

Ex-Wife 1578

Chapter 1578

Renee swallowed, her face pale. After a long silence, she whispered, "Then... he must be out of his mind." For some reason, she felt guilty. It wasn't that she had feelings for Jovan, but she now realized that Jovan's feelings for her were deeper than she thought. It made sense though-he would not have risked his future and given up his blood and eyes to Stefan for her otherwise. When she heard that he was willing to give up Hunt Enterprise which he had coveted for a long time just so he could pursue her... she felt very uneasy.

"Tell me the truth. I know you both left Beach City and went abroad for half a year. You guys spent days and nights in each other's company. Did you-"

"No!" Knowing what Stefan wanted to ask about, Renee firmly responded. She hugged him from behind and leaned her head on his large back. "Promise me you won't ever doubt my love for you. I've never loved anyone else. If I did, I wouldn't have started over with you."

"I know." Stefan's voice was hoarse as tears rolled down his cheeks. "I know that your love for me is unwavering, but it's the first time I learned that Jovan's love for you... isn't less than mine. I panicked, and I was scared." If Jovan simply wanted to defeat Stefan, Stefan would not be so flustered because he could let Jovan win for Renee's sake. However, Jovan was now in the same mindset as Stefan. He was willing to give up Hunt Enterprise and the prospect of defeating Stefan because of Renee, which meant that his love for Renee was no less than Stefan's. Just thinking of it filled Stefan with deep fear. If Renee realized another man's love for her was as fervent as Stefan's, she might make another choice.

"Silly, why are you panicking? What are you afraid of?" Renee smiled because it was the first time she had heard him so panicked and scared.

"I'm afraid he'll win you over..." Stefan said anxiously, "Jovan is good at pursuing women. I wouldn't be worried if he's just fooling around or doing it for the sake of defeating me, but he's serious now. He'll do everything he can to get you."

"What nonsense are you talking about? Do you have no confidence in yourself or me?" Renee never expected Stefan to be so insecure in his love affairs. Rubbing his head, she said reassuringly, "When you put it that way, I'm afraid Miss Seraphina will snatch you away too. In comparison with Seraphina's love for you, my love is so much worse. I'm pretty pretentious, and I always get mad at you, but she can fight her family just to be with you. If it were me, I couldn't do that. If we fight one day or if there is any irresolvable dispute, she might be able to snatch you away."

"That will never happen."
