Chapter 54

Chapter 54

Allison was taken aback by this. Why was he unable to recognize her when he saw her wolf?

Then it hit her mind. Only mates could feel each other's scent as mates. It was different from others' normal body odor.

Allison frowned when she tried to talk with him in mind link but was unable to do so.

'What happened to him? Did he shut his mind links for the whole pack? Does he not want to contact anyone here? Not even his parents?'

Ryan's gaze even deepened. "Do you know this place is restricted from entering? This is my place."

She stared at him in her wolf form, totally aware of the fact.

"I can kill you for your bravery."

Her wolf whined as she stepped back. He noticed it and chuckled.

"But it's okay. Since you dared to come here, I liked your boldness. You can come here again."

Allison scoffed inside her head. 'This playboy! He told me that I was the only one except for him who could be allowed here. But now he has changed his decision? Why? Just because he saw a new girl, I mean, a new girl's wolf?'

She was blabbering inside her mind and scolded Ryan.

She stepped back, but she was stupefied when her wolf took over her and began to go close to him.

'What the hell! Are you trying to seduce him? Hey! Stop it. What are you doing?' She chastised her wolf.

However, the table turned. Now her wolf was the one who shut her mind link with her.

It looked like her wolf liked Ryan.

Allison was confused by this situation.

She let her wolf do whatever she wanted. She did not try to shift since her wolf came back to life from death.

Ryan let out a chuckle when the white wolf rubbed her body against his chest. She started to rub her head under his chin.

Allison felt strange by her wolf's actions. If she shifted at this moment, he would be able to see how her entire face was flushed.

"It seems like you are a naughty wolf." He whispered in her ear.

She felt goosebumps all over her body. However, the torture did not stop. He stroked her white fur.

"Follow me. I will show you something." He said and stood up. He turned around and began ahead.

Allison trailed following him like a shadow. She could sense the joy that her wolf was experiencing.

Nevertheless, she was also interested in seeing what Ryan would show her.

Ryan stopped in front of the lake and sat down beside it. He patted the place next to him.

"Come. Sit here."

Allison was amazed by the scenery in front of her. She remembered that Ryan once told her that it looked beautiful at night. He had told her the truth. The moon was looking heavenly. Its reflection on the lake's water looked like paradise.

'What a gorgeous view!'

She felt the wind blowing and touched her white fur. She walked to Ryan and sat down beside him.

She looked at him. But his eyes were on the water.

"Tell me something about you." He let out.

She stared at him and said in her head, though she knew he could not listen to her,

'First open your mind links, idiot.'

But he seemed to be looking for an answer from her as he continued to stare at her.. "What? Shift now." He said to her.

She wanted to growl at him, but again, her wolf did the opposite thing.

Instead of growling, she howled.

It was a howl of sorrow. She looked at the moon and howled for a while.

After all, each and every one of them was a moonchild.

Ryan did not say anything again. Because of his silence, her wolf turned to look at him.

"You are beautiful."

His tone was gentle, and he gazed at her carefully the entire time.

Allison heard the same compliment from Ethan today, but the way Ryan was talking with her wolf was new to her.

He was conversing with her wolf. Surprisingly, her wolf was also listening to him.

'Teresa was right. He has enough charm to grab any girl's attention. He even melted my wolf's heart. Nice, very nice, Ryan Iversen.' Allison muttered inside.

The two of them sat under the moonlight for a long time.

It looked like a portrait. Under the illuminated moon, there was a man dressed in all black sitting with a wolf that was completely white.

When Ryan finally spoke out, he broke the silence by saying,

"I can't shift right now. Otherwise, I will let you meet my wolf."

He winked at her and waited to see her reaction.

His statement left Allison with a feeling of bewilderment.

Why could he not shift? Was his wolf okay?

As if he understood her inner thoughts, he replied,

"I have my own problems, you know."

He turned to look at the water, and his eyes turned dark, which did not escape her observation.

"Many people have the misconception that being careless makes life easier, but this is not the truth. Life is full of surprises. If I had not come back to this pack, I would not have been able to understand it."

His words were beyond her senses. Still, she tried to understand him. She thought he was talking about his family.

His parents and Ethan thought that he was a careless guy, which was true.

But she knew that Ryan had his own story to become like this. Suddenly, she wanted to learn more about him.

Hours passed in silence. Allison did not feel bored.

The main reason for going for a run was to let her wolf shift, which she had done properly. Her wolf was okay now. She was having her best time outside.

Since it was already late, Allison stood up. She was anxious that her parents would find out that she had been going out so late at night without telling them.

Ryan looked at her with a frown. "Are you leaving?" Suddenly, her wolf expressed a desire to stay for some time. But Allison could not let her do that. She had to go back.

She turned around and started to walk.

"Goodbye, little Omega."

She paused for a moment and then turned her head to face him. He gave her a friendly smile. She could not help but wonder if he was like this with all of the girls and their wolves that he came in contact with.

She was ready to head home but stopped by his voice behind her,

"You reminded me of someone I know."

Her steps halted again. She was hesitant to step forward. She was afraid that he might recognize her. Then she heard him again,

"Someone who always tries to run away from me but ends up coming back to me."
