave Richard alone at home. She held his hand and said to John, "Head back first if you're busy. I'll take good care of Dicky."

John did not respond.

Cordy did not say anything further.

Instead, she went ahead and brought Richard to a nearby grocery store, and John followed right behind them.

Many times, Cordy wanted to tell him to leave, but she eventually chose to remain silent.

The three of them walked around and shopped in the grocery store.

"Mommy, what are we buying?"

Richard was bubbling with excitement. He had never been to a grocery store like this, since his house had everything and Winston always made sure that the house was well-stocked. He never had the chance to visit a grocery store and see how it looked.

"I'll buy whatever you want to eat."

"I want to eat fish, lobster, and crab..."

Richard mentioned many seafood options.

The corner of Cordy's lips lifted in a smile.

palate was similar to section and picked out many types and decided that seafood alone was not enough, so she was done, she said to John, "Help me watch Dicky for a while. I need some

"Okay."

couple of packets

already scanning the items

saw her walking over, he reached out and said, "Give me your things. I'll check them

John furrowed

were a few more people behind them in hurry up, Cordy bit the bullet and passed all the packets of looked at them as he could not help but turn and sanitary pads right now, where you can get a few thanks." John

free," the cashier
that the manufacturer is running.If you find it good, you can buy from this manufacturer again to support was so awkward that even his ears turned red, and along shamelessly to their grocery store run? Just when Cordy's lips lifted in to look at Cordy, and her young couple standing behind them, and the woman said, "Wow, not only is that man handsome, but he's also thoughtful bothers to buy whatever you like without asking whether I'm you like it
upset at being compared to someone

Chapter 362

Cordy furrowed her brow.

What was there to be unsure about? John did not resist and handed the two bags to Cordy.

When she took them over, she immediately placed them on the ground.She did not expect them to be so heavy! She was completely unable to lift them without any prior mental preparation.She saw John lifting them so easily...

"Ms. Sachs, do you still want to act tough?" John asked.

Cordy pursed her lips.She did not think that she bought a lot of things as she shopped, but yet, she unknowingly did.

John did not make things too difficult for Cordy.

He simply took over the two bags from her again and walked ahead.

Cordy hesitated for a moment before holding Richard's hand and following behind him.

When they reached home, Cordy began packing the things she bought, and that was when she found the box of condoms.

She glanced at John who was seated on the couch with Richard watching television and wondered how she could hand the condoms over to him.

"Do you need help?" John turned to look at her.

It was as if he could sense what she was thinking, no matter where or when.

Cordy nodded.

stood up and walked over

handed the box over

John glanced at it.

this?" Cordy

"I don't need it."

"Me neither."

forthright in

him and immediately

did not need

them were not getting any younger, and their marriage chuck it, then," Cordy said as she made a move to throw it into

just in case there's a need for it."

Cordy furrowed her brow.

left, and Cordy did not say anything further. It was free, anyway. He could do was done packing, she began decided on what to cook,

do

is hungry," John said

Cordy noticed

for me to cook

Chapter 363

"Mommy, I really love seeing our family like this,"

Richard suddenly remarked.

Cordy was slightly taken aback.

"Like what?"

"The three of us together, going to the grocery store, cooking dinner and enjoying it," Richard said naturally.

Cordy pursed her lips.

At that moment, she had no idea what to say in response to Richard.

"Mommy, don't you like it too?" Richard blinked innocently as he asked her.

"Of course." Cordy smiled in agreement.

"Mommy likes whatever Dicky likes."

the best to me in this whole wide know how someone as sullen and reserved as John could raise such

Cordy was busy washing

him outright

and son pair were seated together on the couch, and Richard suddenly asked solemnly, "Daddy, how long kitchen when he heard his son's turned to look

on this act

hold back

was behaving completely differently in front of Cordy compared to his usual

soon, I won't

"I'll do my best."

words to refute

in my school who had always held his father in high

slow and dull in this sole matter?

"Every person has his don't." You will when you meet the one won't

Chapter 364

"Thank you for your help in the lawsuit," Cordy clarified.

John was the one who found all the critical evidence, especially evidence of the finance department finding someone to reproduce her signature on the documents.

"I was the reason for everything to happen. You have no need to apologize."

Cordy did not say anything further. She truly hoped from the bottom of her heart that John and Jessica could get married as soon as possible, thereby breaking all ties between her and John.

But because John was the reason that everything was fine for her now, she had no right to request that of him.

"Oh yes." Cordy changed the subject.

"Did you know that Zoe and Bob are together now?"

"I do," John replied.

Cordy was not surprised. She never needed to doubt his ability and speed at hearing of such news.

