

The Ex-Husband's Revenge

The Ex-Husband's Revenge chapter 2514-Just as Leon, Renee, and Jensen were about to leave, Jaxon called out, "Please wait! Mister Wolf." "Mister Feaks, is there anything else you need?"

Leon turned around to look at him in confusion.

"Oh, here's the thing, Mister Wolf, you possess so many powerful alchemical pills and I assume that means you know a lot about herbs, right? I have an extremely rare herb with me here and I can't identify it. I'd like your help in doing so," Jaxon explained.

The Feaks were experts in medicine and they had their team of hunters for herbs, responsible for gathering rare herbs.

One of the hunters tracked and found an extremely rare herb somewhere deep in the mountain.

However, neither Jaxon's grandfather nor other elders in the family could tell what the herb was.

Jaxon held this bouquet to sell some of the rare herbs he possessed, but also to gather a crowd and seek help to identify the herb.

Upon witnessing what Leon's alchemical pills could do, he realized that Leon should know a lot about herbs as important personnel in the Cynthion Group.

Perhaps Leon or someone in the crowd could recognize the herb.

"Identify a herb, huh?"

Everyone was stunned.

They all knew that the Feaks were experts in medicine and their expertise was unrivaled in the western region.

To their surprise, there was an herb that even the Feaks could not identify.

This caught them off guard and intrigued them.

That's right! This herb contains great energy and is likely a supreme spiritual herb," Jaxon nodded.

The Feaks were a lineage of doctors and one of the biggest herb suppliers in the western region. Hence, they had ancient records about all kinds of herbs.

Under normal circumstances, there would not be a single herb that they could not recognize in the western region.

However, a supreme spiritual herb was extremely rare and there was a great variety of them, so the Feaks could not possibly recognize them all.

Based on their experience and the energy they detected from the herb, they could tell that it was likely a supreme spiritual herb. Still, they had no way of identifying its name and effect.

"What? A supreme spiritual herb?" Leon was stunned and perked up with interest.

He knew that a supreme spiritual herb was far rarer than an ordinary spiritual herb. Even in the western region where the supply of herbs was abundant, finding a supreme spiritual herb was challenging.

That was precisely the reason why the Poisonwielder took the risk to reveal himself and ended up dying over a motherwort.

This was proof of how rare a supreme spiritual herb was.

Apart from that, there were different natures to supreme spiritual herbs and they could be used to produce either the Motherwort or Sun Pills.

Leon once asked for Alfred's help to locate a few supreme spiritual herbs that contained light energy to produce more Sun Pills, hoping that would reinforce the foundation of his energy.

If Jaxon indeed possessed what he needed, he could find a way to purchase it.
