

The Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 1601 – 1605

Chapter 1601

Charlie was sitting in Weiliang's car on the way to Gu's home. Elsa sent him a WeChat message, saying, "Charlie, I have booked the air tickets for the two of us back to Aurous Hill. It's nine o'clock tomorrow morning, okay?"

"OK." Charlie replied: "How much is the ticket? I'll transfer you."

Elsa complained: "It's just a plane ticket, so you have to give me money? You are too far apart from me, right!"

Charlie said seriously: "You paid for me, how can I not pay you."

Elsa snorted and asked, "Then you saved me several times, how can I not repay you? When will Mr. Charlie give me a chance to agree with me?"

Charlie was speechless and said helplessly, "Well, I won't be polite to you about the ticket. See you at the airport tomorrow morning."

Elsa said: "Then you get to the airport before eight o'clock, don't get up late."

Charlie said, "Don't worry, I will be at the airport on time."

After hanging up the phone, Weiliang on the side asked nervously, "Mr. Charlie, are you going back to Aurous Hill tomorrow?"

"Correct."

Weiliang asked again: "Mr. Charlie, when will you come back again?"

“Not sure yet.”

Weiliang felt cold.

He originally thought that if Charlie would stay in Eastcliff, he would go to his uncle's house every three to five to fawn on him. Maybe after a while, he would be able to forgive him for what he did before and restore his fertility.

But Charlie will leave Eastcliff tomorrow, and he won't have a chance to cheat in the future. What can he do?

If Charlie intends only to recover him after three to five years, how can he live these three to five years...

Charlie also saw through his thoughts and said lightly: “Even if I am not in Eastcliff, you can still perform well in front of your uncle's family. If they are satisfied with your performance, I can consider getting you back to normal in advance.”

Weiliang breathed a sigh of relief and hurriedly said, “Mr. Charlie, don't worry, I will work hard!”

.....

When Charlie returned to Gu's house, Philip had already gone to the Gu Group.

He recovered from a serious illness and was in very good physical condition, so he devoted himself to work, struggling to strengthen his control in the Gu Group.

Except for the servants at home, Charlie only saw Sara lying on the sofa reading a novel.

Because all the villas are heated by the floor, even though it's cold outside, the villa is still very warm. The temperature in the room is constant at about 28 degrees. You can wear shorts and short sleeves at home like summer.

Sara was wearing a lace nightdress, and her slender and white legs were overlapped and exposed to the air.

Her figure is indeed the best among all the women Charlie has ever seen. Even the little pepper Aoxue who has been practicing martial arts all the time can't compare with it.

This is mainly because Sara's body proportions are so good, she is the nine-headed body that all female stars dream of.

The so-called nine-headed body refers to the height of a woman, which is equal to nine times the length of her own face. A woman with this ratio has the most perfect body. It is extremely difficult to find a woman with such a perfect body ratio in life. It's not an exaggeration to pick one.

Chapter 1602

Seeing Charlie's return, Sara stood up happily, ran to him three or two steps, and said with a smile: "Charlie, why did you come back so early? I thought you would not come back until the evening!"

Charlie felt that his arm was being held tightly by her hands, and it was inevitable that he was a little bit disheartened, but he didn't dare to think about it, and said, "It's nothing more than attending a birthday banquet, and I am back when it is over."

After speaking, Charlie asked her: "Aunts and uncles are not there?"

"Yeah." Sara said softly, "Dad has gone to the group, and Mom has gone to a charity dinner. There are charity auctions and wine parties. They won't eat at home at night."

Charlie nodded. He knew that with Lenan's status, she was also a top-ranked super celebrity in Eastcliff. Her husband made a high-profile comeback, and she had to use her method to make a high-profile comeback to be able to support her husband.

Sara asked tentatively at this time: "Charlie, are you sure you are leaving tomorrow?"

Charlie said, "Yes, I will leave tomorrow."

