

Chapter 916 Sexy Julie

Today, Julie was undeniably the center of attention at Pearl Company.

Her demeanor had transformed since that unforgettable night with Liam in the bathroom. Abandoning her routine attire of plain business suits, she now chose her outfits with great care and flair.

She was a vision in a fiery red strapless dress, which perfectly complemented her figure. The dress, paired with glossy patent leather high heels and sleek silk stockings, gracefully accentuated her long legs. Her bust was attractively prominent, her makeup flawlessly applied, and her red lips were enticing. Her eyes, a captivating feature, drew the unwavering attention of everyone around.

The Cater siblings, who had come to Pearl specifically to meet Julie, lingered outside her office.

Lenny, catching a glimpse of Julie, was utterly mesmerized by her stunning appearance, his pants visibly bulging.

His eyes fixated on Julie's chest, and he couldn't resist the urge to admire her. He thought to himself that if he could get closer to her, all his efforts would not have been for nothing.

He complimented her, saying, "Julie, you're absolutely breathtaking today! Your natural beauty is extraordinary, and just a touch of enhancement makes it impossible for men to look away!"

Julie frowned, noticing Lenny's inappropriate gaze. She felt a wave of revulsion.

Her disgust towards Lenny intensified, especially after realizing that it was not Lenny who had been assisting her.

Besides, Lenny had shamelessly taken credit for Liam's achievements, causing her prolonged misunderstanding.

Thinking of this, Julie resolved to distance herself from Lenny.

His persistent advances were intolerable, particularly since she was already married.

Julie's frustration grew as Lenny continued to leer at her. If it weren't for Patty being her closest friend, she might have confronted Lenny directly.

Just then, Baxter entered the office with a pressing matter. "Julie, our biggest challenge at the moment is the lack of collaboration with media experts and celebrities. These individuals are not easy to connect with. I propose we seek out a suitable company to partner with. Here's the plan I've prepared. Have a look!"

After speaking, Baxter handed Julie the plan, but then found himself captivated by her presence.

As Julie was seated, her poised and elegant posture made her chest fuller, capturing Baxter's gaze.

Her slender, fair legs, adorned with alluring black stockings, radiated a magnetic charm.

Baxter, trying to conceal his restless and unwarranted thoughts, struggled to maintain his focus.

Meanwhile, he was also acutely aware of the critical circumstances facing the Williams family. Baxter believed that if he didn't act now, he might not have another chance.

Julie, maintaining her professionalism, accepted the plan and skimmed through it.

After a moment, she expressed her concerns with a thoughtful frown.

"The media resources in Salem are predominantly controlled by Kingland Group and Joy International Media. Other players in the field are relatively minor. Forming a partnership with these two industry titans will be a formidable challenge. Your proposal, while ambitious, may be difficult to achieve."

Upon hearing Julie's assessment, Baxter turned to Lenny with a sudden realization. "Isn't Lenny associated with Joy International Media? Julie, allow me to discuss this with him. We need to understand Joy International Media's stance on potential collaborations."

Without waiting for a response, Baxter promptly escorted Lenny to his office.

Once inside, both were briefly self-conscious about their inappropriate physical reactions.

Lenny felt a little embarrassed.

Baxter, ensuring privacy, closed all doors and windows. He then sat down close to Lenny, an
