

Ex-Wife 1594

Chapter 1594

Stefan's response shocked Elijah, even though he had expected such a response. "Mr. Hunt, have you thought this through? Are you sure you want to give up your career in exchange for your beloved?"

Elijah would always support Stefan's choices, but he was reluctant to see Jovan defeat Stefan this way.

It amazed him how a workaholic like Stefan could suddenly become so obsessed with love. The power of family was immense.

"At first, I wanted both, but that's too greedy of me. If I have to choose one, I'll certainly want my lover and family," Stefan replied calmly. He had whole-heartedly wanted to manage the company and bring it to greater heights, but after he had regained his memories with Renee, he realized what was most important. Both he and Renee had missed out on a lot, and he was greatly indebted to his children. If he had lived for the Hunt family's honor for the first half of his life, he wanted to live for himself, Renee, and their children for the rest of his life.

"Mr. Hunt, I'll support you regardless of whatever choice you make. But now, Jovan has come looking for trouble. Yes, you're not greedy, but it doesn't mean that he's not. You want the girl, but... he wants both," Elijah said worriedly.

Jovan had gone mad, and he would do anything to reach his goal.

"Yes, he's capable of anything..." Standing in front of the window, Stefan looked down at the busy road downstairs thoughtfully.

"Why don't you consider it a bit more? The board of directors is just unhappy because you're using company resources to find a pair of eyes for Ms. Everheart. Maybe you can put the search on pause and hold a press conference to apologize to the public. You could even donate some money to charity to fix the company's reputation. The board of directors can't force you to resign." After that incident, Elijah had been trying to come up with solutions, and quickly explained them before Stefan gave up on Hunt Enterprise.

"This is what I want, so how can I stop?" Stefan turned around and fished out an envelope from his bag before handing it to Elijah. "This is my leave application form. Help me announce it tomorrow. I won't appear during this period, so Jovan can fight this battle alone."

"Are... Are you serious, Mr. Hunt?" Elijah became helpless at the sight of the form. He thought Stefan would wait for a while to let things settle, but this sudden absence was too casual and irresponsible.

Although it was not the first time Stefan had taken leave, this time was different. It was a signal of his retreat. If the news was announced tomorrow, it would mean that he had surrendered to Jovan openly.

The consequences would be very serious.

"Do you think I'm joking?" Stefan smoothed down his clothes and wanted to leave. "I'm tired, and I should get some rest."