"From what I hear from Zoe, she shares a pretty good relationship with Bob. I don't want to comment about whether their relationship is more platonic or romantic in nature, but I can sense Zoe's happiness, so I hope that you won't interfere in their relationship. If I were to be blunt about this, I don't want you telling Zoe about everything that Jay hid from her in the past, and I don't want him to be disturbing her peace and happiness."

won't," John

Bob truly loves Zoe and if she truly accepts Bob, looked at him. She felt that Bob and Zoe confirmed their feelings for each other last night. Jay turned around and left after saw the disbelief in Cordy's eyes and made himself clearer, saying, "If he had wanted to destroy things agreement. She remembered how Jay had sent her to the hospital when and John, she was still pretty much a stranger to him

her to the hospital out of the kindness of his heart and made sure that she control matters of the heart." John could tell that Cordy's

I dare not let go. The moment I do, I

With that, John left.

looked at

course, she knew clearly what his took a

was beginning to move her ever so slightly, but she did not

Sachs Enterprises' weekly board of directors' meeting earlier than the stipulated time and sat in the other: directors exchanged sensible and knew

if Simon was busy and unable to attend the meeting and delegated her to host the meeting, she should have enough

Chapter 365

Everyone was shocked to silence at her words.

Even Simon and Sonny were shocked speechless.

Noel handed the document over to her assistant standing behind her.

"Give it to my father, my beloved brother, and every senior director in the room."

"Yes, Chairman." The assistant hurriedly handed out the documents to Simon and everyone else.

The document stated everything in black and white, leaving everyone with no choice but to believe that Noel had indeed become the largest shareholder of Sachs Enterprises.

Noel looked at the looks of disbelief on Simon and Sonny's face and sneered.

She had wanted to show her trump card only when the Sachs really provoked her to her last straw, but she could not hold herself back and desperately ached for the chance to stand tall and proud before them.

So she sat in the chairman's seat during Sachs Enterprises' board of directors' meeting without giving it much thought.

them from her place of power was great! "If there are no further

the seats next

the highest position over the years

he swallow such humiliation especially at the look on Noel's face? Although he did not throw a fit in front

the meeting, slamming the closely

neither worry nor fear

"Let's carry

the meeting as Noel returned to her

her door was kicked open

Noel looked up nonchalantly.

how dare you

Sonny yelled furiously.

nasty to

useless bum you are and you dare dream about

Chapter 366

"Let him go!"

Simon suddenly walked in, and the security guards looked at Noel.

Noel decided to leave her father some dignity and instructed them to let Sonny go.

The moment Sonny shook himself free, he charged toward Noel, intending to beat her up, but Simon held him back.

"That's enough, you useless bum!"

Sonny had no fear for anything in this world with the sole exception of his father. He quietened down immediately upon Simon's scolding.

Noel looked at Sonny and sneered. It made Sonny's blood boil so much that he desperately wanted to kill Noel.

"Noel, give me your shares. We're still family and I promise not to pursue matters regarding what happened today."

tried his best to remain calm and even spoke in a

Noel burst out laughing.

why Cordy hates the Sachs family so much. That's because everyone in darkened with

give you the shares and even speak so magnanimously about not pursuing the matter. Do I need your magnanimity? Since I have the ability to sit in the chairman's seat, were the one who forced me into doing what I did. Sonny is useless and yet all of you defend him in all things. I've done so much for the family and none of you even care about me, and only talking you can be ruthless. If you can be ruthless to Cordy, you can to me as well. I can buy shares anytime I wish. Do you really think you the Sachs family to thank. Back then, it was Grandma who announced to the whole world could be bought over, would you even stand a chance? I would've already

"You!"

never imagined that the daughter whom he had trusted so much own doing. Had you that bit more of a conscience, you wouldn't have cornered

please take your beloved son away and don't bother me

you want

Chapter 367

News of Noel taking over Sachs Enterprises was trending online.

No one expected meek and gentle Noel to transform into the chairman of Sachs Enterprises, taking over Simon when he was still in the prime of his life.

Public reception toward Noel was mixed.

The most popular comment was about how outstanding the daughters of the Sachs family were, regardless of what happened.

Noel was so, and so was Cordy.

Simon, on the other hand, no longer had true authority over the Sachs household and became the butt of everyone's jokes in the commercial circle.

Simon was unable to swallow the humiliation.

Of course, it was not just Simon alone who was mad, for Plum and Sue were equally in a rage.

as she yelled in anger, "To think I treated Noel so well! I've raised an ingrate, that's what I've and said angrily, "It's all your fault for giving birth to that wretch! How in the world did you teach her, to the Noel became like this either. You know how obedient she indignantly; she had always been adept at acting pitiful and day, it's frustrating just that from you? Appearing so innocent and harmless

Plum scolded.