Sara looked a little lost, hesitated for a moment, remembered something, and said: "Charlie, you accompany me out for a tour!"

Charlie asked her: “You are a big star, just go out on the street, won’t you be followed by the paparazzi?”

Sara smiled and said, “Just like the last time I picked you up at the airport, just disguise it!”

After speaking, Sara said again: “I’ll take you to the place we played when we were young, do you remember the place 9T Street?”

“9T Street?” Charlie frowned, always feeling that this place’s name was strange and familiar.

Sara said: “It’s the place where we often asked our parents to take us when we were young. There are many small vendors, small shops, lots of delicious and fun things, and it is next to Hwai Lake. When we were young, it was winter, we went to Hwai ice skating, do you remember?”

In Charlie’s mind, a fragment of childhood suddenly appeared.

In the picture, he and Sara together, led by their parents, went to 9T Street to eat candied haws, and play ice carts on the ice.

The winter in Eastcliff is very cold. Thick ice will form on the lake in Hwai. After the ice is frozen, people will go skating and playing ice carts on the lake. The children are all sitting on the self-made ice carts. An iron rod stabs and moves on the ice.

At that time, children didn’t have any electronic products to play with, so when winter came, Charlie wanted to go skating in Hwai.

He still remembers that Sara’s parents had a very beautiful courtyard house on Hwai. Every time his parents took him to Hwai, they would first take him to visit Sara’s parents, and then have a meal in the courtyard of the house.

Thinking about it now, those memories that have not appeared in his mind for more than ten years are still vivid after so long.

At that time, Sara was just a follower. Wearing a thick cotton-padded jacket, like a small cotton ball, her little hands stretched out from the sleeves of the cotton-padded jacket, grabbing the corners of her clothes tightly, and would not let go.

At that time, she always put the same word "Charlie" on her lips, her voice was sweet and waxy, and she was a little bit shy, it was really cute.

However, that place he loved most when he was a child, he hasn't been there for 18 years.

Thinking of this, Charlie's heart was full of nostalgia.

So he asked her, "Sara, is your courtyard on the back beach still there?"

"Yeah!" Sara said with a smile: "That is a protected building, and it is not allowed to be demolished. My dad spent a lot of money to renovate it two years ago. If the traffic in the city center is not too heavy, we would all want to move there for permanent residence."

As she said, she couldn't hide her excitement and asked, "Charlie, do you want me to take you there now?"

The memories in Charlie's mind swarmed, and his heart suddenly became excited, and he blurted out: "Okay!"

Chapter 1603

After receiving Charlie's definitive answer, Sara danced happily, ran back to the room, and immediately changed into a thick long down jacket.

To prevent people from seeing her, she also brought a warm mask and a furry hat with two cute rabbit ears.

In addition, she also holds a pair of round-framed black-rimmed eyes in her hand. After wearing it, she is a cute and adorable girl. She has a great style, a deviation, who will make all men crazy in love with her.

In fact, in Sara's bones, she is a cute and strange girl.

She has a simple mind, no love experience, no experience of getting along with the opposite sex, and no secretive thoughts like those girls outside.

Charlie saw the shadow of his childhood from her face. Looking back now, Sara was the sweet burden of his childhood.

The reason why I say it is a sweet burden is that, although he doesn't want her to be with him every day, calling him Charlie like a stalker, but deep in his heart, he really enjoys the feeling of turning around him.

Sara saw Charlie look at her a little lost, her pretty face suddenly flushed, and she said timidly: "Charlie, why are you looking at me like this..."

Charlie came back to his senses and smiled awkwardly and politely and said, "It's just that I suddenly thought of things when I was young, and I was a little distracted."

Sara's heart was sweet and joyful, she lowered her eyelids slightly, and whispered, "Let's go quickly!"

In order not to expose Sara's identity as much as possible, Charlie and she drove the humble old Volvo all the way from the villa area to the city center.

