

Chapter 1009 Dooley Went Bankrupt

Trevor stayed at a corner of the banquet hall, quietly looking at Dooley. A revengeful smile was plastered on his face.

If Elwood was still in charge of the affairs of the Sanderson family, he would help Dooley overcome the difficulties.

However, what did Dooley do after Elwood disappeared?

He did not intend to investigate at all. And he even slandered Trevor as a wanted criminal.

Dooley's bankruptcy was inevitable. But he had no one else to blame. Everything was his fault.

Coldness filled Trevor's eyes as he stared at Dooley. This was just the beginning.

There were still many traitors like Dooley on the confidential agreement.

At this moment, Dooley was so scared that he trembled all over. He could no longer keep calm.

After he lost power, the other people in the confidential agreement might imprison and even kill him to ensure that confidentiality was maintained.

At the thought of this, Dooley felt desperate. His knees went weak, and he almost lost his balance.

"Dooley, do you have anything else to say?" Aziel stood up triumphantly. "We used to be afraid of you. But now, we have worked together to find out all the spies. What else do you have?"

Dooley's expression was distorted. He roared, "No! I don't believe you can find all of them. How do you know each person I have arranged? That's impossible!"

Until now, Dooley still couldn't figure out how the others found his secret.

Commercial espionage was a core secret. Even in his own company, only a few people knew about it, let alone the specific list of spies.

He raised his head and suddenly looked at the calm Trevor suspiciously, and he seemed to think of something.

"It's you!" Dooley was shocked and confused at the same time. His face turned pale and then red. "Dragon? Was it you who did it?"

Trevor just shrugged. He stood up from his seat in the corner and walked to the center of the banquet hall unhurriedly.

He did not deny it. Instead, he asked with a smile, "Do you like my gift? This is a surprise I carefully prepared for you, bastard!"

Dooley was instantly furious. He roared, "How did you get the list? You can't possibly get the list just like that."

At this time, Zakai had already contacted the people Dooley mentioned to him.

When he returned to the venue, he sensed the tense atmosphere. But he was not worried at all. He thought that the businessmen in the entire Esterham had agreed to drive Trevor out of the city.

Zakai was overjoyed with this thought. He asked, "Dad, how's everything going? Did everyone agree to drive Dragon out of Esterham? Ha-ha! I knew it!"

Zakai then turned around and shouted at Trevor, "Idiot, are you scared now? Now you know the consequence of going against the Sanderson family. I told you, right? You'll be dead meat."

Trevor sneered, revealing a playful look. "You're an idiot! Why don't you look at the situation first?"

When Dooley saw Zakai, his pupils shrank at once.

He didn't know when and how the list of commercial espionage was leaked. But when he saw the confused look in Zakai's eyes, he seemed to have an answer.

In an instant, he had a reasonable object of suspicion.

Dooley was about to lose his temper at Zakai when the general manager of Hantinn Restaurant came over with an embarrassed expression and said, "Mr. Sanderson, I'm afraid your birthday party can't continue. Our restaurant may not be able to serve you anymore. Based on the information I got, your company is in jeopardy. We are worried that you can't pay the balance."

Dooley's eyes widened in shock. "What do you mean?"

His rude tone made the general manager's face darken. The general manager said indifferently, "Mr. Sanderson, you are no longer a customer of our restaurant. Please leave."

As soon as he said this, the two security guards of the restaurant pushed Dooley and Zakai out.

Dooley got even more furious, and he felt dizzy. Never did he think that he would be driven out of his birthday party one day.

It was such a great humiliation to him.

Dooley stood at the entrance of Hantinn Restaurant, looking at the passers-by mocking him.

He was so angry that he couldn't hold it any longer.

"Dragon, I will kill you..."

But before he could finish his words, he fainted.