I can for the family. I tried so hard to give the Sachs

welled up in Sue's

was about to say

"Enough!"

me even more? You women are always fighting day in, day out, the family is dared to say a word more the moment Simon opened could do now? Do we just let Noel go the fact that he

Chapter 368

She always had her say in the Sachs household! "What exactly were you thinking when you put Cordy down in front of the media, saying that the Sachs family will never beg her for help for anything? Now you've cut off our only hope! You have no sense at all, despite being so advanced in years!"

Simon scolded.

He shifted all blame and responsibility to Plum.

"You...how dare you say that of me?! I'm your mother, Simon. Aren't you afraid of being struck by lightning?!"

Plum's face paled as she yelled back.

"If you weren't my mother, I would have chased you out of the house long ago! You're so ungrateful even after enjoying good times at our house for so many years!"

Anger rose in Simon's chest as he spoke.

The thought of him being the butt of everyone else's jokes made him furious with nowhere to vent his anger.

After he was done yelling at Plum, he suddenly stood up from the couch and kicked the coffee table.

smashed on the floor,

left upstairs in a never been treated so poorly, having lived to such an advanced age. She never expected scolding you like this. You her a remark and turned

Plum was hopping mad.

gave everything she had was turning around and teaching her a lesson?! "Ingrates, all of you are

said, her entire body

Sue felt inexplicably gleeful.

the years, Sue never had a chance to

had taken over Sachs Enterprises, she could understand knew exactly what Noel was thinking—she wanted to be somebody surface, however, Sue continued to put on an isn't a way out with

"What do you mean?"

of the family. She doesn't actually have any use for the 10% of shares. Isn't it better for her to sell it for Sue suggested.

so. Back then, you were the one who cut off all ties with Cordy in front of the media. As long as you retract that statement and explain to the media that you said what you said previously out of anger, you can

Chapter 369

Plum decided to come to a compromise eventually.

How could she allow Noel to climb all over their heads?! She was being completely unruly! As long as she could get the shares back from Cordy, she would make hell for that wretched Noel.

Plum brought Sue along to Starstream Group's office building, where Cordy was in a meeting.

Because of some issues that cropped up at the last bid invitation, they had to regroup and replan things again.

The three companies that placed their bids gave up on them eventually.

They needed to call for bids again or alternatively, invest in their own manufacturing plant.

Due to the many factors they had to consider, the meeting took very long.

After the meeting ended and everyone filed out of the room, Vince whispered in Cordy's ears,
'Ms. Sachs, your grandmother is waiting for you in your office.'

Cordy tensed up.

reception and I couldn't interrupt you during the meeting. To keep things in order in the office, I had no choice but to bring her

I got

not say anything

cautious compared

which Vince felt partially responsible for, he swore to work

decision where she did not give clear instructions on, and walked into

Cordy for so long, immediately plastered a smile on her face with your meeting. I didn't expect things to be so busy for you up warmly, reaching out to hold Cordy's why Plum was here. She was surprised that Noel was able to take over Sachs Enterprises in such a short time. She could figure it out after

was Jessica's reward

this time, Noel

to invest

become a puppet completely at that was Noel's own

Chapter 370

Cordy smiled faintly.

"You know that Noel has control over Sachs Enterprises right now, with only 1% more shares than your father. You have 10% of Sachs Enterprises' shares, don't you? As long as you sell 2% of your shares to your father, Noel wouldn't dare be so proud in Sachs Enterprises."

Anger rose in Plum's chest as she spoke, but she tried her best to suppress it as she said ingratiatingly to Cordy, "Don't worry, I'll be fair to you this time. As long as you're willing to sell the shares to us, I can buy it over from you at double the market price."

"No, thanks."

Cordy turned to look at Plum and said without any hesitation, "I won't sell it no matter how high the price."

"Cordy, it's not like you have any use for it keeping it around. If Sachs Enterprises really ends up in Noel's hands, it might be doomed to decline. What's more, you're so busy with Starstream, how would you have the time and energy to manage things in Sachs Enterprises..."

"It's my own problem whether I have the time or not. The shares were passed on to me from my mother when she died. Even if Sachs Enterprises were to go bankrupt, I'll never sell it."

Cordy went on mercilessly, "As for whether Noel has the capability or not, honestly speaking, she'll probably be better than Dad."

"Cordy Sachs!"

Plum could no longer hold back her temper and yelled out loud.

Cordy didn't even flinch, having long gotten used to being yelled at by her grandmother.

you rather I go hard on you

"Whatever,"

not be reporters that you don't respect me and that you abuse me? I'll tear your reputation to shreds!" Plum said through her Grandmother. She was family will never come to me for help, and that

"You!"

do nothing to Cordy. In fact, she had expected Cordy

"I'm very busy."

waste any more

"Vince."

"At your service."

Vince immediately walked in.

our

without any

in.If they cause trouble for you,

"Yes."

walked toward

"This way, please."

tables will turn and one day you'll