Hwai is in the center of Eastcliff and it can be said to be one of the most prosperous places in the city.

Moreover, this place has not been over-developed. The old courtyard houses are well protected. If you want to see the life of the Eastcliff, you have to come to this place.

More than half an hour later, Sara drove into an alley near Hwai Lake. From this slightly narrow alley, it is difficult to tell whether every household in it is an ordinary family or a large family.

In Eastcliff, there are two kinds of people who live in the courtyard.

One is a very poor person who lives in an old bungalow. There may not even be a toilet at home. You need to run to the public toilet every day. Even in the middle of the cold winter, you have to get up and run to the public toilet;

There is also a very wealthy person.

If you want to live in a courtyard house, you must first have enough money to make the courtyard house very livable.

Because courtyards are mostly single-story buildings, from the outside, no one can see what the inside looks like. Only when you come in will you find the differences.

Some courtyards are crowded with briquettes, bicycles, and kimchi jars full of aisles. It is very difficult to walk. There are also many shabby-built shacks and there are many safety risks.

But there are also courtyards, from the outside, they do not show the mountains or dew, and are not eye-catching at all, but after entering, they found that there is a cave inside.

This is the case with Sara's courtyard house.

Other people's courtyards are crowded and messy, while Gu's courtyards are Carden and antique!

Inside, there is not only a whole piece of white marble carved into the wall, but also nine Carden Tamrons with different poses.

Chapter 1604

This is the Nine Dragon Wall that was unique to ancient royal buildings. It can be said to be the highest standard. There is a similar Nine Dragon Wall in the Forbidden City.

It's okay to put it in modern times. If it's in ancient times, no one can use such high-standard things except the emperor.

Once discovered by the royal family, it would be a crime of treason, and it could even punish the nine races.

Moreover, this courtyard has four entrances and four exits, and the entry yard has actually built a miniature version of Suzhou garden, with rockery, pavilion, small bridge, and running water.

There were only a few loyal servants of the Gu family in the courtyard, so Sara had no scruples, took off the mask, took Charlie's arm, and said to him, "Charlie, do you remember this yard? When we were young, we often play hide and seek here."

Charlie nodded and said, "I remember, but I always feel that it is not right in the memory."

Sara smiled and said, "This is a refurbishment. Compared with before, there are some changes."

After that, she pointed to the frozen water and said, "There have always been many good koi carps here. Some have been raised in Gu's house for more than 30 years, and some are still what you have seen before! But now it's cold. The koi have been raised in the next wing, and they will be released when the spring begins. Would you like to go and see?"

Charlie said in surprise: "How long does the Koi live?"

Sara smiled and said: "The life span of a koi is about sixty to seventy years. If it is well raised and taken care of, it can live a few more years."

With that said, Sara shook her fingers seriously and said: "Look, there are several kinds of pets. If you raise them well, they may live longer than you. The other is the koi, and the other is the tortoise and Parrots, macaws and sunflower parrots can live to 60 or 70 years old."

As soon as the voice fell, she took Charlie and said, "Come, I will take you to see them, and see if you can recognize them!"

Afterwards, Sara took Charlie to a wing next to the courtyard.

This wing room has a large area, and more than half of the area inside has been made into a constant temperature fish pond, in which a lot of huge koi are swimming around.

Sara pointed to one of the koi, which was nearly one meter long, and said excitedly: "Do you remember it? You used to name it Nobita. The name from Doremon."

Charlie smiled and nodded: "Remember, in the impression when I was a child, he seemed to be the largest."

Sara nodded and said, "It is a Taisho three-color koi. My dad said that the price of buying it was worth the price of a three-bedroom in Eastcliff Third Ring Road."

Charlie was slightly startled, although he was a little surprised, but he was not too shocked.

The koi thing is actually very expensive. Some time ago, the eldest lady of the Zhong family spent more than 10 million to procure a piece of koi. Charlie had also seen it.

Therefore, the value of precious koi cannot be measured by the dimensions of ordinary ornamental fish.

At this time, Sara bent over and squatted on the edge of the fish pond, beckoned and called Nobita to the huge koi, unexpectedly the koi swam over directly, Sara reached out to touch it, and it did not hide at all.

Sara touched the koi while saying, "Nobita, look, Charlie came to see you, do you remember him? He still remembers you."

Although Koi is not afraid of people, he may have some familiarity with Sara, but after all, it is not human, and it is impossible to give Sara any response.

And Sara was talking to it, and then raised her head and said to Charlie: "My dad said, Nobita is only 30 years old this year. If he takes good care of him, he can live for another 40 years. We played with him when we were young. Soon, when we have a baby, the baby can play with it too!"

Chapter 1605

Although Charlie didn't respond to Sara's words, his childhood memories continued to emerge in his mind, and they were still imperceptibly, making him feel a little closer to Sara.

He even came up with an imaginary picture in his mind. If his parents were still alive and he has not lived in Aurous Hill, should he be married to Sara now?

Perhaps the one who is guarding this pool of koi now is no longer the one who is walking with Sara, and perhaps his parents, Sara's parents.

Even, it is really possible to follow one or two and a half older children, chatting around him and Sara, crying to their parents, and then asking them many details and memories about the Koi.

In fact, all this is not Charlie's unreasonable conjecture.

He knew his father's character. Changing, the second master of the Wade family, had a good word. If he was still alive, if he dared to say not to marry Sara, he was afraid he would break his leg.

Moreover, most of Eastcliff's top rich second generations were married earlier, because the family had arranged the marriage partner early, and generally they would organize the wedding immediately when they reached the legal marriage age.

In that case, he might have married Sara in the door when he was 22 years old.

Counting it down to now, he may have been married to Sara for four years. If he was more efficient, it would be normal to have two children.

Seeing that Charlie was a little lost, Sara asked quietly beside him, "Charlie, what are you thinking?"

Charlie smiled bitterly and said, "I think of my parents."

Sara sighed softly: "I also thought of Uncle Wade and Aunt An just now. I was just thinking that if there was nothing wrong with them that year, we might have already been married, and we might have had children. If they were here today, maybe three generations have gathered."

Charlie was obviously startled.

Unexpectedly, Sara thought of it too.

He couldn't help but sigh. Sara accepted her fiancée since she was a child. For so many years, she has always regarded finding and marrying him as her life goal. If she really loses him in the future, how will he face Philip and Lenan? In the future, under the Jiuquan, how will he face the parents who have made a promise?

Sara on the side didn't know that Charlie was struggling in his mind, so she gently pulled his hand and said, "I'm sorry, Charlie, I shouldn't mention Uncle and Auntie, which made you sad..."

Charlie shook his head and smiled, and said, "It's okay. After so many years, it's not so sad anymore, it's more of a regret..."

Sara clasped Charlie's ten fingers along the way, pulled him up, and said with a smile, "Charlie, let's go out and play!"

Charlie nodded, shook off the melancholy thoughts in his mind, and strolled around the courtyard with Sara, and then went to Hwai together.

Along the way, Sara was unwilling to let go of his hand, and Charlie didn't force her to see that she was so interested.

Although the weather is very cold now, for the authentic Eastcliff people, this is the best time to come to Hwai for skating.

Therefore, the whole Hwai is very lively, and the ice is full of men, women and children playing around.

Charlie and Sara came to the ice hand in hand, rented a small ice car with two seats at the Old Master on the shore, and then he took Sara to play on the ice.

At this time, there was an extremely surprised look in the crowd, staring at Charlie forever!

The owner of this look is Elsa.

Elsa is also a native Eastcliff girl. Because she will leave Eastcliff to return to Aurous Hill tomorrow, she also misses the skating experience in Hwai. She took a little cousin at home and ran to Hwai to play together.

